In the introduction to the reprint of the seventy-nine black-letter ballads, it is remarked of this broadside: "If he (John Heywood) be the author of the 'Ballad against Slander and Detraction' to which the name of Haywood is attached, it must have been intended as a protest against personal abuse to which some of the Catholics, perhaps himself, had been subjected."

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. If you know not me, You know no bodie: Or, The troubles of Queene Elizabeth. At London, Printed for Nathaniell Butter. 1605. 4to. R. M.

A—G in fours (the first leaf blank), with a woodcut portrait on the title-page representing Queen Elizabeth.

This is the first edition of the first part, and is of the greatest rarity. The woodcut representation on the title had been used in 1595 to portray "an upstart gentlewoman," in Gosson's tract called "Pleasant Quippes," &c.

Pepys ("Diary," Aug. 17, 1667) does this drama very little injustice in calling it a most ridiculous one; but, as he saw it, it was probably altered by some other hand. The revival of the piece may have been suggested by the war with the Dutch.

— The Rape of Lvcrece. A True Roman Tragedie. With the seuerall Songes in their apt places by Valerius, the merrie Lord amongst the Roman Peeres. Acted by her Maiesties Seruants at the Red Bull, neere Clarken-well. Written by Thomas Heywood. London Printed for I. B. and are to be sold in Paules-Church-yard at the Signe of the Pide-Bull. 1608. 4to. R. M.

A—K 3 in fours.

First edition. The second appeared in 1609. Of the third no copy is known. The fourth and fifth are common.

From Sir W. Tite's collection, with a MS. reference in his handwriting to the extraordinary song of the Roman (London) Cryer at the end.

— The Second Part of Queene Elizabeths troubles. Doctor Parries treasons: The building of the Royall Exchange, and the famous victory in Au. 1588. With the Humors of Hobson and Tawny-cote. At London, Printed for Nathaniell Butter. 1609. 4to. G. M.

A—I in fours. Woodcut on title.

From Sir W. Tite's collection. The first edition appeared in 1606; this is the second. It was possibly this play which suggested to Richard Johnson the compilation of the "Pleasant Conceits of Old Hobson," 4to, 1607.

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. Troia Britanica: Or, Great Britaines Troy. A Poem Deuided into XVII. seuerall Cantons, intermixed with many pleasant Poeticall Tales. Concluding with an Vniuersall Chronicle from the Creation, vntill these present Times. Written by Tho: Heywood. Et prodesse solent, & Delectare Poetæ. London; Printed by W. Jaggard, 1609. Folio. R. M.

A—Qq in sixes, title on A 2. Dedicated to Edward, Earl of Worcester.

The dedication to Lord Worcester professes to be the payment (however inadequate) of a debt of gratitude. It begins:

"To you, whose Fauour gaue my Muse first breath,
To try in th' Ayre her weake vnable wing,
And soare this pitch, who else had tasted death
Euen in her byrth, from the Castalian spring
She dedicates her labours . . ."

The work never came to a second edition, or doubtless the author would have corrected those errors of the press, with which he describes it in his "Apology for Actors," 1612, as abounding.

— The Golden Age: or The liues of Jupiter and Saturne, with the defining of the Heathen Gods. As it hath beene sundry times acted at the Red bull, by the Queenes Maiesties Seruants. Written by Thomas Heywood. London, Printed for William Barrenger, and are to be sold at his Shop neare the great North-doore of Pauls. 1611. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—K 2 in fours.

First edition. In the address to the reader, the author speaks of the play as coming accidentally to the press, and he adds: "This is the Golden Age, the eldest brother of three Ages, that haue aduentured the Stage, but the onely yet, that hath beene judged to the Presse."

— The First and Second parts of King Edward the Fourth. Containing His merie pastime with the Tanner of Tamworth, as also his loue to faire Mistrisse Shore, her great promotion, fall and miserie, and lastly the lamentable death of both her and her husband. Likewise the besieging of London, by the Bastard Falconbridge, and the valiant defence of the same by the Lord Maior and the Citizens. As it hath diuers times beene publikely played by the Right Honourable the Earle of Derby his seruants. At London Printed by Humfrey Lownes, dwelling on Bredstreete hill, at the Signe of the Starrc. 1613. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—Y in fours.

From Sir W. Tite's collection. The first edition was in 1600. It does not seem to have been noticed that this is almost beyond doubt the play licensed to John Oxenbridge and John Busby, August 28, 1599, under a different title, viz., "The History of the Life and Death of Master Shore and Jane Shore his wife, as it was lately acted by the Earle of Derby his servants." According to Mr. Collier, there were several plays on this subject.

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. The Silver Age, inclvding. The loue of Iupiter to Alcmena : The birth of Hercules. And The Rape of Proserpine. Conclvding, With the Arraignement of the Moone. Written by Thomas Heywood. Aut prodesse solent aut delectare. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes, and are to be sold by Beniamin Lightfoote at his Shop at the vpper end of Graies Inue-lane in Holborne. 1613. 4to. G. M.
A, 2 leaves ; B—L 2 in fours, the last leaf blank.

— The Brazen Age, The first Act containing, The death of the Centaure Nessus, The Second, The Tragedy of Meleager : The Third, The Tragedy of Iason and Medea. The Fovrth, Vvlcans Net. The Fifth. The Labours and death of Hercvles: Written by Thomas Heywood. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes, for Samuel Raud dwelling neere Holborne-Bridge. 1613. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves ; B—L 3 in fours.

This was the third of the mythological dramas which Heywood composed, the fourth ("The Iron Age") not appearing till 1632.

In the address to the reader occurs the following passage: "— what imperfection soeuer it haue, hauing a brazen face it cannot blush ; much like a Pedant about this Towne, who, when all trades fail'd, turn'd Pedagogue, & once insinuating with me, borrowed frō me certaine Translations of Ouid, as his three books De Arte Amandi, & two De Remedio Amoris, which since, his most brazen face hath most impudently challenged as his own, wherefore, I must needs proclaime it as far as Ham, where he now keeps schoole, Hos ego versiculos feci tulit alter honores, they were things which out of my iuniority and want of iudgement, I committed to the veiv of some priuate friends, but with no purpose of publishing, or further cōmunicating thē. Therefore I wold entreate that Austin, for so his name is, to acknowledge his wrong to me in shewing them, & his owne impudence, & ignorance in challenging thē. But courteous Reader, I can onely excuse him in this, that this is the Brazen Age." There can be little doubt but that this Austin was the H. A. who in 1613 published the "Scourge of Venns, or the Wanton Lady." It is remarkable that it was also printed by Nicholas Okes in 1613. See A., H. in this catalogue.

— A Woman kilde with Kindnesse. As it hath beene oftentimes Acted by the Queenes Maiest. Seruants. Written by Tho. Heywood. The third Edition. London, Printed by Isaac Iaggard, 1617. 4to.

A—I in fours.

From Mr. Mitford's library. The first edition was in 1607 ; no copy of the second appears to be known.

— FUNAIKEION : or, Nine Bookes of Various History. Concerninge Women ; Inscribed by ŷ names of ŷ Nine Muses. Written by Thom : Heywoode. . . . London. Printed by Adam Islip. 1624. Folio. R.

Title engraved in ten compartments representing Apollo and the Muses ; table, 2 leaves ; dedication to Edward, Earl of Worcester, 1 leaf ; To the Reader, 1 leaf ; B—Rr 5 in sixes.

In the dedication to Lord Worcester, Heywood says : " I was (my Lord) your creature, and (amongst other of your seruants) you bestowed me vpon the excellent Princessse Q. Anne (to whose memorie I haue celebrated in these Papers the zeale of a subject and a seruant) but by her lamented death your Gift (my Lord) is returned againe into your hands, being stil yours, either to keepe vnto yourselfe, or to conferre where your noble disposition shall best please."

HEYWOOD, THOMAS. The Fair Maid Of The West. Or, A Girle worth gold. The first part. As it was lately acted before the King and Queen, with approved liking. By the Queens Majesties Comedians. Written by T. H. London, Printed for Richard Royston, and are to be sold at his Shop in Ivie Lane. 1631. 4to.

A—I in fours, the title on A 2. A woodcut on the title.

— The Fair Maid of the West. Or, A Girle worth gold. The second part. . . . London, Printed for Richard Royston . . . 1631. 4to.

A—M 2 in fours, the title on A 2. With the same cut on the title as in part 1.

Mr. Mitford's copy. The two parts in one volume. The first is dedicated to the author's friend, John Othow ; the second, to his friend, Thomas Hammon, both of Gray's Inn. Mr. Mitford notes on the flyleaf that these two dramas, or one drama in two parts, were formed into a novel called "The English Lovers," by John Dancer, and refers to the "Retrospective Review," vol. xi., p. 127.

— Londons Ius Honorarium. Exprest in sundry Triumphs, pagiants, and shews: At the Initiation or Entrance of the Right Honourable George Whitmore, into the Maioralty of the famous and farre renoued City of London. All the charge and expence of the laborious proiects and obiects, both by Water and Land, being the sole vndertaking of the Right Worshipfull the society of the Habberdashers. Redeunt Spectacula. Printed at London by Nicholas Okes. 1631. 4to. R. M.

A—C in fours, or 12 leaves.

The only other copy known was in Garrick's catalogue, 1823, No. 766, if, indeed, this is not the identical book. The pageant for 1626 was written by Thomas Middleton, and no printed copies of any performed between that date and 1631 have come down to us. Heywood also wrote the city pageants for 1632, 1633, 1635, 1637, 1638, and 1639, when there was another long interval, during which the spectacle was suspended.

— The Iron Age: Contayning the Rape of Hellen: The siege of Troy: The Combate betwixt Hector and Ajax: Hector and Troilus slayne by Achilles: Achilles slaine by Paris: Ajax and Vlisses contend for the Armour of Achilles: The Death of Ajax, &c. Written by Thomas Heywood. . . . Printed at London by Nicholas Okes. 1632. The Second Part of the Iron Age: Which contayneth the death of Penthesilea, Paris, Priam, and Hecuba: The burning of Troy: The deaths of Agamemnon, Menelaus, Clitemnestra, . . . Written by Thomas Heywood. Printed . . . 1632. In 1 vol. 4to. A woodcut on each title. G. M.

Part i. A—L 3 in fours, A 2 being a duplicate title with the printer's device substituted for the woodcut. Part ii. A, 3 leaves; B—K in fours. First edition. The first portion is dedicated to Thomas Hammon of Gray's Inn, and the second to Mr. Thomas Mannering.

The duplicate title-page to part i. seems to be undescribed.

A—L 3 in fours.

The first edition was in 1615. Following the title is an address by the author "To the Honest and High-spirited Prentises, the Readers." From Mr. Mitford's collection.

— Englands Elisabeth: Her Life and Troubles, During her minoritie, from the cradle to the Crown, Historically laid open and interwoven with such eminent passages of State, as happened under the reigne of Henry the eight, Edward the sixt, Q. Mary; all of them aptly introducing to the present relation. By Thom. Heywood. Cambridge; Printed by Ph. Waterhouse, and are to be sold at the signe of the Angel in Popes-head-palace. 1632. Sm. 8vo.

A—1 10 in twelves, including a leaf at the end with the printer's device only; title on A 3.

Prefixed is a full-length portrait of Elizabeth, "J. S. invent.," "Martin D. [roeshout] sculp.," with Woodstock in the background.

— The English Traveller. As it hath beene Publikely acted at the Cock-Pit in Drury-lane: By Her Maiesties Seruants. Written by Thomas Heywood. London, Printed by Robert Raworth: dwelling in Old Fish-street, neere Saint Mary Maudlins Church. 1633. 4to.

A—K in fours.

Dedicated to "Sir Henry Appleton, Knight Barronet," &c., in which address the poet gratefully alludes to the friendship between Sir Henry Appleton and his uncle, Edmund Heywood, and to the encouragement given to his literary exertions by his countryman, Sir William Eluish. In the preface to the reader, Heywood speaks of this play as one "amongst two hundred and twenty, in which I haue had either an entire hand, or at the least a maine finger."

— The late Lancashire Witches. A well received Comedy, lately Acted at the Globe on the Banke-side, by the Kings Majesties Actors. Written, By Thom. Heywood, and Richard Broome. . . . London, Printed by Thomas Harper for Benjamin Fisher, and are to be A—G in fours, the first leaf occupied by a fine copper-plate engraving of the ship.

With an introductory poem by "Shackerley Marmion," and a long "Epigram" upon the Ship by Heywood.

Dr. Bliss's copy. In the Bodleian is a second edition of this tract, with an addition, 4to, 1638 ; and in 1653 appeared a third, under a different title, with several illustrations. Instead of "His Majesties" ship it was called in 1653, "The Commonwealths Great Ship." See "Grenville Catalogue," i., 160.

— Pleasant Dialogues and Drama's, selected out of Lucian, Erasmus, Textor, Ovid, &c. With sundry Emblems extracted from the most elegant Iacobus Catsius. apostoloruꝝ ad papaꝝ laurēciū. [Colophon.] Impressa Oxonie Et finita Anno domini. M. cccc. lxxviii. xvii. die decembris. 4to. BR. M.

The first book printed at Oxford. It is now universally allowed to be misdated 1468 for 1478. Hitherto eight copies only have been described, which are in the following libraries : Bodleian ; Public Archives, Oxford ; All Souls, Oxford ; Cambridge University Library ; Royal Library ; Earl of Pembroke ; Earl Spencer ; and the copy that was sold at the White Knights sale. This therefore makes the ninth copy known.

— [Flores Sancti Jeronimi, sumptæ ex veris dictis et verbis originalibus eiusdem Sancti Jeronimi.] 4to. R.

MS. on paper, of the fifteenth century, of Italian execution.

HIGDEN, RALPH. Policronicon. [This is the whole of the title, and is enclosed in a plain line border over a large woodcut which occupies the remainder of the page.] [Colophon.] And here I make

V—X in eights, the last leaf having Caxton's large device on the verso, the recto being blank.

Second edition. The first was printed by Caxton in 1482. The only real difference seems to be in the verses on the back of the title-page, headed : "An Introductorie Anno dñi. M. cccc. lxxxv.," five seven-line stanzas. The present copy has the last leaf in facsimile.

— Polycronycon. [This is the whole of the title, and is printed in red ink, over a large woodcut representing St. George and the Dragon, below which is the device of John Reynes.] [Colophon.]

aa, 8 leaves ; bb—hh in sixes, hh 6, blank ; a—y in eights ; z, 6 leaves ; A—S in eights; T, 6 leaves; U—X in eights, the last leaf having the colophon on the recto and the cut described above as on the title repeated on the verso.

On the back of the title are the verses, entitled "An Introductory," as in the edition of 1495.

HIGFORD, WILLIAM. Institutions or Advice to his Grandson, In Three Parts. By William Higford Esq; Disce Puer virtutem ex me. Virg. London, Printed by Tho. Warren, for Edmund Thorn of Oxford. 1658. Sm. 8vo.

A—G 7 in eights.

A Bridgewater duplicate, from Heber's library. This first edition was unknown to Brydges, Park, and Lowndes. In 1660 it was reprinted under the title of "The Institution of a Gentleman," which is inserted in the "Harleian Miscellany."

Mr. Heber notes: "In Rudder's Gloucestershire this Collection is said to have been made by Clement Barksdale. Qy, Higford's Poetry." It appears from the dedication to have been a posthumous publication, and it is very likely that Barksdale was the editor.

HIGGESON, FRANCIS. New-Englands Plantation. Or, a Short and True Description of the Commodities and Discommodities of that Countrey. Written by Mr. Higgeson, a reuerend Diuine now there resident. Whereunto is added a Letter, sent by Mr. Graues an Enginere, out of New-England. The second Edition enlarged. London, Printed by T. & R. Cotes for Michael Sparke, dwelling at the Signe of the Blew Bible in Greene Arbor in the little Old Bailey. 1630. 4to. R. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—D in fours.

M[ichael] S[parke], in his address to the reader, states that the MS. was sent over to England for a friend's perusal, and was not intended for the press. The present copy has not the map mentioned by Lowndes, nor is it in the copy in the British Museum. The Museum copy bears on the title, "The third Edition enlarged," but there are no additional leaves.

HIGHLANDERS. Representation of the High-landers who arrived at the Camp of the Confederated Army, not far off the City of Mayence the 13th of August 1743. [The same title in German and French.] Norimberga Exeudit Christoph: Weigelij Vidua. [1744.] Folio.

Six leaves.

An extraordinarily rare and curious series of engravings, with descriptive letter-press beneath in English, French, and German. The English has some most curious specimens of spelling and language. The first plate portrays "The High-landers in their accostumes clothes, and downwards hanging cloke." Plate 2 represents "A High-lander who put on his cloke about his shoulders, when weather is sed to rain." The title is within an ornamental border.

HILARY, HUGH. The resurreccion of the masse/ with the wonderful vertues of the same/ newly set forth vnto the greate hartes HILL, THOMAS. An Almanack published at large, in forme of a Booke of Memorie, necessary for all such, as haue occasion daylie to note sundry affayres, eyther for receytes, payments, or such lyke. Newly set forth, by T. H. Londoner. Imprynted at London, by Henry Denham. 1571. [Colophon.] Imprynted at London by Henrie Denham, dwelling in Pater noster Rowe, at the signe of the Starre. 1571. 4to.

Twenty leaves.

This tract is unnoticed by Herbert. It consists of a calendar, a list of fairs, the four quarters of the year, and has blank pages for a diary, being probably the earliest publication of the kind. The present copy has been made a sort of commonplace book, in which a contemporary possessor has registered in MS. various memoranda, including a great number of proverbs and prudential maxims.

— A Pleasant History: Declaring the whole Art of Phisiognomy, Orderly vttering all the speciall parts of Man, from the Head to the Foot. Written by Thomas Hill. Printed by W. Iaggard. 1613. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts. Black letter.

A, 3 leaves, first blank (as was doubtless A 4); B—E in eights; e, 8 leaves; F—Hh 4 in eights (but Y and Z are mixed, and form only one signature of eight leaves). Many of the cuts are repeated.

See also under "Cocles" in this catalogue for an earlier edition of this book. This edition of 1613 is entirely rewritten and enlarged to nearly four times the size of that printed by Wayland. The name of Cocles is altogether suppressed.

HILLAIRE, J. Speculum Heroicum principis omnium temporum poetarum Homeri xxiiii librorum Iliados in quibus veri Principis

Imago poeticè elegantissimè exprimitur. Les xxiiii livres d'Homère reduict en tables démonstratives figurées, par Crespin de Passe. Chaque livre rédigé en argument poëtique. Traiecti Bat. 1613. 4to.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves; sig. A, 6 leaves; B—H in fours.

Brunet describes this book as consisting of thirty-six plates; there are, however, twenty-four plates only, sigs. A and H consisting entirely of letterpress.

HILMAN, DANIEL, of Epsom. Tusser Redivivus: Being Part of Mr. Thomas Tusser's Five Hundred Points of Husbandry To which are added Notes and Observations explaining many obsolete Terms in the said Mr. Tusser, and what is agreeable to the present Practice in several Counties of this Kingdom. Morphew near Stationers-Hall.* 1710. 8vo.

In eleven parts of eight leaves each, with separate titles (November and December forming a single part), besides a general title-page.

This work was published in parts at twopence each.

HILTON, JOHN. Ayres, or Fa La's for Three Voyces. Newly composed and published by Iohn Hilton, Bachelor of Musicke. London, Printed by Humfrey Lownes, and are to be sold by George Lathum at the Bishops head in Pauls Church-yard. 1627. 3 parts. 4to. BR. M.

"Cantus," A—D in fours; "Bassus," A—D in fours; "Quintus," A—D in fours.

Dedicated to William Heather, Doctor of Music, to whom the author acknowledges great obligations. There are complimentary verses by Edward Lake and John Rice.

HILTON, WALTER. Scala perfeccōnis. [This title is a xylographic inscription beneath a large woodcut of the Virgin and Child, before whom a monk is kneeling; within a woodcut border.] [On a ii.] Here begynnen the chapytours of this present volume of Waltere Hylton/ named in laten Scala perfeccōnis englished the ladder of perfeccōn/ whiche volume is deuided in two partyes. Año salutis. M.cccc.lxxxxiiii.

Folio. BR. M.

First edition, and the first book printed by Wynkyn de Worde in his own name. a, 4 leaves (containing title and table); b—q in eights (i 1 is marked h 1, and sig. m is wrongly marked k); r, 6 leaves; s, 6 leaves, the last being blank (s ii is marked t ii, and, as the catchword does not agree, it would at first appear to be imperfect, but such is not the case. There are in fact no catchwords, and where there are occasionally words printed at the bottom of the page in no case do they agree with the beginning of the next leaf, but are evidently merely so placed to get in a word or two.

HILTON, WALTER. Scala perfectionis. [Colophon.] Imprynted at London in Fletestrete| by Wynkyn de Worde| dwellynge at the sygne of the Sonne| and fynysshed in the yere of our lorde god. M.CCCCC.xxxiij. The .xxvij. daye of Maye. 4to. Black letter.
BR. M.

a—x in eights and fours alternately; y, 6 leaves; z, 8 leaves; æ, 8 leaves; ç, 6 leaves.

The third book of "Scala Perfectionis" concludes on z viii. On æ begins: "This is a deuoute boke compyled by mayster Walter Hylton, to a deuoute man in temporall estate, how he sholde rule hym," which forms a fourth book. At the end of it occurs:

Explicit vita mixta.

*Infynyte laude with thankynges manyfolde
I yelde to god| me socourynge with his grace
This boke to fynysshel whiche that ye beholde
Scale of perfeccyon calde in euery place Wherof thauctor Walter Hylton was.*

The title given above is over a woodcut within a border, which occupies the rest of the page. At the bottom of the woodcut are two lines of verse:—

"The greatest comfort in altemptacyon
Is the remēbraunce of crystes passyon."

The "deuoute boke," which appears at the end of this edition, was also printed to accompany the first edition; but it was probably printed after most of the copies had been sold, for only two are now known which contain it—one in Cambridge University library, the other in the library of H. H. Gibbs, Esq.

There are two other impressions of this "deuoute boke" in the library, the one printed by Pynson, the other by Julyan Notary; but they appear not to be distinct editions, but to belong respectively to the "Kalendre of the new legende of Englande" and to the "Scala Perfectionis."

HILTON, WILLIAM. A Relation of a Discovery lately made on the Coast of Florida, (From Lat. 31. to 33 Deg. 45 Min. North-Lat.) By William Hilton Commander and Commissioner with Capt. Anthony Long, and Peter Fabian, in the Ship Adventure, which set Sayl from Spikes Bay, Aug. 10. 1663, and was set forth by several Gentlemen and Merchants of the Island of Barbadoes. Giving an account of the nature and temperature of the Soyl, the manners and disposition of the Natives, and whatsoever else is remarkable therein. Together with Proposals made by the Commissioners of the Lords Proprietors, to all such persons as shall become the first Settlers on the Rivers, Harbors, and Creeks there. London, Printed by J. C. for Simon Miller at the Star neer the West-end of St. Pauls, 1664. 4to.

Title and imprimatur, 2 leaves ; B—E 2 in fours ; F, 4 leaves, the last blank.

HIND, CAPTAIN JAMES. No Jest like a true jest : Being a Compendious Record of the Merry Life and Mad Exploits of Capt. James Hind the Great Robber of England. Together with the close of all at Worcester, where he was Drawn, Hang'd, and Quartered for High-Treason against the Common-wealth: Septemb. 24, 1652. London, Printed by A. P. for T. Vere, and are to be sold at his Shop at the sign of the Angel without Newgate. 1674. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A—B 4 in eights, or 12 leaves.

On the back of the title-page occurs : "The true Portraiture of Captain James Hind the Robber, who dy'd for Treason," a woodcut of a full-length figure, with a horse standing by.

Thirty-three leaves.

Dr. Campbell, in his valuable "Annales de la Typographie Néerlandaise au XV^e Siècle," No. 940, mentions that only four copies of this volume are known—1. In the Royal Library at the Hague. 2. In Lord Spencer's collection. 3. In the Royal Library at Brussels, formerly in the Van Hulthem collection. 4. The copy here described, formerly in the Schinkel collection. Dr. Dibdin says that Lord Spencer's copy has the woodcuts coloured, but they are here in pure uncoloured state, and the volume is in the finest possible condition throughout. A complete reproduction of the work, with an introduction by M. Berjeau, was published a few years since by Mr. C. J. Stewart.

Dr. Dibdin has given such an exhaustive description of the book in the "Bibliotheca Spenceriana," vol. iii, p. 348, &c., that it is unnecessary to give again a very full account of it.

HISTRIO-MASTIX; Or The Player whipt. Printed by Th: Thorp. 1610. 4to.

A—H in fours.

"This play was written towards the close of Elizabeth's reign, though not printed till 1610. It contains a ridicule on the passage of Shakespeare's 'Troilus and Cressida,' where Troilus at parting presents his sleeve to Cressida, and she gives him her glove."—Note in G. Chalmers's Catalogue.

From Mr. Corser's collection.

HITCHCOCK, ROBERT. A Politique Platt for the honour of the Prince, the greate profite of the publique state, relief of the poore, preseruatiō of the riche, reformatiō of Roges and Idle persones, and the wealthe of thousandes that knowes not howe to liue. Written for an Newyeres gift to Englande, and the inhabitantes thereof: by Robert Hitchcok late of Cauersfelde in the Countie of Buckyngham Gentleman. Imprinted at Loudon, by Ihon Kyngston. 1. Ianuarie. 1580. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

*, 4 leaves; , 2 leaves; a, 4 leaves; b, a large folding sheet of letterpress; c—f in fours; between e and f is a large folding map, and between f ii and f iii (wrongly marked f iiii) is a folding woodcut inscribed at the top left-hand corner, "The vintage for Hull and Newcastlell."

A short account of this book is given by Mr. Collier in his "Bibl. Cat.," i., 374, where he points out the reference to some privately issued impression now unknown. But the fact seems to be that Hitchcock merely alludes to copies he had distributed, not saying whether they were written or printed.

The headline throughout is: "Hitchcocks New yeres Gift to Englande."

Eight leaves. On the verso of the last leaf is a large woodcut of a master and his scholars.

The author of this treatise was one of the Cologne theologians against whom the satire of the "Epistole Obscurorum Virorum" was directed.

HODDESDON, JOHN. Sion and Parnassvs, or Epigrams On severall texts of the Old and New Testament. To which are added, A Poem on the Passion. A Hymn on the Resurrection, Ascention, And feast of Pentecost. By John Hoddesdon. Horat. de arte Poet. Omne tulit . . . London, Printed by R. Daniel for G. Eversden, and are to be sold at his shop over against the little north gate of S. Pauls Church. 1650. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Title, dedication, &c., 4 leaves; A—I 2 in eights. With a portrait by T. Cross, beneath which are verses signed R. M.[arsh].

The book is dedicated by the author to his uncle, "Christopher Hoddesdon, Esquire, Secondary of the Upper bench." Among the commendatory verses are some by J. Dryden.

— Tho. Mori Vita & Exitvs: or, the History of Sr Thomas More, sometime Lord High Chancellor of England. Collected out of severall Authors by J. H. Gent. London, Printed by E. Cotes, for George Eversden, at the Golden-ball in Aldersgate-street. 1652. Sm. 8vo.

A—L 3 in eights, besides a portrait.

Dedicated "To my worthily most honoured Kinsman, C: Hoddesdon Esq.," in an epistle very strangely worded. "Sir I have dealt with him as his nurse did, thrown him over the hedge into your Armes, lest his memory should perish in the waters of Lethe—" and further on he remarks: "I am confident, King Henry the Eight was not so much his enemy, as to forbid posterity to think well of him."

HODGSON, REV. JOHN. The History of Northumberland. Newcastle on Tyne. . . . 1820-58. 7 vols. 4to. Plates. Large paper. R. M.

The arms are emblazoned on the margins in this copy.

HOEFNAGEL, GEORGE. Terra. Animalia Quadrupedia et Reptilia. Aier. Animalia Volatilia et Amphibia. Ignis. Animalia rationalia et Insecta. Aqua. Animalia Aquatilia et Conchiliata. 4 vols. Sm. oblong 4to. In the original red morocco.

The four volumes contain together 277 leaves of vellum, on which are depicted with the most marvellous skill some thousands of objects of natural history. The truthfulness to nature and the exquisite finish of the paintings is most remarkable.

The following account of the artist and of this work is taken from Nagler's "Künstler Lexicon," vol. vi., p. 214: "Dieser Künstler, anfänglich Schüler von J. Bol, bildete sich in Italien und hielt sich lange am Hofe der bayerischen Herzoge Albert und Wilhelm auf, für welche er, so wie für den Erzherzog Ferdinand von Oesterreich und den Kaiser Rudolph II. mehreres arbeitete. Er verfertigte für Kaiser Rudolph II. ein kostbares Werk, welches in 4. klein Quartbänden auf 227 [277] Blättern mehr als 1339 Stücke aus der Naturgeschichte, und zwar aus den vier Reichen der Natur, in Miniatur enthält, die sehr getreu nach dem Leben gemalt, und mit einem einzig schönen Farbenreize versehen sind. Nach Sandrart's Erzählung waren dem Künstler tausend Goldkronen für jeden Band zugesagt, aber es ist ungewiss, ob dieses Werk in die Hände des Kaisers kam, denn es befand sich in letzter Zeit in den Händen eines Privatmannes in München."

HOFFERUS, JOHANNES. Icones Catecheseos, et Virtutum ac Vitiorum illustratæ numeris. Vitebergæ excusæ apud hæredes Georgii Rhaw. 1557. Sm. 8vo. Fifty-one woodcuts.

A—E iii in eights.

In the woodcut representing the temptation of Joseph are the marks of two artists on tablets, the one with the initials I. L. C. T. over a graver; the other D. B., with the date 1557 beneath. The former are said by Nagler to indicate "Iacobus Lucius Corona Transylvanus," but the name concealed under the initials D. B. is unknown. The artist was of the school of Lucas Cranach, and according to Nagler, he illustrated other works by the same printer.

HOGENBERG, F. Engravings of the history of France and of the wars in the Low Countries. Oblong folio.

1. Kurtze erzeichniss wie Keyser Carolus der V. in Africa dem König von Thunis, so von dem Barbarossen vertrieben, mit kriegsrüstüg zur hülffe komt, &c. [This title is followed by a portrait of Charles V., then a print of his Coronation, unnumbered, then plates 2 to 8, numbered, and a large plate of the Battle of Lepanto, not numbered.]

2. Portrait of Philip II. and six plates relating to his reign, not numbered.

3. Coronation of Matthias, King of Bohemia, and five other plates, not numbered.

4. Portrait of Henry III. of France, followed by thirty-four plates, numbered 1-34, of the wars against the Huguenots, followed by thirty-nine prints of the events of the reigns of Henry III. and Henry IV.

5. Portrait of Queen Elizabeth, followed by eight plates, unnumbered, including a portrait of the Duke of Biron.

6. Portraits of James I. and Queen Anne, followed by ten plates, including representations of the Gunpowder plot and the execution of Ravallac.

7. Large folding plates of "Triumphes faits au Mariage de Louis XIII.," followed by a portrait of Louis XIII. as a child, on horseback. Portrait of the Duchess of Parma, followed by plates, numbered 1-20. Between plates 7-8 is the portrait of the Duke of Alva.

8. Sets of plates of the wars in the Low Countries, numbered respectively 1-28, 1-20, and 1-109, and eighty-two plates not numbered. The last plate dated 1610.

This is evidently one of the "recueils factices" mentioned by Brunet, vol. v., col. 897, and for the most part engraved by Fr. Hogenberg of Malines.

HOG-FACED GENTLEWOMAN. A certaine Relation of the Hog-faced Gentlewoman called Mistris Tannakin Skinker, who was borne at Wirkham, a Neuter Towne betweene the Emperour and the Hollander, scituate on the river Rhyne. Who was bewitched in her mothers wombe in the yeare 1618, and hath lived ever since unknowne in this kinde to any but her Parents and a few other neighbours. And can never recover her true shape, till she be married, &c. Also relating the cause, as it is since conceived, how her mother came so bewitched. London Printed by J. O. and are to be sold by F. Grove, at his shop on Snow-hil, neare St. Sepulchers Church. 1640. 4to.

Eight leaves. With a large woodcut on the title of Tannakin Skinker and a gentleman saluting her.

Although not stated to be so, this rare tract was probably taken from a German original.

HOLBEIN, HANS. Historiarum ueteris Instrvmenti Icones ad uiuum expressæ. Vnà cum breui, sed quoad fieri potuit, dilucida

A—M in fours, the last leaf bearing only the colophon.

First edition. Brunet, speaking of the edition of 1543 of these Bible cuts, says: "Il est à remarquer qu'on a reproduit dans l'édition de 1539, et également dans celle-ci, (1543) les quatre premières planches des Simulachres de la mort, édition de 1538." The natural inference from which is that they do not occur in this first edition, but any copy of the 1538 Bible cuts which does not contain the first four cuts from the "Simulachres de la mort" is certainly imperfect.

HOLBEIN, HANS. Historiarum Veteris Testamenti Icones ad viuum expressæ. Vnà cum breui, sed quoad fieri potuit, dilucida earundem & Latina & Gallica expositione. Lugduni, sub Scuto Coloniensi. M.D.XXXIX. [Colophon.] Lugduni, Melchior & Gaspar Trechsel fratres excudebant. 4to. Woodcuts. BR. M.

A—N in fours. The last leaf bears on the recto a large cut of the printer's device, the verso is blank. In some copies the last leaf is blank and the colophon different.

This second edition is believed to be of greater rarity than the first, though necessarily of less real value. This is the copy which was sold in the Yemeniz library, but it has since been rebound.

The edition of 1543 with Spanish text is not mentioned by Brunet. It is identical with that of 1549, except as to the two last leaves.

In the 1543 edition, signature N iii is occupied by Frellon's subscription and N iv is blank, while in the edition of 1549, N iii has the four circular cuts of the Evangelists and N iv bears Frellon's mark of the crab and butterfly.

— Le Triomphe de la mort, gravé d'après les dessins originaux de Holbein par Chrétien de Méchel. Paris. 1780. Sqr. 8vo. BR. M.

This series of plates can only be said to be after Holbein's designs in the same sense as a free paraphrase of an author is sometimes called a translation.

— Imitations of Original Drawings by Hans Holbein, in the Collection of His Majesty, for the Portraits of Illustrious Persons of the Court of Henry VIII. With Biographical Tracts. Published by John Chamberlaine. London: W. Bulmer and Co., 1792. Folio. G. M.

The biographical notices were contributed by Edmund Lodge; the engravings were executed by Bartolozzi. In this copy the engravings are mounted on cardboard and tinted to imitate the originals; Lowndes says that only six were so executed. At the end are added the eight supplementary portraits, subsequently engraved. There is in the library another copy in the ordinary state. Lowndes states that the volume should contain seventy-two portraits, exclusively of those of Holbein and his wife; but both the copies here noticed possess eighty-two, not including Holbein and his wife or the additional prints. The list of contents enumerates only sixty-nine.

Eeee is an extra leaf with "The names of the Knights made at Leith," and in Yyyy occurs a folded plan of the Siege of Edinburgh Castle.

This, the first edition, usually called the Shakespeare edition, contains numerous woodcuts, none of which were reproduced in the second. At p. 243 of the History of Scotland occurs a curious woodcut of the meeting of Macbeth and the Witches.

Few books in early English literature are more difficult to procure in a clean and perfect state than Holinshed's Chronicles. The present copy has many uncut leaves, and is remarkably fine and clean throughout.

Second edition, without woodcuts. This was George Steevens's copy. In common with most others it has the suppressed leaves supplied by the reprints made at the beginning of the last century.

HOLINSHED, RAPHAEL. Holinshed's Chronicles of England, Scotland, and Ireland. 1807. 6 vols. 4to. O. M.

HOLLAND, ABRAHAM. Hollandi Post-huma. A Fvncrall Elegie of King Iames: with a Congratvlatory Salve to King Charles. An Elegie of the Magnanimous Henry Earle of Oxford. A Description of the great, fearefull and Prodigious Plagve: and diuers other patheticall Poemes, Elegies, and other Lines, on diuers subiects. The Post-humes of Abraham Holland, sometimes of Trinity-College in Cambridge. The Authors Epitaph, made by himselfe. Cantabrigiæ, Impensis Henrici Holland. M. DC. XXVI. 4to. Large paper. B. M.

Title as above, 1 leaf. "Michael Drayton Esquire, and Poet-Laureat, in Commendation of the Author and his first published Poeme, Naumachia," 1 leaf marked (a) 2. "An Elegie: or some Posthume Teares vpon . . . King James," 1 leaf. Dedication to the Duke of Buckingham, 2 leaves marked ? and ? 2. Dedication to Charles I., 1 leaf. The Elegie, 4 leaves with sig. B. Then follow regularly signatures C—L in fours. Then follows a leaf marked M "A Vale to his best Part." Then a leaf headed "Abraham Holland Having made many Epitaphs for others, made this Epitaph for himselfe, and on his Death-bed, dictated it to his Brother, H. H." Lastly, a leaf beginning "H. II. Authoris Fratris majoris (cujus cura ac impensa hæc præmissa Posthuma edita sunt,) Character," and at the bottom of the leaf, "Finis."

A title with the date in Arabic numerals and the word "late" before "great, fearefull and prodigious," &c., and the two leaves of dedication to the "Earle of Engih," have been inserted from Mr. Corser's copy on small paper.

The copy in the British Museum is on small paper. The title agrees with that noted above as inserted in the large paper copy, and has also the two leaves of dedication to the "Earle of Engih;" but it has not the two leaves of dedication to the Duke of Buckingham, which in the large paper follow the title of "An Elegie: or some Posthume Teares vpon . . . King James," nor has it the last leaf of Latin verses with the word "Finis" at the bottom. It is possible that these three leaves are peculiar to the large paper copies, as that in the British Museum is in perfectly original state and has evidently never possessed them.

The poetical account of the Plague of 1625 was reproduced in 1630, under the title of "London Looke-Backe," at the end of "Solomon's Pest-House, or Towre-Royall, Re-edified," by J. D., and there said to be written "in heroick, matchlesse lines." The appearance of Carew's version of the 91st Psalm in this volume was, owing to the great rarity of Holland's privately-printed book, unknown to his last editor; it follows Holland's version of the 73rd Psalm, and is headed: "Mr. T. C. the Authors endeared Friend his Poeticall Version on the 91. Psalme." The literary interest connected with this new discovery consists in its contradiction of the hypothesis that Carew composed his versions of certain Psalms in his closing days and under the disadvantage of failing health. We now see that the 91st, at least, was in existence in 1626.

It appears from the leaf of verses at the end that Henry Holland, the editor, was born at Coventry, Sept. 29th, 1583, and was married on his birthday, 1615. He had come up to London in 1599.

The Notice to the Reader is particularly interesting, as it sets forth the circumstances under which the volume was printed: "—And for your sakes [the Author's friends] principally haue I made this Impression, of no more Copies than I thinke to distribute vnto yee . . . I hope you will vouchsafe them benigne Acceptance, and me condigne thanks: by which I shall be encouraged to publish other his larger Labours which I haue lying by mee." Of these "larger labours" there appears to be no present trace, any more than of "Some other the Authors Poemes," mentioned in the dedication.

HOLLAND, H. Heræologia Anglica hoc est clarissimorum et doctissimorum aliquot [sic] Anglorum qui florverunt ab anno Christi . M. D. usq. ad presentem annum M. D. CXX. Viuæ Effigies Vitæ et elogia Duobus tomis Authore H. H. Anglo Britanno: Impensis Crispini Passai Calcographus [sic] et Jansonii Bibliopolæ Arnhemensis. Folio. Portraits. R. M.

Title and dedication to King James, 2 leaves; Præfatio, 2 leaves; Post-præfatio, 3 pages; "T. D. Sacræ Theologiæ Baccalaureus," &c., 1 page; "Ejusdem T. D. in laudem operis," &c., 1 leaf; Latin lines signed "I. Gruterus," 1 leaf; "Encomium Operis," &c., 1 leaf, followed by two other leaves of Latin verses; on the verso of the last is the portrait of Henry VIII.; A—V in sixes; "Nomina," &c., 1 leaf.

Most of the portraits are printed on the letterpress; but the "Tomb of Q. Elizabeth" and the portraits of Frobisher, Sir J. Harington, and Bishop Bale are separate plates, and are placed respectively between signatures C v—vi, H vi—I, M—M ii, O iv—O v.

HOLLAND, SAMUEL. *Romancio-Matrix: or, A Romance on Romances. HOMERUS. Homer Prince of Poets: Translated according to the Greeke, in twelue Bookes of his Iliads, By Geo: Chapman. Qui Nil molitur Ineptè. At London printed for Samuel Macham. [About 1610.] Folio. O. M.

Title, engraved by W. Hole, 1 leaf; dedications, in verse, to Henry, Prince of Wales, 3 leaves; to Anne of Denmark, 1 leaf; To the Reader, 4 leaves; B—Cc in fours; Cc 4 blank; Dd, 2 leaves; Ee—Ff 2 in fours, last leaf blank.

Chapman had printed, in 1598, the first seven books of the Iliad, and also "Achilles Shield."

— The Iliads of Homer Prince of Poets. Neuer before in any languag truely translated. With a Coñment vppon some of his chiefe places; Donne according to the Greeke By Geo: Chapman. At London printed for Nathaniell Butter. [About 1612.] Folio. O. M.

Title engraved by W. Hole (on a larger scale, but the same design as before), 1 leaf; dedication to Sir Edward Philips, Master of the Rolls, 1 leaf; dedication to Prince Henry, and anagram on his name (not in former edition), 3 leaves; dedication to the queen, 1 leaf; sonnets to Lord Cranborne and Lord Rochester, 1 leaf (inserted in some copies at the end); To the Reader, in verse, 3 leaves; preface, 3 leaves; errata, 1 leaf; the work, B—Ff in sixes, and Gg, 8 leaves, the last blank.

First complete edition of the Iliad in Chapman's version. As the new dedication to Sir Edward Philips is placed before the original one to Prince Henry, and the concluding sonnet to the Prince, occupying the last page of the earlier edition, is cancelled, there is reason to suppose that the Prince died while the volume was at press, which would fix the date of publication rather later than has been usually supposed, i.e., in the beginning of 1612-13.

Besides the omission of the sonnets to Prince Henry and the Lady Arabella, other changes were introduced. The sonnet to Lord Wotton was also superseded, and new sonnets were inserted to the Earl of Arundel, the Lord Walden, and Sir Thomas Howard.

— The Whole Works of Homer; Prince of Poetts In his Iliads, and Odyssees. Translated according to the Greeke, By Geo: Chapman.

De Ili: et Odiss:

Angel: Pol:

At London printed for Nathaniell Butter. [About 1616.] Folio. R. M.

Title engraved by W. Hole (same plate as before, with the wording altered), and a fine and large head of Chapman, an. æt. 57, 1616, in a circle of cloud, on the back, with verses beneath by J.[asper] M.[ayne?], 1 leaf; dedication to Prince Henry and anagram, 3 leaves; dedication to the queen, 1 leaf; engraved leaf, "To the Imortall Memorie, of the Incomparable Heroe, Henrye Prince of Wales," at the foot, and some verses beneath; To the Reader, 3 leaves; preface, 3 leaves, followed by a leaf, which in some copies is blank and in others has the errata, and which completes sig. A; B—Ff in sixes; and Gg, 8 leaves, the last blank; [a new title-page:] "Homer's Odyssees. Translated according to y^e Greeke. By Geo:

Chapman. Imprinted at London by Rich: Field, for Nathaniell Butter. [n. d.] A, including the engraved title and a blank leaf, 6 leaves; B—Q in sixes; R, 8 leaves, the last blank; S—Hh in sixes; and li, 8 leaves, the last blank.

The Odyssey is dedicated to the Earl of Somerset. It was originally issued separately in 1614, and then republished in one volume, with a general title, the table of errata to the Iliad cancelled in some copies, but the mistakes uncorrected, although the sheets passed through the press more than once. A good deal of information about the work and its history, both literary and bibliographical, may be found in the preliminary matter to Mr. Hooper's second edition of his reprint.

The separate title to the Odyssey is wanting in most copies, having been suppressed, when the general title was given to the whole.

HOMERUS. The Iliads and Odysses of Homer. Translated out of Greek into English, By Tho. Hobbes of Malmsbury. With a large Preface concerning the Vertues of an Heroick Poem; written by the Translator: also the Life of Homer. The Third Edition. London. Printed for Will. Crook, at the green Dragon without Temple-Bar, next Devereux Court. 1686. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A, 12 leaves, including the title and engraved frontispiece; [a new title] "Homer's Iliads To which is added Homer's Odyssey [sic]. . . . London: 1684." A, 6 leaves; B—R in twelves; the Odyssey, with a separate title, B—O 6 in twelves; O 5—6 occupied by advertisements, as are A 4—6 in the Iliad.

— Ten Books of Homers Iliades, translated out of French, By A.[rthur] H.[all of Grantham.] At London Imprinted by Ralphe Newberie. 1581. Cum Priuilegio. 4to. Black letter. R.

A—Bb 2 in fours. The title on A ii.

Dedicated to "Sir Thomas Cicill." The author of this translation was expelled from the House of Commons for having printed a narrative of his quarrel with a gentleman named Mallorie.

"This translation," says Warton, "has no other merit than that of being the first appearance of a part of the Iliad in an English dress." In the dedication Hall says, that "about 18. or 19. yeeres past walking with M, Richard Askame, a verie good Grecian, and a familiar acquaintance of Homer, & reciting . . . certaine verses Englished by me of the said Author, he animated me much, with great entreatie to goe forwarde with my begun enterprise." The translation is often very singular and whimsical:—

"Lets goe, they surely tarie us hard by the watch Bastile."

Again,

"Sound Friend (quoth Nestor) what you say as true is as the Byble."

And,

"Had not Iuno spit on hir handes, and taken better holde."

Dedicated, in verse, "To the vertuous, courteous, and worshipfull Gentleman, Master Robert Greenwood of Westerton." Fowldes appears to have been on terms of intimacy with Greenwood's son[in-law?], whose death he mentions, and for whose sake he trusts that Greenwood, should he not greatly care for the poem, will look upon it indulgently. At the end of the book is a poem, occupying six pages, "To his Cousin, Mr. Ambrose Hargreues health."

The present was Mr. Haslewood's copy, afterwards Mr. Corser's.

Forty-six leaves, not numbered.

From the Yemeniz collection. It is attributed by Hain, No. 8600, to the press of Koburger of Nuremberg. The copy in the British Museum is bound up with "Epitoma Alcinoi in disciplinarū Platonis," which is printed with precisely the same types, and dated 1472. The author, who lived in the twelfth century, wrote several other works, which were printed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

From the library of Mr. Maidment. With the following note in his autograph on the flyleaf: "Of this very amusing old English tract I have been unable to find any trace in Lowndes or in any bibliographical work. The object is to reconcile the English nation to paying their soldiers, the principal motive being to exclude the 'lousie Scot' (p. 24) from eating up the country; and it is affirmed that 'one Scottish Laird will sit as heavie as ten of the old Danish Lordanes.'"

Folio. Plates. R.

Title and preliminaries, 18 leaves; pp. 1-246; table, 5 leaves; 38 folding plates.

The first book printed in English on the microscope. On the leaf opposite the title is an order of the Royal Society, signed by the President, that the volume should be printed by the Society's printers.

The preface is extremely interesting throughout, and the following passage appears to foreshadow the telephone in a most remarkable manner:—

"'Tis not impossible to hear a whisper a furlongs distance, it having been already done; and perhaps the nature of the thing would not make it more impossible, though that furlong should be ten times multiply'd. . . . I can assure the Reader, that I have, by the help of a distended wire, propagated the sound to a very considerable distance in an instant, or with as seemingly quick a motion as that of light, at least, incomparably swifter than that which at the same time was propagated through the Air; and this not only in a straight line, or direct, but in one bended in many angles."

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of Flemish execution, written in Roman characters. The Calendar is surrounded by an architectural border in which are introduced the figures of saints, and at the foot of each page is depicted the occupation of the months and the sign of the zodiac. There are eighteen miniatures, the full size of the page, representing:—1. The Holy Trinity. 2. The Annunciation. 3. The Visitation. 4. The Betrayal. 5. The Nativity. 6. Christ before Pilate. 7. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 8. Christ bearing his Cross. 9. The Adoration of the Magi. 10. The Crucifixion. 11. The Circumcision. 12. Christ pierced with a Spear. 13. The Flight into Egypt. 14. The taking down from the Cross. 15. The Coronation of the Virgin. 16. The Entombment. 17. David praying. 18. The Raising of Lazarus. There are also thirty-three smaller miniatures illustrating the lives of the saints.

By the two coats of arms emblazoned on one of the pages, this MS. is shown to have belonged to Philippe le Bon, Duke of Burgundy, who is celebrated in history as having sold Joan of Arc to the English, and his wife, Isabella, daughter of King John of Portugal. The marriage was solemnized at Bruges, January 10, 1430, and on the occasion was instituted the famous Order of the Golden Fleecce. Towards the end of the volume is a small miniature which appears to represent the Duke's bride being presented to him by his guardian angel.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis secundum usum Romanæ Curia.
Sqr. sm. 8vo. In the original stamped binding.

MS. of Flemish execution, of the latter part of the fifteenth century, occupying 502 pages of very fine vellum.

This beautiful volume is all that can be desired in a work of the kind. Both the miniatures and the illuminations are of the most delicate execution and exquisite finish, and the whole volume is fortunately in the most perfect state of preservation.

The illuminations to the Calendar comprise :—P. 1. A Flemish Interior with a man seated at table. P. 2. A Peasant pursuing his way through the snow, with wintry landscape. P. 3. The Woodcutters, a Cathedral in the background. P. 4. A Peasant bearing home wood. P. 5. Setting up the Vine-sticks. P. 6. Manuring the land. P. 7. A Cavalier and Lady walking, followed by a page. P. 8. A Peasant teaching his dog to dance. P. 9. Cavalier and Lady going to a Hawking party. P. 10. A Lady making a flower garland. P. 11. Mowing. The background a marvel of a minute landscape. P. 12. Boys bathing. P. 13. Reaping. A thunderstorm approaching. P. 14. The Shepherd. P. 15. The Threshing floor. P. 16. Winnowing. P. 17. The Vintage. The figures most exquisitely drawn. P. 18. The Wine-press. P. 19. Seed time. P. 20. Man bearing corn. The landscape a marvel of minute work. P. 21. Shaking acorns for the pigs. P. 22. Driving pigs to market. P. 23. Killing a fat ox. P. 24. Pig-killing.

The large miniatures represent :—

P. 27. Abraham preparing to sacrifice Isaac.

P. 77. The Crucifixion. With a group of women and St. John at the foot of the Cross. The high-priest and others on horseback.

P. 89. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. The head of the Virgin and eight of the apostles painted with marked and varied expression, the other apostles indicated behind.

P. 90. "Incipiunt hore de sancto spiritu." A gothic architectural border of great beauty ; through the open door the corner of the altar is seen in the distance ; outside the door are two children playing at whip-top.

P. 131. The Visitation of Elizabeth. A charming miniature with a picturesque Flemish farmhouse at the back.

P. 149. Joseph and Mary with the infant Christ in the Stable. Though this would be accounted a most beautiful miniature in another book, it is hardly equal to the others in this volume.

P. 157. The Announcement of Christ's Birth to the Shepherds, one of whom is a woman.

P. 165. The Adoration of the Magi.

P. 173. The Presentation of Christ in the Temple.

P. 181. The Murder of the Innocents.

- P. 193. The Virgin with Christ in Heaven. Two large heads most exquisitely painted.
- P. 203. The Virgin and Child.
- P. 217. Christ in Judgment. The ascent of the blessed to heaven, and the wicked carried off by indescribable monsters.
- P. 249. The Mass of St. Gregory.
- P. 262. St. Anthony tempted by the Devil in the form of a beautiful woman.
- P. 273. St. Christopher crossing the sea.
- P. 277. St. George, having overcome the Dragon, has placed a cord round its neck, the end of which he hands to the virgin he has rescued.
- P. 285. The Miracle of St. Catherine. Fire descends from heaven on her persecutors and breaks to pieces the wheel.
- P. 289. The Story of St. Barbara.
- P. 295. Christ meeting Mary Magdalene in the Garden.
- P. 299. The Raising of Lazarus.
- P. 418. The Ascension of Christ.
- P. 453. The Penance of St. Jerome.
- P. 479. The Dead Christ in the Lap of the Virgin.

The small miniatures depict:—P. 28. "Incipit Officium passionis Dñi. nñi." The agony in the garden. P. 39. Christ buffeted. P. 43. Christ before Pilate. P. 44. Christ bound and scourged. P. 48. Christ bearing his cross. P. 51. Christ crucified. P. 54. Christ borne to the sepulchre. P. 57. The Entombment. P. 62. "Ad ymaginem Dñi. nñi. Ihū xpī." Christ showing the spear wound. P. 63. A Veronica. P. 64. The pierced hands. P. 65. The sacred heart. P. 66. The pierced feet. P. 98. "Incipit Missa Beate Marie Virginis." The Virgin and Child seated, surrounded by a glory. P. 106. "Incipit hore beate Marie virginis secundum consuetudinem Romane Curie." The Virgin seated reading, angels on either side with harp and cithern. P. 132. The Virgin and St. Elizabeth. The border of pearls and jewels, with two small miniatures in camaïeu gris, of David playing the harp and Balaam flogging his ass. P. 150. A man plays the bagpipes while a party of five peasants dance in a ring. P. 158. David kneeling before an altar, while a sybil points out to him a vision of the Virgin in the clouds. P. 166. The Queen of Sheba brings presents to Solomon. P. 174. Three figures kneeling before a shrine. P. 218. The Penitence of David. P. 244. St. Veronica. P. 246. Emblem of the Holy Trinity. P. 247. The Last Supper. P. 252. St. John Baptist in the desert. P. 254. Martyrdom of St. Sebastian. P. 258. St. Thomas Aquinas. P. 259. St. John in Patmos. P. 269. St. James disputing with the heathen. P. 270. St. James resting on his journey. P. 280. St. Nicholas and the three children. P. 282. The Martyrdom of St. Lawrence. P. 283. The Miracle of St. Catherine. P. 290. St. Barbara. In the border is represented the execution of St. Barbara, while a number of devils descend in a storm and carry off her executioner. P. 292. The Martyrdom of St. Appolonia. P. 296. St. Mary Magdalene on her way to the sepulchre. P. 362. An Angel conducting a soul to heaven. P. 368. A Choir of Saints. P. 380. "Incipit Officium Sancte Crucis." Christ nailed to the Cross. P. 384. The Adoration of the Cross. P. 420. The Holy Trinity.

It remains only to speak of the five hundred richly illuminated borders which are a wonder of finish and accuracy in the delineations of birds, insects, fruits, and flowers, and all of which vary more or less.

A splendidly illuminated MS. on 230 leaves of fine vellum, by a French artist of the first excellence (7 by 5 inches).

This beautiful volume is supposed to have been executed for Philip de Comines (as his arms are found in the margin of one of the miniatures), and presented by him to some person of distinction, whose initials, N. E., are found in several of the borders and miniatures. The large miniatures are thirty-seven in number, and many of them represent subjects of very unusual occurrence. They comprise:—

1. The Last Judgment. 2. The Taking down from the Cross, with a picturesque representation of Jerusalem in the background. 3. Salvator Mundi, most expressively painted, with burnished gold background. 4. The Mass of St. Gregory, showing three ecclesiastics in richly figured vestments, supported by two cardinals, one of them holding the tiara; the whole of the accessories rendered with the most minute care. 5. St. John in Patmos, with a landscape of exquisite beauty. 6. St. Luke, an interior, full of careful detail. 7. St. Matthew attended by an Angel, a castle seen through a colonnade. 8. St. Mark, another fine interior with open window. 9. The Virgin and Child, in a jewelled frame. 10. The Annunciation, within a most elaborate border, full of detail, the arms of Comines at the top. 11. The Visitation of St. Elizabeth. 12. The Nativity, with adoring crowds on each side. 13. The Adoration of the Shepherds, an elaborate and charming picture. 14. The Presentation of Christ in the Temple. 15. The Adoration of the Magi, a very brilliant but delicate painting, with exquisite background. 16. The Flight into Egypt. 17. The Coronation of the Virgin, with Choir of Angels. 18. The Slaying of Goliath, with the Army of Israel and an exquisitely finished landscape. 19. The Agony in the Garden of Olives, a wonderfully painted night scene. 20. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. A group of twenty-eight figures. 21. "Les trois vifs, et les trois morts," the background representing Paris, with "La Sainte Chapelle." 22. The Martyrdom of St. Catherine, a complete picture of the whole scene, the King presiding on his throne; the distance most carefully finished. 23. St. John the Baptist in the Wilderness, a work of great beauty. 24. St. Michael destroying the Devil; with a wonderful landscape. 25. The Martyrdom of St. Peter and St. Paul, a most elaborate work. 26. The Martyrdom of St. Sebastian, another exquisite work. 27. A Portrait of a Bishop in full canonicals, of the highest finish and perfect modelling. 28. St. Christopher, a fine harmony of brilliant colour. 29. The Miracle of St. Silvanus, an admirable interior. 30. St. Anne in a golden robe. 31. The Three Maries. 32. St. Mary Magdalene, surrounded by a very beautiful landscape. 33. St. Catherine reading, a most carefully and exquisitely painted figure, with rich costume. 34. St. Agatha seated in a garden, in a golden robe. 35. The Martyrdom of St. Appolonia. 36. The Miracle of St. Margaret. 37. The Marriage Service, a group in the porch of a church.

Besides these exquisite paintings, there are borders of very great beauty round every page, each one being entirely different. They are alternately painted in brilliant colours and in a lustrous brown, heightened with gold. The Calendar is also treated in a similar manner.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. In Dutch. 4to. $7\frac{1}{4}$ by $5\frac{1}{4}$.

A MS. written in Holland about the end of the fifteenth century. It consists of 193 leaves of vellum, and contains eight full-page miniatures, representing:—

1. The Coronation of the Virgin, within a rich architectural design. At the foot are portraits of the original owner of the MS. and his wife, with coat of arms in the centre. 2. The Day of Pentecost. 3. The Crucifixion. 4. The Annunciation. 5. The Assumption. 6. The Seven Dolours of the Blessed Virgin, represented in six circular compartments and a centrepiece of a "Pietà." 7. The Last Judgment. 8. The Resurrection. Seven of these miniatures have a richly bordered page opposite, with an historiated initial. One of these represents the creation of Eve, with a church surmounted by a cross in the background. The volume is further decorated with thirty-two side borders, several of which contain subjects from the lives of the saints and scenes of domestic life.

The volume is in the original velvet binding, with silver hasps, and the original silk markers on a silver guard.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. Sm. 8vo. $5\frac{1}{2}$ by $3\frac{1}{2}$.

MS. on 155 leaves of very fine vellum. Probably written by an Italian scribe resident in France in the first years of the sixteenth century.

The text is very beautifully written in an Italian hand, and with such skill and neatness as to have quite the appearance of letterpress. Each page is surrounded by a gold line border to represent cords or twigs, knotted and intertwined at the top and sides. The Calendar is decorated with twelve designs of exceptional beauty, representing, January, a seigneur at table attended by a page; February, a beautifully finished interior, with a peasant warming himself at the fire; March, a vine-grower pruning his vines; April, a gallant with a pair of greyhounds; May, a lady seated against a rose trellis, engaged in embroidery; June, a country-woman shearing a sheep; July, a peasant mowing hay; August, a peasant reaping; September, sowing the grain; October, wine-making; November, a swineherd with his pigs; December, pig-killing.

The full-page miniatures are seventeen in number, representing:—1. St. John in Patmos. 2. Christ bearing the cross. 3. The Annunciation. 4. The Visitation of St. Elizabeth. 5. The Nativity. 6. The Annoucement to the Shepherds. 7. The Offerings of the Magi. 8. The Presentation of Christ in the Temple. 9. The Flight into Egypt. 10. The Assumption of the Virgin. 11. The Crucifixion. 12. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. 13. Bathsheba in the Bath. 14. Fire descending from heaven on the family of Job. 15. Job and his friends. 16. The blessed Virgin in glory. 17. The Mass of St. Gregory. The page opposite to each of these miniatures is enclosed in a very richly painted border of beautiful design.

There are also smaller miniatures of St. Matthew, St. Mark, St. Luke, St. Michael, St. John the Baptist, St. John the Evangelist, SS. Peter and Paul, St. James, St. Andrew, St. Stephen, St. Christopher, St. Lawrence, St. Sebastian, St. Nicholas, St. Claudius, St. Martin, St. Antony, St. Roch, St. Anne, St. Mary Magdalene, St. Catherine, St. Margaret, St. Barbara, St. Geneviève, the Man of Sorrows.

This beautiful volume is in an old yellow morocco binding of the Roger Payne style and period, double with red morocco. Inside the cover is a book-plate with the old arms of the Romilly family.

An exquisite MS., of the fifteenth century, on 148 leaves of vellum, of French execution. Written in Roman characters, and illuminated in the purest taste and with the most consummate skill, in the chaste and beautiful style known as cameïu gris, and resembling the finest Limoges enamels.

This gem of the illuminator's art contains sixteen large miniatures, representing:—

1. St. John in Patmos, an exquisite miniature with background minutely painted, representing a river winding through a landscape.
2. The Agony in the Garden.
3. The Virgin and Child, with attendant angels.
4. The Annunciation.
5. St. Mary and St. Elisabeth, with charming landscape.
6. The Crucifixion, a very fine composition.
7. The Descent of the Holy Spirit.
8. The Nativity.
9. The Announcement to the Shepherds, with very beautiful background. 10. The Adoration of the Magi. 11. The Presentation of Christ in the Temple. 12. The Flight into Egypt. 13. The Assumption of the Virgin. 14. The Penitence of David. 15. The Service for the Dead. 16. Christ on the Cross, with the Blessed Virgin standing at the foot and the patron of the artist kneeling before them. All these miniatures are set in a black border, with columns most skilfully designed, with garlands and amoretti, in admirable taste. The twenty-four beautiful miniatures which decorate the Calendar are also in camaïeu gris. The volume is in the most perfect condition, having evidently been preserved with religious care.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to.

MS. on vellum, of French-Flemish execution, of the fifteenth century.

This very fine MS. is decorated with thirty-eight large miniatures representing the following subjects:—

1-2. Adam and Eve driven out of Paradise by an angel with a sword of flame. 3. A Flemish interior, a party seated at table. 4. An outdoor winter scene, with large figures and castle in the background. 5. Setting up the vines. 6. A Lady and Cavalier in a garden. 7. A Cavalier on horseback. 8. Haymaking. 9. Reaping. 10. Hawking. 11. The Vintage. 12. Tilling the land. 13. A Hawking party. 14. Hunting the wild boar. 15. St. John taken to Patmos. 16. The Siege of Jerusalem. 17. St. Luke, with very fine representation of a fresco at the back. 18. The setting forth of the Apostles. 19. The Betrayal. 20. Christ before Pilate. 21-2. The Annunciation. 23. The Visitation of St. Elizabeth. 24. Christ bearing the Cross. 25. St. Joseph and the Blessed Virgin. 26. The Nativity. 27. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 28. The Offerings of the Magi. 29. An Embarcation. 30. The Murder of the Innocents. 31. The Assumption of the Virgin. 32. Bathsheba in the Bath. 33. The three Dead and the Cavaliers. 34. Salvator Mundi. 35. The Virgin and Infant Saviour, with a bird. 36. The same with angels. 37. The Crucifixion. 38. The Annunciation. There are also twenty-four small miniatures.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to. In rich old red morocco binding.

MS. on vellum, of French execution, of the early part of the fifteenth century.

The large miniatures represent:—1. St. John. 2. St. Luke painting the portrait of the Virgin. 3. St. Matthew. 4. St. Mark. 5. The Marriage of Joseph and Mary. 6. The Visitation. 7. The Nativity. 8. HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to. $7\frac{3}{4}$ by $5\frac{1}{4}$. BR. M.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of French execution.

It contains twelve large, and one hundred and six small miniatures, very delicately painted. The subjects of the large miniatures are:—1. St. John in Patmos. 2. The Holy Family. 3. The Visitation of St. Elizabeth. 4. The Betrayal of Christ. 5. The Day of Pentecost. 6. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 7. The Flight into Egypt. 8. The Assumption. 9. The Betrayal (a second representation). 10. The Virgin and Child. 11. A portrait, doubtless that of the first possessor of the volume; St. Peter stands behind and commends the person represented to the Saviour. 12. The Holy Trinity.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. Sm. 8vo. Y. M.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of French execution.

It contains large miniatures of:—1. The Annunciation. 2. The Visitation. 3. David and Bathsheba. 4. "Les trois vifs et les trois morts." Also thirty-six smaller miniatures illustrating the calendar, the lives of the saints, and the Gospel history. The binding is a chef-d'œuvre of Duru, being inlaid with different coloured leather, and doublé with red morocco.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. Sm. folio.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of French execution.

The Calendar is illuminated with twelve small miniatures, and the body of the book contains thirty-four large and finely-painted miniatures, representing:—1. The Martyrdom of St. John. 2. St. John in Patmos. 3. St. Luke. 4. St. Matthew. 5. St. Mark. 6. The Virgin and Child. 7. Mater Dolorosa. 8. Adam and Eve. 9. The Annunciation. 10. St. Elizabeth and the Virgin. 11. The Man of Sorrows. 12. The Crucifixion. 13. The Resurrection. 14. The Day of Pentecost. 15. The Nativity. 16. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 17. The Offerings of the Magi. 18. The Presentation in the Temple. 19. The Flight into Egypt. 20. The Assumption of the Virgin. 21. David and Goliath. 22. David and Bathsheba. 23. "Les trois vifs et les trois morts." 24. The Affliction of Job. 25. The Holy Trinity. 26. St. John. 27. St. James. 28. The Martyrdom of St. Stephen. 29. St. Christopher. 30. St. Sebastian. 31. St. Nicholas. 32. The Childhood of the Virgin. 33. The Martyrdom of St. Catherine. 34. St. Barbara. There are also nine smaller miniatures, and every page of the volume is enriched with an elaborate ornamental border.

This sumptuous volume is believed to have belonged to Marie de Médicis. An old MS. inscription on the flyleaf states: "Ce livre a appartenu à la Reine Mère, qui en a fait présent à son confesseur et la nièce du confesseur m'en a fait présent." It appears subsequently to have belonged to "M. Lenormand du Coudray d'Orléans."

The book is in fine preservation, and retains the original massive chased silver back, corners, and clasps, in most perfect state.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 8vo. BR. M.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of French-Flemish execution.

With twenty-four illuminations to the calendar, and sixteen small illuminations to the lives of the saints. The larger miniatures, which are exceptionally fine in execution, represent:—1. The Martyrdom of St. John. 2. St. Matthew. 3. St. Luke. 4. St. Mark. 5. The Virgin and Child. 6. The three Marys and the dead Saviour. 7. The Annunciation. 8. The Visitation of St. Elizabeth. 9. The Crucifixion. 10. The Day of Pentecost. 11. The Nativity. 12. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 13. The Adoration of the Magi. 14. The Presentation in the Temple. 15. Herod commanding the Slaughter of the Innocents. 16. The Crowning of the Virgin. 17. The Penitence of David. 18. The Viaticum. There are also seventy-two smaller miniatures, painted in compartments round the larger ones.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of French execution.

It contains twelve large miniatures :—1. The Coronation of the Virgin. 2. The Visitation. 3. Bathsheba in the Bath. 4. The Nativity. 5. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 6. The Offerings of the Magi. 7. The Crucifixion. 8. The Descent of the Holy Ghost. 9. The Presentation in the Temple. 10. The Flight into Egypt. 11. Job and his Friends. 12. The Annunciation. Also twelve smaller ones.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to.

MS. of the fifteenth century, of Flemish execution.

It contains eight large miniatures, representing :—1. Salvator Mundi. 2. The Crucifixion. 3. The Day of Pentecost. 4. The Virgin and Child. 5. The Annunciation. 6. Bathsheba in the Bath. 7. The Raising of the Widow's Son. 8. St. Mary Magdalene presenting a box of spikenard to the Virgin Mary. The two figures in this miniature are evidently portraits. The volume is also decorated with twenty-eight smaller miniatures and numerous richly painted borders.

The original sides are let into the binding, and bear the name of the binder, "Ludovicus Bloc."

HORE Beate Marie Virginis. In agenda form.

MS. on vellum, of the latter part of the fifteenth century, of French execution.

With the following large illuminations :—1. St. John. 2. St. Matthew. 3. St. Luke. 4. St. Mark. 5. The Virgin and Child, with a choir of angels. 6. The Betrayal of Christ. 7. The Annunciation. 8. The Visitation. 9. The Crucifixion. 10. The Day of Pentecost. 11. The Nativity. 12. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 13. The Offerings of the Magi. 14. The Presentation in the Temple. 15. The Flight into Egypt. 16. The Virgin crowned by Angels. 17. King David. 18. The Last Judgment; with a very fine and remarkable border. 19. The Trinity. Also twenty-five smaller miniatures illustrating the lives of the saints.

This MS. is specially remarkable for the delicate low tone of the illuminations. Nearly all the draperies are white, and where other colours are employed they are always very subdued and delicate.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. 4to. O. M.

MS. on vellum, of French-Flemish execution, of the latter part of the fifteenth century.

It contains twelve miniatures, representing :—1. The Crucifixion. 2. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. 3. The Annunciation. 4. Visitation of Elizabeth. 5. The Nativity. 6. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 7. The Adoration of the Magi. 8. The Murder of the Innocents. 9. The Flight into Egypt. 10. The Presentation in the Temple. 11. David praying. 12. The raising of Lazarus.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis secundum usum Romanum. Officium Sanctæ Crucis. Officium de Sancto Spiritu. Missa Beatæ Mariæ. Sm. sq. 8vo. 4 in. by 3¼ in. BL. M.

MS. on vellum, of the fifteenth century, of Flemish execution.

It contains the following full-page miniatures, which are painted with great delicacy and care :—1. The Crucifixion. 2. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. 3. The Virgin and Child. 4. The Annunciation. 5. The Visitation. 6. The Nativity. 7. The Announcement to the Shepherds. 8. The Offerings of the Magi. 9. The Presentation in the Temple. 10. The Murder of the Innocents. 11. The Flight into Egypt. 12. The Virgin crowned by Angels. 13. The Penitence of David. 14. The Raising of Lazarus.

HORÆ Beatæ Mariæ Virginis. [In Flemish.] Sm. sqr. 8vo. 4½ by 3½ inches.

MS. of the fifteenth century, on 232 leaves of vellum.

This MS. would appear at a first view to be of little value, and as far as the MS. is concerned it is so, but the illustrations will be seen on a careful inspection, not to be hand work, but a most remarkable and, it is believed, entirely unique series of copper-plate engravings by a Dutch master, of rare power and merit of execution, which have been mounted on the vellum and coloured to represent miniatures. These number in all twenty-one, but all are not by the same hand. The following are by the best master:—1. The Marriage of Joseph and Mary. 2. The Annunciation. 3. SS. Mary and Elizabeth. 4. The Nativity. 5. The Adoration of the Magi. 6. Presentation of Christ in the Temple. 7. The Assumption of the Virgin. 8. The Holy Trinity. 9. St. Peter. 10. St. Catherine. 11. Christ's Descent into Hades. 12. The Descent from the Cross. The whole of this remarkable series is of surprising excellence, whether for design, composition, or execution, and are certainly the work of an artist of the first order. The remaining prints are also very remarkable and interesting, though not by a hand of equal importance. They represent:—13. The Purification. 14. The Betrayal. 15. Christ Buffeted. 16. Christ before Pilate. 17. Bearing the Cross. 18. Nailing to the Cross. 19. The Entombment. 20. The Descent of the Holy Spirit. 21. The Last Judgment.

This edition begins on a i with only the words, "Ad vsum Romane curie" beneath De Marnef's large device, and ends the reverse of m iv with Pigouchet's large device, at the bottom of which is his name, the recto of the leaf being blank. It does not appear to be described by Brunet, but the woodcuts are probably the same which were in other editions printed by Pigouchet. The Almanac is from 1488 to 1508.

This edition is entirely undescribed by Brunet. He cites two editions of the "Hours of the Virgin," in Spanish, printed by Simon Vostre (Nos. 25 and 47 of his list of Vostre's editions of the Horæ), but the former consists of only 96 leaves and has no borders, and the latter is in 4to, dated 1499, and has 112 leaves. The present copy has woodcut borders round every page, and contains altogether 136 leaves. It does not contain the almanac for twenty years which usually enables one to fix the date pretty nearly, but the Golden Number and Dominical Letter appear to be reckoned from 1495, to which year it probably belongs.

This beautiful volume is in the original richly gilt binding, and is as clean as when it first came from the press. From Mr. Slade's collection.

This edition does not appear to be described by Brunet, who nevertheless describes one of the same year, the colophon differing only in the month (the 15th of July instead of the 20th of December). It might be supposed that this must be the only difference, but in the first place, Brunet calls the edition which he describes a small 8vo, while this is certainly a 4to or a large 8vo, and secondly, he says that it has 108 leaves, while this has 90 leaves—a—k in eights and l, 10 leaves. He also describes the Almanac as going from 1487 to 1508, while this one has the Almanac from 1494 to 1520.

A—Y iv in eights.

This, according to M. Brunet, is a reimpression of Geoffroy Tory's edition of 1541, the same borders and woodcuts being employed. The present copy is in the original velvet binding, and in fine, clean condition.

— Horæ in laudem Beatissimæ Virginis Marię ad vsum Romanum. Parisiis. Apud Thielmanum Keruer in vico sancti Iacobi sub signo cratis. 1556. 8vo. BR. M.

A—M, A—C, and A—C in twelves, the last leaf blank.

The woodcut borders to this beautiful volume are from the designs of Geoffroy Tory, and are the same as those used in the edition of 1550, described above. Brunet, No. 334.

The richly tooled binding is a fine specimen of Lortic's skill. From the collection of M. Desq.

Title and preliminaries, 12 leaves; folios 1-315, and 1 leaf with Pynson's large device.

HORNBOOK.

A specimen of this once popular mode of teaching children in village schools. This copy is probably not older than the middle of the last century. It consists of a single leaf fastened on to a piece of oak, three inches broad by two inches long, and covered by a piece of horn, which is secured to the board by tacks driven through strips of thin brass, which go round the edges of the horn. The contents of the page are simply:—1. The alphabet in small Roman characters. 2. The same in capitals. 3. The vowels with the variations of ab, ba, &c. 4. The invocation of the Holy Trinity. 5. The Lord's Prayer. The price of 1½*d.* is marked in ink on the back.

HORNBY, CHARLES. A Small Specimen Of the many Mistakes in Sir William Dugdale's Baronage. Exhibited in Some Remarks on about Half a Page of that Voluminous Work. In a Letter, &c. London. 1730. 8vo.

Pp. 66. Although only one Letter is mentioned on the title, the tract contains really three, of which only two are included in the sixty-six pages. But after p. 66 is inserted a new title: "A Third Letter, Containing some further Remarks On a few more of the numberless Errors and Defects in Dugdale's Baronage . . . London: Printed in the Year 1738," which, although dated eight years later, has a continuous pagination from 67 to 250, the last leaf bearing the errata, the separate title not included. Between pp. 180-1 is a folded pedigree of Brus of Anandale as given by Dugdale, and as corrected by Hornby.

HORNBY, WILLIAM. The Scovrge of Drvnkennes. By William Hornby Gent. London, Printed by G. Eld for Thomas Baylie, and are to be solde at his Shop, in the Middle-Rovv in Holborne, neere vnto Staple-Inne. 1618. 4to. R. M.

A—D in fours. In verse. With a woodcut of a satyr on the title, holding a scourge in one hand and in the other a long pipe.

Dedicated in verse "To his loving Kinsman and approued Friend, Mr. Henry Cholmely Esquire," after which is an address, also in metre, "To all the impious and relentlesse-harted Rvffians and Roysters vnder Bacchus Regiment," subscribed "Cornv-Apes" [Horn-Bee]. The poem itself, the work of a repentant drunkard, occupies twenty pages, and is in stanzas of six lines. The volume concludes with a "Prayer against Temptation."

This copy has successively belonged to Mr. Park, Sir Mark Sykes, Mr. Heber, and Mr. Corser. The only other copy known was sold among Archdeacon Wrangham's books. In the British Museum is an edition dated 1619.

— The Scourge of Drunkenness, A Poem by William Hornby, A.D. 1614. Edited by J. O. Halliwell . . . London . . . 1859. 4to.

Only twenty-six copies printed. There was no edition of this work in 1614, the earliest being that of 1618. Mr. Halliwell derived the date from an imperfect copy made up with MS., which he used for this reprint.

HORNECK, BURCKARDUS DE. Ad illustrem Eberhardum ducem in wirttemberg et decke Comitez Montispelegardi Carmē de purgatorio diui Patricij. [Colophon.] Impressum Memmingen [sine anno]. 4to.

Six leaves.

A Latin poem descriptive of St. Patrick's vision of Purgatory. It appears to be quite unknown to bibliographers. At the back of the title is a dedicatory preface addressed to the Duke of Wurtemberg. In it the author says, "Hoc carmen de diui Patricii gestis, quod proximis diebus ex nostra li[n]gua vernandam in latinum sub carminis lege transferre tēptauī." The piece consists of 318 lines of Latin verse.

HOROLOGIUM. Horalogiū [sic] Devotionis. [Sine loco aut anno.] Sm. sq. 8vo. R. M.

This volume contains thirty-five engravings in the style known in Germany as "Geschrotene Arbeit" and in England as "dotted prints," from the white dots on the black ground. The book was probably printed at Cologne about 1500, but the prints belong to an earlier date.

HORSFIELD, T. W. The History, Antiquities, and Topography of the County of Sussex. Leves. 1835. 2 vols. 4to. Plates.

This copy contains numerous additional plates, a list of which is appended to each volume.

There is in the library a second copy, which belonged to Mr. Nichols. It contains a large quantity of additional illustrations in the form of letters, memoranda, and other MSS.

HORSLEY, JOHN. Britannia Romana: Or the Roman Antiquities of Britain: In Three Books. . . . To which are added a Chronological Table, and Indexes. . . . The whole illustrated with above an hundred Copper Plates. London. 1732. Large paper. Folio. R. M.

Only six copies of the first work and twelve of the other three were printed on large paper. The Northumberland Household Book is a reprint of the edition of 1770.

[HOUTMAN, CORNELIS DE.] Verhael vande Reyse by de Hollandtsche Schepen gedaen naer Oost Indien, haer avontuer ende succes, met de beschryvinghe der Landen daer zy gheweest zijn, der Steden ende Inwoonderen met Caerten ende Figuren verlicht, seer ghenoechlyck om lesen. Ghedruickt voor Barent Langenes, Bock-vercooper tot Middelborgh, Anno 1597. Oblong 4to. Plates.

Muller in his "Mémoire Bibliographique" says, referring to this copy, "Nous ne connaissons qu'un seul exemplaire du Verhael." It is reprinted in De Bry, "Petits Voyages," tome iii., iv., 1601. See also Camus, p. 200, and Muller, p. 116.

— Journael Vande Reyse der Hollandtsche Schepen ghedaen in Oost Indien, haer Coersen, Streckinghen ende vreemde avontueren die haer bejegent zijn, seer vlijtich van tijt tot tijt aengeteeckent. Oock een Vocabulaer der principaelste Javaensche woorden, met vele Caerten ende Figuren verciert. . . . Gedruickt . . . by Barent Langenes. 1598. Oblong 4to. Plates.

This is in fact a republication of the "Verhael," but with considerable additions and modifications. Muller (pp. 121-2) says it is probable that the author of the "Journael" made use of the same original text which was used to compile the "Verhael." See Muller, "Mémoire Bibliographique," p. 118, where a full collation is given. This copy contains the Appendix, printed in the same year.

— Diarium Nauticum Itineris Batavorum in Indiam Orientalem, cursuum, tractuum, variorumque eventuum, qui ipsis contigerunt, diligenter descriptum. . . . *Extant venales apud Bernardum Langenesse Bibliopolam Middelburgi. For collation see Muller, "Mémoire Bibliogr.," p. 119.

— Diarium Nauticum Itineris Batavorum in Indiam Orientalem. Extant Venales apud Adrianum Perier Bibliopolam Parisiis. Anno 1598. Oblong 4to. Plates.

This is a reprint of the Latin edition of Middelburg, 1598, including the appendix. The collation is the same, with the exception of the map of Bali, which is here from the same plate as in the Dutch editions of 1597 and 1598, while in the Latin edition of Middelburg, 1598, it is re-engraved. But, according to Muller, p. 120, copies are sometimes found with the original map.

[HOUTMAN, CORNELIUS DE.] Journal Du voyage de l'Inde Orientale, fait par [sic] les navires Hollandoises : leur courses & Rhombes, certaines marques, & decouvremens de terres. Ensemble un discours historial des adventures estranges survenues ; peuples, terres, & villes abordees ; qualité des marchandises ; les lieux ou les espices se trouvent, l'achat dicelles ; le proffit qu'on y peut faire, et la sorte des monnoyes : le tout tres-utile a tous marchans, & navigans, & tres-recreatif a lire. Plus l'explication des dictionns principales de Iava, le tout de plusieurs cartes, & autres figures enrichi & orné. On les vend chez Bernard Langens a Middelbourg. 1598.—Appentis Ou Journal du voyage des navires d'Hollande à Iava. On les vend chez Bernard Langens Libraire a Middelbourg. 1598. Oblong 4to. Plates.

This edition is described by Muller, pp. 120-1, but as he has been obliged to give the description at second hand it contains some inaccuracies, as may be seen by a comparison with the title given above. The collation is A—H in fours, making 32 leaves (not 34 as he gives it). The last leaf bears only

MES HOLLANDOIS ONT EV EN EVX SI FRANC COVRAGE, QV'EN L'INDE ORIENTALE ILS ONT FAICT VN VOIAGE.

The numeral letters, it will be seen, give the date of the voyage, 1597. The map of Bali is a copy of that in the “Journal.” The plates are from the same coppers as those in the “Journal,” with the exception of pl. 2 (Le Roi d'Auton Gil), which has been re-engraved.

These two editions are described by Brunet as being almost identical, but it is probable that he had not both before him, or he would have remarked on the curious fact that though put forth by the same publisher, in succeeding years, the text is entirely different. A collation of the two editions will show how much they vary:—

Collation of edition of 1612.—Title as above, on the reverse a woodcut of a ship with 8 lines of Latin verse beneath beginning, "Huc quicunq̄." On A 2, "In tractatus sequentes Prolegomena ad Lectorem," 6 pages, signed at the end, "Hesselius Gerardus Assumensis Philogeographus." Then follow 2 leaves, "Relatio Super detectione novi ad Caurum transitus," &c. On B begins, "Relatio Memorialis, sive libelli supplicis Majestati Sua oblâti per Capitaneum Petrum Fernandez de Quir," this ends on the recto of C 2, and on the verso is a woodcut of a sledge drawn by reindeer. To this piece there is also a separate title, beginning, "Exemplar libelli supplicis," with the date 1612, at the back the same woodcut and verses as on the first title. This title is inserted on a guard, so that it is impossible to say if it belongs to the book, or was intended to be published separately. On C 3 begins, "Apographum Descriptionis regionum Siberiæ," which ends on the verso of D 2. On D 3 begins "Itinerum atq; Fluviorvm Ortum & Aquilonem versus è Moscovia in Siberiam descriptio," which ends on F 1. The plates consist of a map of the two hemispheres, "Tabvla Navtica," and "Cacrtæ van't Noordeste Russen," &c.

Collation of the edition of 1613.—Title as above, at the back, the same woodcut as in the 1612 edition, beneath it, "Liber ad Lectorem," followed by 10 lines of verse beginning, "Qui cupis ignotas." On A 2, "Ad Lectorem Prolegomena," occupying only a page and a half, and not signed. On A 3, "Descriptio, ac delineatio Geographica detectionis freti." 3 pages. On the reverse of A 4, "Exegesis Libelli supplicis, oblâti Regiæ Majestati Hispaniæ, a Duce Petro Fernandez de Quir," ending on C 1, on the reverse of which is the same woodcut of the sledge as is on the reverse of C 2 in the edition of 1612. On C 2 begins, "Des[c]riptio Regionum Siberiæ," ending on the recto of D 1. On the recto of D 2 (wrongly marked B 2) begins, "Brevis Descriptio Itinerum ducentium," which ends on the recto of E 3. On F 1 begins, "In præfatione postremæ editionis," &c., ending on the verso of F 3. The last leaf bears on the recto a woodcut of a whale, the verso blank. The plates are the same as in the 1612 edition, but a fourth is added, containing a map and two large figures of seals.

[Colophon] . . . durch Hans grüningern in . . . Straszburg. 1500. Folio. Woodcuts. G. M.

A romance history of Hugh Capet. It is said by Graesse to have been translated into German by Elizabeth, Duchess of Lorraine, from a French original. Brunet, however, says of it: "Première édition de ce roman allemand qui n'a pas été trad. en français."

HUGGARD, MILES. A Myrrovre of myserie, newly compiled and sett forth by Myles Huggarde seruaunt to y^e quenes moste excellent maiestie. A^o Domini. M.D.lvij. 4to. R.

Twenty-four leaves.

A MS. poem in seven-line stanzas, not known to have appeared in print. It is dedicated in verse to the Queen, and is most beautifully written on vellum, with an elaborately designed title-page, having the royal arms in the lower centre, and a curious drawing before the poem itself. Following the dedication is a prologue in twelve stanzas of four lines each. No other MS. of this poem is known. It was probably intended by the author as a pendant to his poem entitled "A Mirroure of Loue," printed by R. Wyer, 1555, and dedicated to Queen Mary.

From the collections of Major Pearson, the Earl of Charlemont, and Mr. Corser.

The only other copy known of this edition is that described by Señor Salvá in his catalogue (No. 1852). He says, that it is the same which was sold in Colonel Stanley's collection for £31 10s., but in this he is entirely mistaken. The volume sold in Colonel Stanley's sale was, as stated by Brunet, the first edition of the first part, printed at Burgos in 1554. In the library of Mr. R. S. Turner is an edition of both parts, printed at Antwerp by Martin Nucio, 1554-5, which Señor Salvá appears to think never existed. The second part is not by the author of the first, but by an anonymous and very inferior writer.

— Lazarillo, Or, The Excellent History of Lazarillo de Tormes, the witty Spaniard. Both parts. The first translated by David Rowland, and the second gather'd out of the Chronicles of Toledo by Iean de Luna a Castilian, and done into English by the same Authour. *Accuerdo, Oluido. Dedicated to the king in verse, and to the queen in prose. In a poetical "Apology to the Reader," the author seeks to excuse the shortcomings of his muse owing to the unfavourable circumstances under which his work was accomplished—"Eight hundred leagues short of Parnassus Mount." The volume is divided into sections with separate headings, each describing a stage in the journey or some incident which occurred at sea.

A—E 3 in fours.

This tract, which has been reprinted in facsimile, is perhaps the rarest of all those of an historical character relating to Virginia, except Rich's metrical narrative.

It would appear from the dedication, which is addressed to Sir Thomas Smith, that the attempt to found the Colony of Virginia was the occasion of no small amount of ridicule, and that it was not spared by the dramatists of the day. The author thus begins his dedicatory epistle:—

"It is come to passe (right Worshipfull) with the businesse and plantation of Virginea, as it is commonly seene in the attempt and progresse of all other most excellent things, (which is) to be accompanied with manifold difficulties, crosses and disasters, being such as are appointed by the highest prouidence as an exercise of patience and other vertues, and to make more wise thereby the managers thereof: by which occasion not only the ignorant and simple minded are much discouraged, but the malicious and looser sort (being accompanied with the licentious vaine of stage Poets have whet their tongues with scornfull taunts against the action it selfe, in so much as there is no common speech nor publike name of any thing this day (except it be the name of God) which is more vildly depraued, traduced and derided by such unhallowed lips, then the name of Virginea."

I., R. The New Life of Virginea : declaring the former successe and present estate of that plantation, being the second part of Noua Britannia. Published by the authoritie of his Maiesties Counsell of Virginea. London, Imprinted by Felix Kyngston for William Welby, dwelling at the signe of the Swan in Pauls Churchyard. 1612. 4to. R. M.

A—G in fours, first leaf blank.

Dedicated by R. I. to "Sir Thomas Smith of London, Gouvernour of the Moscouia and East Indie Companies," &c.

After giving an account of the several disasters which had befallen the colony and the loss sustained by the adventurers, the author continues: "You shall know that our Colonie consisteth now of seven hundred men at least, of sundrie arts and professions, some more or lesse, they stand in health and few sicke, at the ships comming thence, hauing left the fort at Cape Henry fortified and kept by Captaine Dauies, and the keeping of James towne to that noble and well deserving Gentleman Master George Percie. The Colonie is remoued vp the riuier fourscore miles further beyond James towne to a place of higher ground, strong and defencible by nature, a good aire, wholesome and cleere (vnlike the marish seate at James towne) with fresh and plentie of water springs, much faire and open grounds freed from woods, and wood enough at hand."

I., R. Dives and Lazarvs : Or rather, Divellish Dives. Delivered in a Sermon at Pauls Crosse, by R. I. Preacher of the Word. Very necessary for these times, and purposes : Published for the great comfort of those that taste the bitterness of affliction. [Quotation from Matth. v. 2.] The eight Edition. London Printed by W. I. for Robert Bird, and are to be sold at his shop in Cheap-side at the signe of the Bible. 1628. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A curious specimen of block printing. The whole occupies twenty-three lines, and is entirely engraved on wood and printed on paper. There are some lacunæ, which are indicated by dots. It was no doubt printed at Munich, where letterpress printing was not introduced till quite the end of the century.

a, 4 leaves; A—Z in fours; and Aa, 5 leaves. The title within a woodcut border.

Of this work at least two editions in 4to and one in 8vo were printed in 1537. See Herbert, p. 428.

This was commonly known as "The Bishop's book." In the preface addressed to the king, which is signed by the bishops and other principal clergy, we read: "Your hyghnesse commaunded us nowe of late, to assemble our selves togyther, and vpon the diligent serche and pervsynge of holye scripture, to sette forthe a playne and syncere doctrine, concernynge the hole summe of all those thynges, whyche appertayne vnto the profession of a Chrysten man."

It might be supposed that the "Pia et Catholica Christiani Hominis Institutio," printed by Berthelet in 1544, was a Latin version of this book; but it is in fact a translation of the "Necessary Doctrine and Erudition for any christen man," printed by Berthelet in 1543.

A—B in fours, the last leaf of B having only the colophon. The title is within a broad ornamental border, and upon it occur the signatures of "Edmunde Bonner" [Bp. of London] and "John Pickering."

Unknown to bibliographers. Some of the points of inquiry are very curious; several refer to the question, then much agitated, of married priests; and one is upon the subject of forbidden literature:—"Item whether ye knowe or haue hearde of anye Prynters or Bookesellers wythin youre Parische that hathe solde, or nowe dothe sell or keepe anye the sayde hereticall, nawghtye, or seditious booke or bookes, letters or wrytynges, and whyther ye haue any suspectes thereof." Among these naughty books are "especially english testaments or Bibles falsely translated, secretlye or otherwise."

The eleventh article is directed against the favourers of naughty persons, who read the English service used in the time of King Edward the Sixth, or the book of Communion, or any book prohibited or forbidden. The thirty-second article inquires as to the existence within each parish of a Rood and a Rood-loft, having the images of Mary and John; and the next asks whether the authorities have a register of births, deaths, and marriages properly kept up.

A, 4 leaves ; B—E, 6 leaves each ; F, 4 leaves.

The only bibliographer who mentions this rare volume is Dr. Graesse and he merely gives an abbreviation of the title without any description. The title as given above is printed over a large woodcut in two compartments, the upper of which represents the Emperor holding a sceptre, and in the lower one are the imperial arms. The leaf following the title contains an epistle addressed to the Emperor, and signed by "Walther Isenberg Burger zu Memmingen." The woodcuts are twenty-four in number, two or three being repetitions.

The title-pages to the "Poetical Exercises" and to the "Lepanto" are within woodcut borders. In the address to the reader, the King says of the contents of the volume: "Rough and unpolished as they are, I offer them unto thee: which being well accepted, will move me to haste the presenting unto thee of my Apocalyps, and also such number of the Psalmes as I have perfited, and encourage me to the ending of the rest." It was mentioned by Bishop Williams in his funeral sermon on King James, that "This work was staid at the one & thirty Psalm." A complete metrical version of the Psalms, purporting to be by King James, was printed at Oxford, in 8vo, 1631. Of the Apocalypse nothing more is known. See Holland's "Psalms of Great Britain," vol. i., p. 253.

This is the edition described by Hain, No. 2251. It consists of 370 leaves with sixty-seven lines to the page. It is from the press of the printer who used the peculiarly formed capital R so well known to students of fifteenth century typography. By Hain and other bibliographers, books containing this peculiar letter were attributed to the press of Mentelin, but it is now generally allowed that it cannot with any certainty be said who was the printer of them.

Title and preliminaries, 20 leaves; pp. 1-122.

A very curious and remarkable work, of which no notice has been discovered. It was printed either in Germany or in Switzerland, but does not appear to have been published. The seven churches of Asia and their distinctive characters, as described by St. John, are here applied to the Reformed Churches: Ephesus to the French; Smyrna to the Dutch; Pergamos to Germany; Thyatira to Great Britain; Sardis to Hungary; Philadelphia to Geneva; Laodicea to the Swiss and the Grisons. And in the Summary it is stated that "la nation Britannique et celle de Prusse doivent fonder le royaume des Cieux que nous attendons, une société des Saints," see pp. 61-2.—MS. note by Mr. C. J. Stewart.

JEAN DE BOURBON. Histoire de Jean de Bourbon, Prince de Carency, par l'auteur des mémoires et Voyage d'Espagne. À la Haye. 1692. Sm. 8vo. Y. M.

JEMSON, NATHANIEL. A True and Perfect Account Of a Strange and Dreadful Apparition Which lately Infested and Sunk a Ship bound for New-Castle, Called, The Hope-well of London. JENKIN OF WALES his Love Course and Perambulation. An Early Droll performed at the Red Bull Theatre about the Year 1647. Edited by J. O. Halliwell. London, 1861. Sm. 8vo.

Thirty copies reprinted from the "Wits, or Sport upon Sport," 1672.

JENNER, THOMAS. A Work For none but Angels & Men that is, To be able to look into, and to know our selves. Or a book Shewing what the Soule Is, Subsisting and having its operations without the Body; its more then a perfection or reflection of the Sense, or Temperature of Humours; Not traduced from the Parents subsisting by itself without the Body: How she exercises her power in the Body the vegetative or quickning power of the Senses. Of the Imagination or Common sense, the Phantasie, Sensative Memory, Passions, Motion of Life, the Locall Motion, Intellectual powers of the soul. Of the Wit, Understanding, Reason, Opinion, Judgement, Power of Will, and the Relations betwixt Wit and Will. Of the Intellectual memory, which is the Souls store-house, wherein all that is laid up therein, remaineth there even after death and cannot be lost; that the Soule is Immortall, aud cannot dye, cannot be destroyed, her cause ceaseth not, violence nor time cannot destroy her; and all Objections answered to the contrary. Thomas Jenner has lineas composuit. Infelix qui pauca sapit spernitque doceri. [Quot. from Psalm 139.] London: Printed by M. S. for Thomas Jenner, at the South-Entrance of the Royall Exchange. 165—. 4to. Plates.

A—F in fours. On E iii is a new title, "What Heaven is, vindicated From the Vulgar mistakes, and gross conceivings of many," &c., &c. There are eight plates, which represent:—1. Understanding. 2. Memory. 3. The sense of Smell. 4. Hearing. 5. Seeing. 6. Will. 7. Feeling. 8. Fancy.

The work appears to be a paraphrase in prose of Sir John Davies' poem "Nosce Teipsum." In the British Museum is a book, dated 1653, with the same title, except for some slight verbal differences, and with precisely the same imprint. It is, however, an entirely different work, being in fact a reprint of the poem "Nosce Teipsum," with little variation from the original text, except that there are many verses omitted. This prose version is evidently a later publication, but the last figure of the date being rubbed out in this copy, it is impossible to fix it exactly, as no other can be found. It is clearly later than 1653, as the plates are much more worn than in the book mentioned above, and one, in which "Tasting" is represented by a female gallant smoking a pipe, is omitted. The reprint of the poem under this title is mentioned by Lowndes both under "Work" and under "Davies," but no bibliographer seems to have any knowledge of this prose rendering.

From the libraries of Sir F. Freeling and Mr. Corser.

— A Book of the Continuation of Forreign Passages. That is, Of the Peace made between this Common-wealth, & that of the united Provinces of the Netherlands, with all the Articles of that Peace. S. for Thomas Jenner at the South entrance of the Royall Exchange.* 1657. 4to. Plates. G. M.

A—H in fours. The plates are on the letterpress.

JENNER, THOMAS. Former Ages Never Heard of, and After Ages will admire. Or, A Brief Review of the most Materiall Parliamentary Transactions, Beginning, November 3. 1640. Wherein the Remarkeable Passages both of their Civil and Martiall Affaires, are continued unto this present Year. Published as a Breviary, leading all along successively, as they fell out in their severall years For Information of such as are altogether ignorant of the rise and progresse of these Times. A Work worthy to be kept in Record, and communicated to Posterity London: Printed by M. S. for Tho: Jenner, at the South-Entrance of the Royall Exchange. 1656. 4to. Plates.

A—H in fours. The plates are on the letterpress.

— A Book of Drawing, Limning, Washing Or Colouring of Maps and Prints: and the Art of Painting, with the Names and Mixtures of Colours used by the Picture-Drawers. Or, The Young-mans Time well Spent. In which, He hath the Ground-work to make him fit for doing any thing by hand, when he is able to draw well. By the Use of this work, you may Draw all parts of a Man, Leggs, Armes, Hands and Feet, severally, and together. And Directions for Birds, Beasts, Landskips, Ships, and the like. By Hammer and Hand all Arts doe stand. Infœlix qui Pauca Sapit, spernitque Doceri. London. Printed by M. Simmons, for Thomas Jenner; and are to be sold at his Shop, at the South Enterance of the Royal Exchange. 1652. Folio. Plates.

The first seven leaves, including the title, have no signatures. Then follow E—L in twos, but the signatures are placed on the verso of the leaf, instead of being on the recto as usual. On the recto of the leaf following the title is a large copperplate engraving of Albert Durer, with the inscription beneath it, "A Booke of the Art of Drawing according to y order of Albert Durer, Jean Cozijn and other excellent Picture-makers, describing y true proportions of Men, women & Children. Johes Rotenhamer pinxit. Francisco De Laram sculpsit. Are to bee sould by Thomas Geele . . ." Another of the prints bears on it, "Compton Holland excudit." From the worn state of the plates it is evident that Jenner had bought the plates of another book, or other books, and made up this one with them. All the plates are printed on the letterpress.

JENNINGS, SAMUEL. Certain Certificates Received from America On behalf of Samuel Jennings, Tending to clear him from Scandals, Cast on him by George Keith, and others of his Opposers. Made publick by John Pennington. [Quotation from Prov. x. 18.] London Printed, and Sold by T. Sowle, near the Meeting-House in White-Hart-Court in Gracious-Street and at the Crooked-Billet in Holywell-Lane near Shoreditch, 1695. Sm. 8vo.

A—C in eights, the last leaf blank.

In a postscript two further charges against Jennings are disposed of, one being that he had punished a man and his boy for having called him a "Prick-Louse Taylor," and the other that he had chastised a female servant, naked in bed, with a horsewhip.

JENNINGS, THEO. Truths Returne: In answer to a Malignant Pamphlet, pretended To be written by a most Orthodox, Moderate, and judicious Divine, a banished Minister of this miserable Kingdom; To a Vertuous Lady, who (for the exercise of her Devotion) built a Closet, wherein to secure the most sacred Book of Common-Prayer from the view and violence of the enemies thereof, Sectaries and Schismatiques of this Kingdome. Being printed together, that thereby the great difference may appear, betweene Prayer reall, and pretended: a forme of Godlinesse, and the power thereof. [Quotations.] London, Printed by J. C. 1646. 4to.

A—I in twelves, title on A 2.

Brand's copy, and the same which was marked £7 7s. in Rodd's Catalogue for 1821. Inserted is a tracing of the portrait of Archee by T. Cecill, belonging to a later edition of the work; and on the back of it, in Brand's handwriting: "Traced Nov. 1st 1791 by John Brand at Strawberry Hill, from the very rare Original in the Collection of the Hon^{ble} Horace Walpole."

— A Banqvct of Jests: or, Change of Cheare. Being a collection, of Moderne Iests . . . The Second Part newly published. London, Printed by M. Flesher for Richard Royston dwelling in Ivy Lane. 1633. Sm. 8vo.

A—G 11 in twelves.

This is the earliest known impression of the second part. It is bound with the fifth edition of Part i. Preceding the title are some verses headed, "The Booke to the Covrteous Reader," which run thus :—

" My eldest Brother, having had the grace,
Of three Impressions (late) in two yeares space,
Now ready for the fourth,——"

But at the conclusion of the volume we find the lines repeated and thus altered :—

" My eldest Brother having had the grace,
Of foure Impressions (sold) in three yeares space,
Now ready for the fifth,——"

The fourth edition of Part i. is dated 1634, the first, 1630; but the second and third are undescribed.

L'Exil et Passe-port des Jésuites. Four leaves of satirical verse. [1595.]

The first four pieces were the most important and celebrated documents in the suit brought in 1564 by the Jesuits against the Sorbonne, to obtain recognition as a collegiate body by the University, and in which, in spite of apparent failures, they managed to gain their point, and establish their lectures and schools of instruction under royal authority. Pasquier (whose pleading gives a curious history and analysis of the order), Du Mesnil, and Charles Du Moulin opposed the new sect (as they were considered) with great ability and bitterness; but the Jesuits succeeded in flinging aspersions of Huguenotry on the two former, and as for Du Moulin, he was treated as a virtual heretic until his death. The Society had grown so important that when Henry IV. entered Paris in triumph in 1594, it was considered advisable by the University to renew the contest by publishing the former pleadings of Pasquier (the old man sanctioning and approving of it), and Du Mesnil, along with the Jesuit advocate's reply to Pasquier and Du Moulin's legal opinion. To these they added new matter, as will be seen by the above list, some of which is very curious and interesting. The preface to Estienne Pasquier's Plaidoyer, by the publisher, states that the Sorbonne advocate had been a true prophet of all the ills brought on by the Society. The only result was that the Jesuits were banished for a few years. They returned in 1604, and became stronger than ever.

[Quot. from Rom. i.] Londini, Anno Domini M.D. LXII. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London by Reginalde Wolfe. Anno 1562. 4to. Black letter.

A—S 2 in fours; A ii and S ii are misprinted A iii and S iii.

First edition in English. It was licensed, without the exact date being given, sometime in 1562, in the following curious terms: "Recevyd of master Wolfe for his lycense for pryntinge of a polige in engleshe . . . xij^d." See Arber's "Transcript," vol. i., p. 73 b. There is no prefatory matter and no indication of the translator. In 1564 Wolfe again printed the book in English, but this time there is a prefatory address to Anne, Lady Bacon, as the translator, by Archbishop Parker. Though the text differs materially as to the language throughout the two editions, there are so many phrases exactly the same that it appears most probable that the author of the 1564 translation was also the author of that of 1562. The language of the edition of 1564 is less forcible, but what would probably have been considered more polished. That the printer did not obtain another license for the book, and that the same printer was employed for both editions, point also to the conclusion that they were the work of the same person.

JEWELL, JOHN, Bishop of Salisbury. A Replie vnto M. Eight leaves, the last bears only a printer's device, which represents Ceres supporting the arms of Portugal. This piece appears to be even rarer than those of a similar character put forth by Emanuel, King of Portugal, for while those are described by Brunet and included in the Grenville catalogue, this appears to be quite undescribed. It is subscribed at the end "Datæ Eboræ, die xx. Julij. An. D. M.D.XXXVI."

JOHN, KING OF ENGLAND. The First and second Part of the troublesome Raigne of John King of England. With the discoverie of King Richard Cordelions Base sonne (vulgarly named the Bastard Fawconbridge). Also, the death of King Iohn at Swinstead Abbey. Sh. Imprinted at London by Valentine Simmes for Iohn Helme, and are to be sold at his shop in Saint Dunstons Church-yard in Fleetstreet. 1611. 4to.

A—M 2 in fours, M 2 blank.

This edition, a reprint of that of 1591, is included in Nichols's "Six Old Plays," 1779. The initials inserted on the title must have been a bookseller's trick to impose on the public the belief that the play was Shakespeare's.

JOHN FREDERICK, DUKE OF SAXONY. Des durchlauchtigsten Hochgebornen Fürsten vnd herrn, Herrn Johans Frederichen, Herzogen zu Sachssen, Warhafftige, bestendige, ergründete, Christenliche vnd aufrichtige Verantwortung, Wider des verstockten, Gottlosen vormaldeieten, verfluchten chrenschenders, bösthetigen Barabbas, auch hurnsüchtigen Holofernes von Braunschweig. A—Y in fours, except X, which has only two leaves.

The last leaf is blank on the recto, but on the verso has a large woodcut of arms, over which is printed, "Verbvm Domini manet in aeternum." On the title is a woodcut portrait of the Duke of Saxony, beneath which is printed, "Hierumb ist der nicht ein Geist mit Gott, noch ein Christ, der an der Huren hengt, vnd auch jin den andern bösen lastern, wie der von Braunschweig, stecket."

JOHN FREDERICK, DUKE OF SAXONY. Das gantze Leben vnd Historia, desz aller Theuresten vnd werten Manns, Hertzogen Johann Friderichen, gebornen Churfürsten zu Sachsen, wie er von jugent auff ein Leben geführt, vnd ihm hernach bisz an sein end ergangen ist. Alles sehr Künstlich abconterfect, vnd eygendtlich in disem gemähl entworffen, vnd einem jeden augenscheinlich zum ewigen gedächtnus fürgestellt. [O. O. u. F.] Folio. R. M.

This volume of woodcuts appears to be undescribed by all bibliographers, except Nagler, "Monogrammisten Lex.," v. 3, No. 1251. It consists altogether of thirty-nine leaves, or, if the large blocks be not pasted together, of forty-three leaves, and is thus composed: 1. Title as above, within woodcut border. 2. "Bericht diser Chronicken," one leaf, within a similar border. 3. A folding woodcut portrait. 4. A folding woodcut portrait with hat on. 5. Arms of Saxony within a border. 6. Fifteen leaves, each containing a woodcut within a border, and four lines of verse beneath each. 7. A large folding woodcut of the distribution of alms (two sheets pasted together). 8. Three leaves, each with woodcut within a border, and four lines beneath. 9. Large folding woodcut of the battle of "Mulberck," four sheets pasted together. 10. Full length portrait in armour, folded at the bottom. 11. Thirteen leaves, each with a woodcut within a border, four lines of verse beneath each, the last, representing the Day of Judgment, being a copy from the concluding cut of Dürer's "little passion."

Some of the woodcuts bear the monogram HM, and on the large cut of the distribution of alms is the date 1561. This cut, according to Nagler, represents a scene in the life of St. Elizabeth. The work is described by Nagler from a copy which appeared many years since in R. Weigel's "Kunscatalog." The monogram, HM, is that of an unknown master.

The sixth Edition. London, Printed by M. F. for Francis Coules at the upper end of the Old-Baily neere Newgate. 1629. Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

A—D in eights, title on A 2.

The only copy known. Johnson's answer to Wither is a copy of Wither's famous song, "Shall I wasting in despair," answered stanza by stanza by Johnson.

This book was licensed to Michael Sparkes, or Sparke, two years before the date of the first known edition, viz., on the 14th of June, 1618, as "A Discourse of loue or songes Sonnettes and Elegies, betwixt Withers and Johnson." See Arber, iii., 291; and in vol. iv., 17, occurs the following entry: "Thomas Dewe. Assigned ouer vnto him by Michaell Sparkes and with the consent of Master Lownes warden A booke called 'The Discription of loue.' Written by Master Johnson."

— A Description of Love. With certaine Epigrams, . . . The ninth Edition. London, Printed by Miles Flesher. 1638. Sm. 8vo. Y. M.

A—D 7 in eights, title on A 2.
From Mr. Corser's collection. Of the seventh and eighth editions no copies appear to be known.

JOHNSON, JOHN. The Academy of Love describing y^e folly of younge men, & y^e fallacy of women by Io. Iohnson, Gent. . . . London Printed for Humphry Blunden at the Castle in Cornhill, A^o 1641. 4to.

A—O 2 in fours, title on A 2. In prose and verse.
The title-page, which is engraved, contains a representation of Cupid in the foreground introducing a man in the dress of the period to a lady who wears a heart at her girdle.

This volume has a reference to Shakespeare at p. 99. Massinger, Shirley, and Sir Philip Sidney are also mentioned. Further on there is an enumeration of some of the games then in vogue.

JOHNSON, RICHARD. The most Pleasant History of Tom A Lincolne, that renowned Soldier, the Red-Rose Knight, who for his Valour and Chivalry, was surnamed The Boast of England. Shewing his Honourable Victories in Forraine Countries, with his strange Fortunes in the Fayrie Land . . . The Seventh impression. London, Printed by A. M. and are to be sold by Francis Faulkner and Francis Coules. 1635. 4to. Black letter.

A—M 3 in fours, title on A.
The second part begins with a fresh title on sig. H. This is the copy used by Mr. Thoms for the reprint in his "Early Prose Romances." It wants the last leaf of sig. M, containing about half a page of the story. The later editions, from one of which Mr. Thoms completed the text, are abridged and altered. The only copy known. From the libraries of Heber, Utterson, and Bliss.

This romance was assigned to W. White, by John Danter, December 24, 1599. The second part was entered to White, October 20, 1607.

— The Crown Garland of Golden Roses, Gathered out of Englands Royal Garden. Set forth in many Pleasant New Songs and Sonnets. With New Additions, never before Imprinted. Divided into Two Parts, by R. The Second Part . . . London. Printed by Ed. Oowch for Andrew Crook. 1670. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.*

A—Aa in fours, and A—Y in fours.

From Mr. G. Smith's collection. Of the first edition of the first part no perfect copy is known, and all the subsequent editions are of extreme rarity. Heber had the second edition, dated 1597 ("Bibl. Heber," part vi., No. 1803), probably purchased at Reed's sale. A third part was subsequently printed, but it was not by Johnson.

JOHNSON, ROBERT. Essaies, or, Rather imperfect Offers. By Robert Iohnson, Gent. Seene and allowed. London, Printed for John Bache, and are to be sold at his shop, in Popes-head Pallace. 1607. Sm. 8vo.

— The Workes of Beniamin Jonson.

— neque me vt miretur turba laboro :

Contentus paucis lectoribus.

Imprinted at London by Will. Stansby. An. D. 1616. Folio. Large paper. Portrait. R. M.

This copy is believed to be unique on large paper. It contains the three plays edited by the author towards a second volume. Mr. Brinsley Nicholson, in his exhaustive account of the early folio editions of Jonson's works, in "Notes and Queries," June 18th, 1870, says: "The noncontinuance of the attempt at a second collected volume beyond the third play, 'The Staple of News,' was probably due to the damning by the town of 'The New Inn' in that same year."

There is in the library a copy of the edition of 1616, on small paper, with a slight variation in the imprint, "London Printed by William Stansby." It has also a duplicate title to "Every Man out of his Humour" printed within a woodcut border. In this copy also are included, besides the three plays before mentioned, "The Magnetick Lady," "A Tale of a Tub," "The Sad Shepherd," "Horace His Art of Poetrie," "The English Grammar," "Timber," "Underwoods," "Mortimer His Fall," "Christmas his Masque," "A Masque" at Lord Haye's, "A Masque at the Metamorphosd Gypsies," with dates of 1640, &c. The bibliography and collation of the early folio editions is most intricate and difficult; but in the article mentioned above Mr. Brinsley Nicholson has said all that can be said on the subject.

— B. Jon: His Part of King James his Royall and Magnificent Entertainment through his Honorable Cittie of London, Thursday the 15. of March. 1603. So much as was presented in the first and last of their Triumphall Arch's. With his speach made to the last Presentation in the Strand, erected by the inhabitants of the Dutchy, and Westminster. Also, a briefe Panegyre of his Maiesties first and well auspicated entrance to his high Court of Parliament, on Monday, the 19. of the same Moneth. With other Additions. Mart. Quando magis dignos licuit spectare triumphos. Printed at London by V. S. for Edward Blount, 1604. 4to. R. M.

A—F 2 in fours, the last leaf blank; the "Other Additions," A—B in fours.

The present copy is bound in two volumes, the second having the "Other Additions" mentioned on the title, namely: "A Particvlar Entertainment of the Qveene and Prince their Highnesse to Althrope, at the Right Honourable the Lord Spencers, on Saterday being the 25. of Iune 1603. as they came first into the Kingdome; being written by the same Author, and not before published."

JONSON, BEN. Scianvs His Fall. Written by Ben: Ionson. [Quotation from Martial.] At London Printed by G. Elld, for Thomas Thorpe. 1605. 4to. Large paper.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; B—N 2 in fours.

With commendatory verses by George Chapman, Hugh Holland, John Marston, Th. R.[avenscroft?], and others. With marginal notes by the author. The verses by Chapman occupy six pages, and are, as Chapman calls them, a commentary on the drama.

This is the only copy known on large paper. It has the following inscription on the flyleaf, in the author's handwriting: "To my perfect Freind, Mr. Francis Crane I erect this pillar of Freindship. And leaue it as the eternall Witnesse of my Loue. Ben: Jonson." Beneath which is a MS. note in a contemporary hand: "Hic est Ben: Johnson: ille cui in componendis fabulis parem nec vidit Antiquitas, nec posteritas visura est. F. M." In the original vellum binding. It bears the book-plate of Robert Cony, M.D., and has successively belonged to Whalley, Jonson's early editor, the Rev. John Field, and Mr. George Daniel.

This drama, eventually printed by George Eld for Thomas Thorpe, was originally registered by Edward Blount, on the 2nd November, 1604; and on the 6th August, in the following year, Blount assigned the copyright to Thorpe. See Arber's "Transcript," iii., 115, 127.

— Hymenæi: or The Solemnities of Masque, and Barriers, Magnificently performed on the eleventh, and twelfth Nights, from Christmas; At Court: To the auspicious celebrating of the Marriage-vnion, betweene Robert, Earle of Essex, and the Lady Frances, second Daughter to the most noble Earle of Suffolke. — Ionsonvs Virbivs: or, the Memorie of Ben: Johnson Revived by the Friends of The Mvses. London, Printed by E. P. for Henry Seile, and are to be sold at his shop, at the Tygers Head in Fleet-street, over-against Saint Dunstans Church. 1638. 4to. R. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—D in fours; d, 4 leaves; E—I in fours; K, 6 leaves, the last blank.

Edited by Bishop Duppa. The printer, in a short address to the reader, says: "Tis now about sixe moneths since the most learned and judicious Poet, B. Iohnson, became a subject for these Elegies." and attributes the delay which had occurred in the appearance of the volume to the consideration requisite in so great an argument.

The principal writers are Lord Falkland, Sir John Beaumont the younger, Sir Thomas Hawkins, Henry King, W. Abington, Edmund Waller, James Howell, J. Cl.[eveland?], W. Cartwright, Owen Feltham, Shackerley Marmion, and John Ford.

In Arber's "Transcript," vol. iv., 368, is entered: "9. Octobris 1637. Henry Gosson. Entred for his copie vnder the hands of Master Baker and Master Aspley warden a Booke called an Eligie vpon the Death of Benjamin Johnson Poett. by John Taylor." This book seems to have been altogether lost.

— Ben Johnson's Jests: or, the Wit's Pocket-Companion. Being A new Collection of the most Ingenious Jests . . . To which is added, A choice Collection of the newest Conundrums . . . The Seventh Edition. With great Additions and Improvements. London: Printed in the Year 1761. Sm. 8vo.

On the back of the title is an announcement that "great care has been taken, in this Collection, to omit all those that are in Joe Miller, which is very proper to be bound up with this."

JORDAN, JOHN. Original Collections on Shakspeare & Stratford-on-Avon. Selected from the Original Manuscripts, written about the year 1780. By J. O. Halliwell. London. 1864. 4to.

Only ten copies printed.

— Original Memoirs and Historical Accounts of the Families of Shakespeare and Hart, deduced from an early period, and continued down to this present year, 1790. By John Jordan, of Stratford-upon-Avon. With Drawings of their dwelling Houses and Coats of Arms. Now first printed, A.D. 1865. London: 1865. 4to.

Ten copies privately printed by Mr. Halliwell, who does not, however, give the illustrations mentioned in the title.

JORDAN, THOMAS. Poeticall Varieties: or, Varietie of Fancies. By Thomas Jordan Gent. Carpere vel noli nostra vel cede tua: Marti. Epigram. London, Printed by T. C. for Humphry Blunden, and are to be sold at his shop, neare the Castle Taverne, in Corne-hill. 1637. 4to.

A—H in fours, the last leaf blank.

This appears to have been Jordan's earliest publication. In the present copy, A 2, containing the dedication to John Ford of Gray's Inn, is deficient. The volume is reviewed by Collier, "Bibl. Cat.," i., 414-16.

The present copy derives a special interest from a series of poems in MS. bound up at the end, many with the musical notes, and the last subscribed "T. J.," all of which are supposed to be in Jordan's own handwriting. Some of these will be found printed in Jordan's "City-Pageants."

This volume occurs in the catalogue of T. Allen, 1795, No. 723, and was subsequently in the Heber, Jolley, and Corser collections.

— *A Medicine for the Times. Or, An Antidote against Faction. Written, by T. J. Containing these Cures, viz. 1. How to cure a man that hath a factious Spirit. 2. How to cure a woman so possessed. 3. Composed by Tho. Jordan. London, Printed by W. Godbid, for John Playford. 1674. 4to. R. M.

A—B in fours, or 8 leaves.

Dedicated to Sir Robert Vyner. This is one of the rarest of Jordan's pageants, and it is doubtful whether more than three copies of it exist. The title given by Mr. Halliwell in his "Dictionary of Old Plays," 1860, is not quite accurate.

At the end is an advertisement of the songs sung "in the famous Play call'd the Tempest."

JORDAN, THOMAS. The Triumphs of London. This copy agrees with the collation given by Brunet, and with the copy in the British Museum, but the vocabulary should be followed by a single leaf bearing the printer's device.

In Ticknor's "History of Spanish Literature," vol. i., p. 69, this edition of "El Conde Lucanor" is described as "one of the rarest books in the world."

"It is a collection of forty-nine tales, anecdotes, and apologues, clearly in the Oriental manner; the first hint for which was probably taken from the 'Disciplina Clericalis' of Petrus Alphonsus, a collection of Latin stories made in Spain about two centuries earlier. The occasion on which the tales of Don John are supposed to be related is, like the fictions themselves, invented with Eastern simplicity, and reminds us constantly of the 'Thousand and One Nights' and their multitudinous imitations."—Ticknor's Hist. of Spanish Literature, vol. i., p. 64.

JUBINAL, ACHILLE. Nouveau Recueil de Contes, Dits, Fabliaux et autres Pièces Inédites des XIII^e, XIV^e et XV^e Siècles pour faire suite aux collections Legrand D'Aussy, Barbazan et Méon. Paris. 1839. 2 vols. 8vo. Large paper. G. M.

JUSTIN MARTYR'S Dialogue with Trypho the Jew. Translated from the Greek into English, with Notes. By Henry Brown. Oxford . . . 1755. 2 vols. 8vo.

JUSTINIANUS. Digestorum sev Pandectarum Iuris ciuilis libri quinquaginta, nunc primum ad fidem Pandectarum Florentinarum sexcentis locis emendati, supra Gregorij Haloandri editionem. Parisiis. Apud Carolam Guillard viduā Claudii Cheuallonii sub Sole aurco. . . . MD.XLVIII. 7 parts bound in 6 vols. Nouellarum Constitvtionvm D N Iustiniani principis, quæ exstant, & ut exstant, uolumen. Appositi svnt item Canones sanctorum Apostolorū per Clementem in vnum congesti, Gregorio Haloandro interprete. Parisiis, Apud Carolam Guillard MD.XLVIII. Sm. 8vo.

These volumes are fine specimens of French ornamental binding of the sixteenth century. The sides are elaborately tooled, and the patterns picked out with different colours. The set of books displays an unusual style, each volume being tooled to a different pattern, and though the obverse and reverse covers of each volume are alike in design, the colouring of the two sides is varied. The binding appears, from the fleur-de-lis and dolphin surmounted by a coronet, which are worked into the design, to have been executed for a Dauphin of France; but, from an inscription on the title of the first volume, the book appears to have already passed into other hands in the sixteenth century. The inscription runs: "Hoc utriusq; Juris corpus, perpetuæ memoriæ, et amicitiaë ergo, Nobili et ornatissimo viro. D. Udalrico Pürzero, dono dedit Joannes Georgius à Fraying et Aychach."

When this book was first placed in the library, the second and sixth parts of the Digests were missing; the sixth (in the same binding as the others) was accidentally purchased from Italy some years afterwards, and it is hoped that the second may yet be recovered.

A, 4 leaves; B—H in eights. A poem in six-line stanzas.

Dedicated to Sir Donald Mackaye, Knight, of Stranever. There are complimentary verses by Robert Farley, Walter Bellenden, and Patrick Mackenzie.

The only copy known with the London imprint. It is in fact the edition of Edinburgh, 1626, the title only having been reprinted. The author, in his dedication, speaks of this as his first work; it appears also to have been his last. In a notice to the reader he deprecates hostile criticisms, and cites the case of those who found fault with Homer, and were laughed at because they condemned what they were incompetent to amend.

KENNETT, WHITE, Bishop of Peterborough. Parochial Antiquities Attempted in the History of Ambrosden, Burcester, and Other Adjacent Parts In the Counties of Oxford and Bucks. . . . Oxford, Printed at the Theater, 1695. 4to. Large paper. R.

— Bibliothecæ Americanæ Primordia. An Attempt Towards laying the Foundation of an American Library, In Several Books, Papers, and Writings, Humbly given to the Society for Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, For the Perpetual Use and Benefit of their Members, their Missionaries, Friends, Correspondents, and Others concern'd in the Good Design of Planting and Promoting Christianity within Her Majesties Colonies and Plantations in the West-Indies. By a Member of the said Society. London: Printed for J. Churchill, at the Black Swan in Pater-Noster-Row. 1713. 4to. G. M.

Accompanying this copy is an autograph memorandum by W. Taylor, secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, stating that at a meeting held on the 19th Nov., 1714, Dean Kennett laid before it a printed copy of his book, and received the thanks of the members for his valuable labours, together with fifty copies for distribution at his own discretion.

KENT, ELIZABETH, Countess of. A Choice Manual, Or, Rare and Select Secrets in Physick and Chirurgery. Collected, and practised by the Right Honourable, the Countesse of Kent, Late Deceased. Whereto are added Several Experiments of the Virtues of Gascon powder, and Lapis contra Yarvam, by a Professor of Physick The Eleventh Edition, with Additions. London, Printed by Gertrude Dawson, and are to be sold by Will. Shcars. 1659. Sm. 8vo.

Title and portrait, 2 leaves; A, 6 leaves; B—M in twelves; [a new title] "A True Gentlewomans Delight Published by W. J. Gent. London, Printed by G. Dawson. 1659." 1, 6 leaves; m—R in twelves; S, 8 leaves; T, 1 leaf.

The Countess of Kent, to whom the first portion is ascribed, was the well-known friend of Selden. It is dedicated by the editor, W. J., to the wife of Colonel Alexander Popham, as the sequel is to the wife of Sir Francis Pile.

KENT. The Kentish Fayre. Or, The Parliament sold to their best worth Printed at Rochester, and are to be sold to all those that dare buy them. 1648. 4to.

Four leaves.

A very curious political interlude, by a royalist, in prose and verse.

KETHAM, JOHANNES DE. [On the verso of a ii.] Incipit fasciculus medicine compositus per excellētissimum artium ac medicine doctorem: dominuz Joānem de Ketham Alamannum: tractans de anothomia ⁊ diuersis infirmitatibus: ⁊ corporis humani: cui annectuntur multi alii tractatus per diuersos excellētissimos doctores cōpositi. Necnon anothomia Mūdini. [Colophon.] Impressum Venetiis per Joannem ⁊ Gregoriū de Gregoriis fratres. Anno domini. M.cccc.die.xvii. Feb. Folio. Woodcuts. R. M.

a—d in sixes, e and f in fours. The first leaf bears on the recto a large woodcut of a master instructing his pupils, above whom is inscribed, "Petrus de Montagna," and the verso is occupied by a fine woodcut representing a consultation of doctors. The other woodcuts are also of large size, occupying the whole page, and are executed in outline. The design of them is very fine, but there is no monogram or other indication of the artist.

KIDGELL, JOHN. Original Fables. London: 1763. 2 vols. in 1. Sm. 8vo. Plates. R.

In English and French. Lowndes says that this work was not published.

KILBURNE, RICHARD. A Topographie, Or Survey of the County of Kent. With some Chronological, Historicall, and other matters touching the same: And the several Parishes and Places therein. By Richard Kilburne of Hawkherst, Esquire. . . . London, Printed by Thomas Mabb for Henry Atkinson. . . . 1659. 4to.

Portrait by T. Crosse. A—Kkkk i in fours. This work is, in fact, an alphabetical gazetteer of the county.

KILIAN, LUCAS. A. B. C. Buechlein, so Herr Lucas Kilian inventiert und gestochen jetzundt, aber aus vergunst des Herren Authors von F. Regina Hertlenn eines Schrevers Tochter nachgestochen worden. Augsburg. 1632. 4to.

An ornamental alphabet consisting of title and twenty-four plates.

KILLIGREW, ANNE. Poems by Mrs. Anne Killigrew. Immodicis brevis est ætas, & rara Senectus. Mart. l. 6, Ep. 29. . . . London: Printed for Samuel Lowndes, over against Exeter Exchange in the Strand. 1686. 4to.

Portrait by Becket after an original painting by the authoress, 1 leaf; title, 1 leaf; [a]—[c i] in fours; B—O 2 in fours.

From the libraries of Dr. Bliss and Mr. Stainforth. On the flyleaves at the beginning of the book is written an original elegy to the memory of Mrs. Killigrew, signed "E. E.," who states that the deceased was related to his late wife.

After the metrical address of the publisher to the reader comes a long ode, by Dryden, to the memory of Mrs. Anne Killigrew. At p. 76 we have: "On my Aunt Mrs A. K. Drown'd under London-bridge, in the Queens Bardge, Anno 1641."

KILLIGREW, HENRY. The Conspiracy A Tragedy, as it was intended, for the Nuptials, of the Lord Charles Herbert, and the Lady Villers. . . . London. Printed by John Norton, for Andrew Crooke, 1638. 4to.

A—N 3 in fours.

— Pallantus and Eudora. A Tragœdie. . . . London. Printed in the Year, 1653. Folio.

A—R, 2 leaves each.

This is the "Conspiracy," republished with the author's sanction, and is in fact the first genuine impression of the play. Prefixed is a curious preface by the publisher, mentioning the favourable estimate formed by the public of the piece, and especially by Ben Jonson, who was then (1638) living, the only fault imputed to the dramatist being that he had made a youth of seventeen speak like a man of thirty.

The title-page was printed twice. Some copies have this imprint: "London, Printed for John Hardesty at the Black-Spread-Eagle in Duck-lane, 1653."

KILLIGREW, THOMAS. Comedies, and Tragedies. Written by Thomas Killigrew, Page of Honour to King Charles the First, and Groom of the Bed-Chamber to King Charles the Second. London, Printed for Henry Herringman, at the Sign of the Anchor in the Lower Walk of the New-Exchange. 1664. Folio. R.

Portrait by W. Faithorne; title, 1 leaf; "To the reader" and contents, 1 leaf; then A—Cccc in fours; [a]—[k] in fours. An extra portrait is inserted, in which Killigrew is represented wrapped in a large cloak covered with small portraits of ladies. Upon the table where his elbow rests sits a monkey, with his head resting on his hand.

— The Prisoners and Claracilla. Two Tragæ-Comedies. As they were presented at the Phœnix in Drury-Lane, by her M^{ties} Servants. . . . London Printed by T. Cotes, for Andrew Crooke, and are to be sold at his shop, at the signe of the Greene Dragon in Pauls Church-yard. 1641. Sm. 8vo.

A, 6 leaves; A (repeated)—F in twelves; A 1—2, blank. First edition.

KILLIGREW, SIR WILLIAM. Three Playes Written by Sir William Killigrew, Vice-Chamberlain to Her Majesty the Queen Consort. 1664. Viz. Selindra. Pandora. Ormasdes. London, Printed by T. Mabb; for John Playfere, at the White Lion, in the Upper Walk of the New Exchange; and Thomas Horsman, at the three Kings in the Strand, 1665. 8vo.

A, 9 leaves, title on A 2; B—C, 8 leaves each; D, 9 leaves; E—H 7 in eights. "Pandora," A, 4 leaves; B—G in eights, the first leaf blank. "Ormasdes," A, 2 leaves, and B—G 5 in eights.

— The Artless Midnight Thoughts of a Gentleman at Court: who For many Years built on Sand, which every Blast of cross Fortune has defaced; but now he has laid new Foundations on the Rock of his Salvation, which no Storms can shake, and will out-last the Conflagration of the World, when Time shall melt into Eternity. The Second Edition with Additions. London, Printed for Thomas Howkins, in George-Yard, in Lombard Street. 1684. Sm. 8vo.

With some pieces of verse. From Dr. Bliss's collection.

Title, 1 leaf; dedication to Charles II., 1 leaf; dedication to James II., 1 leaf; to the reader, 1 leaf; "A good Conscience is a continual Feast," 1 leaf; then B—P in sixes; Q, 8 leaves, pp. 173-6 being in duplicate; R—S in sixes; T, 5 leaves, including one of errata, a duplicate leaf (206-7) being inserted between sig. T and sig. T 2; then (although "Finis" occurs on T 4) V, 4 leaves, with a second "Finis"; [a headline] "An Addition of Midnight Thoughts," 8 leaves marked X; [another headline] "A second Addition of Midnight-Thoughts," 7 leaves (including a postscript) marked Y; [another headline] "A Third Addition of Midnight Thoughts at Winchester, Aug. 7. 1686," 8 leaves marked Z; [a fourth headline] "An Addition of Mid-night Thoughts, by the first Author;" Aa, 4 leaves; Bb, 8 leaves, concluding with this colophon: "London, Printed for Tho. Howkins in George-yard in Lombard-street, 1688. Where the whole Book of Mid-night Thoughts is Sold."

This copy of Killigrew is unusually complete, and differs from all other copies hitherto examined. The copy in the British Museum has at the end, "A New Addition of Mid-night Thoughts," with sigs. Cc, 8 leaves, and Dd, 2 leaves. It lacks, however, the duplicate leaves inserted in the sheets as described above. The article next described may be regarded almost as a distinct work. The dedication to James II. is evidently an insertion made after the death of Charles.

— Mid-night and Daily Thoughts. In Prose and Verse. . . . London, Printed for Thomas Bennet at the Half-Moon in St. Paul's Churchyard. 1694. 8vo.

Title and leaf of complimentary verses by Richard Newman and Henry Birkett, 2 leaves; B—G 6 in eights.

Dedicated by the author to his friend, Richard Newman, Esquire; after the dedication is Newman's answer to Killigrew, followed by Killigrew's reply. The present copy is from the libraries of Mr. Haslewood and Mr. Corser, and contains a long memorandum by the former, relating to Killigrew, but it contributes nothing towards a solution of the question connected with the different editions of the book. There were, in all probability, at least two in 1694, differing in the size and contents. The one here noticed is an 8vo of pp. 96; that in the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 409, had another imprint, and contained pp. 144, but bore the same date.

KING, DANIEL. The Vale-Royall of England, or, The County Palatine of Chester illustrated. Wherein is contained a Geographical and Historical Description of that Famous County, with all its Hundreds and Seats of the Nobility, Gentry, and Freeholders; its Rivers, Towns, Castles, Buildings, Ancient and Modern. Adorned with Maps and Prospects, and the Coats of Arms belonging to every individual Family of the whole County. Performed by William Smith, and William Webb, Gentlemen. Published by Mr. Daniel King. To which is annexed, An Exact Chronology of all its Rulers and Governors Also, An Excellent Discourse of the Island of Man. . . . London, Printed by John Streater, in Well-Yard in Little S. Bartholomewes, and are to be sold by the severall Booksellers of London, 1656. Folio. Engraved title, maps and plates.

A full collation is given by Upcott.

KING, HENRY, Bishop of Chichester. Poems, Elegies, Paradoxes, and Sonnets. London, Printed by J. G. for Rich: Marriot and Hen: Herringman, and sold in St. Dunstons Churchyard Fleet-street, and at the New-Exchange. 1657. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A, 4 leaves, the first blank; B—L 4 in eights.

At the end of the volume is a list of errata, one item of which points out that the poem called "The Pink" is not King's. It appears from the address of the publishers to the author, that the book was printed without his knowledge from MSS supplied to them by some of his friends.

— Poems, Elegies, Paradoxes, And Sonets. London, Printed for Henry Herringman, and are to be sold at the Anchor in the lower-walk in the New Exchange. 1664. Sm. 8vo.

A—C 4 in eights.

Notwithstanding the promise of the title this contains only four elegies, in three of which, viz., on the Earl of Essex, on Sir Charles Lucas, and on Charles I., the author expresses such decided opinions as a Royalist that it was probably thought advisable not to print them when the other poems appeared in 1657. It is very likely that in some copies the title of 1657 has been replaced by that of 1664 and these elegies added at the end, but the first leaf would then be A 2. The two pieces are here bound together, that of 1664 being placed first. From Mr. Uttersen's collection.

KING, HUMPHREY. An Half-penny-worth of Wit, in a Penny-worth of Paper. Or, The Hermites Tale. The third Impression.

A—F in fours. In verse.

The author of this piece was the friend of Thomas Nash, who, in his "Lenten Stuffe," 1599, speaks of the tract as then about to appear; but this edition of 1613 is the earliest and only impression now known. The poem is a dialogue between a hermit, and a youth who visits his cell, and contains many allusions of interest, such as to Robin Hood, Tarlton, &c. Nash, in his "Lenten Stuffe," 1599, styles the author "King of the tobacconists," as if he had been a great smoker.

Not the least curious part of the book is the oddly worded dedication to Lady Sussex. From the collections of Caldecott and Mr. George Daniel. The only other known is that which was successively in the Farmer, Roxburghe, Heber, and Corser collections, and is now in the British Museum.

KING, JOSIAH. The Examination and Tryal of Old Father Christ-mas; Together with his Clearing by the Jury, At the Assizes held at the Town of Difference, in the County of Discontent. Written according to Legal Proceeding. London, Printed for H. Brome, T. Bassett, and J. Wright. 1678. Sm. 8vo.

A—D in eights, including a frontispiece.

KING, WILLIAM. Poems of Mr. Cowley and others. Composed into Songs and Ayres with a Thorough Basse to the Theorbo, Harp-secon, or Base-violl; By William King Organist of New-Colledge In the University of Oxon: Oxford, Imprinted By Willam Hall, For the Author 1668. Folio.

A—P in twos.

The author, in an address "To all Lovers of Musick," observes: "I intended many more Songs, which might have made this Book farr larger; But considering that they were not so fit company for the Great Cowley, I have given them leave to find out more suitable Acquaintance."

KINGDOMES MONSTER. The Kingdomes Monster vncloaked from Heaven: The Popish Conspirators, Malignant Plotters, and cruell Irish, in one Body to destroy Kingdome, Religion, and Lawes: But under colour to defend them, especially the Irish, who having destroyed the Protestants there, flye hither to defend the Protestant Religion here. Printed in the Year, 1643. A Broadside.

In verse. Printed in three columns, with a large emblematical wood-engraving.

KING-KILLERS. The History of King-Killers; Or, The Fanatick Martyrology. Containing the Lives of Three Hundred Sixty Five Hellish Saints of that Crew, Infamous for Treason, Rebellion, Perjury, Rapine, Murder, &c. being one for every Day in the Year. . . . By One, who heartily wishes the Conversion of the former, and the Increase and Prosperity of the latter. London: 1720. 2 vols. 8vo.

KIP, J. Nouveau Théâtre de la Grande Bretagne: ou Description exacte des Palais du Roy, Et des Maisons les plus considérables des Seigneurs & des Gentilshommes de la Grande Bretagne. Le tout dessiné sur les lieux, & gravé sur quatre-vingt Planches où l'on voit aussi les Armes des Seigneurs & des Gentilshommes. Tome premier. A Londres, Chez David Mortier Libraire. 1715. [Et Tome premier. Seconde partie. Ib. 1717.]

Avec les Plans de plusieurs Villes, Abbayes, & Eglises Cathédrales d'Ecosse A Londres, Chez J. Grocnewegen & N. Prevost Libraires dans le Strand. 1728.

Bound in 5 vols. Folio. In the original gilt calf.

Vol. i. :—Title, preface, description of the plates, 1-80, and "Table Alphabétique," together, six leaves. Plates, 2-80, plate 1 being the engraving of the Royal Arms on the title.

Though the title is dated 1715, it is stated in the preface (which is signed Joseph Smith) that it contains "les Augmentations qui y sont faites Jusqu'à présent, 1724."

Vol. i., Part 2 :—Table and description of the plates, 4 leaves. Seventy plates, which agree with the printed list, but the numbers are not quite regularly marked. Besides the plates in the list the volume has at the end :—1. Elevation of Ashurst House. 2. Garden Front of Wentworth House, Yorkshire. 3. Plan of the Garden, Park, &c., of Wentworth House (on 3 sheets). 4. Malton in the Co. of York. 5. E. View of Harrowdon Magna. 6. Plan of Harrowdon Lordship. 7. Tankersley Park. 8. Hooton Roberts. 9. Carhouse in Yorkshire.

Vol. ii. :—Title, 1 leaf; "A description of the Plates added to this volume of Ecclesiastical Buildings in England," 5 leaves; "An Historical Account of all the Cathedrals," &c., 12 leaves; "Ecclesiarum Angliæ et Valliæ Prospectus," an engraved title dated 1719, followed by 66 plates, some of them occupying two or more sheets. A few additional views are inserted.

Vol. iii. :—Title and description of the plates, 8 leaves; plates 1-85 according to the list, some on two or more sheets, and a few extra ones added.

Supplement :—Title and description of the plates, 5 leaves; plates numbered 1-84, and eight additional views inserted from a later edition.

KIRCHEN ORDNUNG, In meiner gnedigen herrn der Margrauen zu Brandenburg Vnd eins Erbern Rats der Stat Nürnberg monien halten solle. M.D.XXXIII. Catechismus oder Kinder pre-dig. [Colophon.] Getruckt [zu Basel] durch Johan Petreium, Anno

M.D.XXXIII. Folio.

The Kirchen Ordnung contains A—G and K in sixes, H, I, L, four leaves each, the last blank. The Catechismus, a—m in sixes, n, 8 leaves.

"This 'Ordnung,' according to Goode ('Doctrine of Baptism,' Lond. 1849), is founded upon that of Luther, in so far at least as regards baptism. It is also upon this Form and that of Hermann, Archbishop of Cologne ('Simplex et Pia Deliberatio'), that the office of the Book of Common Prayer is based. Dr. Pusey, however ('Tract on Baptism'), although he cites Hermann's work, does not notice this; and it is presumed therefore that he was not then acquainted with it. It is described in the 'Bibliotheca Agendorum' of König, Halle, 1726, of which it forms the first article; the author there states that he knew of but one copy, and that had not the Catechism.
Seckendorf, lib. iii., p. 71, also describes it, but from the reprint of 1591."—Note by Mr. C. F. Stewart.

Wherin is described his Parents misfortunes, and captiuities, his owne losse, strange preseruing, education, and fostering (by Kanyra Q. of Carthage) his Knighthood, admirable exploytes, and vnmatchable atchieuementes, graced with the most glorious conquestes ouer Knights, Gyants, Monsters, Enchauntments, Realmes, and Dominions; with his* fortunate comming to the knowledge of his Parents in the greatest extremitie of their captiuitie; his combating, affecting, and pursuites in his loue towardes the rarely embellished Princesse and Lady-knight Phianora, daughter vnto the inuincible Argamont King of England, by the gracious Princesse Clarecinda. At London ¶ Printed for William Leake, 1600. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—H h in fours.

Interspersed with verses, and on the last page occurs: "R. W. To the authour of this Historie," in verse. It is a mock-romance, written in ridicule of the books of knight-errantry; and, as it preceded in date by five years the publication of the first edition of "Don Quixote," it is a volume of more than ordinary interest.

From the Halliwell and Tite collections. A copy is at Bridgewater House.

A curious little volume of which no notice appears in bibliographical works.

KORAN. The Koran, in Arabic, complete.

Written in very minute characters, on a roll of thin bombycine paper, more than twelve feet long, and a little over three inches in width. The text, which is less than two inches in width, is so disposed, by ingenious grouping, as to form a series of decorations, floral figures, and monumental inscriptions, relieved with gold lines and the occasional use of red ink.

There is no date given, nor any inscription, but from the handwriting, the MS. seems to have been executed in the Turkish dominions, and does not appear to be more than a century old, if so much.

The inscription, formed by groups of text as above mentioned, is extracted from the Koran itself, and is the 256th verse of the Second Sura. It runs thus, in translation:—

“God—there is no God except Him, the Living, the Eternal; no Slumber, no Sleep seizeth Him; His, whatever is in the Heavens, and whatever is on the earth. Who is he that prayeth to Him unless by His permission? He knoweth what is at hand and what shall follow [what is between their hands and what shall succeed them], and they shall not understand aught of His knowledge but what He alloweth. His throne embraceth the heavens and the earth and the burden thereof doth not trouble Him. For He is the Sublime, the Magnificent!”

This is believed to be an unique copy of the earliest English sheet almanac known to have been printed, though it is probable that there were many of earlier date. This one owes its preservation to having been pasted into a copy of the English translation of Erasmus's Paraphrase on the New Testament. It is to be remarked that the word "Saint" is omitted in the holidays marked in the Calendar.

A, 12 leaves ; B—R iv in eights.

First edition. See "Goerres Volkbucher," p. 183, for a high panegyric of this early German comic romance, which is there said to be full of the best thoughts that wit and irony could produce. In the geographical supplement to Brunet it is quoted as the earliest book printed at Laleburg on the Neckar. By Dr. Graesse, "Trésor de livres rares," &c., vi., p. 301, a book with a similar title is placed under the head of "Schildbürger, Die. Wunderseltzame, Abendtheurliche, &c. Misnopotamia. 1598," which he describes as "Première éd. de ce livre populaire allemand, dans lequel les coutûmes bizarres et les bêtises de quelques villes allemandes sont ridiculisées." But as he quotes an edition of 1597 in a note, it is difficult to see how he could have supposed the first to be printed in 1598.

This edition was known to Brunet only through the sale of this copy, which was formerly in Colonel Stanley's collection, and he appears almost to doubt if it really existed. He says: "Une édition de Paris, en 3 vol. en fol. goth., annoncée sous la date de 1513 a été payée 34 liv. 13 sh. à la vente Stanley. Nous ne l'avons pas vue." It is probable that the impression of 1520 was an exact reproduction of this, which agrees precisely with the collation which Brunet gives of that edition.

LANE, MOSES. *The Protestant School: Or, A Method, Containing several Forms of Prayer, Psalms, Lessons, Thanksgivings, and Graces, for the Bringing up, and well Grounding Children and Elder Persons in the Protestant Religion, by the most Reverend and Learned Bishop Usher: Also a Catalogue of all the English Words, Beginning with one Syllable, and proceeding by degrees to Eight, Divided and not Divided; the readiest way for teaching Children and Elder Persons to Spell, Pronounce, Read and Write true English . . . Portrait, title, and preface, 3 leaves; "A Method," &c., 7 leaves; "An Historical Account," &c., with four pages of engravings, 4 leaves; C—M 6 in eights.

This curious volume appears to be undescribed. At the end are "Proverbs for Children" and the Graces before and after meat. The author describes himself as a London schoolmaster.

A—F 4 in eights.

A beautiful copy in the original vellum cover, with strings. From the library of Sir John Percivale, of Burton in the County of Cork, with his book-plate, dated 1702.

Below the Latin lines on the title, some one, who from the similarity of style and orthography may be surmised to have been Laneham himself, has introduced the following English version:

“ While that our neighbourz Reamz (alas) vprere dooth rend asunder
In mirth among the Subjects that her Maiesty ar under
She (thanks too God) leads pleazaunt daiz : let spite & mallis wunder.”

The Letter is directed by Laneham “ Vntoo my good freend, Master Humfrey Martin Mercer.” There were two editions, both without date or place, probably printed in quick succession.

A—Q in eights, the last leaf blank.

This work has also been attributed to Duplessis-Mornay; but Querard ("Supercheries littéraires dévoilées," vol. i., col. 586) shows that Languet was the author, and that Duplessis-Mornay was the editor only.

A—H in eights; I, 10 leaves. The title and C viii are in facsimile. The last leaf has the colophon on the recto, and on the verso is Pynson's device. Beneath it is written in a contemporary hand: "There is mention made of y^e Lanterne of light in Registro Henr. Chicheleye archiep Cantuar. in y^e depositions against John Claydon an^o 1415."

This confirms what might have been supposed from the style of the book, that it was rather the work of a Wickliffite than of one of the Reformers of the sixteenth century, though it was no doubt the revival of Anti-papal doctrines which caused it to be printed at this time. As Redman did not make use of Pynson's device till after 1530, the date of the book must be later than that.

LANYER, ÆMILIA. Salve Devs Rex Ivdæorum. Containing, 1. The Passion of Christ. 2. Eues Apologie in defence of Women. 3. The Teares of the Daughters of Ierusalem. 4. The Salutation and Sorrow of the Virgine Marie. With diuers other things not vnfit to be read. Written by Mistris Æmilia Lanyer, Wife to Captaine Alfonso Lanyer Seruant to the Kings Majestie. At London Printed by Valentine Simmes for Richard Bonian, and are to be sold at his Shop in Paules Church-yard. . . . Anno 1611. 4to.

In verse, except two of the dedications.

a—f 3 in fours, title on a 2; A—l i in fours; f 4 was probably a blank leaf.

The introductory leaves appear to have been added as an afterthought, and Heber's, which was an early presentation copy to a friend of the author, wanted them. Some of them were also deficient in the copy given to Prince Henry, now in the Dyce collection at South Kensington, and completed from another. Not more than four perfect copies are known. The present was Sir Francis Freeling's, and afterwards Halliwell's.

In the metrical dedication to Lady Pembroke the author speaks of "The Psalms written newly by the Countesse Dowager of Pembroke." The last page has an address in prose "To the doubtful Reader," in which it is explained that the title, "Salve Deus Rex Judæorum," was delivered to the writer in a dream. The "divers other works not unfit to be read," consist of a poetical description of Cookham, where Mrs. Lanyer received her first inspirations and resided for some time.

Twenty-eight leaves.

First edition, which Brunet says was probably printed at Lyons. On the title is the printer's device of Icarus. The first edition with woodcuts was printed at Paris by Denis Janot about 1539.

— The Mirrovr of Policie. A Worke no lesse profitable than necessarie, for all Magistrates, and Gouvernours of Estates and Commonweales. London, Printed by Adam Islip. 1598. 4to. Woodcuts.

¶, 2 leaves; A—Ll 3 in fours, not including 2 folding leaves in signatures Ff and Gg.

This is a translation of "Le Miroir Politique," first printed at Lyons in 1555, with copies of some of the woodcuts. It is sometimes dated 1599; but there seems to have been only one edition.

Engraved title and sixty-five portraits.

The earliest edition of this book mentioned by Brunet is 1688. The portraits are numbered from 1 to 64; but the 65th, which represents the Dauphin, son of Louis XIV. and grandfather of Louis XV., is not numbered. Both this portrait and that of Louis XIV. have the date of 1685 on them.

LARRAMENDI, MANUEL DE. El Impossible Vencido. Arte de la Lengua Bascongada. . . . En Salamanca. 1729. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Dedicated to Katherine, Duchess of Suffolk.

Although the title-pages mention only the first and second sermon, this volume comprises the series of seven. Latimer's Address to the Reader occupies fifteen pages and is dated June 21 [1550]. Bibliographers do not appear to have been aware that Day and Seres issued at least three editions of these sermons during 1550 and 1551.

Folios 1-118, including the title, followed by five leaves of register, not numbered.

Editions had already appeared in German, in 1493 and 1513, but the first edition appears to have been that of Caxton, translated from a French MS. and printed about 1484. Mr. Blades, in his "Life of Caxton," has given an extract from the work which may well have furnished Shakespeare with the groundwork of the story of the "Taming of the Shrew."

LAUD, W., ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY. Rome for Canterbury: Or a true Relation of the Birth, and Life, of William Laud, Arch-bishop of Canterbury: Together with the whole manner of his proceeding, both in the Star-Chamber, High-commission Court, in his owne House, and some observations of him in the Tower. LECTIONARIUM et Sequentiæ cum antiphonariis et orationibus pro festis ecclesiæ Romanæ. Circa A.D. 1520. Folio.

A manuscript on vellum, by an Italian scribe, with eight large paintings surrounded by elaborate borders. It is bound in oak boards, covered with crimson velvet, with gilt corners and clasps, the centre ornaments being four Nielli, (portraits of Leo X. and Cardinal Bembo on the obverse, and their arms on the reverse, of the covers). They are beautifully engraved, and have been ascribed to the hand of Benvenuto Cellini.

The eight paintings represent—1. The Birth of Christ. 2. Christ rising from the Tomb. 3. The Nativity of St. John the Baptist. 4. St. Augustine expounding to four kneeling Monks. 5. St. John writing his Gospel. 6. The Visit of the Three Marys to the Sepulchre. 7. High Priests and Scribes. 8. Four monks praying beside the Corpse of a Bishop. Beneath each miniature is a magnificently painted border.

From the collection of Count Cicognara, and subsequently in the collection of Sir W. Tite.

Second edition. Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; folios 1-181; table, 4 leaves.

"El Romancero de Ledesma, esclusivamente compuesto de poesias suyas, contiene muchos villancicos, décimas, endechas, jerglificos y hasta seguidillas.—No desmiente en esta obra el autor su gran reputacion como poeta y nos hace ver en ella, que con igual facilidad y maestria cantaba las alabanzas de los santos que empuñaba el látigo de la sátira, empleando además el lenguaje picaresco y festivo en los asuntos amorosos. El Monstro imaginado es una especie de novela en equívocos, escrita en prosa; el autor la intitula crónica y pretende haberla traducido de la lengua siria."—Salvá, i, p. 128.

A—D 3 in fours. In verse.

Dedicated to Sir Julius Cæsar, Knight. The poem is reprinted entire in the Shakespeare Society's papers. Of the original only three copies are said to be known. The present, formerly Sir Robert Gordon's, Sir F. Freeling's, and Mr. Corser's, has on a flyleaf the following memoranda by Freeling: "Mr. Park, in 'Restituta,' vol. iii., p. 508, says a copy of this tract is preserved in the library of Sion College, which possibly may be unique. This copy was purchased at the sale of the Gordonstoun library, and there was another in Mr. Bindley's collection. Sir Aston Cokain has several Poems and Anagrams to his very good friend Mr. Francis Lenton. See p. 161, et seqq. of his 'Poems,' 1662."

A—F in fours, F 4 blank.

Inscribed to the Four Inns of Court. None of the persons celebrated here seem to be otherwise known. This tract is in a volume formerly belonging to the library of Charles II.

— Lentons Leisvres Described, in divers Moderne Characters. By Francis Lenton, Her Maiesties Poet. Dum vivo video, Et Dum video video. Inprinted at London. 1636. Sm. 8vo.

A, 6 leaves, title on A 2; B—H 4 in twelves, H 4 blank.

The first edition of this little book was in 1631, and it was reprinted in 1639 and 1663. The present is believed to be the only copy which has occurred of the impression of 1636. Dedicated to Queen Henrietta Maria.

— Great Britains Beautics, Or, The Female Glory; Epitomized, In Encomiastick Anagramms, and Acrostiches, Upon the highly honoured Names of the Queenes most gracious Majestie, and the Gallant Lady-Masquers in her Graces glorious Grand-Masque. The time, in Revels, Dancing, Songs and Smiles.

Framed, and formed, by the humble Pen of Francis Lenton, the Queenes Poet. London, Printed by Marmaduke Parsons, for Iames Becket, at the Inner Temple Gate. 1638. 4to. R. M.

A—E in fours, title on A 2.

This curious production is dedicated in florid terms to the Queen and the Ladies of the Court in two separate inscriptions, both in verse. The masque referred to in the title appears to have been Davenant's "Salmacida Spolia," 1638. From Mr. Corser's collection. The only other copy known is the one purchased by Malone at Farmer's sale in 1798.

LENTON, FRANCIS. Queene Esters Haliluiahs and Hamans Madrigalls expressed and Illustrated in a Sacred Poeme. With the Translation of the 83 Psalme wherein Dauid curseth the Enimyees of the true Church: Composed By Fra: Lenton Gent: the Queenes Poet. [Quotation from Psalm 125. ver. 3.] Soli Gloria Deo: 1637 4to. BL. M.

MS. neatly written on eighty-seven leaves, including the title and preliminary matter.

With poetical dedication to Sir Anthony and Lady Cage, upon whose names there are acrostics, as well as some verses on their coats of arms. This is an unpublished MS., and it appears that at least two other copies exist, both of which were sold among Mr. Corser's books. This has every appearance of being in the author's autograph.

LENTULO, SCIPIO. La Grammatica di M. Scipio Lentvlo An Italian Grammer written in Latin by Scipio Lentulo a Neapolitane: And turned into Englishe by Henry Granthan. Imprinted at London by Thomas Vantrollier dwelling in the Blackefriers. 1587. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A—K in eights.

Dedicated by the translator, under date of Dec. 4, 1574, "To the Right Vertvovs Mystres Mary and Mysres Francys Berkeley daughters to the Right honorable Henry Lord Berkeley." The first edition was in 1575. It seems likely that Granthan, and not Humphrey Gifford, as sometimes stated, was the translator of Boccaccio's "Philocopo," printed four times between 1567 and 1587. From Mr. Inglis's collection.

LEO X. Bulla contra errores Martini Lutheri & sequacium. Im-pressum Romæ per Jacobum Mazochinum de mandato S. D. N. Papæ. [1520.] 4to. The edges uncut.

The original edition of the famous Bull against Martin Luther and his followers.

Title and prologue, 4 leaves; sigs. A—K in eights.

This book appears to be altogether undescribed by bibliographers. It contains metrical paraphrases of sixty-eight of David's Psalms, followed by the Ten Commandments, and the Song of Simeon, also in verse. It is probable that the author concealed under the name of Juan le Quesne is in reality Juan Enzina, who was burned at Brussels in 1546, and some of whose books were published under the hellenized name of Dryander. In any case, it is curious as showing that Spanish Protestants were still sufficiently numerous to make it worth while to print books for them at the beginning of the 17th century.

The first complete edition of this celebrated work, published the year of the author's death, he being then in his eightieth year. M. Brunet says of it : "Cette édition, devenue peu commune, présente de nombreuses corrections et des augmentations considérables de l'auteur, lesquelles ne forment guère moins d'une centaine de pages ; elle doit donc être regardée comme la première bonne édition du chef-d'œuvre de Le Sage."

— Nova Francia: Or the Description of that part of New France, which is one continent with Virginia. Described in the three late Voyages and Plantation made by Monsieur de Monts, Monsieur du Pont-Graué, and Monsieur de Poutrincourt, into the countries called by the French men La Cadie, lying to the Southwest of Cape Breton. Together with an excellent seuerall Treatie of all the commodities of the said countries, and maners of the naturall inhabitants of the same. Translated out of French into English by P. E. Londini, Impensis Georgii Bishop. 1609. 4to. R. M.

Title, 1 leaf; ¶¶ and ¶¶¶, 4 leaves each; A—Qq 2 in fours.

Dedicated by the translator "To the Bright Starre of the North, Henry Prince of Great Britaine," and signed "Your Highnesse humblest seruant P. Erondelle." The translator says that the work was put into his hands by Richard Hakluyt, and that "it was thought needlesse to translate more then concerneth that which adioyneth to Virginia."

The copy in the Grenville library has a different imprint, and is without date; in other respects it is precisely the same. The map mentioned in the Grenville catalogue does not belong to the book, but is taken from the French original described above.

A—F 3 in fours, title on A 2. Dedicated to the Duke of Buckingham and the rest of the Council for New-England. The author says: "I haue omitted many things in this my discourse, which I conceived to be Impertinent at this time for me to relate, as of the time of my being at sea, of the strange Fish which wee there saw, some with wings flying about the water, others with manes, eares, and heads, and chasing one another with open mouths like store horses in a parke . . ."

LEWIN, WILLIAM. The Birds of Great Britain, with their Eggs accurately figured. London: Printed for the Author 1789-95. 7 vols. 4to. Printed on vellum. Plates. R. M.

This is one of the four copies printed on vellum. It has the plates beautifully painted by the author.

LEWIS, JOHN. The History of the Life and Sufferings of the Reverend and Learned John Wiclif, D.D. . . . Together with a Collection of Papers and Records relating to the said History. LEWKENOR, SIR EDWARD. Threnodia in obitvm Edovardi Lewkenor Equitis, & D. Svsannae Coniugis charissimæ. Fvnerall Verses vpon the death of the right Worshipfull Sir Edward Lewkenor Knight, and Madame Svsan his Lady. With Deaths Apologie, and a Reioynder to the same. Prov. 10, 8. Memoria Iusti benedicta. Loudon Printed by Arnold Hatfield for Samuel Macham and Matthew Cooke, and are to be solde in Pauls Church-yard at the signe of the Tigers head. 1606. 4to. BL. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—G in fours. With the Lewkenor arms on the back of the title. This volume consists of English and Latin verses. The two principal poems, "Death's Apology" and the "Rejoinder," are anonymous. The others are mostly by obscure writers.

LEYCESTER, JOHN. The Civill Warres of England briefly Related from His Majesties first setting up His Standard 1641. To this present Personall hopefulfull Treaty. With the lively Effigies and Eulogies of the chief Commanders, who like Starres in their courses have fought against the Romish Sicera, or the great Scarlet Whore, with whom the Kings of the Earth have committed Fornication. Rev. 17, 2. Together with the distinct appellations, proper motions, and propitious influences of these memorable Starres, Chronologically related from Anno. 1641. to Anno. 1648. Collected by John Leycester. Ecce triumphales Anni! Quoq, Sydera fausta. London, Printed for John Hancock, at the first shop in Popes-Head Alley, next to Corn-hill. 1649. Sm. 8vo. Portraits. R. M.

A, 4 leaves; B—M 4 in eights. The twenty-one portraits count in the sheets. This is a reissue of Ricraft's "Survey of Englands Champions," 1647, with a short appendix (M—M 4). Leycester's dedication "To the Honour and Glory of the Infinite, Immense, and Incomprehensible Majesty of Jehovah," is in verse, and is subscribed, "By Jo. Ley. A small crumme of mortality." There is no mention of Ricraft as the author, but as Leycester does not charge the latter with appropriation of his labours, it is to be inferred that Leycester was the plagiarist.

LEYEN Regel vnd Pratic, Allwegen werend, deren sich das gemeyn volck, täglicher erfahrung, durchs gantz Jar überhaltet. [O. O. u. J.] 4to.

This piece consists of only six leaves. It consists of weather-wise rules and maxims for the peasantry. On the title is a woodcut showing two labourers sowing seed and pruning the trees. It was probably printed at Zurich about 1530, but is undescribed by bibliographers.

LHUYD, EDWARD. Archæologia Britannica, giving some account, additional to what has been hitherto publish'd, of the Languages, Histories, and Customs of Great Britain. LIBER Diurnus Romanorum Pontificum ex Antiquissimo Codice MS. nunc primum in lucem editus. Studio Lucæ Holstenii. Romæ, typis Josephi Vannacci, 1658. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Pp. 231.

The most ancient document of the kind in existence. This first edition was carefully suppressed, as is shown in the following extracts from writers of authority. Why it was so dealt with does not appear; and it is worthy of note that Garnerius, in the preface to his edition, completely ignores it, relying, perhaps, on its utter destruction. When suppressed the text only had been printed. To this copy is prefixed a title which, both in type and paper, is evidently of a much later date.

des Evêques d'Italie qui étaient obligés de venir recevoir à Rome la consécration épiscopale, les professions de foi, les privilèges, les mandats, les concessions et autres actes semblables."—Gueranger, Institutions Liturgiques, vol. i., p. 182.

LIBER PRECUM. Sm. 8vo. In the original stamped German binding.

MS., on paper, of the sixteenth century, illustrated with forty-four engravings on copper, by a German artist, representing subjects in the life and passion of Christ.

LIBER VAGATORUM. Der betler orden. [O. O. u. F.] 4to. R. M.

Twelve leaves. The above title is over a woodcut of a beggar and his family on the tramp. The last leaf bears only eight lines on the recto, while the verso is quite blank. A full page has thirty-four lines.

— [O. O. o. F.] 4to.

Thirteen leaves, thirty-three lines to a full page. A similar woodcut on the title to that in the edition described above.

— [O. O. o. F.] 4to. R. M.

Eleven leaves, with thirty-four lines to the page. A similar woodcut on the title.

— Getruckt zu Augspurg Durch Erhart öglin. [O. F.] 4to.

Twelve leaves, thirty-two lines to the page. A similar woodcut on the title.

[LIBER VAGATORUM.] Von der falschen Betler büeberey, Mit einer Vorrede Martini Luther. Und hinden an ein Rotwelsch Vocabularius, daraus man die wörtter, so in dysem büchlein gebraucht, verstehen kan. Wittemberg. 1528. 4to. BL. M.

This is the same work as the four editions described above, but, as indicated in the title, it is preceded by a preface by Martin Luther against professed beggars. The "Rotwelsch" vocabulary, which he reprints at the end of this edition, is also found in the earlier ones. It appears by no means improbable that this book gave Harman the idea of his "Caveat for common Cursetors."

LIBRO, de la Monteria que mando escrevir el mvy alto y mvy poderoso Rey Don Alonso de Castilla, y de Leon, Vltimo deste nombre. Acrecentado por Gonçalo Argote de Molina. Impresso en Sevilla, por Andrea Pescioni. Año 1582. Folio. Woodcuts. Y. M.

Title and preliminaries, 6 leaves; "Libro de la Monteria," folios 1-91; "Discurso de Argote de Molina," folios 1-25; and a leaf bearing the printer's device.

"Este es el libro más indispensable en una biblioteca de obras venatorias, y es sin disputa el más raro, tanto por lo mui buscados que son los ejemplares, como por no haberse reimpresso en el espacio de casi tres siglos El P. Sarmiento en las Memorias para la historia de la poesia dijo que 'esta obra es mui útil para la geografia de Castilla y Leon, segun estaba en el siglo décimo cuarto. Ademas de varias reglas que pone para la eleccion, educacion y cuidado de los perros de caza, se contiene una individual descripcion de todos los montes, sitios y lugares propios para la caza mayor, ó montería. En el mismo Argote se hallará un catálogo de los muchos que concurriron á la composicion de este libro, que ya no es muy comun.' Efectivamente, es obra rarísima y casi imposible el lograr un ejemplar bien conservado."—Salvá, No. 2635.

LIBRO DI MERCANTIE. Questo e, el libbro che tracta di Mercãtie & usanze depaesi. [Colophon.] Impresso in Firenze appetitione di Ser Piero da Pescia. [s. a.] Sqr. 8vo. BR. M.

a, 6 leaves, and a—t in fours.

On the title is a beautifully-designed woodcut of the interior of an Italian money-changer's office or merchant's counting-house. The text begins on the seventh leaf with the following heading: "Incomincia il Libro di tucti echotvni. Cambi. Monete. pesi. misure. & usanze di lectere di cãbi. e termini di decte lectere che nepaesi sichostuma & indiuerse terre." It was probably printed about 1500.

A—H iii in sixes.

This edition was unknown to Panzer, who, speaking of the edition dated 1497, says: "Diese Ausgabe von Johann Lichtenbergers bekannten Weissagungen besitze ich selbst. Vermuthlich ist es eben diejenige, welche in der Neuen Bibliothek der schönen Wissenschaft B. 25. S. 26. unter dem Jahre 1488 angeführt wird."

It is probable that this is the edition referred to, though it has not the date of 1488 as the year of printing. No earlier one appears to be described by bibliographers.

The volume ends on the verso of H iii with a large cut of a begging friar, who is receiving money from two women. Above it are the following lines:—

"Hie sal sien eyn lolhart vnd sal sprechen dyesze wort.

Bruder Lolhart byn ich genant den frauwen mach ich mich gern bekant.

Das ich die phennige von yne erkryege dar vmb ich tzijtlich smeichel vnd dryege."

— Pronosticatio Latina Anno. lxxxviii. ad magnā cōiunctionē Saturni et Jovis q̄ fuit āno. lxxxiiii. ac eclipsim solis āni sequentis. scz. lxxxv. cōfecta ac nūc de novo emēdata Durabit pluribus annis vt infra in tercio folio patebit. [Moguntia. 1492.] Folio. Woodcuts. The edges uncut. R. M.

Brunet gives only thirty-two leaves to this volume, but this copy has thirty-six, as described by Hain, and as the signatures are A—F, 6 leaves each, the copy collated by Brunet must have been incomplete. At the end occurs: "Emendatum denuo presagium hoccine impressioni quoq̄ deditū Anno dñi M.cccc.xcij octava die mensis Junii in inclita vrbe Maguntina cum carminibus Pindari preclarissimi Poete rem omnem rectissime enuntiantibus ⁊ concludentibus."

The engravings are the same as in the German edition without date or place, described above, but the last one, which represents the Lollard and two women, is omitted.

Hain describes two other editions of this Latin version, which appear to be of an earlier date than the present.

LICIA, or Poemes of Love, in Honour of the admirable and singular vertues of his Lady, to the imitation of the best Latin Poets, and others. Whereunto is added the Rising to the Crowne of Richard the third.

Narcissus Luttrell's copy, having cost him sixpence; afterwards Mr. Heber's and Mr. Corser's. "It has been supposed that it was not printed for sale, but from the prefatory matter it is evident this was not the case. The sonnets are obviously in imitation of Daniel; to these succeed miscellanies, and finally a poem in the style of the 'Mirror for Magistrates.' Some extracts from it are given in 'Restituta' iv., 15."—Bibl. Heber., part viii., No. 1294.

The volume is ascribed to Giles Fletcher the elder by Mr. Joseph Hunter, in his "New Illustrations of Shakespeare," 1845, ii., 77, and has been published as the work of that author by Mr. Grosart.

The title is enclosed in a curious woodcut border. There is a separate title to the poem on Richard III., on sig. L. The epistle to Lady Mollineux, wife to Sir Richard Mollineux, Knight, is dated "from my chamber, Sept. 4, 1593," and the Preface to the Reader is dated four days later. The author attributes the production of his work to the kindness which he had received at the hands of Sir Richard and Lady Mollineux, and one or two other friends of his and theirs.

Not more than three copies appear to be known—one in the Malone collection; a second, formerly Farmer's, Steevens's, and Caldecott's; the present, from the libraries of Heber and Corser.

LILBURNE, JOHN. A Discovrse Betwixt Lieutenant Colonel John Lilburne Close Prisoner in the Tower of London, and Mr. Hugh Peter: Upon May 25. 1649. Published by a friend, for the Publick benefit. [Quotation from Matt. vii. 15, 16.] London, Printed in the Yeer 1649. 4to.

A—D in fours.

At the end occurs a piece in verse which is not mentioned on the title: "A Prophecie found in a wall, in a Carthusian house in the County of Sommerset, Anno Dom. 1548. by a Mason, a Copy whereof was taken by Richard Mogg. 1623."

LILLY, WILLIAM. A Collection of Ancient and Moderne Prophecies Concerning these present Times, with Modest Observations thereon. In the original yellow morocco powdered with Marguerites.*

A—M in twelves, including the title. The last leaf bears a colophon which only repeats the imprint on the title.

Brunet mentions this copy as having been sold at the collection of M. Charles Nodier, but does not record the sale of any other. Of the first edition, printed at Barcelona in 1573, the only known copy is in the Imperial Library at Vienna. An undescribed edition of 1612 is in the library of Mr. R. S. Turner. It is an exact reprint of the edition of 1608. There were reprints also in 1647 and 1681; but no edition appears in the catalogue of Señor Salvá's library.

Engraved title by W. Rogers, 1 leaf; A, 4 leaves, containing dedication "To the Right Worshipfull Iulius Caesar Doctor of the Lawes, . . ."; B—Q in sixes; R, 8 leaves; *S, 2 leaves, with the conclusion to the first book and the separate title to the second; S (repeated)—Aa in sixes; Bb—Cc in fours; Dd—Pp in sixes; Qq, 8 leaves, the last blank. With twelve maps and plates by W. Rogers, Robert Beckett, and Raynald Elstracke, besides those on the letterpress.

The present copy has all the English maps. It is a very difficult volume to find quite perfect and in clean state.

Translated by William Philip. The date is found on the printed titles to the second and following books. The dedication to Dr. (afterwards Sir Julius) Cæsar is signed by the printer, who offers the book as a slight return for numerous favours received, and points out the propriety of the inscription of a volume of travels by sea to the Judge of the Court of Admiralty. The initials of the translator appear on the printed title to Books ii.-iv.

Sixty-four leaves (first and last blank). Eighteen woodcuts.

This edition without date is esteemed by Panzer to be earlier than that with Dinckmut's name, described below ; but both are clearly from the same press.

[LIRER, THOMAS.] [On a ii begins:] [I]N Gottes namen Amen. ¶ In diser Cronick würdet durch verdrieszlich vermeiden langer geschriff zu lesen. vii lieplich die kurtze zu hören. begriffen gar vil mengerlay schöner alter geschichten. so vor mer dann tausent iaren geschehen zu den zeiten do die schwäbischen land vnd andere land Haiden gewesen sind. a—b in eights, the first leaf of sig. a, blank ; c—i in sixes ; k, 10 leaves, the last blank.

Brunet describes this edition as having twenty-one wood-engravings ; but there are twenty-two, besides one which is repeated.

Jocher, in his "Allgemeines Gelehrten Lexion," says that the author of this chronicle lived in the twelfth century, but Panzer, as will be seen in the following extract, assigns to him a much earlier date :

"Wer der Verfaszer, der sich, wie schon gedacht worden, Thoman Lirer gesessen zu Rankweil nennet, und von sich sagt, er sey seines gnädigen Herren von Werdenberg knecht gewesen und mit ihm ausgefahren gen Portigal etc. gewesen sey, ist nicht bekannt. Wegelin vermuthet, der Herr von Werdenberg sey der Albertus gewesen, der um das Jahr 920 lebte, und des königs von Portugal Tochter Elisa entführte. Was die Glaubwürdigkeit dieses alten Geschichtschreibers betrifft, so ist er freylich von vielen für einen Idioten und Fabelschmid erkläret worden. Doch haben ihn einige wieder in Schutz genommen, besonders Heider, welcher in den Actis Lindaviens. S. 611. u. f. ausführlich zu erweisen sucht, dasz in dieser Lirerischen Chronik manche Dinge gefunden würden, welche mit andern glaubwürdigen Geschichtschreibern übereinstimmen. Wegelin urtheilt, der Werth und Verlust dieser Chronik wäre wohl von keiner sonderlichen Erheblichkeit, doch verdiene sie deswegen wieder herfürgesucht zu werden, weil doch viele Spuren von dem alten Adel, Vesten, Städten, Klöstern u. d. darinn angetroffen würden."—Panzer, i., 161.

A—Bh 2 in fours. In verse.

A metrical version of the "Theagenes and Chariclea" of Heliodorus. The unsold copies were reissued in 1638, with a new title-page, in which the author is mentioned. The copy in the British Museum is in the original morocco binding, and is evidently that which was presented by the author to the King and Queen. The imprint is only "Printed by John Haviland, at the Authors charge," and sig. A has only two leaves, one for the title and the other for the dedication.

LITANY. Eyn Letaney zu Got dem vatter, In allen angsten, vnd den sterbenden in todes nōtten trostlich vor zusprechen vnnnd zu beten. [O. O. u. F.] Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

Fourteen leaves. The title is within a woodcut border, and on the verso of the last leaf is a woodcut of the printer's device.

Panzer describes a 4to edition of this Litany: "Auszgangen zu alten Münster. Im jar. M.D.XXIII." The 8vo edition here described was probably printed about the same date.

— Teütsche Letaney, umb alles anligen der Cristenlichen gemayn. [Nurnberg.] Fobst Gutknecht. [O. F.] Sm. 8vo. BR. M.
Seven leaves. With musical notation.

A, 4 leaves; a, 2 leaves; B—T 2 in fours.

Dedicated to Robert, Earl of Somerset, and in a second address (in verse) to his countess. There are commendatory verses by John Murray, W[illiam] A[lexander?], Simeon Grahame, &c.

First edition. The verso of sig. a, and the whole of the next leaf are occupied by "A Dire, made by the Pilgrime in the Ile Nigroponti, when hee was constrained by Greekes, to keepe Centinell sixe daies (according to the times) who then stood in feare of two Turkish Gallies," and on the last page occurs: "A Sonet made by the Avthor vpon Helen when hee pitched at Argo and Mycene in Sparta whence shee was rauished."

Of this original edition, which varies much from the later ones, and contains far less matter, very few copies are known. There are two in the British Museum, one imperfect, and others in the Bodleian and at Britwell.

— The Totall Discourse, Of the Rare Aduentures, and painefull Peregrinations of long nineteene Yeares Trauayles, from Scotland, to the most Famous Kingdomes in Europe, Asia, and Affrica By William Lithgow. Imprinted at London by Nicholas Okes, and LITURGIA SACRA, sev Ritvs Ministerij in Ecclesia peregrinorum Francofordiæ ad Mœnum. Addita est summa doctrinæ seu fidei professio eiusdem Ecclesiæ. . . . Francofordiæ 1554. [Colophon.] Impressum Francofordiæ apud Petrum Brubachium. 1554. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

Pp. 1-94, including title and leaf of subscription not paged.

This Liturgy was first published in February, 1551, for the use of the Strangers' Church in London, "and is supposed to have furnished hints to the revisers of the Book of Common Prayer in some additions which were made in 1552 to the ancient services." See Procter's "History of the Common Prayer." On the accession of Queen Mary the refugees fled from England, and Pullain, or Pollanus, the compiler of this form of service, and the head of the church, went to Francfort, and the book was again printed as above, with the addition of the Confession of Faith. From this church sprang the troubles at Francfort about the Common Prayer.—MS. note by Mr. C. J. Stewart.

LLOYD, LODOWICKE. The Pilgrimage of Princes, Newly published, by Lodowicke Lloid Esquier, one of her Maiesties Sergeants at Armes. Imprinted at London. by Iohn Wolfe. 1586. 4to. Black letter.

¶ and ¶¶, 4 leaves each ; A—Iii in fours. The leaf following the title has a set of acrostic verses on "Christoforos Hattonvs," and this is succeeded by a prose dedication to Sir Christopher Hatton. Then come four sets of commendatory verses in Latin, and a separate leaf, bearing thirty Alexandrine verses in English by Thomas Churchyard. Sheet Ll is occupied with "The Deathes of certaine Noble Princes in english verse."

The first edition was printed by William Jones without date, but between 1571 and 1574. It contains "The Pilgrimage of Queens" and "The Auctor to his booke," the latter in English Alexandrines, but neither of these was reprinted in the later editions.

— The Pilgrimage of Princes. Newly published : by Lodowicke Lloid Esquire, one of her Maiesties Sergeants at Armes. London, Printed by W. White. 1607. 4to.

A full collation is given by Muller, p. 128. With regard to the initials on the title, Muller says, p. 130: "L'auteur, qui se cache sous les initiales G. M. A. W. L. n'est autre que Willem Lodewijcksz, un des commissaires de la flotte."

— Prima pars Descriptionis Itineris navalis in Indiam Orientalem, earvmqve rerum quae navibus Battavis occurrerunt: vna cum particulari enarratione conditionum, morum, œconomiae populorum, quos adnavigarunt Authore G. This Latin version is evidently anterior to the French translation printed the same year, as may be seen by the very much better state of the plates which are worked on the letterpress. For full collation, see Muller, pp. 127 and 106.

M. Muller, in his valuable "Mémoire bibliographique," p. 128, states that William Lodewijcksz is undoubtedly the author of the voyage which forms the earlier part of this volume, though he is quite unable to explain the letters G. M. A., which precede his initials. This gives us a more satisfactory heading under which to place the different editions of the book than bibliographers have hitherto been able to avail themselves of in an alphabetical catalogue. In Brunet the Latin version stands under the very unsatisfactory heading of "Prima pars," and in the Grenville catalogue it is to be found under the still more doubtful heading of "De Bry;" seeing that all De Bry had to do with it was that he reprinted it in his collection of voyages.

LODGE, EDMUND. Illustrations of British History, Biography, and Manners Ornamented with Portraits, &c. London. 1791. 3 vols. 4to.

— Portraits of Illustrious Personages of Great Britain. Engraved from Authentic Pictures with Biographical and Historical Memoirs London, 1821-34. 4 vols. Folio. Large paper, the plates on India paper. R. M.

Appended to this copy is a set of the artist's proofs of the engravings, without letterpress, bound in two volumes.

LODGE, THOMAS. Rosalynde. Euphues golden Legacie, found after his death in his Cell at Silixedra. Bequeathed to Philavtus Sonnes, nursed vp with their Father in England. Fetcht from the Canaries by T. L. Gent. London, Printed by Abel Ieffes for T. G. and John Busbie. 1592. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—P in fours.

Dedicated to Lord Hunsdon. This is the second edition, and contains the "Scedule annexed to Euphues Testament, the tenour of his Legacie, the token of his Loue," which is not in the first edition. Of the first edition no perfect copy is known, and of the second the only other copy yet discovered is that in the Malone collection at Oxford.

Lodge's "Rosalynd" is familiar to Shakespearian students as the foundation-story of Shakespeare's "As you Like it." Some of the poems, with which the book is copiously interspersed, were reprinted in "England's Helicon," 1600.

— Euphues Golden Legacie. Found after his death in his Cell at Silixedra. Bequeathed to Philavtus Sonnes, nursed vp with their Father in England. Fetcht from the Canaries, by T. L. Gent. Imprinted at London for John Smethwicke, and are to be sold at his shop 1634. 4to. Black letter.

A—O in fours.

The word "Rosalynd" was omitted from the title of all the editions after 1609. In other respects this edition of 1634 appears to be a simple reprint of that of 1592.

LODGE, THOMAS. Wits Miserie, and the Worlds Madnesse : Discovering the Deuils Incarnat of this Age. London, Printed by Adam Islip, and are to be sold by Cuthbert Burby, at his shop by the Roiall-Exchange. 1596. 4to. Black letter. O. M.

A—P in fours, the title on A ii.

"To the Right worshipfull brothers, Nicholas Hare of Stow Bardolfe Esquire and Recorder of Lyn, Hugh Hare Esquire, Bencher of the inward Temple, and John Hare Esquire, Clarke of her Maiesties Court of Wards, Tho. Lodge Gentleman, wisheth health, wealth, and heauen."—Dedication. This is dated "in hast, from my house at Low-Laiton, this 5. of Nouember. 1596."

The work is a satire in prose on the vices of the time, and is often quoted by modern writers for the illustrations with which it abounds. The present was Dr. Farmer's copy, and afterwards in the collection of G. Chalmers.

"At p. 57 Lodge gives a very interesting Account of his Literary Contemporaries, Lilly is famous for facility in Discourses, Spenser is best read in English Poetry ; Daniel is choice in word and invention. Drayton is diligent and formal ; T. Nash is the true English Aretine. It will be observed no mention is here made of Shakespeare. This appears highly to have incensed him, and he retaliated by frequent sarcasms on Lodge in several of his Plays. In the Merry Wives of Windsor Falstaff says, in the very language of the Devil Luxury, "Let the Sky rain potatoes," "and snow eringoes," &c. also in Midsummer Night's Dream, in Troilus and Cressida, &c. See Chalmers's Supplemental Apology, passim. "In short," says Mr. Chalmers, "Lodge seems never to have been out of his head after this provocation." Mr. Chalmers appears to have overlooked a circumstance, which probably aggravated the offence in Shakespeare's eyes : Ben Jonson is named in another part of the Work as the English Horace, that gives number, weight, and measure to every word."—Note in G. Chalmers' Catalogue.

— The Divel coniuured. London Printed by Adam Islip for William Mats, dwelling in Flectstreet at the sign of the Hand and Plough. Anno 1596. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

A—M 2 in fours, title on A ii.

Dedicated to "Sir Iohn Fortescue, knight, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Master of the Wardrobe," &c. This is, perhaps, one of the least interesting of Lodge's publications, nor is the author's precise drift very clear. Dr. Farmer's copy.

— A Treatise of the Plague : Containing the nature, signes, and accidents of the same, with the certaine and absolute cure of the Feuers, Botches and Carbuncles, that raigne in these times: And about all things most singular Experiments and preseruatiues in the same, gathered by the obseruation of diuers worthy Trauailers, and selected out of the writings of the best learned Phisicians in this age. By Thomas Lodge, Doctor in Phisicke. London, Printed for Edward White and N. L. 1603. 4to. Black letter.

A—L in fours, the last leaf blank.

Dedicated to the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Sheriffs of London. It appears from the dedication that Lodge, when he wrote this professional treatise, resided in Warwick Lane, in the City. He speaks here with some severity of certain fellow-practitioners.

LODGE, THOMAS. A Looking Glasse for London and England. Made By Thomas Lodge Gentleman, and Robert Greene. In Artibus Magister. London, Imprinted by Barnard Alsop, and are to be sold at his house. within Gartar place in Barbican. 1617. 4to. R. M.

Twenty-six copies printed.

LOFTY BISHOP, The, The Lazy Brownist, and the Loyall Authour. Printed Anno Dom. 1640. A Broadside.

Printed in three columns, in four-line stanzas.

LOK, HENRY. Ecclesiastes, Otherwise called the Preacher. Containing Salomons Sermons or Commentaries (as it may probably be collected) vpon the 49. Psalme of Dauid his father. Compendiously abridged, and also paraphrastically dilated in English poesie, according to the analogie of Scripture, and consent of the most approued writer thereof. Composed by H. L. Gentleman. Whereunto are annexed sundrie Sonets of Christian Passions heretofore printed, and now corrected and augmented, with other affectionate Sonets of a feeling conscience of the same Authors. [Quotation from Ps. 144. 3, 4.] London. Printed by Richard Field, dwelling in the Blacke-friers neare Ludgate. 1597. 4to.

A—V 6 in eights.

Dedicated to Queen Elizabeth. The "Sundrie Sonets of Christian Passions" has a separate title-page; but the signatures are continuous.

This volume is very fully described by Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i., 478-82). The present copy, in the original vellum cover, from Mr. Daniel's library, has not the sixty additional sonnets to which Mr. Collier refers. They were annexed, doubtless, as an afterthought. Of the previous issue of the "Sonets of Christian Passions," mentioned in the title and licensed separately to the same stationer in 1593, no copy is known.

LOMATIUS, JOHN PAUL. A Tracte containing the Artes of curious Paintinge, Caruinge & Buildinge written first in Italian by Jo: Paul Lomatius painter of Milan and englished by R.[ichard] H.[aydocke.] student in Physik . . . [Colophon.] Printed at Oxford by Ioseph Barnes for R. H. Anno Domini, M.D.XC.VIII. Folio. R.

‡, 6 leaves; *, 6 leaves; A—K in sixes; Aa—Rr in sixes; Ss, 8 leaves. With numerous engravings and diagrams. Dedicated by the translator "To the Right Worshipfull Thomas Bodley Esquire."

The title-page is engraved, and contains portraits of the author and the translator. Haydocke's prefatory address "To the ingenvovs reader" contains many curious and interesting notices respecting painters and painting. Speaking of the restoration of old pictures in his own day, he says: "For my selfe have seene divers goodlie olde workes finely marred, with fresh and beautifull colours, and vernishes: a singular argument (to say nothing of the Owners) of the bolde and confident ignorance of the workemen." Speaking of English painters in his time, he says: "And for their farther encouragement, could wish I had the skilfull pen of George Vasarie, to eternize their well-deserving names to all succeeding ages. . . . Then would M. Nicholas Hilliards hand, so much admired amongst strangers, striue for a comparison with the milde spirit of the late worldes-wonder Raphaell Vrbine; for (to speake a truth) his perfectiō in ingenuous Illuminating or Limning, the perfection of Painting, is (if I can iudge) so extraordinarie, that when I deuised with myselfe the best argument to set it forth, I found none better then to perswade him to doe it him selfe, to the viewe of all men by his pen; as hee had before vnto very many, by his lerned pencell: which in the ende hee assented vnto; and by mee promiseth you a treatise of his owne Practise that way, with all convenient speede. Whose true and liuely Image you may otherwise behold, more then reflected vppon the mirroures or glasses, of his two schollars M: Isaac Oliver for Limning, and Rowland Lockey for Oyle and Lim."

Nicholas Hilliards' treatise here spoken of appears never to have been printed, and excepting a bare mention by Walpole, who indeed changes his name from Rowland to Nicholas, we have no mention anywhere of Lockey as a painter.

LOMBARDUS, PETRUS, Archiep. Ardmachani. De regno Hiberniæ, Sanctorum Insula Commentarius. . . . Lovanii, Apud Viduam Steph. Martini. 1632. 4to. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; A—Qq 2 in fours.

LONDON. Statuta Ciuitatis Londoniarum. 4to. BL. M.

MS. of the fifteenth century. The above title is followed by a register which extends to the verso of the first leaf. The second leaf begins with the following title:—

"Statuta felic^o recordacionis domini Rogeri Nigri Epi Londoniësis de consensu dñi Petri [Blesensis] Archidiaconi London edita et directa uniùsis Rectoribus vicar^o Capellanis parochialib; in Archidiaconatu (sic) london constitutis directa. Mo. CC . pmo."

Then follows the text, beginning with a large illuminated letter R, within which is a fine miniature representing the Bishop, habited in a cope, between two monks. Down the side of the page is a rich floriated border. The statutes, thirty-four in number, are of considerable interest in connection with the ecclesiastical history of the diocese. They are followed by an instrument of William [Courtenay], Archbishop of Canterbury, addressed to Thomas Baketon, LL.D., Archdeacon of London and Dean of the Arches, dated at "Lambithe," 11 kal. Dec. 1387, concerning stipendiary priests. The letter with which this instrument commences includes a miniature of the Archbishop and two monks; and the Constitution to which it refers begins with an illuminated letter, in which the Archbishop is represented talking with two monks, enriched, like the other illuminations, with beautiful marginal foliage. Constitutions of Archbishops Wynchelsea and Peckham, relating to the furniture and ornaments of churches, follow, together with a note on the threecfold character of excommunication, and a list of feasts to be observed, evidently in the diocese of London. At the end is the name of the scribe, with the date of the MS. in Arabic numerals :

“ Ricardus Franciscus Scripsit Anno Domini 1447.”

LONDON. A Short and Serious Narrative of Londons Fatal Fire, with its Diurnal and Nocturnal Progression from Sunday Morning (being) the second of September, Anno Mirabili 1666, until Wednesday night following. A Poem. As also Londons Lamentations to her Regardless Passengers. London: Printed for Peter Dring, at the Sign of the Beaver in the Strand, between Ivy-bridge and Durham-Yard, who formerly lived at the Sun in Poultry in London. 1667. 4to.

A—B 2 in fours.

At the end of the tract occurs a report by two surveyors of the exact loss by the Fire. It is stated that 340 acres were laid waste, and 130,000 houses destroyed.

LONDON. Londens Puyn-hoop, oft Godts rechtvaerdige Straffe over de selve, in't verbranden der Stadt, den 12. 13. 14. 15. en 16. van Herfstmaent 1666. Tot Rotterdam. 1666. 4to.

Following the title is a folding plate of London in flames engraved by Justus Danckerts.

LONDON. It cannot Rain but it Pours: Or, The First Part of London strow'd with Rarities. Being a full and true Account of a Fierce and Wild Indian Deer that beat the breath out of Mr. U——k's Body. As also how Madam Faustina the rare Singing Woman has been taken Hoarse. Together with a Lamentable Story of their being Blooded. And likewise a true Relation of the Arrival of the two Marvellous Black Arabian Ambassadors, who are of the same Country with the wonderful Horse lately shewn in King-Street. London. 1726. 4to.

In two parts, each having six leaves.

This tract appears to be partly political, and to be directed against Dean Swift, who is referred to as the “Copper-Farthing Dean from Ireland.”

LONDON CHAUNTICLERES, The. A Witty Comoedy, Full of Various and Delightfull Mirth. Often Acted with Great Applause And never before Published. London, Printed for Simon Miller, at the Star in St. Pauls Church-yard. 1659. 4to.

A—E in fours.

Mr. Halliwell (“Dictionary of Old Plays,” 1860, p. 144) observes: “This piece is rather an interlude than a play, but it is curious, the characters being London criers.” From a passage in the prologue we may perhaps infer that the production originally appeared during a visitation of the plague in London, and that it was first presented on some suburban or provincial stage. The metropolis was ravaged by pestilence in 1636, which is a not unlikely date for the composition and original representation of the piece.

LONDONS LOVE, to the Royal Prince Henrie, Meeting him on the River of Thames, at his returne from Richmonde, with a worthie Fleete of her Cittizens, on Thursday the last of May, 1610. LONGUS. Daphnis and Chloe. Excellently describing the weight of affection, the simplicitie of loue, the purport of honest meaning, the resolution of men, and disposition of Fate, finished in a Pastorall, and interlaced with the praises of a most peerlesse Princesse, wonderfull in Maiestie, and rare in perfection, celebrated within the same Pastorall, and therefore termed by the name of The Shepherds Holidiaie. By Angell Daye. Altior fortuna virtus. At London Printed by Robert Walde-graue, & are to be sold at his shop in Paules church-yard at the signe of the Crane. 1587. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Title and dedication to Sir William Hatton, Knight, 2 leaves; A—Pi in fours.

In verse and prose. This book, of which no other copy is known, is a free paraphrase of the original, with a special interpolation at sig. K in honour of Queen Elizabeth, to whom the author pays homage in a poem occupying nine pages, called "The Shepheard's Holidiaie."

A full account of the work and of Angel Day is given in Corser's "Collectanea," part v., pp. 114-123. From the collections of Dr. Bliss and Mr. Corser.

A—Y in fours, the last leaf blank ; also two leaves between A and B, marked ¶, and an engraved title by W. Marshall. On sig. O iii is a new title, "The Religion of the Persees"

The two extra leaves contain an additional dedication to Sir Maurice Abbot, Governor of the East India Company, the Deputy-Governor, and the rest of the adventurers. It appears that the author was for some time a resident in India, and held the office of Preacher to the Company.

LOREDANO, GIO. FRANCESCO. The Ascents of the Soul : or, David's Mount towards God's House. Being Paraphrases on the Fifteen Psalms of Degrees. Written in Italian, By the Illustrious Gio. Francesco Loredano, a Noble Venetian, 1656. Render'd into English, Anno Dom. 1665. [By Henry Hare, Lord Coleraine.] . . . *London, Printed by A. G. and J. Though with separate titles, frontispieces, and signatures, these two books were evidently published as one work. The first part contains a frontispiece, designed by the translator, with his monogram on a tablet, and engraved by Faithorne. Title and dedication, in verse, "To the most Honour'd Lucinda," 2 leaves; "To the most Honour'd Lucinda," in prose, followed by two epistles to the reader, a—c in twos; "In Psalmorum Laudem," 1 leaf; B—Q in twos.

"La Scala Santa" contains engraved frontispiece, also designed by the author, but not engraved by Faithorne. Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; B—Y in twos.

The volume has the arms of Lord Coleraine on the sides, and some MSS. corrections, most probably by him, as it appears to have been his own copy.

LORENZANI, PAUL. Motets à i. ii. iii. iv. et v. parties avec Symphonies et Basse-continue. Par Monsieur Lorenzani, Maistre de musique de la feuë Reine. A Paris, Chez Christophe Ballard, seul Imprimeur du Roy pour la Musique, ruë Saint Jean de Beauvais, au Mont-Parnasse. 1693. Complete in 11 parts. 4to.

These parts consist of—1. Premier dessus, 36 leaves. 2. Premier dessus de Violon, 32 leaves. 3. Second dessus, 26 leaves. 4. Second dessus de Violon, 32 leaves. 5. Haute contre, 24 leaves. 6. Dessus et Haute-contre du Grand Choeur, 20 leaves. 7. Basse, 20 leaves. 8. Basse de Violon, 50 leaves. 9. Basse-continue, 62 leaves. 10. Haute-taille, 22 leaves. 11. Taille et Basse du Grand Choeur, 20 leaves.

This rare work is undescribed by either Brunet or Fétis, though the latter mentions that a book of Motets for four voices was printed at Paris for Lorenzani, by Christopher Ballard in 1679. The author was by birth a Roman, and successively chapel-master at the Jesuits' Church in Rome, the Cathedral of Messina, and ultimately at the Basilica of the Vatican. He died in 1703.

A—X in sixes except sig. T, which has four leaves. The folios are most irregular. The title forms A 1. Brunet speaks of the book as "extraordinairement rare," vol. iii., col. 232, where it is placed under "History." Panzer also testifies to the rarity of the volume in his "Annalen der ältern deutschen Litteratur," and knew of it only in time to place it in the supplement to his work. It appears that Brunet and Graesse knew of the book only through Panzer, as neither of them give any particulars about it.

LOVE AND TRUTH: in Two modest and peaceable Letters. Concerning The distempers of the present Times. Written From a quiet and Conformable Citizen of London, to two busie and Factious Shopkeepers in Coventry. [Quotation from 1 Peter iv. 15.] London, Printed by M. C. for Henry Brome at the Gun in St. Pauls Church-yard. 1680. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—E in fours.

In this copy the dedication is in two forms, sig. A 2 being in duplicate. In the first it is subscribed "N. N." and directed "to Mr. Henry Brome in St. Paul's Churchyard, London," while the other is superscribed merely "The Author to the Stationer," and has no signature. The alterations were made at press, as the setting-up is the same. The first letter purports to have been written in 1667, the second in 1679.

The present copy belonged to Mr. Pickering the bookseller, and has on the fly-leaf the following note in his handwriting: "In Emanuel College, Cambridge, is a volume of Tracts formerly Archbishop Sancroft's. In the MS. Contents by Sancroft is written, 'Walton, Is. Two Letters on y^e distempers of y^e Times.' In the Advertisement of The Author to the Stationer the printed word AUTHOR is erased and over it written by Isaak Walton 'Publisher,' from which I infer that Walton was the Editor and not the writer of the two letters. See Nicolas's Life, p. 101. Dr. Zouch has reprinted the tract as Walton's at the end of his edition of Walton's Lives, from the copy in Emanuel College, which he believed to be unique. This copy has the dedicatory Letter in two forms"—W. Pickering, Dec. 25, 1850."

LOVES SCHOOL Or A New merry Book of Complements. Being the Language of Love, fitted to the humours of all sorts, Sexes, and Conditions: Made up of curious and pleasant Dialogues and Discourses, eloquent and delicious Letters, Songs and Sonnets. With many other fine Fantacies and pretty Conceits.

Once learn to Love, the Lesson is most plain,
And being learnt will neer be lost again.

Printed for W. Thackery at the Angel in Duck-lane. 1674. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A—B 4 in eights. In verse and prose. With cuts and a figure of a lover on the title.

The woodcut on the title served in 1651 as a portrait of Captain Hind the highwayman; see his "Declaration," &c., 4to, 1651.

LOVELACE, RICHARD. Lucasta: Epodes, Odes, Sonnets, Songs, &c. To which is added Aramantha, a Pastorall. By Richard Lovelace, Esq. London, Printed by Tho. Harper, and are to be sold by Tho. Ewster, at the Gun, in Ivie Lane. 1649. Sm. 8vo.

a, 8 leaves; A, 4 leaves, the last blank; B—M 4 in eights, the last leaf blank, and the last but one having the table of contents. Also an engraved title and plate by W. Faithorne, both after Lely.

From the libraries of Mr. Perry, Mr. Haslewood, and Mr. G. Daniel. This includes all the poet's best productions; but after his death his brother collected some pieces not hitherto edited, and (with a few elegies on Lovelace's death) formed them into a volume printed in 1659.

LOWER, SIR WILLIAM. The Phaenix in her Flames. A Tragedy. The Scene, Arabia. The Author, Master William Lower. London, Printed by Thomas Harper, for Michael Young, 1639. 4to.

LOWICK, THOMAS. The History of the Life & Martyrdom of St. George, the Titular Patron of England: With his Conversion of Arabia by killing of a dreadful Dragon, and delivering the Kings Daughter. London, Printed by J. Best for William Crook, at the three Bibles on Fleet-Bridge, 1664. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—H in fours. In verse.

Mr. Corser's copy. The author assigns, as his reason for undertaking the work, that he had read so many lying books of great St. George, which obscured his worth.

LOWTH, ROBERT, Bishop of Oxford. The Life of William of Wykeham, Bishop of Winchester. Collected from Records, Registers, Manuscripts, and other authentic Evidences. The Third Edition Corrected . . . Oxford. 1777. 8vo. With a frontispiece and folding pedigree.

— Lucans Pharsalia : containing The Ciuill Warres betweene Cæsar and Pompey. Written In Latine Heroicall Verse by M. Annævs Lvcansv. Translated into English verse by Sir Arthur Gorges Knight. Whereunto is annexed the life of the Authour, collected out of diuers Authors. Fides fortibus fraus formidolosis. London printed for T. Thorp. 1614. Folio.

A—Qq in sixes, title on A 2.

From the dedication addressed by Carew Gorges to Lucy, Countess of Bedford, it appears that this version of Lucan, the earliest complete one in English, was executed some time before it was committed to the press. Carew Gorges states that he found the MS. lying idly by in his father's study, and obtained his leave to get it printed with the assistance of his schoolmaster. He speaks of her ladyship as an honourable lover and patroness of learning and the Muses, an instinct naturally engrafted in her "by that worthy blood of the Sydneys."

LUCIANUS SAMOSATENUS. ΛΟΥΚΙΑΝΟΥ ΣΑΜΟΣΑΤΕΩΣ ΔΙΑΛΟΓΟΙ. [Colophon.] Εν φλωρεντία . . . 1496. Folio. R.

This is one of the copies to which a Latin title was added at a later date, as described by Brunet. The binding is a specimen of Roger Payne's work.

— Opera [Græcè et Latinè,] J. Benedictvs emendavit. Salmvrii. 1619. 2 vols. 8vo.

— Opera, [Gr. et Lat.] cum notis variorum. Amstelod. 1687. 2 vols. 8vo. R. M.

From the Lamoignon library.

LUCIDAIRE. Le Lucidaire [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Black letter. R. M.

This is the edition of thirty-two leaves, with twenty-eight lines to the page, and is, in M. Brunet's opinion, from one of the Lyonnese presses. An earlier edition gives the following more descriptive title: "Ci commence le liure qui est apelle le liure du lucidaire dun homme qui enseigna a un ieune disciple des oeuvres q̄ Dieu fit, et comment ce monde fut establi, et a quelle fin viendra, commēt il trespasera, comment Adā fut fait et forme, du deluge, de Noe et de ceux qui en descēdirēt, cōme Abrahā, Moÿse, Daud, de la circoncisiō, du batesme et des signes q̄ viendront deuant le iour du iugement, et le fit certain de toutes les choses quil luy demanda."

LUCIFERS LACKY, or, The Devils new Creature. Being The true Character of a dissembling Brownist, whose life is hypocriticall, instructions Schismaticall, thoughts dangerous, Actions malicious, and opinions impious. With the Relation of their repulse from the Parliament house upon Thursday the 4. of December And the reason why Constables had warrants in the City and Liberties of London to take up men to guard the Parliament-house upon Friday the 12. of December, 1641. London, Printed for John Greensmith, 1641. 4to.

Four leaves. The last leaf has only a woodcut with these two lines underneath:

When Women Preach, and Coblers Pray,
The fiends in Hell, make holiday.

From Mr. Daniel's collection.

LUCRETIUS. T. Lucreti [sic] Cari. poetæ philosophici anti-quissimi de rerum natura liber primus incipit fœliciter.

Qui genitus est in Patauia alæ magnæ.

Ab incarnatione christi: Mccclxxxvi

Die uigesimo octauo septembris calen. octobris.

Folio. BR. M.

A—M in eights, the first and last leaves blank.

Second edition. The first was printed about 1473, and is believed to have been executed at Brescia. From so long a period elapsing between the first and second impressions it would appear that the author excited but little interest. Of most of the classic poets the editions followed in much more rapid succession.

— T. Lucretii Cari, libri sex nuper emendati. [Hieronymi Auancii Veronensis ingenio et labore.] [Colophon.] Venetiis, accuratiss. Apud Aldū, mense Decem. M.D. 4to. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, 6 leaves; a—n 6 in eights.

— De Rerum Natura Libri sex cum notis D. Lambini . . . aliorumque curante S. Havercampo . . . Lugd. Bat. 1725. 2 vols. 4to. Large paper. R. M.

LUDOLPHUS DE SUCHEN. Iter ad terram sanctam. [At the end.] Anno dñi M^o cccc^o xxxvi^o Scriptus est presens liber et finitus Sab^o post Juliane vginis & m̄r. 4to.

MS. on paper.

— [On the recto of the second leaf.] De terra sancta et itinere jherosolomitano et de statu eius et alijs mirabilibus que in mari conspicuuntur videlicet mediterraneo. [On folio 34 verso.] Finit feliciter libellus de itinere ad terram sanctam, &c. [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio.

This is the edition of thirty-four leaves, printed with long lines, except the first leaf, which contains the Register. Brunet describes it as having forty-two lines to a full page; but it has really only forty-one lines. It is possible that there are two editions with long lines, one having forty-two and the other forty-one. This is all the more probable as the spelling in the title, as given by Brunet, differs from this copy. Brunet gives “jherosolymitano,” which is quite different from the copy here described. It is attributed to the press of H. Eggesteyn of Strasburg.

— [On the recto of the second leaf.] De terra sancta et itinere iherosolomitano et de statu ei^o et alijs mirabilibus que in mari conspicuuntur videlicet mediteraneo. [On folio 34.] Finit feliciter libellus de itinere ad terram sanctam. [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio. BR. M.

This edition consists also of thirty-four leaves, the first being “Registrū de itinere ad terrā sanctā.” It is printed in double columns, and has forty-two lines to a full page, as stated by Hain, though Brunet describes it as having only forty-one lines. It is no doubt also from the press of H. Eggesteyn of Strasburg.

LUDUS Septem Sapientum, de Astrei regii adolescentis educatione, periculis, liberatione, Insigni Exemplorum amoenitate, Iconumq̄ elegantia illustratus: antehac Latino idiomate in lucem nunquam editus. . . . a, 2 leaves, the title within a woodcut border; A—Rr in fours, the last leaf having the printer's device.

The dedication is addressed to Queen Elizabeth, whose arms are on the reverse of the title.

— A thousand Notable things of sundrie sortes: Whereof some are wonderfull, some strange, some pleasant, diuers necessary, a great sort profitable, and many very precious.

This Booke bewraies that some had rather hide, which whoso buyes, their money is not lost :
 For many a thing therein if truely tride, will gaine much more then twenty such will cost.
 And diuers else great secrets will detect,
 and other more of strange and rare effect.
 It is not made to please some one degree, no, no, nor yet to bring a gaine to few :
 For each thereby, how rich or poore they be,
 may reape much good, and mischiefe great eschew.
 The paines and trauell hitherto is mine, the gaine and pleasure henceforth will be thine.

London, Printed by E. All-de for N. Fosbrooke, by the Assignes of Io: Wright and R. Bird. 1627. 4to. Black letter.

A—Gg in fours.

A curious miscellany of information, collected, as the author's preface states, from Latin writers, from old English written books, and from works in the same language, which had more or less recently appeared. The first edition was without date; but it was licensed to the stationer, whose name it bears, in 1579.

From the collections of Dr. Farmer, Mr. Bindley, and George Steevens.

LUSSAN, RAVENEAU DE. Journal du Voyage fait à la Mer de Sud, avec les Flibustiers de l'Amérique En 1684. & années suivantes. A Paris, Chez Jean Baptiste Coignard, . . . 1690. Sm. 8vo.

— Ain betbüchlin. Der Zehen gepott. Des Glaubens. Des Vatter vnsers. Vnd des Aue Marien. D. Martini Lutheri. Gedruckt im zweyundzweyntzigisten Jar. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts. BR. M.

This beautifully printed volume is attributed by Panzer (Annalen der ältern deutschen Lit., vol. ii., p. 61), to the press of Hans Schonsperger of Augsburg. The type and typographical ornaments are similar to those used in the "Tewrdannckh." Panzer describes this little volume as consisting of twelve sheets (A—M the last leaf blank) but this copy has another piece of eight leaves (the last blank) in exactly the same type, but without date, place, signatures or pagination. The title is "Ain Christliche vorbetrachtung vñ bekantnusz in got. So man will beten das heylige vatervnser. Gezogē ausz den predigē D. Martini Luther zu Wittēberg. Von dem wirdigen Nicolao vonn Amssdorff Licenciaten in deutsch gebracht." The woodcuts in the "Betbüchlin" are quite in the style of Burgkmaier and are probably by him.

— Formula Missæ et communionis pro Ecclesia Vuittembergensî. Wittembergæ. 1523. Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

Twelve leaves.

— Das Tauffbüchlin verteutschet durch Martinum Luther. [O. O. u. F.] 4to. BR. M.

Eight leaves, the last blank. Probably printed at Wittenberg about 1524.

LUTHER, MARTINUS. Etlich Cristlich lider Lobgesang, vñ Psalm, dem rainen wort Gottes gemesz, ausz der heyligē schrift, durch mancherley hochgelerter gemacht, in der Kirchen zu singen, wie es dann zum tayl berayt zu Wittenberg in übung ist. Wittenberg. M.D.[X]XIIII. 4to. R. M.

Twelve leaves.

This is clearly the first issue of the first edition of Luther's Hymn book.

— Etlich Christlich lider Lobgesang Wittenberg M.D.XXIIII. 4to. BL. M.

Twelve leaves.

This is evidently a later issue. The error in the date is corrected, and two psalms which are dated 1523 in the first issue have in this the date of 1524.

— De captivitate Babylonica Ecclesiae. Praelvdivm Martini Lutheri. [Sine loco aut anno.] 4to. A woodcut portrait of Luther at the back of the title.

Folios 1-79, including title.

— Deutsch Catechismus. Gemehret mit einer newen vnterricht vnd vermanung zu der Beicht. . . . [Colophon.] Gedrückt zu Wittenberg durch Georgen Rhaw. 1529. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts. BL. M.

Title, 1 leaf; folios 1-118, and 1 leaf of imprint. The woodcuts are from the designs of Lucas Cranach.

The edition of Erfurt would appear to be earlier than this, as it does not contain the "Vermanung zu der Beicht," which is specially mentioned as added to this edition.

— Die Sieben buss-psalm mit deutscher auszlegung nach dem schriftlichen synne tzu Christi vnd gottes gnaden, neben seyns selben. ware erkenntnisz grundlich gerichtet. A, 2 leaves; B—Cc in sixes; Dd—Ee in fours. The title within a woodcut border.

Edited by Robert Braham, who, in his preface, points out the great inaccuracy of the edition printed by Pynson in 1513. He also speaks very disrespectfully of "the doynge of Wyllyam Caxton in his leawde recueil of Troye," and of the popular tales of "Robyn Hode" and "Beuys of Hampton." This preliminary matter is given at full in "Prefaces, Dedications," &c., 1874.

— The Life and Death of Hector. One, and the First of the most Puissant, Valiant, and Renowned Monarches of the world, called the Nyne worthies. a—h in eights; i—y in sixes and eights alternately; z, 8 leaves, &, 10 leaves, the last blank, except for the printer's device on the verso. This work is preceded by a table, A—C in sixes, on the first leaf of which is a woodcut of arms headed by seven lines of Latin verse.

Following the colophon given above is a new title: "Constitutiones legitime seu legatine regionis Anglicane. . . . Parisiis impressæ. ❖❖❖ in sixes. Then another title: "Legatine seu Constitutiones legitime" within the same woodcut border as that of the "Provinciale," and with the same imprint. This counts A—K 5 in eights.

At the end of this volume is added in MS. "An admonition to suche as intend to marrie," with a table of the prohibited degrees of consanguinity "set forth by Mathewe Archbishop of Cant. 1571."

LYNDSAY, SIR DAVID. The Workes of the Famous, and worthie Knight, Sir David Lindesay of the Movnt, alias Lion, King of Armes. A—F in fours. The last leaf is blank, except a cut of Sir D. Lyndsay on the verso.

Although this piece appears to form a portion of the collected book as printed by Jascuy at Paris, Mr. George Chalmers, in his edition of the poet's writings, 1806, i., 84, seems to consider that it was originally issued by itself as a distinct book, and the signatures being quite distinct, it was probably sold originally as a separate work.

From Mr. George Daniel's library.

— The Historie of ane nobil and wailzeand Squyer, William Meldrum, vmquhyle Laird of Cleische and Bynniss. Compylit be Sir Daid Lyndesay of the Mont, alias, Lyoun, King of Armes. ¶ H ¶ C ¶ The (S) Testament of the said Williame Meldrum Squyer. Compylit alsua be Sir Daid Lyndesay, &c. [Quotation from Cicero and Ovid.] Imprentit at Edinburgh be Henrie Charteris. Anno M.D. XCIII. Cum Priuilegio Regali. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—C in eights ; D, 4 leaves. In verse.

The only other copy known is that in the British Museum. In a copy of Lyndsay's works, printed at Edinburgh in 1592, the "History of Squire Meldrum" is mentioned in the table as forming part of the book ; but the earliest edition known is this of 1594.

LYNDSAY, SIR DAVID. A Dialogue betweene Experience and a Courtier, of the miserable state of the worlde. Compiled in the Scottish tung by Syr Daudid Lindsey Knight, . . . First turned and made perfect Englishe : And now the seconde time corrected and amended according to the first Copie . . . Heerevnto also are annexed certein other works inuented by the sayde Knight, as may more at large appeare in a Table following. Imprinted at London in Paules Churchyarde by Thomas Purfoote. Anno Domini. 1575. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves ; A—T 4 in eights.

The first London edition appeared in 1566. When this was entered at Stationers Hall it was proposed to print the original Scottish version with it, but this, as we see, was not carried out. It had already been licensed to Richard Serle in 1563-4, but if an edition at that date was printed it is no longer known. The entry runs :

"Recevyd of Rychard Scerlle for his lysense for pryntinge of a boke intituled en Diologue betwexe the experyence and a Courtiour of the myserable eastate of the worlde iiii^d."

— A Dialogue betweene Experience and a Courtier.
First turned and made perfect Englishe : And now the seconde time corrected and amended according to the first Copies. . . . Imprinted at London, in Newgate Market within the New Rentes, by Thomas Purfoote, An. Dom. 1581. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Title, preface, and table, 4 leaves ; A—T 4 in eights.

This is an exact reprint of the edition of 1575, even to the words "And now the second time &c." though this is of course the third edition.

LYNN, WISBEACH, &c. The Present State of the Navigation of the Towns of Lyn, Wisbeach, Spalding, and Boston. MAJESTAS INTEMERATA. or, the Immortality of the King. [Three quotations.] Printed in the Year, 1649. Sm. 8vo.

A—G in twelves, title on A 2.

This little volume has been attributed to Cleveland. It has after the title-page a leaf bearing a quotation from Lydgate, like that which occurs before the "Idol of the Clowns," 1654. Both books were printed anonymously, but are included in Cleveland's works, 8vo, 1687. It is, however, doubtful whether either the "Majestas Intemerata" or the "Idol of the Clowns" was really by him. On the title-page of a copy of the "Majestas" is, in fact, written in a contemporary hand, "By Francis White, of Gray's-Inn."

Title and preliminaries, 30 leaves ; A—Oo vii in eights.

There appears to have been no other separate edition of this book, and it is consequently of great rarity. It was not reprinted till 1619, and was then added to the "Refranes o Proverbios" of Hernan Nuñez as a second part. Ticknor speaks of it as "a volume which, notwithstanding its cumbersome learning, can be read with pleasure, both for the style in which many parts of it are written, and for the unusual historical anecdotes with which it abounds." He makes a mistake, however, as to the date of both editions, giving it as 1558 and 1618 instead of 1568 and 1619.

Eight leaves, the last bearing only a fleuron.

[MALBIE, NICHOLAS.] Remedies for the dyseases in Horses. Approoued and allowed by diuers very auncient learned Mareschalls. ¶ Inprinted at London, by Thomas Purfoot. 1594. 4to. Black letter.

A—D 2 in fours. Also a large folding woodcut of a horse surmounted by the arms of the Earl of Leicester, with fourteen lines of verse in a compartment at the foot "To the reader." Dedicated "To the right honourable and his singular good Lord, the Lord Robert Dudlie," in eight seven-line stanzas, signed "Aprill. 1576 Your L. most humble. Thomas Purfoot." This appears to be a book of greater rarity than might be supposed. From the date of the dedication it is probable that the first edition was printed in 1576. In the Stationers' Registers there is an unfortunate hiatus from 1571 to 1577, so that no information can be had from that trustworthy source. Herbert mentions an edition of 1572, but none of 1576, and it is most probable that he is mistaken. As he gives no particulars he probably obtained the title at second-hand and had never seen the book. In the British Museum there is only an imperfect copy, which is bound up with the author's other work, "A plaine and easie way to remedie a Horse that is foundered in his feete." This volume was purchased at the Corser sale, part iv., 465. The metrical dedication to the "Remedies" is bound up after the title to the "Plaine and easie way," and the text of the "Remedies" follows after the four leaves of the "Plaine and easie way." It was this copy which misled Mr. Hazlitt in his description of the "Plaine and easie way," making that work have fourteen leaves instead of four, and describing the "Remedies" as another edition of the "Plaine and easie way," whereas they are entirely different books. In the British Museum are editions of the "Plaine and easie way" of 1576, 1583, and 1594, but except the imperfect copy (apparently of 1583) of the "Remedies" preserved there, no other appears to be on record, besides that of 1594 described above. From Mr. Jolley's collection.

Folios 1-200, including title.

This little volume is dedicated to Cardinal Beaton, the dedication being dated from Paris, 1523, at which place both this and the first edition were probably printed. The work appears to be undescribed by bibliographers.

MANDEVILE, SIR JOHN. Iohannis de monte villa Itinerarium in partes Iherosolimitanas. Et in vltiores transmarinas. [At the end.] Explicit itinerarius domini Iohannis de Montevilla militis. [Sine ulla nota.] 4to. BR. M.

a—c in sixes; d—i in fours and sixes alternately. This appears to be the third edition of the book in Latin. In the Grenville catalogue it is attributed to a Mainz press about 1495.

a, 10 leaves; b—o in eights.

The above title is given on a leaf which precedes A 1, and, consequently, its absence would not create a suspicion that the book was incomplete. Such is, however, the case with the copy in the Grenville library, and that accounts for the fact that so short a description is given in the "Biblioth. Grenv." The present copy has the last leaf in facsimile. It is the first edition of the Italian version of Mandevile's Travels, and is the earliest edition printed with date and place of impression in any language. It is remarkable that two French editions also bear the date of 1480, but neither of these have the place where they were printed, though there is little doubt they were from a Lyons press.

MANDEVILE, SIR JOHN. Questo. Sic. El. Libro. De. Mandavilla. A—F in eights; G, 10 leaves.

— Johannes von Monteulla. Ritter. [Colophon.] Gctruckt zu Straszburg Fohanncs Priïssz. Anno Domini. M.CCCC.lxxiiij. Folio. Woodcuts.

a, b, e, g, i, k, l, m, in eights, and c, d, f, and h, in sixes. By a curious error of the press, the last leaf, which should bear on the verso the 22 concluding lines of the register, has in this copy a repetition of the text and woodcut belonging to the recto of the leaf i 6. The missing lines are replaced on a separate leaf in facsimile.

First edition of this translation. We learn the name of the translator from a passage which precedes the table of chapters at the end. It begins: "Ich Otto von Diemeringen Thuherr zu Metze in Lothringen han dises buch verwandelt ussz Latin vnd welhischer sproch in teutsch." Yet the translation is ascribed to Michelfeld in the Grenville catalogue. This first edition appears to be unknown to bibliographers. Panzer, Hain, Brunet, and Graesse all give 1484 as the date of the earliest impression.

Another German translation by Michelfeld or Michelfelser was printed at Augsburg in 1481, and reprinted in 1482; but the translation of Otto von Diemeringen appears to have superseded it.

The second volume, the materials for which were not known to the editor when he published the first, is a supplement.

MANTUAN, BAPTIST. The Eglogs of the Poet B. Mantuan Carmelitan, Turned into English Verse, & set forth with the Argument to euery Egloge by George Turberuile Gent. Anno. 1567. Imprinted at London in Pater noster Rowe, at the signe of the Marmayde, by Henrie Bynneman. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. BR. M.

A—N in eights, the last leaf blank.

First edition. Dedicated by Turberville to his uncle, Hugh Bamfield, Esquire. N 6 is occupied by the printer's colophon, and N 7 by the errata. From the collections of Mr. Gardner and Mr. Corser.

In 1566-1567 Bynneman paid "for his lycense for pryntinge of the fyrste iij^{or} eggloges of Mantuan &c . . . iij^d," and very shortly afterwards "for his lycense for pryntinge of a boke intituled the Rest of the eggloges of Mantuan . . . iij^d." No separate publication of the book in two parts is now known, and it was probably never so printed.

MANUAL OF PRAYERS. Title, 1 page; dedication to Thomas, Lord Cromwell, by the Bishop of Rochester [Hilsey] and prologue, 2 pages, the first on the back of the title; the calendar, pp. 12; the prologue to the whole work, pp. 3½; then the "Symbol of Athanasius" and the book itself, BB ii—EE ii in fours; A—li in fours; +, 2 leaves; KK—VV in fours. From the library of the Marquis of Hastings.

This first edition of Bp. Hilsey's "Manual of Prayers" is unquestionably a book of the highest rarity. Herbert just gives the title, but had evidently not seen it. There were two other editions of it printed in the same year, but both of them were clearly subsequent to this, as Bp. Hilsey is described on the titles as "late Bishop of Rochester." One of them was an abridged edition for the use of children, and the other was the English only, without the Latin version. Lowndes has evidently copied the title from Herbert, with omissions. The three statements he makes respecting the book are entirely wrong. 1st. The observation he attributes to Herbert belongs to the edition in English only. 2ndly. The reference to Heber's catalogue does not apply to this edition. 3rdly. Not this edition, but the one with English only, was reprinted by Dr. Burton. There is no copy of this edition in the British Museum, but there is one of the edition reprinted by Dr. Burton. The imprint of that is, "Imprinted in Botolph lane, at the sygne of the whyt beare, by me Jhon Mayler, for Jhon Waylande: and be to sell in powles church yarde, by Andrew Hester, also at the whyt horse, & Michel Loble, at the sygne of saynt Mychell."

Dedicated to Charles, Earl of Nottingham. Lord Nottingham was Constable of Windsor Forest, and Chief Justice and Justice in Eyre of all the Forests, &c., south of Trent. The treatise, "What Purlieu, or rather, Pourallee is," begins on p. 127.

MAP OF MISCHIEF. A Mappe of Mischiefe, or a Dialogue Betweene V.[nited Provinces?] and E.[ngland] concerning the going of Qu.[een] M.[ary] into V.[nited Provinces.] V. much lamenteth therefore, and if not comforted by E.[ngland.] Printed in the yeare of deliverance, 1641. 4to.

Four leaves. In prose.

This tract refers to the unpopular journey of Queen Henrietta Maria into Holland in 1641. England concludes by exhorting V. to be jolly, whereupon the latter rejoins:—

"It's a folly to be jolly,
When wee should be melancholly."

¶, 4 leaves, the first blank ; A—T in fours, the last leaf blank.

In prose, although in the dedication to the Prince the author calls it a "Marriage Song." There is a beautifully engraved frontispiece, containing full-length portraits of Charles and his bride in the centre, under a triumphal arch, emblematically decorated and surrounded by shields of arms and genealogies. Below the portraits is inscribed on a tablet : "Epithalamium Gallo-Britannicum. or a Discourse of the Mariage betwixt England and France. With the true pourtratures of the Most Illustrious Princes . . ." and at the foot are some verses and the publisher's imprint : "Are to be sold by Thomas Archer . . ."

Black letter. R. M.*

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves. The text begins on the ninth leaf, which is enclosed in a woodcut border of very fine design. This leaf has neither folio nor signature, but the following leaf has folio ii. and sig. a ii. The text ends on the recto of folio xcviij., and on the verso of the same leaf is a large woodcut of the printer's mark with the colophon beneath.

The first part of the title given by Brunet is merely made up, and forms no part of the real title of the book.

Very large and fine copy.

MARCO POLO. La Description géographique des provinces & villes plus fameuses de l'Inde Orientale, meurs, loix, & coustumes des habitans d'icelles, mesmement de ce qui est soubz la domination du grand Cham Empereur des Tartares. A Paris, pour Vincent Sertenas. 1556. 4to. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, 10 leaves; folios 1-123, and 1 leaf with the printer's device.

A—C in fours. With Pynson's device on the verso of the last leaf. In verse.

The title given above is over a large woodcut of the saint accompanied by a lion, which occupies the remainder of the page and is repeated on the back.

The only copy known. From the libraries of Dr. Bliss and Mr. Corser. In the Bodleian there is a fragment.

Dr. Bliss was fortunate enough to discover this unique poetical tract at Taunton in 1834.

— La vie de madame sainte Marguerite vierge & martyre avec son antienne et oraison. [Colophon.] Imprime a paris pour Symon Troude [vers 1500]. 8vo. Black letter. G. M.

From the collection of Armand Bertin. This edition is not cited by Brunet. It consists of eight leaves, thirty-four lines to the page. On the verso of the last leaf is a large woodcut of the Crucifixion.

MARGARET, SAINT. La vie de madame sainte Marguerite, vierge & martyre. Avec son Antienne & Oraison. [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Black letter. BR. M.

Six leaves, with thirty-two lines to the page.
This edition is also undescribed by Brunet.

Forty-nine leaves, including title.

From the manner in which Brunet describes the book, it appears probable that the copy he had seen wanted the title.

MARINEUS SICULUS, LUCIUS. Svmario de la clarissima vida: y heroycos hechos de los catholicos reyes don Fernãdo y doña Ysabel de immortal memoria: Sacado dela obra grande delas cosas memorables d' España. An arte neuer heeretofore written by any Authour. . . . At London, Printed by I. C. for Richard Smith, and are to be sold at his shoppe at the West-doore of Poules. Anno Dom. 1593. 4to. Woodcuts. Black letter.

¶, 2 leaves; A—L in fours.

First edition. The only copy known, and the earliest publication by Markham at present ascertained to exist, his "Thyrsis and Daphne" not having been recovered. The tract is dedicated "To the Right worshipfull and his singuler good Father, Ma. Robert Markham, of Cotham in the County of Nottingham, Esquire." In a short address to the Gentlemen Readers, which follows, Markham remarks: "The winde (Gentlemen) standing in the mouth of my Caue, hath blowne my loose papers into the world, and canonized mee as foolish in Poules Church-yard —."

— The Teares of the Beloved: Or, The Lamentation of Saint Iohn. Concerning the death and passion of Christ Iesus our Saniour.

By I. M. Imprinted at London by Simon Stafford: and are to be sold by Iohn Browne, at the signe of the Bible in Fleete-streete. 1600. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—F 2 in fours. In six-line stanzas.

The Heber copy. Markham's initials only occur at the foot of the Epistle to the Christian Reader, but the tract has usually been attributed to his pen.

MARKHAM, GERVASE. The English Hvsbandman. The first Part: Contayning the Knowledge of the true Nature of euery Soyle within this Kingdome: how to Plow it . . . Together with the Art of Planting, Grafting, and Gardening after our latest and rarest fashion. A worke neuer written before by any Author: and now newly compiled for the benefit of this Kingdome. Woodcuts.*

¶, 2 leaves; A—I in fours; B—S 2 in fours. Then comes a new title: "The Second Booke of the English Husbandman. Contayning the Ordering of the Kitchin-Garden, and the Planting of Strange Flowers: the breeding of all manner of Cattell. . . . Wherevnto is added a Treatise, called Good mens Recreation: Contayning a Discourse of the generall Art of Fishing with the Angle, and otherwise; and of all the hidden secrets belonging thereunto. Together with the Choyce, Ordering, Breeding and Dyeting of the fighting Cocke. A Worke neuer written before by any Author. By G. M. London: Printed by T. S. for Iohn Browne . . . 1614." A, 4 leaves, title on A 2; (A), 4 leaves; B—O in fours. Then follows a third title: "The Pleasvres of Princes, or Good mens Recreations." . . . A—G 3 in fours.

— The Second and Last Part of the First Booke of the English Arcadia. Making a compleate end of the first History: Full of various deceptions, and much Interchangeable matter of wit. Amant alterna Camenæ. By G. M. London. Printed by Nicholas Okes for Thomas Saunders, and are to be sold at his Shop in Holborne at the Signe of the Mer-maid. 1613. 4to. O. M.

A—Q in fours, title on A 2.

Dedicated by Markham "To his Deere and most respected Friend, Maister Francis Darlow, of Graies-Inne Esquire."

This copy, from the collections of Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun and Mr. Corser, is the only one known. It was written, as appears from the title, with a view of supplying an imperfection in the thread of Sydney's narrative.

— Cavalarice, Or the English Horseman: Contayning all the Art of Horse-manship, asmuch as is necessary for any man to vnderstand, whether hee be Horse-breeder, horse-ryder, horse-hunter, horse-runner, horse-ambler, horse-farrier, horse-keeper, Coachman, Smith, or Sadler. A, 2 leaves. A 2 is occupied by the Prologue and "The Printers Epigrammaticall Epistle, to the vnderstanding Readers ;" B—L in fours.

This drama was assigned over to Francis Smith, 9th May, 1633, being then described as the unassisted production of Markham ; but no other edition than that of 1622 seems to have occurred. See Arber, iv., 269. Smith assigned it again to Thomas Lambert on the 3rd of August following.

— Honovr in his Perfection : Or, A Treatise in Commendations of the Vertues and Renowned Vertuous vndertakings of the Illustrious and Heroyicall Princes Henry Earle of Oxenford. Henry Earle of Southampton. Robert Earle of Essex, and the euer praise-worthy and much honoured Lord, Robert Bartve, Lord Willoughby of Eresby . . . *London, Printed by B. A—F in fours.

Dedicated by Markham to the houses of Oxford, Southampton, Essex, and Willoughby. From the collection of Mr. Corser, who notes : "There is a long note on this book in the Nassau catalogue."

— Vox Militis: Foresheving what Perils are procvred where the people of this, or any other kingdome liue without regard of Marshall discipline, . . . Diuided into two parts, the first manifesting for what causes Princes may enter into warre, and how necessary and vsuall it is, drawne from the actions of the Prince of Orange. The second discourseth of warre, souldiers, and the time when it is conuenient : collected out of the heroicall examples of Count Mansfield Printed at London by B. A. for Thomas Archer . . . 1625. 4to.

A—I in fours, the last two leaves blank.

This is no more than Rich's "Alarm to England," 1578, republished by Markham, with new preliminary matter, and four and a half pages of verse, all mention of the original writer being suppressed.

MARKHAM, GERVASE. The Art of Archerie. Shewing how it is most necessary in these times for this Kingdome, both in Peace and War, and how it may be done without charge to the Country, trouble to the People, or any hinderance to necessary Occasions. 102 plates, including the frontispieces.

The original edition, of which a limited number was printed for presents only. Many copies of the book have been put in circulation of late years, with very inferior impressions of the plates.

MARLOWE, CHRISTOPHER. The troublesome raigne and lamentable death of Edward the second, King of England: with the tragicall fall of proud Mortimer. And also the life and death of Peirs Gaueston, the great Earle of Cornewall, and mighty fauorite of King Edward the second, as it was publiquely acted by the right honorable the Earle of Pembroke his seruants. Written by Christopher Marlow Gent. Printed at London for Roger Barnes, and are to be sould at his Shop in Chauncerie Lane ouer against the Rolles. 1612. 4to.

A—K 2 in fours.

This is the third known impression of the play. It was originally licensed in 1593, and printed in 1594. A copy of that edition, unknown to all Marlowe's editors and to all bibliographers, was discovered in 1876 in the Landerbibliothek at Cassel. The title of this new discovery is: "The troublesome/ raigne and lamentable death of/ Edward the second, King of England: with the Tragical fall of proud Mortimer/ As it was svndrie times publiquely acted/ in the honourable citie of London, by the right honourable the Earl of Pem/brooke his servants./ written by Chri. Marlow Gent./ Imprinted at London for William Iones, dwelling neere Hotbourne conduit, at the/ signe of the Gunne. 1594." 8vo. 92 leaves, including the title. A second edition was printed in 1598, and this was the earliest known to Mr. Dyce. Lowndes refers to an edition of 1604, but it is doubtful if it exists.

— The Troublesome Raigne and Lamentable death of Edward the second, King of England: London, Printed for Henry Bell, and are to be sold at his Shop, at the Lame-Hospitall Gate, neere Smithfield, 1622. 4to.

London; Printed by N. and I. Okes, and are to be sold by H. Sheppard, at his shop in Chancery lane neere Serjants Inne, at the Bible. 1637. 4to.

A—M i in fours, including the engraved title.

In a copy of this book sold in 1817 the date on the engraved title (the printed one being deficient) was altered with a pen to 1638, a circumstance which led to the erroneous supposition that there were two quarto editions. In the reprint of this poem by Singer some passages are omitted. The engraved title runs: "Cvpid and Psiche or an Epick Poem of Cupid and his Mistress. As it was lately presented to the Prince Elector. Written by Shakerly Marmion. Principibus placuisse Viris non Vltima laus est. London. Printed by Iohn Okes for H: Sheppard 1637."

mony. Written by A. Marsh, Typogr. London printed in the year, 1682. Sm. 8vo. Plates.

Engraved title, 1 leaf; letterpress title, 1 leaf; pp. 1-218. Ten plates.

MARSH, A. The confession of the new married couple, being the second part of the ten pleasures of marriage. Relating the further delights and contentments that ly mask'd under the bands of wedlock. Written by A. Marsh. Typogr. London, printed in the year 1683. Sm. 8vo. Plates.

Engraved title, 1 leaf; letterpress title, 1 leaf; "To the reader," 1 leaf; pp. 7-214. Ten plates. One leaf is supplied in facsimile from the copy in the Bodleian library.

With the exception of the entry in the Bodleian catalogue, these two books are believed to be entirely undescribed, and the author to be altogether unknown. Though the titles set out very clearly that they are printed in London, there is every reason to believe that they were really printed in Holland, both from the appearance of the type and the plates. The former is unquestionably of foreign manufacture, and the latter are much better engraved than would be the case if they were of English execution. The costumes of the figures are entirely Dutch, while the style of the interiors and exteriors of the houses are such as one may see even yet in Amsterdam. That two books so likely to become popular should have disappeared from circulation is most curious and difficult to be accounted for. They present a most graphic and entertaining picture of English middle-class life in the seventeenth century, and are written with considerable humour and spirit. It might be supposed that they were translations or adaptations of the French book entitled "Les quinze joyes de mariage," but such is certainly not the case, nor do they appear to be drawn from any Dutch original.

A copy is in Lambeth library. The present was purchased by Mr. Corser, at Mr. Bright's sale, in 1845, and is said by Lowndes to have been acquired by Mr. Bright at a sale at Evans's, in March, 1841. No others are at present known. Dedicated to George Wharton, Esq.

MARSTON, JOHN. The Scovrge of Villanie. Three Bookes of Satyres. Persevs. Nec scompros metuentia carmina, nec thus. At London, Printed by I. R. and are to be sold by Iohn Buzbie, in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Crane. 1598. Sm. sqr. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves, the first blank; B—I 4 in eights, the last leaf blank.

First edition. The word "scompros" in the quotation on the title is evidently a misprint for "scombros." From the collections of Sir W. Bolland and Mr. Corser.

MARSTON, JOHN. Antonios Reuenge. The second part. As it hath beene sundry times acted, by the children of Paules. Written by I. M. London Printed for Thomas Fisher, and are to be sould in Saint Dunstons Church-yard. 1602. 4to. G. M.

A—I in fours.

The dedication to Ben Jonson, which is retained in this edition, occurs on the back of the title in the following terms: "Beniamini Ionsonio Poetæ Elegantissimo Gravissimo Amico svo Candido et Cordato, Iohannes Marston Mvsarvm Alvmnvs Asperam hanc svam Thaliã D.D."

— Parisitaster, or The Fawne, As it hath bene divers times presented at the blacke Friars, by the Children of the Queenes Maiesties Reuels. Written By Iohn Marston. At London Printed by T. P. for W. C. 1606. 4to. The edges uncut. G. M.

A—I in fours.

First edition. The only introductory matter is an address by the author "To my equall Reader," in which he refers to certain competitors for the public favour in the following terms: "As for the factious malice, and studied detractions of some few that tread in the same path with me, let all know, I most easily neglect them, and (carelesly slumbring in their vitious endeuours) smile hartily at their selfe-hurting basenesse."

— Parasitaster, or the Fawne, As it hath been divers times presented at the blacke Friars, by the Children of the Queenes Maiesties Reuels, and since at Powles. Written by Iohn Marston. And now corrected of many faults, which by reason of the Authors absence, were let slip in the first edition. At London Printed by T. P. for W. C. 1606. 4to.

a—f in eights.

The earliest edition of this book known to Brunet was that of Turin, 1508, which he calls "Édition peu connue." Dr. Graesse quotes the title of an edition printed at Parma in 1494; but as he gives no particulars of it, he had probably merely found the title in a catalogue. This edition of 1490 appears to be quite undescribed hitherto.

MARTIALIS, MARCUS VALERIUS. [Epigrammatum libri xv.] [Sine ullâ notâ.] 4to. BR. M.

MARTIN MAR-PRELATE. Oh read ouer D. John Bridges, for it is a worthy worke: Or an epitome of the fyrste Booke, of that right worshipfull volume, written against the Puritanes, in the defence of the noble cleargie, by as worshipfull a prieste, John Bridges, Presbyter, Priest or elder, doctor of Diuinitie, and Deane of Sarum. . . . Compiled for the behoofe and ouerthrow of the Parsons, Fyckers, and Currats, that have lernt their Catechismes, and are past grace: By the reuerend and worthie Martin Marprelate gentleman, and dedicated to the Confocationhouse. The Epitome is not yet published, but it shall be when the Bishops are at conuenient leysure to view the same. . . . Printed oversea, in Europe, within two furlongs of a Bouncing Priest, at the cost and charges of M. Marprelate, gentleman. [1588.] 4to. Black letter.

— Oh read ouer D. John Bridges Compiled for the behoofe and ouerthrow of the vnpreaching Parsons, Fyckers, and Currats, . . . dedicated by a second Epistle to the Terrible Priests. In this Epitome, the foresaide Fickers, &c. are very insufficiently furnished, with notable inability of most vincible reasons, to answere the cauill of the puritanes Printed on the other hand of some of the Priests. [1588.] 4to. Black letter.

A, 2 leaves; B—G 2 in fours, the last leaf blank.

This is the "Epitome" promised in the preceding tract. There is a satirical list of errata on the verso of G i. From Mr. Maskell's collection.

— Hay any worke for Cooper: Or a briefe Pistle directed by waye of an publication to the reverende Byshopps, counselling them, if they will needs be barrellled vp, for feare of smelling in the nostrils of her Maiestie & the State, that they would vse the aduise of reuerend Martin, for the prouiding of their Cooper. Because the reuerend T. C. (by which misticall letters, is vnderstood, eyther the bouncing Parson of Eastmeane, or Tom Coakes his Chaplaine) to bee an vn-skilfull and a deceytfull tubtrimmer. . . . Penned and compiled by Martin the Metropolitan. Printed in Europe, not farre from some of the Bouncing Pricstes. 4to. Black letter.

This, in common with the greater part, if not the whole, of the Martin Marprelate series, was probably printed in England, the press being shifted from place to place, as circumstances required. See Herbert's Ames, p. 1689.

— The Protestatyon of Martin Marprelat. Wherin notwithstanding the surprising of the printer, he maketh it known vnto the world that he feareth, neither proud priest, Antichristian pope, tiranous prellate, nor godlesse catercap: but defiethe all the race of them by these presents and offereth conditionally, as is farther expressed here, by open disputation to appear in the defence of his cause against them and theirs. Which challenge if they dare not maintain against him: then doth he also publish that he never meaneth by the assistance of God to leave the assaying of them and their generation, until they be utterly extinguished out of our church. Published by the worthy gentleman D. Martin Marprelate D. in all the faculties primat and metropolitan. [No place, printer's name, or date.] Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

From Mr. Maskell's collection. The tract concludes with a table of errata, in which Dr. Bullen, Dean of Lichfield, is attacked in a humorous manner.

MARTIN MAR-PRELATE. Theses Martinianae: That is, Certain demonstrative Conclusions, sette downe and collected (as it should seeme) by that famous and renowned Clarke, the reverend Martin Marprelate the great: serving as a manifest and sufficient confutation of all that ever the Colledge of Catercaps with their whole band of Clergie-priests, have, or can bring for the defence of their ambitious and Antichristian Prelacie. Published and set forth as an after-birth of the noble Gentleman himselfe, by a pretty stripling of his, Martin Iunior, and dedicated by him to his good neame and nuncka, Maister Iohn Kankerbury: How the yongman came by them, the Reader shall understand sufficiently in the Epilogue. In the meane time, whosoever can bring mee acquainted with my father, Ile bee bound hee shall not loose his labour. Printed by the assignes of Martin Iunior, without any privilege of the Cater-caps. [1589.] Sm. 8vo. Dedicated "To the Father and the two Sonnes, Huffe, Ruffe, and Snuffe, the three tame ruffians of the Church, which take pepper in the nose, because they can not marre Prelate's grating." "To take pepper in the nose" signified to pocket an affront. The dedication is signed: "Yours at an houres warning Double V."

There are very curious allusions in this tract. On B 3 recto the author says: "Now you put me in minde of the matter, there is a booke coming out of a hundred merrie tales," and on C 3 recto he mentions "Stans puer ad mensam," Æsop's "Fables," the lost school-book called "Pueriles," "A. B. C.," "the Horne-booke," the games of Irish and Primero, tobacco, besides several rare proverbs. At sig. D i recto the author says: "let mee stroake my beard thrice like a Germain, before I speak a wisc word." At sig. D 2 verso, there is a singular passage: "Sed heus tu, dic sodes, will they not bee discouraged for the common players? Would those Comedies might be allowed to be plaid that are pend, and then I am sure he [Martin] would be decyphered, and so perhaps discouraged." A little further on there is a still more remarkable paragraph: "A stage plaier, though he bee but a cobler by occupation, yet his chance may bee to play the Kings part." On sig. E 2 is a reference to "Dr. Bullen's dogge Spring."

MARTIN MAR-PRELATE. Martins Months minde, that is, A certaine report, and true description of the Death, and Funeralls, of olde Martin Marre-prelate, the great makebate of England, and father of the Factious. Contayning the cause of his death, the manner of his buriall, and the right copies both of his Will, and of such Epitaphs, as by sundrie his dearest friends, and other of his well-willers, were framed for him.

Title, dedication to King Philip and Queen Mary (in Latin) by Eden, table, &c., a—b in fours; preface by Eden, a—d in fours; the work A—AAAAA in fours, with the exception that there is an extra leaf, liii ij, and that the last signature has six leaves.

The extra leaf above-mentioned contains "The coppie of the Duke of Moscouie and Emperour of Russia his letters sent to Kinge Edwarde the Syxte." This work embraces, besides the account of the West Indies, narratives of travels in Russia, China, Africa, &c., with notices of the products of various regions. In his dedication to Philip and Mary, Eden refers to the splendid solemnities with which their entry into London was celebrated. See Herbert's Ames, 738.

MARTYR, PETER. The History of Trauayle in the West and East Indies, and other countreys lying eyther way, towards the fruitfull and ryche Molluccaes. As Moscouia, Persia, Arabia, Syria, Ægypte, Ethiopia, Guinea, China in Cathayo, and Giapan: With a discourse of the Northwest passage. . . . Gathered in parte, and done into Englyshe by Richarde Eden. Newly set in order, augmented, and finished by Richarde Willes. Imprinted at London by Richarde Iugge. 1577. Cum Priuilegio. 4to. Black letter.

Title and preliminaries, 10 leaves; A and B, 4 leaves each; C—Ooo in eights.

This is in fact a new edition of the preceding work. It is dedicated, by R. Willes, to "The Lady Brigit, Countesse of Bedforde, my singuler good Lady and Mystresse," in an epistle of ten pages, in which he recounts and describes Eden's labours in the edition of 1555 and his own amendment of them in this republication. The next three leaves are occupied by "R. Willes Preface vnto the Reader," in which he again describes the contents of the work. At the end of it he says, "Many of his Englyshe woordes cannot be excused in my opinion for smellyng to much of the Latine."

From a careful comparison of this edition with that of 1555 it would appear, however, that Eden himself rearranged the work, and Willes was merely the editor after his death, which does not seem to have happened till 1576. The long and interesting preface addressed to the reader which is in the edition of 1555, is here suppressed, and the principal additions consist of "The Nauigation and voyages of Lewes Vertomannus Translated out of Latine into Englyshe, by Richarde Eden. In the year of our Lord. 1576." "The Voyages of the Spanyards round about the worlde," translated from "Il viaggio fatti dagli Spagnivoli attorno a'l Mondo," and "An Abridgement of P. Martyr his 5. 6. 7. and 8. Decades." "Lewes Vertomannus" is, of course, L. de Varthema, and "The Voyages of the Spanyards" are the relations of Maximilianus Transylvanus and Ant. Pigafetta.

— De Nouo Orbe, or The Historie of the west Indies, Contayning the actes and aduentures of the Spanyardes, which haue conquered and peopled those Countries, inriched with varietie of pleasant relation of the Manners, Ceremonies, Lawes, Governments, and Warres of the Indians. Lok Gent. In the handes of the Lord are all the corners of the earth. Psal. 95. London Printed for Thomas Adams. 1612. 4to. BR. M.

A, 4 leaves, the first bearing only the sig. A; B—Ss in eights.

Dedicated by Michael Lok to Sir Julius Cæsar, Chancellor of the Exchequer. This is the first complete edition of the eight decades in English.

MARTYR, PETER. The Historie of the West-Indies, Containing the Acts and Adventures of the Spaniards, which have conquered and peopled those Countries, enriched with varietie of pleasant relation of the Manners, Ceremonies, Lawes, Governments, and Warres of the Indians. Published in Latin by Mr. Hakluyt, and translated into English by M. Lok. Gent. . . . London, Printed for Andrew Hebb, and are to be sold at the signe of the Bell in Pauls Church-yard. [n. d.] 4to. R. M.

Title, and B—Ss in eights.

This edition is in all respects the same as that of 1612, except that a new and differing title was given to it, and the dedication to Sir Julius Cæsar suppressed in most copies.

Though the whole work is, according to the title, "translated into English by M. Lok," the first three Decades are an exact reprint of R. Eden's translation.

— Libro primo della historia del' Indie Occidentali. [On the verso of this title:] Summario de la generale historia del' Indie occidentali cavato da libri scritti dal Signor Don Pietro Martyre del Consiglio delle Indie della Maesta de l'Imperadore et da molte altre particolari relationi. Libro secondo delle Indie occidentali M D XXX IIII. Con gratia & priuilegio. [On the verso of this title:] Summario de la naturale et general historia de l'Indie occidentali, composta da Gonzalo ferdinando del Ouiedo, altrimenti di valde natio de la terra di Madril: habitatore & rettore de la citta di santa Maria antica del Darien, in terra ferma de l'indie: il qual fu riueduto & corretto per ordine de la Maesta del Imperadore, pel suo real consiglio, de le dette Indie. & tradotto di lingua castigliana in Italiana. Cō priuilegio de la Illustris. Signoria di Vinegia per ani xx. [Colophon.] Stampato in Vinegia, nel mese di Decembre, Del. 1534. Libro ultimo del summario delle Indie Occidentali MDXXXIIII. [Colophon.] In Vinegia, Del mese d'Ottobre. MDXXXIIII. 4to. Woodcuts. R. M.

Part 1. A—V in fours, the last leaf blank. Part 2. A—Q in fours; table and a leaf containing the colophon and a description of the two maps, together 2 leaves.

Part 3. A—D iii in fours. At the end of part 1 is a woodcut map of "Isola Spagnuola," and between parts 2 and 3 is a large folded map, "La carta uniuersale della terra ferma & Isole delle Indie occidētali, cioè del mondo nuouo fatta per dichiaratione delli libri delle Indie, cauata da due carte da nauicare fatte in Sibilia da li piloti della Maiesta Cesarea." Of this map not more than two or three original copies are known. That in the copy here described is a facsimile by Harris. M. Brunet was quite unaware of the existence of it, and mentions only the smaller map of "Isola Spagnuola."

The first part appears to be principally taken from the "Decades" of Peter Martyr. The second from the work of Oviedo, printed at Toledo in 1526, and the third is a translation with additions of the anonymous work, "La conquista del Peru," printed at Seville in 1534, and consisting of eight leaves. It has been sometimes erroneously described as a translation of Francisco Xeres' "Verdadera relacion de la conquista del Peru," also printed at Seville in 1534, but consisting of eighteen leaves.

MARTYR, PETER. De nvper svb D. Carolo repertis Insulis, simulq̄ incolarum moribus, R. Petri Martyris, Enchiridion, Dominæ Margaritæ, Diui Max. Cæs. filiæ dicatum. Basilea, M.D.XXI. 4to. BL. M.
A—D in fours; E, 6 leaves.

MARTYROLOGY. The Martiloge in englysshe after the vse of the chirche of salisbury/ & as it is redde in Syon/ with addicyons. [Colophon.] Thus endeth the Martiloge with the Addicyons. Imprinted at London in Fletestrete at the sygne of the sonne| by Wynkyn de worde. The yere of our lorde god. M. CCCC.xxvj. the xv. daye of February. 4to. Black letter. BR. M.

Title over a large woodcut of St. Bridget, 1 leaf; address by the translator, Richard Whitford, to the readers, 1 leaf; a—z in fours; æ, 4 leaves; ʒ, 4 leaves; aa—ii in fours, and kk, 6 leaves, making in all 144 leaves, not 154, as stated by Lowndes. The printer's device is on the last page, while the preceding one has merely the colophon at the top, the rest blank. The copy described by Maitland, p. 188, evidently wants the first and second leaves.

MARVELL, ANDREW. Miscellaneous Poems. By Andrew Marvell, Esq; Late Member of the Honourable House of Commons. London, Printed for Robert Boulter, at the Turks-Head in Cornhill. 1681. Folio. Portrait.

Title and To the Reader, 2 leaves; B—C, 2 leaves each; D—Q in fours; R—S, 1 leaf each; T 2 (no Ti)—4, 3 leaves; U—X, 1 leaf each.

There are no pp. 117-30. In the preface the poet's widow certifies to the genuineness of all the pieces here printed.

MARY, QUEEN OF ENGLAND. Copia delle lettere del Sereniss. Re d'Inghilterra, & del Reuerendiss. Card. Polo Legato della S. Sede Apostolica alla Santità di N. S. Iulio Papa III. sopra la riduzione di q̄l Regno alla vnione della Santa Madre Chiesa, & obediienza della Sede Apostolica. In Roma per Valerio, & Luigi Dorici. [1554.] 4to.

Six leaves. This is evidently the first edition. In the Grenville Library are two other editions, one printed at Milan and the other without place of printing.

MARY, QUEEN OF ENGLAND. Coronatione de la Serenissima Reina Maria d'Inghilterra fatta il di primo d'Ottobre. MD.LIIII. [Senz' alcuna data.] 4to.

Four leaves.

— Il Felicissimo Ritorno del Regno d'Inghilterra alla Catholica Vnione, & alla obedientia della Sede Apostolica. [Senz' alcuna data.] 4to.

Eight leaves. This appears to be the first edition. On the last leaf is a cut of the Papal arms with "Con gratia et privilegio" beneath. The edition in the Grenville Library was printed at Milan.

— L'Allegrezza publica, et ringratiamenti fatti a Dio dalla Santità di N. S. Iulio Papa III. et dal sacro Collegio, & da tutto il popolo di Roma, per il felicissimo ritorno del Regno d'Inghilterra alla catholica vnione, & alla obedientia della Sede Apostolica. [Senz' alcuna data.] 4to.

Eight leaves. Probably printed at London about 1572.

MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS. A discourse touching the pretended match betweene the Duke of Norfolke and the Queene of Scottes. [No place or date.] Sm. 8vo.

Eight leaves, the first and last blank. Probably printed at London about 1572.

— L'Innocence de la tresillustre, tres-chaste, et debonnaire Princesse, Madame Marie Roync d'Escosse. Ou sont amplement refutées les calomnies faulces, & impositions iniques, publiées par un liure secrettement diuulgué en France, l'an 1572. touchant tant la mort du Seigneur d'Arley son espoux, que autres crimes, dont elle est faulcment accusée. Plus, vn autre discours auquel sont descouuertes plusieurs trahisons tant manifestes, que iusques icy, cachées, perpetrées par les mesmes calomnieateurs. Imprimé l'an 1572. 8vo. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, 20 leaves; A—M in eights; N, 4 leaves; no sig. O; P—Z in eights; Aa, 6 leaves, and 2 leaves of errata.

This reply to Buchanan's violent attack on Mary Queen of Scots is attributed by Barbier to François de Belleforest.

— Discours de la mort de [Tres-hute & tres-ilustre Princesse Madame Marie Stouard, Roync d'Ecosse. Faict le dixhuictiesme iour de Feurier 1587. [s. l. n. d.] Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

Four leaves. There is no regular title-page.

This piece appears to be unknown to bibliographers. It was probably printed in Paris from a private letter sent thither immediately after the execution of the Queen.

— Mariae Stvartae Scotorvm Reginæ, Principis Catholicae, nuper ab Elizabetha Regina, et ordinibus Angliae, post nouendecim annorum captiuitatem in arce Fodringhaye interfectæ Supplicium & Mors pro fide Catholicæ constantissima Coloniae, Apud Godefridum Kempensem. Anno M.D.LXXXVII. Sm. 8vo.

A—D in eights.

MARYLAND. A Relation of Maryland; Together, With A Map of the Countrey, The Conditions of Plantation, His Majesties Charter to the Lord Baltemore, translated into English. *These Bookes are to bee had, at Master William Peasley Esq; his house, on the back-side of Drury-Lane, neere the Cock-pit Playhouse; or in his absence, at Master John Morgans house in high Holbourne, over against the Dolphin, London. A—H 2 in fours, the first leaf blank; the "Charter," A 2—D 1 in fours. With a map engraved by T. Cecill, and headed "Nova Terræ-Mariæ tabula."

The map is frequently wanting. In the copy belonging to Mr. G. Chalmers was the following MS. note by Dr. Lort: "In the great cause concerning the Limits of Pensylvania and Maryland, depending for many years between the Proprietor Mr. Penn and Lord Baltimore, this book (a Copy of which could only be found in the library of Sir Hans Sloane) was produced in the Court of Chancery and allowed in Evidence, proper care being taken to prove it genuine, &c.' The case was decided in favour of Penn about 1750. See the Interesting Note."—Note in G. Chalmers's Catalogue.

Engraved title, printed title, and preliminaries, 13 leaves; pp. 1-356 and five portraits.

There is in the library a second copy which has a different dedication.

MASON, ROBERT. Reasons Academie. Set forth by Robert Mason of Lincolns Inne, Gent. Vitet censura furorem. London. Imprinted by Tho. Creede, for Iohn Browne, and are to be solde at his shop in S. Dunstons Church-yard in Fleet-street. 1605. Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—H in eights, last leaf blank. With a folding table.

A beautiful copy of a most rare volume, in the old vellum cover. Dedicated to Sir John Popham. At the end is "Reasons Moane," occupying three leaves, and written in six-line stanzas. These verses were not by Mason, but by Sir John Davies.

MASQUE. The King and Queenes Entertainment at Richmond. After their Departvre from Oxford: In a Masque, presented by the most Illustrious Prince, Prince Charles Sept. 12. 1636. . . . Oxford Printed by Leonard Lichfield. 1636. 4to.

A—D in fours.

We learn from the preface that the occasion of this masque was the Queen's desire of seeing the Prince dance, who was then not much above six years old. The dances were composed by Simon Hopper, the music by Charles Colman.

The piece is probably the only early production written in the dialect of Wiltshire. It says in the preface that "because most of the Interlocutors were Wiltshire men, that country dialect was chosen."

MASS. A plaine and godlye treatise, concernynge the Masse & the blessed Sacrament of the Aulter, for the instruccion of the symple and vnlernd people. [London, About 1554.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. BR. M.

 Philip Knyvet, Knight and Baronet. And to Sir Thomas Ieay, Knight. And Thomas Bellingham of Newtimber in Sussex Esquire." The names of John Lowin and the other original performers in the drama, with the parts cast to each, are given on the back of the title.

There are complimentary verses by Thomas May, John Ford, Joseph Taylor (the celebrated actor), and others.

— The Renegado, a Tragæcomédie. As it hath beene often acted by the Queenes Maiesties seruants, at the priuate Play-house in Drurye-Lane. By Philip Massinger. London, Printed by A. M. for London, Printed by John Norton, for Francis Constable, and are to be sold at his shop at the Crane, in Pauls Church-yard. 1632. 4to.

A, 2 leaves, with the title and songs; B—L in fours.

Field is supposed to have co-operated with Massinger in writing this play before the year 1623; and Mr. Collier is of opinion, judging from the character of Field's unassisted dramatic labours, that he was capable of contributing to the work in a more important degree than Gifford had been willing to allow.

MASSINGER, PHILIP. The Maid of Honovr. As it hath beene often presented with good allowance at the Phoenix in Drvrie-Lane, by the Queenes Majesties Servants. Written by Philip Massinger. London, Printed by I. B. for Robert Allot, and are to be sold at his Shop at the signe of the blacke Beare in Pauls Church-yard, 1632. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—L in fours.

First edition, but one copy, at least, exists with the date 1658. It was formerly in Mr. Jolley's library, and is now in the British Museum. It is the same impression.

Dedicated by Pennycuicke "To the truly Noble and virtuous Lady Ann, Countess of Oxford," in an epistle, where he speaks of the "universall fame of the deceased Author," and presently adds, "I wil not slander it with my praises, it is commendations enough to call it Massingers."

A Bridgewater duplicate, from the libraries of the Duke of Roxburghe and the Rev. John Mitford.

MASSUCCIO. [On sig. a i] Massucii Salernitani de quīquaginta argumētis moralibus : ad illustrissimaz Hyppolitam. [Colophon.] Qui finisce il Nouellino con le. L. May regnante excellentissimo ligurum principe Domino. D. Joāne Galeaz Duce Mediolani. Folio. BR. M.

Brunet describes this volume as a small folio, and an ordinary copy would, no doubt, appear so, but the present has fortunately suffered so little at the binder's hands that it measures no less than 12 in. by 8 in. The register at the end does not serve for a collation of the book, as it omits all mention of the three preliminary leaves which contain the dedicatory epistle and the table. The first leaf of sig. a is blank, and the second leaf of the sheet is marked a 1. So that there are only seven printed leaves to the first sheet. The signatures then run to p in eights, except sigs. i, l, and m, which have only six leaves each, though they would appear from the register to consist of eight each. The volume may assuredly be reckoned among the very rarest books of its class.

MASTER OF THE REVELS. A Collection of Ancient Documents respecting the Office of Master of the Revels, and other Papers relating to the Early English Theatre. From the Original manuscripts formerly in the Haslewood Collection. London . . . 1870. 8vo.

The Second Edition carefully corrected. London: Printed for John Dunton, at the Raven in the Poultry. MDCXCI. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

A—I in eights. Dedicated to Philip, Lord Wharton, by the author.

MATHER, COTTON. The Wonders of the Invisible World: Being an Account of the Tryals of Several Witches, Lately Ex[e]cuted in New-England: And of several remarkable Curiosities therein Occurring. Together with, I. Observations upon the Nature, the Number, and the Operations of the Devils. II. A short Narrative of a late outrage committed by a knot of Witches in Swede-Land, very much resembling, and so far explaining, that under which New-England has laboured. III. Some Councils directing a due Improvement of the Terrible things lately done by the unusual and amazing Range of Evil-Spirits in New-England. IV. A brief Discourse upon those Temptations which are the more ordinary Devices of Satan. By Cotton Mather. Published by the Special Command of his Excellency the Govenour of the Province of the Massachusetts-Bay in New-England. Printed first, at Boston in New-England; and Reprinted at London, for John Dunton, at the Raven in the Poultry. 1693. 4to.

Title, A—K in fours; L—Q, 2 leaves each; and R, 1 leaf.

— Batteries upon the Kingdom of the Devil. Seasonable Discourses upon Some Common, but Woful, Instances, wherein men Gratifie the Grand Enemy of their Salvation. By Mr. Cotton Mather, Author of The late Memorable Providences relating to Witchcrafts and Possessions; and of Early Piety exemplified. London, Printed for Nath. Hiller, at the Princes-Armes in Leaden-Hall-Street, over-against St. Mary Axe. 1695. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—N in eights.

Prefixed is a letter "To my Worthy Nephew, Mr. Cotton Mather," subscribed thus: "(Dear Cozen) your Affectionate Unkle. Nath. Mather." The latter was the editor of the volume. He speaks of having found the original MS. in a state of great disorder, and of its publication as likely to prove a source of surprise to the author.

— The Faith of the Fathers. Or, The Articles of the True Religion, all of them exhibited in the express words of the Old Testament . . . By Cotton Mather. . . . Boston in New-England. Printed by B. Green and J. Allen. 1699. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

Sixteen leaves, the last blank.

This is without doubt the earliest edition of this valuable tract, in which the discoveries of Ferdinand Magellan and his companions were first announced. Charles V. was at Valladolid when the news reached him of the arrival at Seville of the survivors of the expedition. He commanded them to come to Valladolid, and an account of their adventures was taken down by his secretary, Maximilianus Transylvanus, and also by Peter Martyr. The former addressed his account to his father, the Cardinal Archbishop of Salzburg, and had it printed at Cologne, whence he had recently returned with the Emperor. The account of Peter Martyr was sent to Pope Adrian, who is known to have received it, but the MS. was subsequently lost. The Roman editions of February and November are reprints of that of Cologne, the date "Vallisoleti die xxxiii Octobris M. D. XXII." being omitted. The year was reckoned at Cologne from January 1st.

First edition. Brunet describes it as being in quarto, but that is clearly a mistake.

So highly did Von der Hardt esteem the importance of this edition of the "Loci Communes," as exhibiting the state of the reformed doctrines at the time of its publication, and so great was its rarity, that he reprinted it entire in his "Historia Litteraria Reformationis," and says: "Videre jam suis oculis nostra potest ætas, quod optavit Huterus tam impense, quæ fuerit conditio doctrinæ Evangelicæ in Reformationis exordio, quoad omnia fidei capita." L. Hutter, in his "Loci Theologici," published in 1619, believed this first edition was totally lost: "der diese Ausgabe für gänzlich verloren gehalten hat." Wherunto is ioyned a cõference betwene the law and the gospel, very profitable for al men to exercise themselues therin. [No place, printer's name, or date.] Sm. sqr. 8vo. Black letter.

☞, 8 leaves, with the first title, preface, and table; A—L in eights, including a second title.

The treatise itself concludes on I v, and on the top of the following leaf, recto, occurs a headline: "A mirroure or glasse/ wheryn al men may behold their own condemnacyon by the lawe of god: With a remedy of the same," which occupies the rest of the book.

It is bound up with the two tracts described above, bearing the name of Gracious Menewe as the author, and is probably from the same pen. The name is doubtless a fictitious one. The printer was probably Hugh Singleton. See Herbert's Ames, p. 1793.

Painc, and are to be sold by Lawrence Chapman at his Shop next dore to the Fountain Tavern, near the Savoy. 1646. 4to.

A—Q in fours, not including a portrait of Robert, Earl of Essex, by W. Marshall.

The copy of this book described in part v. of the sale catalogue of Mr. Corser's library had two additional introductory leaves. That copy is described as having also two other additional leaves, one containing an Epigram addressed to "John Cambell, Earle Lowdon," and the other, verses addressed to "Sir A. Johnstoun, Lord Warestone," and to Sir Oliver Fleming, but these two leaves are in fact the inset of sheet Q, and were only misplaced in Mr. Corser's copy. The present was Heber's copy, and had been Narcissus Luttrell's. The portrait, which belongs to the book, has been added since.

Of this volume some account may be found in the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," pp. 217-18, and in Mr. David Laing's recent monograph on Mercer and his works. There were two title-pages printed to the book in 1646, one as above, the other as given in the Grenville catalogue.

Title and A—E in fours, the last leaf blank. In verse.

This is the only perfect copy known. That which belonged to Mr. Bright wanted the end. The leaf after the first title-page has some verses which are headed "In place of the Frontispiece," and which end on the bottom of A 2 recto. On the reverse of that leaf occurs the following curious notice:—

"Within this Welcome will appear
Mistakes, and twenty faults I fear.
But I'll excuse no crime into 't
Let scribimus indocta do 't."

On A 3 comes a second title-page: "Verbum Sapient, Or Mercers Muse making Melody, in a Welcom to His Excellency John Lord Roberts [Quotation from Ovid with two translations.] Dvblin 1669."

Engraved title by Droeshout, 1 leaf; A, 8 leaves; B—Kk 4 in twelves.

The engraved title varies from the above, and runs as follows: "Witts Academy A Treasurie of Goulden Sentences Similies and Examples. Set forth cheefely for the benefit of young Schollers. By F. M. M^r. of Arts of both Vniuersities. Printed at London for Richard Royston 1636." This is a beautiful copy, with some rough leaves. It is a reprint of the edition of 1598. The "comparative discourse of our English Poets," wherein Shakespeare is mentioned, occurs here at p. 616.

The first poem, which is the most curious portion of the volume, is a reprint of the quarto edition published at York in 1696.

MERLIN. Folio.

MS. on vellum, of the thirteenth century, of English or Norman-French execution, with sixty-nine highly finished miniatures of very fine design. It consists of 229 folios, seven being deficient.

This unique and most precious manuscript was discovered in 1869 among the books belonging to the late Comte de Corbière, by M. Paulin Paris, and is described by Mr. Furnivall as "the long-lost and long-sought book of Balin le Sauvage, which Malory used in his immortal 'Morte d'Arthur,' the book which neither Southey nor any other student of Arthur romances could find."

The following account of the volume is from the pen of the learned M. Paulin Paris, with only such verbal alterations as were necessary to adapt it to the present purpose. It has been necessary, however, to recopy the quotations, as the text given by M. Paulin Paris did not at all represent the MS. :—

"Avant le travail des assembleurs, il y avait des romans séparés qui racontaient l'histoire d'Artus autrement que dans le texte adopté par les assembleurs. Et c'est un de ces romans que nous offre le manuscrit Corbière, et que l'auteur anglais du xv^e siècle avait suivi dans la 'Morte d'Arthur,' tout en l'abrégant beaucoup. Ainsi nous avons retrouvé en France l'original jusqu'à présent non reconnu, sur lequel Sir Thomas Malory avait réglé sa traduction. Découverte fort importante, qui vient à l'appui de mes conjectures précédentes: à savoir que la traduction en prose du poème de Robert de Borron avait eu, dès le commencement du xiii^e siècle, une assez grande vogue, puisqu'on en a jusqu'à présent reconnu quatre copies; et en second lieu, que les branches d'Artus et de Lancelot, reproduites dans une foule innombrable de manuscrits français, sont l'œuvre des assembleurs du xiii^e siècle, et ne contiennent pas toutes les anciennes compositions faites dès la fin du xii^e siècle sur les compagnons d'Artus et sur Artus lui-même.

"Ce manuscrit, qui fut acheté par le libraire Bachelin à la vente après décès des livres du Comte Corbière, ancien ministre de nos derniers rois, Louis XVIII et Charles X, contient les particularités suivantes.

"Fo. 1 à 18. Réduction en prose du poème de Robert de Borron, 'Joseph d'Arimathie.'

"Fo. 19 à 75. Réduction en prose du 'Merlin' de Robert de Borron, jusqu'au couronnement d'Artus. 'Ensi fu Artus esleus a roi et tint la terre et le regne de logres lonc tans a pais' (correspondant au chap. v. du texte de Malory, jusqu'à la 16^e ligne de la seconde colonne, p. 30, ed. Strachey, 1868).

"A partir de là, texte français nouveau. Fo. 74. Récit particulier de la conception de Mordret, fils d'Artus et de sa sœur la reine d'Orcanie.—Songe d'Artus. Chasse de la bête glotissante. (Malory, liv. 1, ch. xvii.) Fo. 77. Merlin apprend à Artus le secret de sa naissance. (Mal. ch. xviii.)

"Fo. 80. Ulfm accuse Ygièrne, mère d'Artus, pour lui donner occasion de se justifier. (Malory, ch. xix.)—Le chevalier du Pavillon. Fo. 86. Défi de l'empereur de Rome. (Mal. ch. xxi.) Girflet abattu par le chevalier du Pavillon.—Artus également abattu, doit son salut au sommeil du chevalier, que Merlin avait enchanté, fo. 92. (Malory, ch. xxii.)—Ib. La demoiselle du lac donne Excalibor à Artus, à la condition de la promesse d'un don. Le fourreau ou fourreau de l'épée est encore de plus grand prix que l'épée.—Description du lac. Mariage de Morgain avec le roi Urien de Garlot, fo. 94. Conception d'Yvain, fils d'Urien et de Morgain. (Ib.) Défi du roi Rion. Naissance de Mordret. Artus fait réunir les enfans nés dans le même temps, et les fait voguer dans un vaisseau sans mât ni avirons. (fo. 95, Malory, ch. xxv.)

“Fo. 103. Le chevalier envoyé par Artus pour le venger de Balaham est tué par lui, et sa maîtresse se perce mortellement sur son corps : regrets de Balaham. Rencontre des deux frères Balaham et Balin. Le roi Marc fait élever un tombeau au chevalier tué et à sa fidèle maîtresse.

“Fo. 122. Aventure du chevalier affligé qu'Artus fait suivre par Balaham, le chevalier aux deux épées. Celui-ci l'atteint, le décide à revenir vers le roi ; mais comme ils revenaient, une main invisible frappe mortellement le chevalier. Cette main était celle de Garlain son ennemi, qui avait la faculté de se rendre invisible. Le chevalier aux deux épées raconte au roi ce qui vient de lui arriver et s'engage dans la quête que le chevalier mort avait entreprise. Le roi fait faire une tombe à la victime de Garlain avec les mots : 'Ci gist le chevalier mesconneus.'

“Ici, fo. 125, v^o, s'ouvre une parenthèse assez importante de l'arrangeur, pour nous annoncer la fin de la première partie de ce livre de Merlin, et le commencement de la seconde, qui devra remplir la fin du volume. Voici cette parenthèse :

Tout li sage houme qui meteroient lour entente a oir & a escouter porroient par ceste pole sauoir. se elle lour seroit vaillie entiere ou corropue. Et cōmsteroient bñ com bñ i i fauront. Puis quil a ore ensi deuisse lassemēt de sō liure. il retourne a sa matiere en tel maniere.’

“On remarquera que notre volume commençant par la réduction en prose du ‘Joseph d’Arimathie,’ l’auteur de cette parenthèse devait entendre, par la troisième partie de l’œuvre qu’il attribue à Robert de Borron, le ‘livre du Saint Graal,’ composé comme je l’ai démontré plus haut (page 3 et 4) par un autre que le ‘Joseph.’ Il ne faut pas penser que cette tierce partie qui commencera par le ‘Graal,’ soit la ‘Quête du Graal;’ car les dernières lignes de notre volume, qui finit avec la seconde partie (égale en étendue à la première), nous disent :

“Si laisse ore atant li contes a parler & del dame & del roi. Et de toute la vie Merlin. Et deuisera dune autre matiere qui parlera dou graal pour chou q̄ cest li comenchemens de cest liure.’

“On pourrait entendre ces mots, ‘Et la tierche fenist il aprie la mort de lancelot. A chelui point mesme quil deuisse de la mort le roi march,’ de la manière suivante : La troisième finit par le récit de la mort du roi Lancelot (laquelle mort en effet termine le ‘Saint Graal,’ voy. mon tome I, in fine), au moment où reprend l’histoire du roi March, c’est-à-dire, où commence l’histoire de Tristan. Mais jamais le ‘Tristan’ ne fut attribué à Robert de Borron ; je crois donc qu’il y a une méprise dans notre texte, et qu’il eût fallu ‘a celui point même qu’il devise de la Marche.’ On sait que le livre de Lancelot commence par les mots : ‘En la marche de Gaulle.’ Si l’on reconnaît un second exemplaire de notre texte, on y trouvera sans doute la leçon que je propose : mais dans tous les cas personne au treizième siècle n’attribuait le livre du roi Marc et de Tristan à Robert de Borron ; par conséquent, notre auteur n’a pu vouloir dire ici qu’il donnerait l’histoire de ‘Marc’ dans la troisième partie d’un livre qu’il attribue à Borron.

Malory, qui attribue même au second chevalier qui accompagne le chevalier aux deux épées, le nom de 'Perin de Montbeliart' que ne donne pas notre manuscrit. Balahan, ou Balain, pénètre dans le château du roi Peléan, frère de l'odieux Garlain, qui tombe sous ses coups. Peléan veut venger son frère; Balahan cherche partout quelque arme qui remplace son épée brisée. Il trouve sur un lit magnifique, une forte et belle lance, la prend, en frappe Peléan, qui dès lors ne fut plus appelé que le roi 'Mehaigné,' celui auquel était confié la garde du Graal. (Malory, ch. 15.) L'histoire fatale et déplorable de ce pauvre chevalier aux deux épées est ici racontée plus longuement et d'une façon bien plus touchante que dans le texte de Malory. Sur sa tombe et sur celle de son frère, Merlin écrit: 'Chi gist balaam li chevaliers a .ii. espees qui fist de la lanche vencesse le cop dolere⁹ p coi li roiaumes de listinois est tornes a dolour.' (fo. 149.)

"Après avoir longuement raconté tous les enchantemens disposés par Merlin dans l'île des merveilles, où était conservé le Saint Graal, nous revenons au courant du 3^e livre de Sir Th. Malory. La demande en mariage de Ginèvre fille de Léodagan; la cession que lui fait ce prince des chevaliers de la table ronde, réduits alors au nombre de cent, et qu'Artus doit porter à 150.—Gauvain, Pelinor, Tor le fils Ate, et autres, sont du nombre.—Les trois quêtes de Gauvain, d'Urien, et d'Accolon, amant de Morgain; le combat d'Accolon contre Artus; comment Morgain tente de tuer son mari Urien. L'arrivée à la cour d'une demoiselle de Morgain portant un manteau empoisonné que le roi la contraint de revêtir. Ici la demoiselle du lac, qui était venu l'avertir de la nouvelle trahison de Morgain, prend congé d'Artus en lui recommandant de toujours honorer chevalerie: 'A lendemain sen parti od toute sa maisnie. Et li rois remais a carlion. Si laisse ore atant li contes a parler & del dame & del roi. Et de toute la vie merlin.' Cette fin correspond au milieu du seizième chapitre du quatrième livre de Sir Th. Malory.

"Tel est ce manuscrit, qui a cela de particulier qu'il offre une rédaction du roman de Merlin tout différente de celle qui a été consacrée par les assembleurs du XII^e siècle, et dont M. Henry B. Wheatley vient de publier une ancienne traduction anglaise, entièrement prise sur l'original français.

"Le manuscrit Corbière est le seul jusqu'à présent qui offre l'original suivi dans la traduction de Sir Th. Malory. Sans lui, nous aurions été disposés à croire que l'ancien écrivain anglais avait inventé les épisodes qui diffèrent de ceux qui sont contenus dans la traduction publiée par M. Wheatley. Ainsi nous sommes conduits à reconnaître qu'il y eut, dès la fin du XI^e siècle, plusieurs formes distinctes de la seconde partie du roman de Merlin, et que les écrivains que l'on chargeait de disposer les différents récits de la table ronde, firent entrer dans leur compilation, tantôt une de ces formes, tantôt une autre. Les grands seigneurs pour lesquels ils faisaient ces volumes, désiraient y trouver la réunion des branches qui d'abord avaient parues séparées et composées par des auteurs distincts. Celui qui a fait disposer le texte de ce manuscrit le coupa en trois parties, dont les deux premières se retrouvent dans le volume conservé, et dont la troisième devait reproduire le 'Saint Graal' attribué à tort à Robert de Borron et à Gautier Map."

Brunet gives the number of leaves of text in the first volume as 211, and the last leaf is so numbered, but there are really 216 leaves, the folios being very incorrect throughout. Brunet also remarks that in the vellum copy in the National Library at Paris, the heading of the text in the second volume occupies six lines, while in the paper copy it occupies only three and a half lines. The present copy in this respect follows the vellum impression.

Pp. 33.

Though bearing the date of 1624, with the name of Cramoisy as printer, this piece appears to be printed at least a hundred years later. It merely contains the title and dedication of Messingham's "Florilegium," in Latin and French, and at p. 30 begins, "Note sur l'Épître dédicatoire de M. Messingham a MM. l'Escalopier, fils de Jean l'Escalopier, mort en 1620, Président du Parlement." This note on the Escalopier family seems to be the object of the publication.

A, 4 leaves; A and A 2 blank; B—Bb 2 in fours, no sig. Z.

Dedicated by Middleton to Robert, Earl of Essex. In the dedication he says: "I haue scattered a few seedes vpon the yong ground of vnskillfulnesse," and a little further on he adds: "My seedes, as yet, lodge in the bosome of the earth, like Infantes vpon the lappe of a Fauourite, wanting the budding spring-time of their growth" In the address to the reader, the author speaks of this as his first work.

In a Notice to the Reader on the back of the title the author says: "Too soone and too late, this work is published: Too soone, in that it was in the Presse, before I had notice of it, by which meanes some faults may escape in the Printing. Too late, for that it was not published when the general voice of the people had seald it for good, and the newnesse of it made it much more desired, then at this time."

Two title-pages were printed to this edition—a circumstance of which Mr. Dyce was not aware—but which was the earlier one it would be impossible to say with certainty. The other merely names the printer, and does not specify by whom the book was sold.

MIDDLETON, THOMAS. A Mad World, My Masters. As it hath bin lately in Action by the Children of Paules. Composed by T. M. London, Printed by H. B. for Walter Burre, and are to be sold in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Crane. 1608. 4to.

A—C in fours, first leaf blank.

From Sir Francis Freeling's and Dr. Bandinel's libraries, with a very fine impression of the portrait of Prince Charles by Delaram inserted. It was presented to Freeling by Dr. Dibdin, and is probably the copy described in Thorpe's catalogue for 1824. It is in fine condition; but there is a second copy in the library which is even taller and finer than this. Middleton subscribes his name at the end of the entertainment; the account of the Creation of the Prince was probably written by another pen.

— A Game at Chesse as It hath bine sundrey times Acted at The Globe on the Banck side. Ghedruckt in Lydden by Ian Masse. [1625.] 4to.

A—I in fours, with the title-page engraved on copper.

Though Mr. Dyce has pointed out that while two of the three known editions have the same engraved title, it was re-engraved, with variations, for the third, this fact is not recorded in any bibliographical work. Not only does the print vary, but the wording of the title is different. The edition described above is that which is mentioned by Mr. Dyce as the most correct text, and distinguished by him as the "C edition." The titles of the other editions run: "A Gam^e at Chæss as it was Acted nine days together at the Globe on the banks side," without any imprint. These have every appearance of having been printed in England, but that described above was probably executed abroad. By "Lydden," we may, no doubt, understand Leyden as the place where it was printed. It is remarkable that such being the case it is so much more correct than the editions which appear to have been printed in London. Mr. Dyce mentions that Mr. J. P. Collier was in possession of a printed title with the date of 1625, but no copy with a printed title is now known. In Mr. Dyce's edition of the author's works may be found a full account of the play and of the circumstances connected with the first performance of it. The frontispiece to the Leyden copy has only two large full-length figures in the foreground, and above them is inscribed respectively, "the White Hous" and "the Black Hous," while in the background are the same two figures standing in a large sack. The other frontispiece, of which a facsimile is given in Mr. Dyce's edition of Middleton's works, is in two compartments. In the upper one are eight persons seated at a table with a chess-board in the centre, and in the lower compartment are three full-length figures headed, "the Fatte Bishop," "the Black Knight," and "the White Knight." In the background are the three figures in a sack.

MIDDLETON, THOMAS. Two New Playes. viz. More Dissemblers besides Women. Women beware Women. Written by Tho. Middleton, Gent. London, Printed for Humphrey Moseley and are to be sold at his Shop at the Prince's Arms in St. Paul's Churchyard. 1657. Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—O 3 in eights. With a portrait of Middleton, a three-quarter in an oval of bays, with "vera Effigies Tho : Midletoni Gent." beneath, but no artist's name.

The above is the general title to the volume, but each of the plays has a separate one of its own. At the end is a long catalogue of advertisements. The portrait is copied in Dyce's edition of the poet's works.

From Mr. Daniel's library.

A—F 2 in fours. Then comes an engraved title: "The Military Discipline wherein is m^d Martially shone the order of Drilling for y^e Musket and Pike. 1623. Set forth in Postures with the words of Command To be exercised in Musters By order from y^e Lords of his Ma^{tie}: most Ho^{ble}: Privy Counsaile. Are to be sould by Roger Daniell" This title is followed by forty-three plates for the use of the musket and thirty-two for the pike, with descriptions beneath each.

There is in the library another set of impressions of these plates, taken off four on a sheet and bound up without any letterpress. These impressions appear to be rather later than those described above.

MILL, HUMPHREY. Poems Occasioned by A melancholy vision vpon diuers Theames Enlarged Which by seuerall Arguments ensuing is showed His gaudit musa tenebris By H. M. *London printed by J. A—L 4 in eights, including the engraved and printed titles and explanation; a leaf unmarked and unpagéd between 150 and 151, and then M, 7 leaves.

Dedicated to Lord Warwick. The frontispiece has no engraver's name; in the upper centre it contains a small head of the author.

This copy is accompanied by a duplicate printed title, dated 1652, and evidently intended to serve for the two parts bound together. It runs: "The Nights Search: Or, The cunning Curtizan discovered; and The great Mystery of Iniquity exactly revealed. . . . Printed for William Ley, at Paul's Chaine neer Doctors Commons. 1652." A plate of a woman with a torch is also inserted.

See the "Bibliotheca Anglo-poetica," Nos. 468-70. Prefixed to the first part of the "Night's Search" are some commendatory verses by the author's brother, Thomas Mill, M.A., of Oxford, and by Thomas Heywood, who addresses Mill as "my adopted sonne." In the "British Bibliographer," ii., 328-36, is a long review of this work by Joseph Haslewood.

Perditus—*

London, Printed for Hvmphrey Robinson, at the signe of the Three Pidgeons in Pauls Church-yard. 1637. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—F 2 in fours.

First edition. Dedicated by H. Lawes to "John Lord Vicount Bracley, Son and heire apparent to the Earle of Bridgewater, &c."

In the dedication, Lawes says that it was "not openly acknowledg'd by the Author," and that the publication of the piece was occasioned by the trouble which he had in making transcripts from the original MS. to give away to friends. This is probably what is meant in the letter mentioned by Lowndes, p. 1562, col. 2.

MILTON, JOHN. Justa Edovardo King naufrago, ab Amicis mœrentibus, amoris & μνείας χάρτιν.

Si rectè calculum ponas, ubique naufragium est.

Cantabrigiæ: Apud Thomam Buck, & Rogerum Daniel, celcberrimæ Academiæ typographos. 1638. 4to.

A—I 2 in fours, but E has 6 leaves.

The first edition of Milton's "Lycidas" is contained in this volume. Prefixed is an account of King in Latin, printed in capitals, and supposed by Warton to have been written either by Milton or Henry More, the Platonist. The volume is divided into two portions, the first containing the Latin and Greek tributes, the second, those in English, with a separate title: "Obsequies to the memorie of Mr. Edward King, Anno Dom. 1638." Among the writers of the English elegies are Henry King, John Cleveland, and J.[ohn] H.[all, of Cambridge?]. Milton's "Lycidas" appropriately crowns the collection, coming last in order. It bears only his initials.

— Poems of Mr. John Milton, both English and Latin, Compos'd at several times. Printed by his true Copies. The Songs were set in Musick by Mr. Henry Lawes Gentleman of the Kings Chappel, and are of his Maiesties Private Musick.

A—H 4 in eights, besides a, 3 leaves with title, &c.; A—F 4 in eights. With a portrait by W. Marshall.

"Marshall's portrait of Milton, says Granger, was the first print of him ever published. Salmasius in his 'Defensio Regia,' calls it comptula Iconem, and says it gave him a more advantageous idea of his person than he ever had before; but that this opinion ill coincided with Milton's, is sufficiently proved by the Greek verses under the portrait, and of which the following sentence is a translation: 'Will any one say that this portrait was the work of an ingenious hand; my very friends, looking at my own natural countenance, knew not whom it represents, but laugh at the awkward imitation of the idiotic artist.' This is probably too satirical."—Bibl. Anglo-Poetica. It is quite plain that Salmasius spoke ironically, which the writer of this note failed to perceive.

— Poems, &c. upon Several Occasions. By Mr. John Milton: Both English and Latin, &c. Composed at several times. With a

A—H iv in eights.

The recto of A 1 is occupied by a woodcut of Romulus and Remus. On the recto of C 1 is a woodcut of a priest displaying the handkerchief of S. Veronica to an adoring crowd, and on the verso begins the hymn—

“Salve sancta facies nostri redemptoris
In qua nitet species diuini splendoris,” after which follow descriptions of the different churches in Rome most interesting to pilgrims.

The little volume was no doubt intended as a guide to the pilgrims visiting Rome. Bound up in the same volume are the following pieces, all, except the last, in the same type and probably from the same press. All are without date or indication of the printer.

1. Modus confitendi. Beneath this title a woodcut of a priest hearing a confession. 12 leaves.
2. Interrogationes & doctrine quibus quilibet sacerdos debet interrogare suū confitentem. 8 leaves.
3. Cōiuratio malignorū spirituū in corporibus hominū existentū prout in sc̄tō Petro. 8 leaves.

6. Tabula christiane religionis ualde utilis & necessaria cuilibet christiano : quā omnes scire tenentur. 18 leaves.
7. Diuisiones decē nationū totius christianitatis. Four leaves printed in black letter, all the other pieces, including the "Mirabilia Urbis Romæ," are in Roman type.

[MIRABILIA Urbis Romæ.] [Colophon.] Impressum Rome per Marcellum Silber aſs Franck. Anno dñi. M.D.xi. die. viii. Ianuarij. Sm. sqr. 8vo. Black letter. Woodcuts.

On the first leaf of this impression is the same woodcut as in the edition described above, but over it is the title, "Indulgentie Ecclesiarum Urbis Rome." On the back of this leaf is the same description of the contents of the book as is given in the preceding article, beginning, "In isto opusculo." On the recto of G viii is the imprint. This is followed by a separate sheet of eight leaves, with the title, "Mirabilia Rome" and the same woodcut as on the first title. The mediæval legend of Pope Joan is given in this edition on E vi and in the edition of 1507 on the verso of F 1.

MIRABILIS Annvs, or The year of Prodigies and Wonders, being a faithful and impartial Collection of several Signs that have been seen in the Heavens, in the Earth, and in the Waters; together with many remarkable Accidents and Judgments befalling divers Persons, according as they have been testified by very credible hands; all which have happened within the space of one year last past *Printed in the Year 1661. 4to. MIRACLES OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN. Liber miraculorum domine nostre Sancte Marie. Sm. folio. R. M.

MS. on vellum, written in England at the end of the 12th or beginning of the 13th century.

This very remarkable manuscript consists of a number of original tales very much in the style of the "Gesta Romanorum." One relates to the Abbot of Romsey. Another gives the history of a monk who was much given to lechery, and who used frequently to pass through a church on his way to a convent of nuns, where he went with no good purpose: in passing through the church, however, he never omitted to pay his homage to a figure of the Virgin which stood there. At last he fell into a river on one of his journeys, and his soul was immediately seized by the devils, and was being carried off to hell, when the Virgin Mary interposed, and rescuing his soul from the devils, restored it to his body again as a reward for the devotion he had shown to her.

Towards the end of the volume are a number of Latin rhyming hymns, which appear to be quite different to those commonly known. Many of them are written like prose, but are nevertheless in rhyme all throughout.

MIRROR FOR MAGISTRATES. A Myrrovre for Magistrates. Wherein may be seen by example of other, with howe greuous plages vices are punished: and howe frayle and vnstable worldly prosperitie is founde, even of those, whom Fortune seemeth most highly to fauour. Fælix quem faciunt . . . Anno. 1559. Londini, In ædibus Thomæ Marshæ. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London in Fletestrete nere to Saynct Dunstones Church by Thomas Marshæ. 4to. Black letter. G. M.

Title within an architectural compartment, 1 leaf; Baldwin's Epistle, 2 leaves; A—N 2 in fours; a—g in fours. N 2 ends on folio 48, and sig. a begins with folio 59.

First edition of the first part. It has nineteen legends only, though twenty are mentioned in the table at the end of the volume. It is the legend of "Good duke Humfrey murdered, and Elianor his wife banished" which is omitted. Herbert's description is not correct, and the volume contains 81 leaves, not 92, as stated by Lowndes, he not having noticed the hiatus in the folios.

From Mr. Corser's collection. See "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 437.

MIRROR FOR MAGISTRATES. A Myrrovr for Magistrates. Wherein maye be seen by example of other, with howe greuous plages vices are punished : and howe frayle and vnstable worldly prosperity is founde, even of those whom Fortune seemeth most highly to fauour. *Felix quem faciunt . . . Title and other preliminaries, 4 leaves ; A, 4 leaves ; B—Cc 4 in eights, the last leaf with the errata.

The second edition. It is augmented by a second part, which begins at folio lxxxvi. (which is not marked) with the heading, "The seconde parte of the Mirrou for Magistrates," and opens with a preface: "Wylliam Baldwyn to the Reader." The preface contains many interesting particulars relating to the authorship of the legends by T. Churchyard, Dolman, F. Seagers, and Cavyl. This contains eight additional legends exclusive of Lord Buckhurst's "Induction."

From Mr. Craufurd's library.

— A Myrrovr for Magistrates. Wherein may be scene by examples passed in this realme, with howe greueous plagues vices are punished Newly corrected and augmented. *Anno 1571. Felix quem faciunt . . . * , 4 leaves, with the title, &c. ; A, 4 leaves ; B—X in eights.

Fourth edition. A reprint of the edition of 1571, except that the legend of Lord Hastings is augmented by twenty-four stanzas. As Marsh printed Higgins's book, entitled, "The first part of the Mirror," &c., to accompany this volume, he gave it the title of "The Last part," &c.

— The First parte of the Mirour for Magistrates, contayning the falles of the first infortunate Princes of this lande : From the comming of Brute to the incarnation of our sauour and redemer Iesu Christe. [Quotation from St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans.] Imprinted at London by Thomas Marthe. Anno. 1575. Cum Priuilegio. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Title within a woodcut border, 1 leaf; table, 1 leaf; Higgins's dedication and his epistle to the reader, 4 leaves; A—L 1 in eights.

The first edition of this part was in 1574. This reprint of 1575 contains additional stanzas in the Tragedies of Nennius and Irenglas. It is called "The first part," because it relates to an earlier period in English history. John Higgins, who signs the preface, was the author of the whole of this volume. From Mr. Craufurd's collection.

MIRROR FOR MAGISTRATES. The Seconde part of the Mirrou for Magistrates, containing the falles of the infortunate Princes of this Lande. From the Conquest of Cæsar, vnto the commying of Duke William the Conquerour. Imprinted by Richard Webster, Anno Domini, 1578. Goe straight and feare not. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

*, 4 leaves; , 2 leaves; A—R 2 in fours.

This is the part written by Thomas Blener Hasset. It is very fully described in the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," where the very interesting epistle from "The Printer to the friendly reader," is printed at full. The legends are twelve in number, viz., "Guidericus," "Carassus," "Queene Hellina," "Vortiger," "Uter Pendragon," "Cadwallader," "Sigeberte," "Lady Ebbe," "Alurede," "Egelrede," "Edricus," and "King Harolde."

— The Mirour for Magistrates, wherein may bee seene, by examples passed in this Realme, with how greuous plagues vices are punished in great Princes and Magistrates, and how fraile and vnstable worldly prosperity is found, where Fortune seemeth most highly to fauour: Newly imprinted, and with the addition of diuers Tragedies enlarged. At London in Fleetestreete, by Henry Marsh, being the assigne of Thomas Marsh. 1587. Cum Priuilegio. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A, 4 leaves, the first blank; B and C, 4 leaves each; A—Mm in eights, no sig. Z.

First edition of the two parts by Baldwin and Higgins incorporated into one volume and augmented by the addition of twenty-nine legends, making now seventy-four, including Lord Buckhurst's "Induction." Blener Hasset's work, being the property of a different publisher, is not included.

— A Mirovr for Magistrates: Being a Trve Chronicle Historie of the vntimely falles of such vnfortunate Princes and men of note, as haue happened from the first entrance of Brute into this Iland, vntill this our latter Age. Newly enlarged with a last part, called A Winter nights Vision, being an addition of such Tragedies, especially famous, as are exempted in the former Historie, with a Poem annexed, called Englands Eliza. *At London Imprinted by Felix Kyngston. 1610. 4to. A, 8 leaves; B, 2 leaves; C—Lll 6 in eights.

Edited and partly written by Richard Nicols, who contributed to this, the last and only complete impression, the set of legends comprised under the general title of "A Winter Night's Vision," and an original poem called "England's Eliza," which open with new title-pages on Oo 3 and Eee 2. Baldwin's portion has a new title on S 6 as follows: "The Variable Fortvne and Onhappie Falles of svch Princes as hath happened since the Conquest. Wherein may be seene the instabilitie and change of state in great Personages." Higgins's preface, &c., are retained, but not Baldwin's, and although Blener Hasset's second part is incorporated, the preliminary matter and prose inductions are omitted, as had been done by Higgins in 1587, in regard to Baldwin's set of legends. For Blener Hasset's legends of "Gwiderius" and "Alured," are substituted one of "Gviderius," by Higgins, and one of "Alured," by the editor, who has also modernized the spelling throughout. The legend of "Cromwell," by Drayton, published originally in 1607, and reprinted in 1609 with alterations, is added to this edition.

The present copy has the dedications to the "Winter Night's Vision" and to "England's Eliza," which are occasionally deficient.

MIRROR OF THE WORLD. Here begynneth y^e table of the rubrics of this presente volume named the myrroure of the world or thymage of the same. [Colophon.] Caxton me fieri fecit. Folio. Black letter. Woodcuts. BR. M.

a—l in eights, the first leaf blank and the last having the printer's device on the verso, the recto blank.

Second edition. Mr. Blades says: "The Name, Place, and Date of the First Edition reprinted; but about 1490." In point of fact, however, neither this edition nor the first have any place or date, and Mr. Blades must intend to refer to the date of the translation which occurs on the last leaf, thus: "which book I began first to translate the second day of Janyuer the yere of our lord/ M.CCCC.LXXX. And fynnyshyd the viij day of Marche in the same yere." The book is fully described by Blades, ii., 228-30. The present copy has the corners of the first three leaves in facsimile. The text begins with a headline on a iiiii verso.

The first edition, printed by Caxton about 1481, contains the earliest treatises on arithmetic and music in the English language.

A, 4 leaves; b—f in fours; ✕, 4 leaves; g—y in fours. The last leaf in facsimile.

This is a reproduction of Caxton's edition, with the woodcuts reduced and a variety of new ones inserted, some being more than once repeated. This edition is of almost equal rarity with the two published by Caxton.

Mr. Blades (ii., 85) is mistaken in stating that many of the cuts in this impression were taken from the same blocks as Caxton's, and Herbert (edit. of Ames, p. 413) seems to have fallen into the same error. The title of the copy in the British Museum differs slightly from the above.

MIRROR. The Myrrour or Glasse of Christes Passion. [Colophon.] Thus endeth this lytell treatyse called the Glasse or Myrrour of Christes passion. Imprynted at London in Flete strete, at the sygne of the George, by me Robert Redman. The yere of our lorde god. M.CCCC.xxx.iiii The .xii. day of December. Cum priuilegio. Folio. Woodcuts. BR. M.

Title, within a woodcut border, and other preliminaries, 6 leaves; A—DD 4 in sixes.

A translation by John Fewterer, made at the desire of Lord Hussey, to whom it is dedicated from Sion Monastery, 6 Dec., 1533. See Herbert's edit. of Ames, p. 391.

MIRROR OF COMPLIMENTS. The Mirroure of Complementes. Or, A Manuall of Choice, requisite, and compendious Curiosities, wherein Gentlemen, Ladies, Gentlewomen, and all others, may practise Complementall and amorous expressions, in speaking or writing Letters, upon any subject or occasion. Exactly performed with Addition of witty Songs, Sonnets, Poems, Epigrams, Essays, Characters, &c. The fourth Edition, with very many Additions: Also a Dictionary and Explanation of hard Words frequently in use, taken out of the Greeke, Latine, French, and other Tongues. London, Printed by T. H. and are to bee sold by F. Coles, R. Harper, and W. Gilbertson, at their shops. 1650. Sm. 8vo.

A—M in twelves, title on A 2.

MIRROR OF PRINCELY DEEDS. The Mirroure of Princely deedes and Knighthood: Wherein is shewed the worthinesse of the Knight of the Sunne, and his brother Rosicleer, sonnes to the great Emperour Trebetio: with the strange loue of the beautifull and excellent Princesse Briana, and the valiant actes of other noble Princes and Knightes. Now newly translated out of Spanish into our vulgar English tongue, by M.[argaret] T.[iler]. Imprynted at London by Thomas East. [1578.] 4to. Black letter.

A, 4 leaves; B—Aa 4 in eights. With a small cut on the title of the knight riding in his chariot.

Dedicated to "the Lord Thomas Haward." This is the first edition of the first part of this romance of chivalry.

The entry in the Stationers' Register, 1578, is "iiii^o Die Augusti Thomas Easte, Licensed unto him 'the mirroure of Knighthood and princelie Deedes' . . . ij."

— The First Part of the Mirroure of Princely deedes and Knighthood. Wherin is shewed Imprynted at London by Thomas Este. [n. d.] 4to. Black letter. R.

A, 4 leaves; B—Aa 4 in eights.

This is the later impression of the first part described above. In the place of the woodcut on the title there is merely a typographer's ornament. It is bound up with six other parts of the romance, as described below, in two volumes, each having Lord Charlemont's bookplate. On the flyleaf of vol. i. occurs: "I. Reed, 1778. Bo^l at Daventry." No perfect series of the "Mirror of Knighthood" has come under notice, unless that was so which was purchased at the Stevens sale in 1800 by Douce. See Steevens's Catalogue, No. 1158. The set in the British Museum is more incomplete than the present.

MIRROR OF PRINCELY DEEDS. The Second part of the first Booke of the Myrroure of Knighthood: in which is prosecuted the Illvstrious deedes of the knight of the Sunne, and his brother Rosicleer, Sonnes vnto the Emperour Trebatio of Greece: With the valiant deedes of armes of sundry worthie Knights, very delightfull to bee read, and nothing hurtfull to bee regarded. Now newly translated out of Spanish into our vulgar tongue by R.[ichard] P.[ercival?] London Printed by Thomas Este. 1599. 4to. Black letter.

A, 4 leaves; B—Ll 4 in eights, first leaf of A blank.

Dedicated by the printer to Master Thomas Powle Esquire, Clerk of the Crown in the Court of Chancery. Prefixed are some verses by G. G. to the reader.

The following entry occurs in the Stationers' Register, Aug. 24, 1582: "Thomas Easte. Licenced to him vnder th[e h]andes of Master Barker and master Coldocke 'the seconde parte of the mirror of knighthoode' to be translated into Englishe and soe to be printed, condicionally notwithstandinge that when the same is translated yt be brought to them to be perused, and yf any thinge be amisse therein to be amended vj^d."

This probably refers not to this "Second part of the first booke," but to "The Second part of the Myrroure of Knighthood," described in Mr. Hazlitt's Handbook as printed by East in 1583, but which is unfortunately wanting in this set.

— The Third Part of the first booke, of the Mirrovr of Knighthood. . . . Newly translated out of Spanish into English by R. P. Imprinted at London by Thomas Este. [n. d.] 4to. Black letter.

A, 4 leaves; B—Ll 4 in eights.

Dedicated to Master Richard Morris, his especial good friend, by the printer. When the volumes were sold at Lord Charlemont's sale, this portion wanted four leaves in sig. O, which have since been supplied from another imperfect copy of the romance. No entry of it appears in the Stationers' Register.

— The sixth Booke of the Myrroure of Knighthood. Being the first Booke of the third Part, immediatly following the fourth and fifth Bookes printed. Containing the Knightly actions and amorous conuersations of Rosicleer and Rosabel his sonne, with diuers other their princely Friends and Kinsmen. Translated out of Spanish by R. P. London Printed by Edward Allde for Cuthbert Burby, and are to be sold at his shop nere the Royall Exchange. 1598. 4to. Black letter.

A, 2 leaves; B—Oo 2 in fours.

"The Printer to the Reader.

"Cost more than ordinarie, & trauell exceeding expences haue I bestowed to get together all the parts of this excelent Historie. If a quick Terme pay the expence of a dead Vacation, I wil within the month play the Conney, and bring foorth another Part: but if ye proue niggards to buy what I have dearly bought to sell, I will learne of the Camell to be three yeares in bringing forth my next birth, though I buy the long bearing verie deare. "Yours. C. B."

MIRROR OF PRINCELY DEEDS. The Seuenth Booke of the Myrroure of Knighthood. Being the Second of the third Part. Englished out of the Spanish language. London Printed by Thomas Purfoot for Cuthbert Burby, and are to be sould at his shop neere the Royall Exchange. 1598. 4to. Black letter.

A, 2 leaves; B—Rr in fours.

Dedicated by L. A., the translator, to Master William Willoughby of Gray's-Inn. We seem to have an evidence here that the sale of the sixth book was sufficiently remunerative to tempt the publisher "to play the Conney," and indeed to proceed with the work to its entire completion.

— The Eighth Booke of the Myrroure of Knighthood. Being the third of the third Part. Englished out of the Spanish tongue. London Printed by Thomas Creede for Cuthbert Burbey, and are to be sold at his shop neare the Royall Exchaunge. 1599. 4to. Black letter.

A—Oo in fours, title on A 2, and Oo 4 blank.

Dedicated by L. A. to Sir Edward Wootton, whose kindness to his deceased uncle and to his aunt, still surviving, he records with gratitude. But he does not disclose his own name.

— The Ninth Part of the Mirroure of Knight-hood, Being the fourth Booke of the third part thereof: Wherein is declared, the high and noble actes of the sonnes and nephewes of the Noble Emperour Trebacius, and of the rest of the renoumed Princes and Knights, and of the high cheualrie of the gallant Ladyes: wheerin also is treated of the most cruell warre that euer was in Greece, with the amorous euent, and the end thereof. At London Printed for Cuthbert Burbie, and are to be sold at his shop, at the Royall Exchange. 1601. 4to. Black letter.

A—Xx in fours, the last leaf blank.

The name of the translator of this last portion does not appear, and there is no introductory matter of any kind.

MISCELLANEA ANTIQUA ANGLICANA; Or, A Select Collection of Curious Tracts, illustrative of the History, Literature, Manners, and Biography of the English Nation. London 1816. 4to.

A series of eight tracts paged separately, with a general title and leaf of contents. Some copies have a title marked "Vol. I.," but as no more was printed this was subsequently cancelled.

Translations, &c. to be continued Monthly from the Rose-Tavern without Temple-Bar. Numb. II. . . . London: Printed by S. D. . . . 1697. 4to.

Fourteen leaves.

This is only part of a larger volume, No. 1 of the "Miscellanies" having doubtless gone before and occupied pp. 1-20.

[MISSALE ad usum Ecclesie Bangoriensis.] Folio. BR. M.

MS. on vellum of the early part of the fifteenth or end of the fourteenth century of English execution. Very finely written in black and red, and many of the pages decorated with floriated borders.

At the end of the calendar is the following inscription: "This Booke was geuen to the hye alter of the Paryshe Churche of Oswestry by Syr Morys Griffith Prist. To praye for all Christen sowles the yere of oure Lorde god a thowsande fyue hundred fyfty & foure."

In this date there is an evident erasure in the word "fyue," the y and the e have clearly been altered, and it is much more probable that the date of the gift was 1454 than 1554, though it is difficult to understand what object there can have been for the alteration.

The plighting of troth differs somewhat from that which is usually found in the printed missals, and reads thus: "I N. tak þe N. to my weddyd wyf to haue & to holde from þis day forward for bettere for worse for fayrere for fowlere for rychere for porere in syknesse & in helthe tyl deþ us depart 3yf holy cherche yt wole ordeyne and thereto y plyghte the my trewthe." "I N. take the N. to my weddyd husbände to haue and to hold frō þis day forward for bettere for worse for fayrere for fowler for rycher for porere in syknesse & in helpe to be boneere & buxum in alle lawefull placys tyl deþe us departe 3yf holy cherche yt wyl ordeyne and therto I plighte þe my trewthe."

This invaluable MS. was formerly in the possession of Mr. Maskell and is particularly mentioned in the preface to his work on "The Ancient Liturgy of the Church of England." He there remarks: "I do not venture to say that it is certainly that Use [Bangor], but I conceive there are many reasonable grounds for supposing it to be so. It is undoubtedly an English missal, and not according to the uses either of Sarum, York, or Hereford. A very slight examination even of the small portion reprinted in this volume will be sufficient to establish this: a point confirmed by many variations in the collects and offices throughout the book."

MISSALE, Speciale. Folio.

MS. on vellum, probably of English execution. It contains seven large miniatures, five of which represent full-length figures of saints with their emblems. The sixth represents the virgin and child, before whom kneels a figure which doubtless is intended for the person for whom the volume was executed. It might have been possible to identify the kneeling figure were it not that the coat of arms beneath has been defaced. The seventh painting is the conventional representation of the ten thousand martyrs, five naked figures transfixed on pointed stakes. This occurs at the end of the canon of the mass.

From the library of the Rev. Mr. Forshall, formerly of the British Museum.

This copy has the same number of leaves as the edition by Trepperel cited by Brunet as having been sold at Utterson's sale for £28, but appears to differ from it in not having the words, "On les vent a Paris," on the title. Beneath the title given above is a large woodcut. From the Yemeniz collection.

A—L 2 in fours, title on A 2.

Dedicated "To the most renowned Patronesse, and noble Nurse of Learning Marie, Countesse of Penbrooke." by T. M., the initials, as there is now no reason to doubt, of Thomas Moffat or Moufet, afterwards a physician of some note. In this dedication he refers to some translation from Petrarch, on which he knew Lady Pembroke to be then engaged. From his expression, "give rest to Sacred Writte," we may conjecture that she was at that time writing her poem on the Passion or completing her own and her brother's version of the Psalms.

At sig. F 3 verso, the author speaks of having been in Italy in 1579, so that he was probably not a very young man when he composed this work.

Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i., 539-40) gives a favourable account of the book, and supplies the evidence on which it is assigned to the pen of Moffat. "The Silke-worme is thought to be Dr. Muffetts, and in mine opinion is no bad piece of poetrie."—Letter of John Chamberlain to Dudley Carleton, March 1, 1599-1600.

A—E in fours, with a very curious folding plate by R. Gaywood.

Besides the subject referred to in the title, this volume includes a poetical panegyric on General Monk, and a welcome, also in verse, to Prince Rupert, which are followed by prose characters of a Dutchman and a Frenchman.

From Dr. Bliss's collection.

MONASTIC MANUSCRIPT. Sensuyt ung liure de plusieurs difficultes q̄ on pourroit auoir. Comment on doit faire et proceder en aulcunes choses de obseruances et manieres de faire. Sm. 4to.

MS. of the sixteenth century on sixty-seven leaves of paper, written on both sides, in a hand much resembling that known as "Lettres de civilité."

It is very valuable and interesting for the picture it affords of the general management and arrangement of a monastery, and appears to have been written about the year 1500 for the use of "le Monastère de notre Dame du Val de Grace, autrement dict val parfond," near Paris. The contents are very varied, from the election of an abbess, and the manner of receiving and addressing princes and nobles, to the arrangement of the domestic affairs of the abbey and the making of conserves.

MONTAIGNE, MICHEL DE. Essais de Michel Seigneur de Montaigne. Cinquiesme edition, augmentée d'un troisiemesme liure et de six cens additions aux deux premiers. A Paris, Chez Abel L'Angelier, au premier pillier de la grand Salle du Palais. Avec Privilege du Roy. 4to. R. M.

The "Au Lecteur" which occupies the obverse of the second leaf, and the "Extrait du Privilege" on the reverse of the last, are both dated 1588. There is no date on the title, which is engraved as above within an elegant border; a half-inch of its lower margin folded by the binder to equal the rest of the book in size. This is the case with all copies.

The first complete edition of the "Essais de Montaigne," and the last published by the author. In it was printed for the first time the third book, and the text of the first and second books was largely amplified and corrected.

Since the impression of the 1582 edition of books 1 and 2 in their first rough state, Montaigne had travelled and collected notes for the preparation of the third book, and in 1588 he went to Paris to see the complete work through the press, as appears in the edition above described. He prefaced it with the famous address to the reader, of which the first words are so often quoted—"C'est icy vn liure de bonne foy, lecteur." This address was so fairly descriptive of the book, and so characteristic of the man, that it has been repeated in all subsequent editions, except only that of 1595.

— Les Essais de Michel Seignevr de Montaigne. Edition nouvelle, trovvee apres le deceds de l'Autheur, reveuë & augmentée par luy d'un tiers plus qu'aux precedentes Impressions. A Paris, Chez Michel Sonnius . . . CID.II.XCV. Folio. R. M.

Other copies bear the name of L'Angelier on the title. It was he who held the privilege. Montaigne died in 1592, leaving a copy of the 1588 edition covered with MS. corrections by himself.

When in Paris in 1588, he had made the acquaintance of Mlle. de Gournay, already, at twenty-three years of age, noted for her learning. She had lost her father, and was treated by Montaigne as a daughter, for which reason she always styled herself his adopted child, and was considered such. Montaigne's widow, on her husband's death, summoned Mlle. de Gournay to Montaigne, where, in examining his papers, she found the corrected copy of the edition of 1588, which she describes in the preface to that of 1595. This last edition was published from the corrected copy, under her care. She omitted the short "Au Lecteur," of Montaigne, and substituted a long preface, which is very curious and interesting in various ways. It is a protest against woman's position in society, an egoistical self-assertion quite in Montaigne's own mode of thought, a pedantic, learned, and obscure eulogy on the essays of her father by adoption. In spite of her own classical pedantry she prefers the use of good old French to new Latinisms, and concerning the language of Montaigne her preface has the following remarkable words: "C'est le clou qui fixera la volubilité de nostre idiome, continue jusques icy."

The edition of 1595 has the merit of containing the author's latest additions, and of being the "Editio parens" of all succeeding impressions.

The first vol. has an engraved frontispiece-title containing a portrait of the author.

— The Essayes Or Morall, Politike and Millitarie Discourses of Lo: Michaell de Montaigne, Knight Of the noble Order of S' Michaell, and one of the Gentlemen in Ordinary of the French king, Henry the third his Chamber. . . . First written by him in French. And now done into English by him that hath inviolably vowed his labors to the Æternitie of their Honors, whose names he hath severally inscribed on these his consecrated Altares. The first Booke. To the Right Honorable Lvcie Co: of Bedford: And Ladie Anne Harrington Her Ho: Mother. The second Booke. To the Right Honorable Elizabeth Co: of Rvtland, And Ladie Penelope Riche. The third Booke. To the Right Honorable Ladie Elizabeth Grey, and Ladie Marie Nevill. Iohn Florio. Printed at London by Val. Sims for Edward Blount dwelling in Paules churchyard. 1603. Folio.

A, 8 leaves; verses by Samuel Daniel, 1 leaf; errata, 1 leaf; B—Kkk 4 in sixes.

The first edition in English. The copies of this edition, which belonged to Shakespeare and Ben Jonson, are both in the British Museum. The signature of Shakespeare, which occurs in his copy on the flyleaf facing the title, is very ineffectively represented in the photographic and other copies. In the original it is firm and clear. At p. 102 is a passage (reprinted entire in Hazlitt's "Shakespeare's Library," part i., vol. iv., pp. 7-8), which is copied almost literally at act 2, scene 1 of "The Tempest."

The following is the entry of Montaigne's Essays in English, presumably Florio's version, at Stationers' Hall (Arber, iii., 3):—

" 20 of October 1595

Edward Aggas. Entred for his Copie vnder the handes of the Wardenes 'The Essais' of Michael Lord of Mountene."

Hence it would seem that the book was actually ready many years before it was committed to the press, and it may have been circulated in MS. among Florio's friends. Edward Blount registered the Essays with Florio's name as the translator, on the 4th June, 1600, three years before their actual appearance in type, so far as we know. See Arber, iii., 59.

The only bibliographer who mentions this book is Antonio, and as no author's name is given on the title it was only to be found by searching the "Index materia-rum," and there we find under "Historiæ diversarum sacrarum imaginum Mariæ deiparæ," the entry, "Gundisalvus de Sojo. De Monserrate." Turning to this author's name we have the following account: "F. Gundisalvus de Sojo, Benedictinus, aut forte antiquior alius monachus inclitæ domus S. Mariæ Virginis de Monteserrato in Catalonia, edidit: 'Historia y milagros de Nuestra Señora de Monserrate. Barcinone. 1594.' 8vo. post antiquiores editiones annorum 1568. & 1587. Attamen prima conceptio hujus operis facta est anno MDXIV. ad instantiam D. Joannis de Aragonia, ducis de Luna, comitis de Ribagorza, ut ex præambula innotescit epistola ejus ad monasterii abbatem." This edition of 1550 was evidently unknown to Antonio and apparently to all other bibliographers.

On the flyleaf of this copy is a MS. inscription, by T. v. Freundtsperg, to the effect that he purchased the book on the mountain itself, on the 23rd of July, 1551, and Richard Ford, the Spanish traveller and scholar, to whom the book afterwards belonged, has remarked in a note on the flyleaf, that Freundtsperg was the name of the commander of Charles Vth's German Hausknechts. Ford bought the volume at Heber's sale.

First edition. Title and three preliminary leaves without signature. On the fourth preliminary leaf begin the signatures, which run a—l in fours, ending with m, 6 leaves. On the reverse of the title is a large woodcut, headed, "Vtopiæ Insvlæ figvra," and on the reverse of the last leaf is the large woodcut of Thierry Martin's device. Lowndes and Brunet both give the number of leaves which the book should contain correctly, but both are mistaken in assigning twelve leaves instead of eight to the title and preliminaries.

On K i occurs a new title: "The Tragical Historie of the Life and Reigne of Richard the Third. Written London, Printed by T. Paine and M. Simmons. 1641."

Dedicated by W.[illiam] S.[heares], the stationer, "To the Right Worshipfvll Sir Iohn Lenthall Knight, Marshall of the Kings-Bench." Two titles were printed to this book; in the other it is said to be "Printed by Thomas Payne for William Sheares, and are to be sold by Michael Young." From the Towneley collection.

— Expositio fidelis de morte D. Thomæ Mori & quorundam aliorū insignium uirorum in Anglia. [Sine loco.] Anno 1535. 4to.

Twelve leaves. A fine portrait of Sir Thomas More by Moncornet is inserted.

This is the earliest published account of the trial and death of Sir Thomas More.

It is headed (on the verso of the title), "P. M. Caspari Agrip. s. d.," and ends on the verso of the twelfth leaf with the subscription, "Apud Lutetiam Parisiorum Cal. Augusti, Anno 1535." It was probably printed at Paris.

At p. 8 is the following account of the verdict given on the trial of Sir Thomas More: "Post hæc uocati sunt per quendam ostiarijs, duodecim uiri, iuxta gētis illius cōsuetudinē, quibus traditi sunt articuli, ut super illis consultarent, ac post consultationē iudicarent ac pronūciarent, utrū Thomas Morvs malitiose obstitisset p̄dictæ cōstitutioni Regis, an non. Qui quū per horę quartā partem secessissent, reuersi sunt ad principes ac iudices delegatos, ac pronūciarūt Killim, hoc est, dignus est morte."

MORE, SIR THOMAS. D. O. M. S. The Life and Death of Sir Thomas Moore Lord high Chancellour of England. Written by M. T. M. and dedicated to the Queenes most gracious Maiestie. [No place, printer's name, or date.] [Printed abroad about 1630.] 4to.

Title and dedication to Queen Henrietta Maria, 4 leaves; A—Hhh in fours.

A posthumous publication, edited by a friend, who signs the dedication to the Queen. The dedicatory Epistle states that the author took part in the arrangements connected with the espousal of Charles I. and the French princess, and was buried in the French Church at Rome by his own desire. The editor calls him "eldest sonne by descent, & heire by nature of the family of that worthy Martyr."

MUNDAY, ANTHONY. The Mirrou of Mutabilitie, or Principall part of the Mirrou for Magistrates. Describing the fall of diuers famous Princes, and other memorable Personages. Selected out of the sacred Scriptures by Antony Munday, and dedicated to the Right Honorable the Earle of Oxenford. Honos alit Artes. Imprinted at London by John Allde and are to be solde by Richard Ballard at Saint Magnus Corner. 1579. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

Ⓒ, 4 leaves; ⒸⒸ, 4 leaves; A—M in fours. In verse. On the back of the title are the arms of the Earl of Oxford.

In the dedication the author refers to his lost translation of the romance of "Galien of France," and to his travels abroad. Between Boulogne and Abbeville, Munday and his companion were stripped to their shirts, and nearly murdered, which much surprised our author, for, says he, "before I thought that euery man beyond the seas was as frank as an Emperour, and that a man might liue there a Gentlemans life, and doo nothing but walke at his pleasure."

The "Mirror of Mutability" is written on the plan of the "Mirror for Magistrates," but all the themes, as the title states, are taken from Holy Writ. Munday introduces each narrative by a prose "induction."

This was the author's second known publication, and was printed by the typographer to whom he served his apprenticeship to a vocation which he seems very soon to have abandoned. Not more than five perfect copies are known; the present was Herbert's and Heber's.

MUNDAY, ANTHONY. An aduertisement and defence for Trueth against her Backbiters, and specially against the whispring Fauourers and Colourers of Campians and the rest of his confederate treasons. 1581. God saue the Queene. 4to. Black letter.

A—L 2 in fours.

Dedicated to Sir Edward Bromley, Knight. In that epistle, and also in the notice to the reader, Munday speaks of this volume as a promise discharged, and in the latter place he seems to say that many persons disaffected to him had doubted whether he would dare to publish these revelations. A large folded cut in four compartments, illustrating the sufferings of Richard Atkins, the person alluded to in the title-page, precedes the narrative. The account of Atkins occupies the concluding chapter.

The work was reprinted in 1590. In the British Museum is a small tract printed in 1581, giving a separate and fuller account of Atkins's case.

MUNDAY, ANTHONY. A Banqvct of Daintie Concejts. A—I in fours. In verse.

The only copy known. It has belonged successively to Mr. Park (Bib. Ang.-Poet.), Mr. Rice, and Mr. Geo. Daniel. The work was licensed to Thomas Hacket, 6 July, 1584, but no earlier edition than 1588 is now known. It is very fully described in the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica.

In the dedication "To the worshipfull and his especiall good friend, Maister Richard Topcliffe Esquire, A. M. commendeth this small motion of his vnfeigned good will and affection," he goes on to say, "though the world so frowne vpon me, that I cannot as I woulde: yet that poore Talent which God hath lent me (if it were sufficient for so many courtesies) shall at all times expresse, that I am loth to be vnthankfull. I therefore desire your worshyppe to accept of this slender gift." This is followed by an interesting notice to the reader. At the end occurs this memorandum: "The seconde seruice of this Banquet (vppon the gentle and good receipt of this first) I will verie shortlie publish. Wherein is manie excellent Ditties, and such as I doubt not but thou wilt well esteeme of." No sequel, however, is known to have appeared.

B—T in fours, and the title.

From Mr. Corser's library. This is the only copy known of a reissue, with a new title-page, of a volume originally published in 1592. See Herbert's Ames, p. 1102. The dedication to Mistress Dorothy Edmonds, found in the edition of 1592, is here omitted. Munday's initials are at the end.

— A Briefe Chronicle, of the Successe of Times, from the Creation of the World, to this instant. Bertoldus nitide hūc impresserat in basilea.*

[s. a.] Folio. R.

One hundred and forty-seven leaves.

This volume is remarkable as the earliest printed mythological dictionary, and also as the only example of Berthold Rodt's printing which has his name appended to it. He was the introducer of typography into Basle, and is believed to be identical with "Bertholdus de Hanau," who was one of Gutenberg's workmen, and gave evidence for him in his lawsuit with Fust in 1455. Hain, 11,642.

A—Z and a—f in fours.

This is characterized by Panzer as one of the rarest, but also one of the most violently abusive of Murner's treatises against Luther. A reply to it will be found under the title "Novella."

MURTHHER will out, Or, A True and Faithful Relation of an Horrible Murther committed Thirty Three Years ago by an unnatural Mother upon the body of her own Child about a Year old, and was never discovered till this 24th of November, 1675, by her own selfe, upon the fears of an approaching Death; for which crime she was taken from her Bed, and carried in a coach to Prison, where she remains very Penitent. . . . *Printed for C. A—F in twelves, besides the engraved frontispiece by W. Marshall; B 4, E 8, and the last leaf blank.

The general dedication is directed to Henry, Marquis of Dorchester; but there is a special dedication at sig. C 8 to Lady Stapylton. The first edition of this book, containing only the translation of the letters, without notes, appeared at Oxford in 1645. It is a quarto tract of twelve leaves.

MUSE FOLASTRE. La Mvse folastre. Recherchée des plus beaux esprits de ce temps. De nouveau reueuë, corrigée & augmentée. A Rouen, par Claude Morel. 1600. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Seventy-six leaves, including the title.

The earliest edition with which Brunet was acquainted was that of Rouen, 1603, which he describes as "3 tom. in 1 vol.," but he gives no collation, and does not say of how many leaves it consists. He also mentions that an edition of 1600, printed at Tours, was sold in the Bibliotheca Stanleiana for £5. This edition of Rouen, 1600, appears to be quite unknown to bibliographers. From the fact of it being described on the title as "de nouveau reueuë, corrigée et augmentée," it might be supposed that there was an edition printed earlier in the century, but the preface to the reader speaks of this as a first edition.

MUSES. The Muses Farewel to Popery & Slavery. Or, A Collection of Miscellany Poems, Satyrs, Songs, &c. Made by the Most Eminent Wits of the Nation, as the Shams, Intreagues, and Plots of Priests and Jesuits gave occasion. The Second Edition, with Large Additions, most of them never before Printed. Suis & ipsa Roma, viribus ruit. Hor. London: Printed for S. Burgess, and are to be sold by the Booksellers of London and Westminster, 1690. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—P in eights; "The Supplement," with a new title, A—B 4 in eights.

MUSOPHILUS. A Posie for Lovers: Or The Terrestrial Venus Unmaskt. In Four Poems, Viz. I. The Tempest, or Enchanting Lady. II. The Luscious Pennance, or the Fasting Lady. III. The Feign'd Innocence, or the Jealous and Whiming Lady. IV. To an old Gamesome Madam, who twittingly askt the Authour, when he design'd to settle in the World. . . . London, Printed for Thomas Speed, at the Sign of the Three Crowns in Cornhil, near the Royal Exchange. 1694. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—D in fours.

Dedicated by Musophilus "To the Little Crooked, yet Sweet and Lovely Rosania."

MYNSHULL, GEFREY. Essayes and Characters of a Prison and Prisoners. Written by G. M. of Grayes-Inne, Gent. With some new Additions. Printed at London by I[ohn] O[kes] for Mather Walbancke, and are to be sold at his Shop at Grayes Inne Gate. 1638. 4to.

A—H 2 in fours, title on A 2. A woodcut on the title.

Dedicated "To the most worthy young Gentlemen (my noble Visitants) of the Honourable Society of Grayes-Inne."

This tract is curious for the cant language used at the time in a prison. Mynshull was a person of good family, who became involved in difficulties, and narrates, like Fennor before him and Bagwell afterwards, his personal experiences of gaol life.

MYRITIUS, JOANNES. Opvscvlvm Geographicvm rarvm, totivs eius negotiï rationem mira industria et brevitate complectens, iam recens ex diversorum libris ac chartis summa cura ac diligentia collectum et publicatum. . . . Ingolstadii ex Officina Typographica Wolfgangi Ederi. Anno M.D.LXXXX. Folio.

A—S in fours. A woodcut of geographical instruments faces page 4, and a folding woodcut map is between pp. 60-61.

MYSTERY. Le mistere de la cōception : natiuite : mariage : et anonciation de la benoïste vierge Marie. Auec la natiuite de Jesu-christ et son enfance. Contenant plusieurs belles matieres : dont les noms sont en la table de ce present liure. xxii. 1540. — Sensuyt le mistere de la passiō nostre seign̄r Jhesucrist auec les adiciōs faictes p tres eloquēt et sciētifiq̄ docteur maistre ichan michel Leq̄l mistere fut ioue a angiers moult triumpamment et dernièrement a Paris. xlvi. [Beneath this title, which is printed in red and black, is a large woodcut of four scenes in the passion; in the centre is a tablet in which is printed in red, "Passio domini nostri iesu christi," and on each side of the woodcut runs the legend, "O vos oēs q̄ trāsitis p viā Attendite Et videte, &c."] [Colophon.] Nouvellemēt imprimée a Paris Par la veufue feu ichā trepperel et Ichā iehannot iprimeur & libraire iure en luniuersite de paris. demourāt en la rue neufue nre dame a lenseigne de Lescu de Frāce. [s. d.] 4to. Black letter.

Concerning the variations of this edition see Brunet, iii., 1973-4. This copy agrees with two others which he mentions in that there is a gap in the pagination from 89 to 100, making therefore 254 leaves to the volume, though the last leaf but one is numbered 263.

— Sensuit la Resurrection de nostre Seigneur iesuchrist par personnaiges Cōment il sapparut a ses apostres et a plusieurs autres, & cōmēt il mōta es cieulx le iour de son assenciō Nouellemēt imprie a paris. [Under this title a woodcut of the resurrection, beneath which :] ¶ On les vend a Paris en la rue neufue nostre dame A lenseigne de lescu de france. [Colophon on the reverse of folio 51:] ¶ Cy fuist le mistere de la Resurrection de nostre seigneur ihesu crist par personnages Nouuellement imprime a Paris par la veufue feu Jehā trepperel demourant en la rue neufue nostre Dame a lenseigne de lescu de France. [s. d.] 4to. Black letter.

This edition agrees with that described by Brunet, iv., 1249, in the number of leaves, but the title has several literal variations from that which he gives, and the imprint has only the name of "la veufue feu Jehā Trepperel," while the impression he describes has also the name of "Jehannot."

This is bound with the two preceding articles in one volume, in old blue morocco. From the collection of Girardot de Préfond.

A—L in fours, and preliminaries, 3 leaves, but D and E have only together 1 leaf marked "D & E."

This is the second edition of 1592, but the first genuine impression. Prefixed is a private epistle from the author to the printer, written from the country, where he was staying in consequence of the plague; in it he complains of the former spurious issue with its "long-tailed" title, and gives us to understand that the present edition was undertaken to forestall a reported reprint of the piracy, with a fictitious "Second Part," although Nash adds that he might hereafter write a sequel to be called "the retourne of the Knight of the Post from Hell, with the Deuil's answer to the supplication." A tract with this very title was printed in 1606, but it was not from Nash's pen.

"This was intended as a confutation of Gab. Harvey's Four Letters. On sig. G is a curious mention of Spenser and Gab. Harvey, and a reference to the celebrity of Ned Allen. There are also notices of Stanyhurst, R. Greene, &c., in the volume. Mr. Heber had written in his own copy that he only knew of two others, the copy at Bridgwater House, and Mr. Chalmers's, which was formerly Dr. Farmer's."—Note in Chalmers's Catalogue.

NASH, THOMAS. Christs Teares over Ierusalem. Wherunto is annexed, a comparatiue admonition to London. A Iove Mvsa. By Tho. Nashe. At London, Printed by James Roberts, and are to be solde by Andrewe Wise, at his shop in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Angel. Anno 1593. 4to.

Title, 1 leaf; dedication to the Lady Elizabeth Carey, wife of Sir George Carey, Knight Marshal, &c., and to the Reader, 3 leaves; A—Z in fours.

First edition. In the present copy two or three leaves are damaged and imperfect. A copy is in the British Museum. As to the difference in the "Address to the Reader" between this and the issue of 1594, see "Bibl. Heber.," part 4, No. 1590. The edition of the book published in 1613 was reprinted from this, not from the next, and contains the apology to Harvey, afterwards withdrawn.

This book was licensed to Alice Charlwood on the 8th September, 1593, Arber, ii., 300, and although there is no record on the Stationers' Register of the transaction, it was probably transferred by her to Roberts. On May 31, 1594, we find, "James Robertes. Entred for his copies by order of Court Certens Copies which were John Charlwoodes." Nash's "Christs Tears" does not, however, appear in the list.

— Christs Teares over Iervsalem. Wherevnto is annexed, a comparatiue admonition to London. A Iove Mvsa. By Tho. Nashe. London. Printed for Andrew Wise, and are to be sold at his shop in Pauls Church-yard, at the signe of the Angell. 1594. 4to. R. M.

A—Z in fours, and prefixes, 6 leaves.

This is a re-issue of the edition of 1593, with the title, dedication, and address to the reader reprinted. The errata given in 1593 does not occur here, but the mistakes of the press remain uncorrected.

— Haue with you to Saffron-walden. Or, Gabriell Harueys Hunt is vp. Containing a full Answere to the eldest sonne of the Halter-maker. Or, Nashe his Confutation of the sinfull Doctor. A—E in fours, the last leaf bearing only a woodcut.

Dedicated to Charles I. At the end of this copy, which was Mr. Maidment's, occurs a broadside, possibly belonging to the book, without any date or imprint, entitled: "Obiections against the vse of the Bow with the Pike: And the Answers thereunto."

Lowndes states that the author's copy of an undated edition of this work is in the Grenville collection, but the Grenville copy is merely the present edition with the line of imprint cut off. Lowndes also quotes an impression of 1628, but no such edition is known.

In Mr. Maitland's catalogue of the early books at Lambeth, 8vo, 1843, pp. 379-85, there is a very elaborate account of this book and its editions ; Mr. Maitland concludes by observing : "The edition F is printed by John Mayler, and is wholly different from any of the preceding, both in type and from its containing a great number of woodcuts."

A note as to the price, similar to that in Berthelet's edition described above, occurs just before the colophon. The only difference is that the price is "xii^d." instead of "xvi^d."

Including Biographical sketches of the most eminent and remarkable persons who have been born, or have resided there. Illustrated by seventeen engravings. London. 1811. 4to. Enlarged into 5 thick volumes. R. M.*

This extensively illustrated copy was brought together and arranged by Mr. Upcott for Mr. Percival, the banker. It contains more than 300 water-colour drawings of places of interest in the parish of Islington and the immediate neighbourhood, 350 engraved illustrations, and 200 engraved portraits.

There are also appended to the work four quarto volumes containing literary matter illustrative of the parish, consisting of extracts from magazines and newspapers, and numerous fugitive pieces, all concerning the parish of Islington and its inhabitants from 1726 to 1839.

NELSON, JOHN. The History, Topography, and Antiquities of the Parish of St. Mary, Islington London 1811. 4to. Enlarged into 2 vols. BL. M.

This copy belonged to Mr. George Daniel, and is copiously illustrated with additional plates and other embellishments, including portraits, broadsides, play-bills, autographs, &c.

a—e in eights and sixes alternately.

The only other copy known of this piece was purchased at the Bergeret sale in Paris in 1858 for 1,400 fr. by M. Double. At the sale of his library a few years later it produced 1,860 fr.

The present copy wants sig. a vii and a portion of sig. a viii.

— Sensuiuent les quatre euangilles en francoys. Et premierement leuangille de monseigneur saint ichan. [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Black letter.

Sig. a consists of 8 leaves. The title as above is on sig. a i, below this title is a woodcut of St. John in Patmos; then follow 6 leaves containing a calendar; on the second of these is sig A; after the calendar is again sig. a, with the heading, "Cy commencent les heures de nostre dame en francoys. Et premierement a matines." Below this title is a cut of the Annunciation, beneath which begins the text. The signatures extend to f in eights, and on f viii we find, "Cy finissent les heures de nostre dame en francoys. Graces a dieu." "Cy apres sensuyvent les heures de la passion de nostre saulueur ihūcris moult deuotes." Then follow 4 leaves with sig. A ending on the verso of the fourth. Except the four first leaves and the calendar the whole is in verse.

— Cy commencent les sept pseaulmes penitenciales en francoys. [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Black letter.

a, 8 leaves; b and c, 6 leaves each.

In verse. The title as above is in two lines over a woodcut of David on his knees, beneath which are four lines of text. The edition is quite different to that described by Brunet under "Sept Psaumes" as printed by Jean Cres at Lantenac, though the contents appear to be identical.

This book and the preceding are bound up with the "Vigilles des Mortz" of Pierre Nesson described above. Both works appear to be entirely undescribed. The types with which they are printed are very similar to, but not identical with, those employed in Nesson's "Vigilles des Mortz."

A, 2 leaves; B—Hh in fours, the last two leaves occupied by advertisements.

In prose and verse. The headline or running-title throughout is: "Wonder-working Providence of Sions Saviour in New England."

This work is ascribed by Lowndes to Thomas Hooker, who signs the address to the reader, but he is mentioned in the work in such terms as make it evident that he was no more than the editor.

— New-England a Degenerate Plant: who having forgot their former Sufferings, and lost their ancient tenderness, are now become famous among the Nations in bringing forth the fruits of cruelty, wherein they have far outstript their Persecutors the Bishops, as by these their ensuing Laws you may plainly see. Licens'd October 26, 1693. [Colophon.] Printed for the Inhabitants of Ipswich and Parts Adjacent. 4to.

Two leaves.

This seems to be a relation of a real occurrence at Ipswich. The contemporary possessor, who has added the full name of one of the parties, says in a MS. note in the margin, "a Truth."

NEW WIFE OF BATH. The New Wife of Beath Much better Reformed, Enlarged, and Corrected, than it was formerly in the Old uncorrect Copy. With the Addition of many other Things. Glasgow, Printed by Robert Sanders, one of His Majesties Printers. Anno Dom. 1700. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. G. M.

Twelve leaves.

In verse. This was Bright's copy, and appears to be the only one known. It is written as a sequel to Chaucer's tale, and carries on the history of the "Wife of Bath" after her death, describing her pilgrimage to paradise, how she was repulsed from heaven's gates by the worthies of the Old and New Covenant, from Adam to St. Peter, but was at last admitted by the merits of Christ. It is reprinted in the privately printed "Select Specimens of Fugitive Poetry," 1875, 2nd series.

NEW YEAR'S GIFT. In the epistle dedicatory prefixed to the first series or volume, the authoress remarks: "My resolution was, that when I had done writing, to have dedicated all my works in gross to your lordship [her husband]; and I did verily believe that this would have been my last work: but I find it will not, unless I dye before I have writ my other intended piece. And as for this Book of Playes, I believe I should never have writ them, nor have had the Capacity nor Ingenuity to have writ Playes, had not you read to me some Playes which your Lordship had writ, and lye by for a good time to be Acted, wherein your Wit did Create a desire in my Mind to write Playes also, although my Playes are very unlike those you have writ, for your Lordships Playes have as it were a natural life, and a quick spirit in them, whereas mine are like dull dead statues, which is the reason I send them forth to be printed."

A—F 3 in fours.

Dedicated "To the Right worshipfull, maister Hugh Browker, one of the Prothonotaries of his Maesties Court of Common Pleas." "Of the scarce books of this class printed about this time, 'The Bible bearer' is certainly one of the most rare. Is there a perfect genuine copy known? The present fails only in the title-page, in a single word, which might be made up from another very imperfect copy in my possession. It is a clever satire directed against the puritanical and hypocritical time servers of that day. . . . The author was Arthur Newman."—MS. note by Mr. Heber.

This tract was registered at Stationers' Hall on the 22nd April, 1607, by "John Trundle," and under what circumstances it became the property of another stationer does not appear. The "J. C." of the imprint may be an error for "J. T."

— Pleasvres Vision: with Deserts Complaint, and a Short Dialogve of a Womans Properties, betweene an old Man and a Young. By Arthvr Newman of the Middle Temple Gent: London, Printed by G. E. for Thomas Bayly, and are to be sold at his Shop in the Middle-row in Holbourne neere Staple Inne. 1619. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

Dedicated to Sir George Newman, Knight, a kinsman of the author. There are complimentary verses by Marchadine Hunnis, John Cookes, T. More, Pe. Lower, and G. Parre.

The author was the son of William Newman, Esquire, of Ludgvan, near Morwenstow, in Cornwall. Of his poems the only other perfect copies known are those in the Bodleian and British Museum (formerly Corser's). Heber's copy, now at Britwell, seems to want a leaf. The present was formerly in the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica, and has the autograph and MS. notes of T. Park. It is the one from which Mr. Utterson took his reprint, 1840.

This book is of extreme rarity in a complete state, and an accurate collation does not appear in any bibliographical work.

A and B, 8 leaves each; C, 10 leaves. Then begins a new part. A—F, 8 leaves each, but note that the sig. A comes on the third leaf of the sheet, the first leaf begins, "[A] Staygidis rex." Sig. G is omitted. H, 8 leaves; then follow four leaves without signature, the first containing a cut of the Virgin surrounded by a glory formed of swords, the last with the verso blank. Sig. H H, 8 leaves; I and K, 8 leaves each; L, 6 leaves. On the last leaf is a register of signatures, but it would be difficult to collate an imperfect copy by this, though it is useful to see how a perfect one is made up. It takes no account of the first part, containing twenty-six leaves. 1492 is given on A ii as the year in which the work was compiled. The date of printing was probably not more than a year or two later. Some of the woodcuts are extremely curious. One represents Christ leaving the disciples at Emmaus by passing through a crack in the wainscot, and in another it is endeavoured to symbolize the doctrine of the Trinity by three children standing in one boot.

B—G in fours, and the title-page.

In prose and verse. This, from the libraries of Mr. Jolley and Mr. Corser, is believed to be the only copy known of a re-issue, with a fresh title and the preface cancelled, of Nixon's tract, printed in 1613, "A Straunge Foot-Post," of which an imperfect copy, formerly Heber's, was sold among Mr. Corser's books. The title-page, with the names of the petitioners on the back of it, and the preface, together two leaves, were taken out of the latter, and have been inserted in this copy of 1616. Both issues bear the same woodcut on the title.

NIZAMÍ. The Five Poems [Khamsa = Quinio or Quinary] of the Persian poet Mohammed ben Yusuf Shaikh Nizám ud Dín of Gandj, known as Nizami. Sm. folio.

Beautifully written, with illuminated opening pages. Executed at Shíráz, by Mírzá Ácá-sí (Aghassi) Nádd 'Alí el-Hoseini, in A. H. 1234-1237 (about 1819). In a native binding, magnificently lacquered, painted with birds and flowers, and inlaid with texts from the poet, forming such a specimen of modern art-work as can rarely be seen.

Nizami lived in the twelfth century of our era, and flourished under the patronage of the Seljúk king, Kilidj Arslán. His five romantic poems (Khamsa) are also called Pandj Gandj (the Five Treasures), a title which puns upon his own name Gandjí, derived from his birthplace. In imitation of Nizami most later Persian poets have attempted a "khamsa," but no one has equalled him. The names of the poems are as follows, the sixth being a very rare supplement to the fifth:—

1. Makhzan ul Asrar مخزن الاسرار. Treasury of Secrets.
2. Khosrú va Shírín خسرو و شیرین. Adventures of the two famous lovers, Khosrú and Shírín.
3. Díwání Sháh Behrám دیوان شاه بهرام. Poem of King Behrám Gur, the son of Yezdejiro.¹
4. Leila ú Majnún لیلی و مجنون. Loves of the Dark Lady and her Frenzied Suitor.
5. Iskender-námeh اسکندر نامه. Romantic History of Alexander the Great.
6. Sharaf-námeh شرف نامه. Continuation of Alexander's story. This is so scarce that very few MSS. contain it, and Hammer, when writing the history of Persian poetry, knew nothing of it, conjecturing that death or a change of mind had caused Nizami to stop short at the end of vol. i. (It is also called the Ikbál-námeh, or the second volume of the Iskender-námeh.)

¹ The Díwání Sháh Behrám is better known as the Heft Peiker هفت پیکر, or Seven Beauties, as it consists of a succession of stories told by seven princesses on seven days of the week.

The anonymous writer of this narrative says, in his address to the reader: "I am a better Souldier then a Scholler, therefore expect no eloquence or refined speach, I abhorre not the English I was borne to, neither will I go about to plucke from the Inkhorne any solemne Paraphrases." He tells us that he was a follower of the Earl throughout his journey, and wrote down the present account to beguile the spare time both on land and on shipboard.

Della Avaritia de Precipi Moderni. [Third title.] A Monsignore Messer Hercole Fregoso Novella della Eloqvenza. [Senz' alcuna data.] Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

A—D in fours; A—C in fours; A—E in fours. The last leaf bears the errata to the three pieces.

M. Brunet gives 1550 as the probable date of this rare volume. On the title to the first novel is a woodcut with a monogram, which is reproduced by Nagler, "Monogr. Lex.," vol. iv., No. 1527, from a book dated 1532. He is, however, unable to explain its signification.

NOVUS ORBIS. Novus orbis Regionvm ac Insularvm veteribvs incognitarvm unà cum tabula cosmographica, & aliquot alijs consimilis argumenti libellis, quorum omnium catalogus sequenti patebit pagina Adiecta est hvic postremae editioni Nauigatio Caroli Cæsaris auspicio in comitijs Augustanis instituta. Basileae apud Io. Hervagium mense martio anno M. D. XXXVII. Folio.

Title and preliminaries, 24 leaves; a—Dd in sixes, except Dd, which has 8 leaves.

Following the eighteenth leaf of preliminary matter is a large folding woodcut map of the world, in two sheets, headed, "Typvs cosmographicvs vniversalis." This appears to be a map of extreme rarity. It is not mentioned in the collation given in Stevens's "Nuggets," and is very seldom found in the book.

NUGÆ ANTIQUÆ : Being a miscellaneous Collection of Original Papers in prose and verse Newly arranged, with illustrative Notes, by Thomas Park. London. . . . 1804. 2 vols. 8vo. Thick paper.

These volumes contain the text of what are usually known as the Harington MSS., and include letters, poems, and other literary documents of the highest interest and importance, written by the Harington family and others during the reigns of Henry VIII. and his immediate successors.

NUGÆ POETICÆ. Select Pieces of Old English Popular Poetry illustrating the Manners and Arts of the Fifteenth Century. Edited by J. O. Halliwell . . . London. 1844. 8vo.

Only 100 copies printed; the present was one of the six taken off on thick paper.

NUGÆ VENALES, sive Thesaurus ridendi et jocandi. Ad Gravissimos Severissimosque Viros, Patres Melancholicorum Conscriptos. Anno 1689. Prostant apud Neminem; sed tamen Ubique. Sm. 8vo.

Title and preface, 2 leaves; A—O 4 in eights; a frontispiece to face the title and a plate at p. 23; also a title, "Publius Porcius Poeta," to be inserted at p. 241.

NUÑEZ, ALVAR. La relacion y comentarios del gouernador Aluar nuñez cabeça de vaca, de lo acaescido en las dos jornadas que hizo a las Indias. . . . [Colophon.] Impresso en Valladolid, por Francisco fernandez de Cordoua. Año de mil y quinientos y cinquenta y cinco años. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Title and folios ii.-lvi. A second title to the "Comentarios" and the Prohemio, 3 leaves; the fourth page of the Prohemio is numbered folio lvii.; the book ends on folio cxliiii., which is wrongly numbered clxiii., making in all 146 leaves.

NUÑEZ, HERNAN. Refranes, o Proverbios en Romance, que nvevamente colligiò y glossò el Comendador Hernan Nuñez, Professor eminētissimo de Rhetorica, y Griego, en Salamanca. Title and preliminaries, 6 leaves; A—S in eights, except R, which has only 6 leaves.

The title is within a woodcut border. On folio 132 is a new title, "Epicedio de Valerio Francisco Romero, en la muerte del Maestro Hernan Nuñez."

"Primera edicion publicada por el maestro Fr. Luis de Leon, de quien es el erudito prólogo que lleua. Esta impresion es tan difícil de encontrar, que el editor de la de 1804 alega como principal motivo para reproducir la obra el haberse hecho rarissima la que se imprimió en Salamanca el año de 1555 por Juan de Canoua: verdad es que en la licencia de la de 1578, ya dice no se encontraban ejemplares."—Salvó.

NUREMBERG. Patricij Reipublicæ Nurnberg: Das ist. 83. Uhalte, Adelige Geschlecht, Daraus der Rath von 300 Jar hero erwölt, vnd noch das Regimēt füern zusam gebracht vnd an Tag geben. Folio. BR. M.

MS. on vellum. This sumptuous volume comprises eighty-three richly coloured drawings of full length representative figures of the different patrician families of Nuremberg, with the coat of arms belonging to each. The text gives an account of the public offices held by members of the different families from A.D. 1198 to 1620. The MS. was doubtless compiled, and the drawings executed, soon after the latter date.

— Geschlecht Buch desz Heiligen Reichs Stat Nurnberg Darinen alle alte vnd neue Adelige Geschlecht daraus der Rath von 300 Jaren hero erwölth wordn hierin zusam gebracht Anno 1610. Folio. BR. M.

Engraved title and eighty-two plates.

The engravings in this volume are etchings on iron plates. The figures represented are similar to the drawings contained in the preceding MS.

The Deuyll is endited yf many mens wordes be tru.

[Colophon.] Printed by Cornelis Woltrop dwellyng at saynt Antonies. [About 1570.] A broadside. Black letter.

In verse. Printed with type of foreign appearance in two columns, with four small woodcuts at the head.

Reprinted, with a facsimile of one of the cuts, in "Ancient Ballads," &c., 1867. The type used is very rude, and the orthography of some words unusual. It is probable that Woltrop, whose name is not otherwise known, was an Antwerp printer.

O., R. Mans Mortalitie : or, a Treatise Wherein t'is proved, both Theologically and Philosophically, that whole Man (as a rationall Creature) is a Compound wholly mortall, contrary to that common distinction of Soule and Body : And that the present going of the Soule into Heaven or Hell is a meer Fiction : And that at the Resurrection is the beginning of our immortality, and then Actuell Condemnation, and Salvation, and not before. By R.[ichard] O.[verton?] Amsterdam, Printed by John Canne. Anno Dom. 1644. 4to.

A—F in fours, besides a frontispiece by W. Bentley.

The frontispiece represents a skeleton, with one arm resting on a coffin, and with the other holding a spade. At the top is, "Sum quod eris. Fui quod es;" and in the left-hand corner is a sun-dial, with the motto beneath it, "Vt Hora sic Fvgiat vita." Under the engraving are six verses. The book itself is entirely in prose, but it is preceded by two pieces of commendatory verse by N. C. and S. R.

OATES, TITUS. Oates his Degrees. Being advanced to y^e Pillory, Debased to y^e Carte and expected by his old friend to higher preferment. Sold by R. Palmer against Somerset House. [May 18, 1685.] A broadside.

With a very curious engraving. In verse.

See Mr. Stephens's "Catalogue of Prints and Drawings in the British Museum," vol. i., p. 701.

OATH. The Othe of euerie Free man, of the City of London. Printed at London by Hugh Singleton.

A small quarto broadside, surmounted by a woodcut of the arms of the City.

Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c., 1867. This formula was printed from time to time. The present has the appearance of being a reissue, about 1600, of an edition printed by Singleton, the City typographer, about 1560 or 1570, with the original colophon retained.

[Absque nota.] 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Twenty leaves.

On the title is a small woodcut of St. Catherine, with nuns kneeling about her. On the back of the title is a large and very fine wood engraving, in which the Blessed Virgin is represented seated on a throne with the holy infant in her arms. On the right are SS. Eulalia and Catherine of Siena, and on the left SS. Dorothea and Catherine the Virgin.

a—gg 5 in eights, including title; a sheet “&” between z and aa.

It would appear from Brunet that the date 1544 was on the title, but such is not the case, at least in this copy.

Half-title, title, and other preliminaries, 41 leaves; A—Dd 4 in eights.

ODES. In Catilinarias Proditiones, ac Proditores Domesticos, Odæ 6. Oxoniz, ex Officina Typographica Iosephi Barnesii, Anno 1586. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Eight leaves, the first blank.

From Dr. Bliss's collection. The copy in the British Museum, described by Herbert in his edition of Ames, p. 1401, differs as to the imprint in having the words, " & veneunt in Cæmeterio Paulino, sub signo capitis Tygurini " between the printer's name and the date, so that two title-pages must have been printed to the tract.

These odes were composed by some loyal Oxonian on the occasion of Babington's conspiracy. On the back of the title is a latin dedication addressed to Dr. James and Dr. Heton.

ODES and Elogies upon Divine & Moral Subjects. London: Printed for Henry Bonwicke at the Red-Lion in St. Paul's Church-yard, 1698. 8vo.

B—F in eights, and the title-page.

The author of this volume is unknown, and no other copy of it has been met with. From some lines to Edwards on his "Gangræna," at p. 76, it might be inferred that these poems were written many years before they were printed. Of Glaucus, a poetaster, the writer says :—

"The Muses yet he does not quite despise, Tom-Thumb and Balads in the Streets he cries."

ÆCUMENIUS. Æcumenii et Arethæ, Expositiones antiquæ ac valde utiles brevitatem una cum perspicuitatē mirabilem, ex diversis Sanctorum patrum commentariis in Acta Apostolorum in vii. epistolas quæ Catholicæ dicuntur, in Pauli omnes. Veronæ, apud Stephanum et fratres Sabios. 1532. Folio. R. M.

OFFICE. L'Office de la Semaine Sainte, corrigé de nouveau par le commandement du Roy. Paris. [s. d.] 8vo.

Louis XIVth's copy. A fine example of old French bookbinding, the sides powdered with fleurs-de-lis and the letter L surmounted by a crown.

OFFICIUM Beatæ Mariæ Virginis secundum ordinem humilia-torum. Sm. 8vo.

MS. on 281 leaves of vellum, of the Florentine school, of the latter part of the fifteenth century. Size, $4\frac{7}{8}$ by $3\frac{1}{2}$.

This beautiful volume contains the following miniatures : P. 1. The Annunciation, within a border of jewels, on a black ground ; in the lower margin a female head in cameo. P. 2. Initial D. The Virgin and Child. P. 33. Initial D. An exquisite figure of a saint with a palm branch ; in the margin beneath, a child sitting on the ground, with orange trees, and a bird in a cage. P. 72. The Nativity, within a border on a black ground. P. 73. The disembowelling of a martyr-bishop. P. 86. The Adoration of the Magi, within a rich ornamental border ; in a medallion beneath, a head to represent the First Person of the Trinity. P. 87. Initial D.

St. John Baptist. P. 98. The Presentation in the Temple. P. 99. Initial D. St. Benedict. P. 110. The Flight into Egypt. P. 111. Initial D. Figure of St. Jerome. P. 122. Christ disputing with the doctors. P. 123. A figure of St. Peter in initial D. P. 150. The Betrayal. P. 151. A female saint in initial D. P. 162. The Baptism of Christ. P. 163. A figure of King David in initial D. P. 206. The Agony in the Garden. P. 207. Head of a bishop in initial C. P. 242. Christ bearing his cross, within an exquisite ornamental border. P. 243. A martyr with a cross in initial D. P. 260. The Crucifixion, with St. Mary and St. John. P. 261. The Descent of the Holy Spirit in initial D. P. 274. The Tomb of Christ, with figures of the Virgin and St. John, within an exquisite ornamental border; in a compartment at the foot is a mountainous landscape, with two gazelles. P. 275. Initial letter D. A child with a skull. P. 286. The burial of the Virgin, the bier surrounded by the twelve Apostles; in the side border a peacock on a tree, in the compartment at foot an ape in the foreground of a river landscape. P. 396. St. Jerome in prayer, with an exquisite landscape background; in a compartment beneath a boy seated on a water griffin. P. 397. Initial letter K. A female saint reading. P. 499. Initial letter O. The Saviour in prayer.

On the last leaf is an indulgence of Pope Sixtus IV., dated 1480, and the book was probably written and illuminated about this date.

OFFICIUM beate Marie virginis ad usum Romane ecclesie. [Colophon.] Explicit officium beate Marie virginis cum multis laudibus & deuotissimis orationibus. Impressum Ludguni expensis Bonini de bononis dalmatini Anno domini. Mcccc.lxxxix. die. xx. Martii. 8vo. Woodcuts. O. M.

Brunet quotes this edition, vol. iv., col. 168, but the title which he gives differs from this copy. It is probably quoted incorrectly by him, as the year and day of the month are the same, and the copy he describes has the same number of leaves. The first twenty-four leaves are without signature, and then follow sigs. A—T in eights. The engravings are more in the Italian than the French style. Bonini de Boninis does not appear to have printed anything himself later than 1491, when we find him quoted by Panzer as the printer of three books at Brescia, where he had been established as a printer for some years. He printed also at an earlier date at Venice and Verona.

The place and printer's name are alike fictitious. Indeed, it may be doubted if even the writer has not disguised his identity, and the book was not really from the pen of Bale, and from the Basle press. A volume published under the name of Olde, in 1555, bears the imprint of "Waterford," but Lowndes says that the types are the same as those found in the "Confession."

From Mr. Maskell's collection.

A most beautiful copy, with rough edges, in the original binding, of an edition hitherto undescribed. It consists of thirty-four leaves, including the title. It is bound in the same volume with the "Palmerin d'Oliva."

Neither Salvá nor Gallardo mention any edition between those of Seville, 1510, and Alcalá, 1604, though Brunet cites editions at Seville, 1544, and at Burgos, 1554. This edition of 1535 appears to have escaped the researches of all bibliographers, and is probably unique.

Title and preliminaries, 16 leaves; A—Vu in eights.

Antonio mentions the first edition of this work as printed at Madrid in 1595, and the second at the same place in 1608, but these dates are no doubt mistakes for 1596 and 1605. See Salvá's catalogue, No. 830. The work is a poem in nineteen books in octave stanzas. "It is," says Ticknor, "mainly historical, and ends at last with an account of the capture of 'that English pirate Richerte Aquines'—no doubt Sir Richard Hawkins, who was taken in the Pacific in 1594, under circumstances not more unlike those which Oña describes than might be expected in a poetical version of them by a Spaniard."

This curious volume is fully described in the Cicognara Catalogue, No. 1992, but neither there nor in Brunet is the most important fact respecting it mentioned, namely, that it is a veritable block book, the whole of the text being engraved on wood. It is the only known work of the kind printed in Italy, and it is remarkable that it should have appeared at so late a date. Count Cicognara assigns to it the date of 1510-12, but it is probably several years later than that. The name of Giov. Andrea Vavassore is found appended to editions of Ariosto in 1549-56, as the publisher. Count Cicognara thus concludes his notice of the book:

“Le stampe sono di bella esecuzione, e provengono da disegni di diversi maestri, alle quali non può assegnarsi una data più antica del 1510 ovvero 12, giacchè alcuna (siccome avverti l'Ab. Zani) è presa dalla passione di Alberto Durerò, e fra le altre poi esattissimamente quella ove N. S. scaccia i Profanatori del tempio, che dal maestro tedesco si pubblicò nel 1509. Alcune altre poi sono rozze, ed alcune sembrano provenire possino da'bei disegni dei Bellini, del Carpazio dello Squarçione o del Montagna come probabilmente sarà. Questo Vadagnino pubblicò diversi anni dopo anche la vita di Esopo volgarizzata dal Tупpo.”

Title, 1 leaf, with woodcuts on each side; prologue and calendar, 8 leaves; a—z in sixes; &, 6 leaves; 2, 6 leaves; 9, 6 leaves; A—B 4 in sixes, the last leaf having only the woodcut found at the back of the title repeated on the recto, the verso being blank. The title is in facsimile.

Preceding the colophon is “Lenuoye of Dane James the translator,” from which it appears that the book was printed at the cost of Richard Sutton, steward of Syon Monastery. In Herbert's Ames, i., pp. 158-9, is a very full account of the book.

printer to his moste royall Maiestie. In the yere of our Lorde. M.D.XLVIII. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum. 4to. Black letter. BR. M.

A—C 2 in fours.

Following the title is Edward the Sixth's Proclamation, setting forth the authority and circumstances under which this first edition of the Protestant Communion Service was compiled and published, "least euery man phantasiyng and deuisyng a sondry way by hymself, in the vse of thys moste blisshed Sacrament of vnitie, there myghte thereby arise any vnsemy and vngodly diuersitie."

Twelve leaves.

At the end is an address "Pio lectori," which is signed, "A. A. S. D. Th." To these initials a contemporary hand has filled in the name of A.[lex.] A.[lesius] S.[cotus], and it is most probable that Alex. Ales was the translator of this work, as he was also of the Prayer book of 1549.

— The Order of Matrimony. Hebre. xiii. Let wedlocke be had in pryce in all poyntes and let the chamber be vndefyled. Imprinted At London by Anthony Scoloker Dwelling in the Sauoy rentes. Without Templebarre. Cum Priuilegio ad Imprimendum solum. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

a—b 4 in eights.

From Mr. Corser's collection. Herbert, in his edition of Ames, p. 749, describes the tract from a copy in his own possession.

This is probably a translation from a form of matrimony in use among some body of foreign Protestants.

ORDER OF THE HOSPITALS. The Ordre of the Hospital of S. Bartholomewes in West-smythfielde in London. [Quotation from 1 Epist. John ii. Chap.] Londini, Anno 1552. [?] [Colophon.] Imprinted at London by Rycharde Grafton, Printer to the Kynges maiestie. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A—I in eights.

Following the title-page is a long and interesting preface, setting forth the circumstances and conditions under which this hospital was founded in the preceding reign for 100 sick persons, and endowed with 1,000 marks a year, half to be given by the Crown and half by the Corporation. At the end we find, "A daily seruice for the poore," "The Letany and Suffrages," a thanksgiving, and, lastly, "A passeport to be deliuered to the Poore," i.e., a certificate delivered to each inmate on leaving.

The last figure of the date on the title is so indistinct that it is impossible to say if it is intended for a 2, a 3, or an 8. Herbert quotes an edition of 1553 which was probably identical with this.

Die Veneris 11 Februarii. 1647[-8]. Imprinted at London for John Wright at the Kings Head in the old Bayley. 1647. 4to.

Four leaves.

From Mr. Jolley's collection. It is to be presumed that the ordinance of October 22, 1647, had not been found stringent or effectual enough.

— An Additionall Ordinance of the Lords and Commons assembled in Parliament : Concerning dayes of Recreation, allowed unto Schollers, Apprentices, and other Servants London printed for John Wright at the King's Head in the old Bayley. 1647. 4to.

Title and table, 4 leaves, marked Aa; the work, A, 6 leaves; B, 4 leaves; C, 8 leaves; D—NN in fours and eights alternately; (no sigs. Y or Z); Oo—Pp in sixes, the last leaf bearing the printer's device on its recto, and on the verso the title repeated.

Second edition in English, W. de Worde having originally printed it in 1502.

A—L in fours, the last three leaves of sheet L being blank.

Printed at Antwerp, by C. Plantin, about 1559. The blank leaves are in this copy filled with five additional chapters in contemporary MS., the two first of which relate to the exclusion of heresies or heretics from the Order: "Chap. xvii. Que l'election d'aucun suspect d'hérésie sera de nulle valeur. Chap. xviii. Que les chevaliers et officiers feront garder les Ordonnances de l'eglise par leurs subjectz."

— Les Ordonnances de l'Ordre de la Toison d'Or. [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Printed on vellum.

This edition has eight preliminary leaves, the first blank, and pp. 1-83. It is described by Brunet as the second. It was from the same press as the first edition, and probably printed a year or two later.

[Sine loco aut anno.] 4to.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves, the first blank; A—M in fours, the last two leaves blank. Included in the preliminary leaves are two copperplate engravings by Cornelius Galle, representing the arms and the collar of the Order.

Both editions of this translation were no doubt printed at the same press as those in French described above,*and at about the same date.

One hundred leaves, besides the title. With headpieces engraved by Benjamin Cole, after designs by Boitard. From Mr. G. Daniel's collection.

ORRERY, ROGER BOYLE, EARL OF. Poems On most of the Festivals of the Church. Composed by the Right Honovrable, Roger Earl of Orrery. Printed for Henry Herringman at the Anchor in the Lower Walk of the New-Exchange. 1681. Folio.

Title, 1 leaf; preface, 2 leaves; dedication "To my Mother the Church of Christ in Ireland," 1 leaf; "On the Day of the Incarnation of the Blessed Virgin," 1 leaf; B—V, 2 leaves each.

A posthumous publication. It appears, from the peculiar and almost unmistakable character of the type employed, that the whole of the body of this scarce volume was set up and printed at Cork, and the stock or edition, after the writer's death, transmitted to London, where the title-page and preface were added.

The present copy has on the flyleaf, "Frances Shaen her Book given her by my Lady Dowager of Orrery. 1680," and on the other side a second inscription belonging to 1685.

From the collections of Dr. Bliss and Mr. Corser. The former notes: "See Walpole's Royal and Noble Authors, by Park, vol. 5, pp. 191-3. See a very good account of Lord Orrery in the Biographia Britannica, art. Boyle. Horace Walpole had never seen this volume, which he describes as printed; but he knew neither the size nor date. Mr. Brand had a copy in MS. dated 1678, and entitled, 'Poems on the chiefest Holy-daies in our Churches Kalendar.' It will be remarked from the MS. entry of Frances Shaen above, that this vol. was antedated. It was evidently published in 1680, although dated in the following year."

It may be added that the heading at the beginning of the main part of the book is, "Poems on the Cheifest Holy Dayes In the Kalendar of The Chvrch."

A—KK in eights and fours alternately; LL, 6 leaves. Sigs. Y and Z are omitted.

This edition of 1532 is alike unknown to Ames and Lowndes. Beneath the title as given above is the printer's device, which occupies the remainder of the page.

ORUS APOLLO NILIACUS. Ori Apollini Niliaci, de sacris notis & sculpturis libri duo, vbi ad fidem vetustī codicis manu scripti restituta sunt loca permulta, corrupta ante ac deplorata. Quibus accessit uersio recens, per Io. Mercerum Vticēsem concinnata, & observationes non in-frugiferæ. Parisiis Apud Jacobum Keruer. MDLI. . . . Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, 10 leaves; pp. 1-240, and 2 leaves unpagged, the last bearing only the printer's device.

OS. Os facies mētū. [Colophon.] Impressum Antwerpia. per me Johannem de Doesborch. [s. a.] 4to.

Four leaves.

The three words, as given above, are printed in large letters over a woodcut (representing a scribe at work in his cell) which occupies the rest of the page. The work itself is a vocabulary of Latin and English, and begins at the back of the title. The first two lines run thus :—

" a mouth	a face	a chyne	a toth	a throat	a tonge	roffe of the mouth
Os	facies	mentū	dens	guttur	lingua	palatum
a berde	a browe	abrye	a forhede	tēples	a lype
Barba	supercilium	cilū	frons	tēpora	labrū.

This and a copy in the library of Mr. Christie-Miller are the only ones known, and are both deficient of a few words, some of which have in each case been supplied from the other. The leaves making up the two copies were found in the cover of an old Dutch book.

OSBORNE, M. A Newe Ballade of a Louer/ Extollinge his Ladye . To the tune of Damon and Pithias. [At the end.] Finis q. M. Osb[orne]. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London, in Fletstrete at the signe of the Faucon, by Wylliam Gryffith. 1568. A Broadside. Black letter.

Nine stanzas of eight lines each, in two columns, divided (except the first, which is printed across the page, with the music) by a band composed of four small woodcuts unconnected with the subject.

Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c., in 1867. No other copy is known.

OSORIUS, HIERONYMUS. An Epistle of the Reuerend father in God Hieronymvs Osorivs Bishop of Arcoburge in Portugale, to the most excellent Princesse Elizabeth by the grace of God Quene of England Translated oute of Latten in to Englishe by Richard Shacklock M. of Arte and student of the Ciuill Lawes in Louaine. Imprinted at Antwerp by Ægidius Diest, Anno M. D. LXV. Sm. 8vo. R.

A—K in eights.

On the back of the title are two stanzas of seven lines, headed "The Translatovr." The concluding pages are occupied by an epistle from Shacklock "To M. Doctor Haddon," from Antwerp, 27th March [1565].

— A Learned and very Eloquent Treatie, written in Latin by the famouse man Hieronymus Osorius Bishop of Sylua in Portugal, wherein he confuteth a certayne Aunsweere made by M. Four leaves. In prose and verse.

On the title are some verses headed, "To King Gowty-Legs," i.e., Fairfax, signed M[ercurius] M[elancholicus].

OVALLE, ALONSO DE. Historica Relacion Del Reyno de Chile, Y de las misiones, y ministerios que exercita en el la Compañia de Iesvs. En Roma, por Francisco Cauallo. M.DC.XLVI. Folio. R. M.

Before the title a leaf which begins, "Varias y cvriosas noticias del Reino de Chile;" title and preliminaries, 4 leaves; A—Lll in fours; then 3 leaves of woodcuts paged 1-6, followed by 6 others paged 1-12; a large folding map; and plates at pages 51, 59, 91, 93 (2 plates), 104, 170, 186-7 (3 plates), 289, 302, following 322 are 9 plates containing 25 portraits of Governors, preceded by a leaf printed in large letterpress capitals beginning, "Gvbernatores perillvstres;" then follow 12 half-length portraits preceded by a similar leaf beginning, "Invicti duces;" at 393 a plate of the Virgin, inscribed beneath, "Vera efigies alterius."

— Historica Relacion del Reyno de Chile. Roma M.DC.XLVI. Folio.

This edition corresponds with the other in every respect except that the two leaves which precede respectively the portraits of the "Gubernatores" and "Invicti duces" are printed from copper plates instead of letterpress.

— *Historica Relatione Del Regno di Cile, E delle missioni, e ministerii che exercita in quelle la Compagnia di Giesv. A nostro Signor Giesv Christo Dio Hvomo, & alla Santissima Vergine, e Madre Maria Signora del Cielo, e della Terra, & alli Santi Gioseffo, Gioachino, Anna suoi Parenti, & Aui. A—V in eights.

It must be considered somewhat doubtful whether the contents of this volume, in its enlarged shape, not only did not proceed from more than one pen, but whether Overbury had any hand at all in the supplementary matter. For an account of some of the corruptions, with which all the early printed texts abound, see Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," ii., 66-70.

— The First and Second part of The Remedy of Loue. Written by Sir Thomas Overbvry Knight. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes, and are to be sold by Iohn Wels at his shop in Fetter-lane and in the Temple. 1620. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—B in eights, first and last leaves blank.

A posthumous publication, dedicated by the publisher "To the worthy Gentleman, and his much honoured friend, Master Iohn Onley." Of this book, which is printed with a type border at the top and bottom of the page, the only other copy known is in the British Museum.

It is not improbable that there was an earlier edition of this little volume; for "a booke called the 'Remedie of Loue'" was registered by George Norton, 21st of November, 1614. See Arber's "Transcript, iii., 256.

— Sir Thomas Overbvry His observations in his Travailes vpon the State of the XVII. Provinces as they stood Anno Dom. 1609. The Treatie of Peace being then on foote. Printed. MDC. XXVI. 4to.

A—D 3 in fours.

A—F in eights.

This is one of the early reprints of the original and most rare impression of Marlowe's translation of Ovid's Elegies and Davies's Epigrams. Though it bears the imprint of Middleburgh, it was no doubt from a London press. The original edition may be assigned to 1596 or 1597 ; but the present reissue can hardly be earlier than 1620. Here the elegies precede the epigrams, whereas in the first edition the epigrams occur first, the elegies following with a separate title-page.

A—H in fours.

This facetious tract, written in the style of "The Raven's Almanac," by Decker, 1609, is dedicated to Sir Timothy Thornhill by the publisher. There is also "The Owles Epistle to the Rauens," in which Decker's tract is mentioned. On the title-page is a woodcut of an owl in a study, standing on a chair, and holding a pen in its claw.

The work is reviewed at some length by Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," ii., 80-3), who seems inclined to attribute it to Decker from the terms of the epistle above-mentioned. Mr. Corser ("Collectanea," v., 171), considers that it may safely be attributed to Decker. From Mr. Corser's collection.

OXINDEN, HENRY, OF BARHAM. Common-place book, 1647-60. Folio.

MS. From the library of Lee Warley, dispersed at Canterbury a few years ago. This is a singular collection of prose and verse, religion and licentiousness. It contains anecdotes of Marlowe, Jonson, &c. The volume, which is in the original vellum binding, is lettered on the back, "Miscellany, 1617. MS. by H. O." On one side of the cover occurs, "Lee Warley, Canterbury, 1764," with "Adjutor meus esto Deus," "Hodie mihi, cras alteri," and other mottoes.

This curious volume contains, among other matters, a list of 122 old English plays, bound in six volumes, at that time (1647-60) in the possession of Oxinden.

— Religionis funus, & hypocritæ finis. . . . Londini, Excudit Tho. Whittaker, M.DC.XL.VII. 4to. The edges uncut.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL
DESCRIPTIONS.

“L'étude de la bibliographie, si aride en apparence pour qui ne la considère que superficiellement, est loin, pour qui l'examine de plus près, d'être dépourvue d'un certain charme; elle offre à l'esprit observateur bien des faits curieux, bien des anecdotes piquantes, bien des rapprochements singuliers. Voilà pourquoi sans doute plusieurs hommes de lettres distingués, des poètes même, se sont livrés à cette étude avec autant d'ardeur que de succès.”—BRUNET.

Title and preliminaries, 6 leaves ; folios 1-lxij.

"A poem formidable for its length, since it fills above a thousand stanzas of nine lines each. It is partly an allegory, but wholly religious in its character, and is composed with more care than anything else its author wrote. The action passes in the twelve signs of the zodiac, through which the poet is successively carried by Saint Paul, who shows him, in each of them, first, the marvels of one of the twelve Apostles ; next, an opening of one of the twelve mouths of the infernal regions ; and lastly, a glimpse of the corresponding division of Purgatory."—Ticknor.

"Obra rarísima [desconocida á Nic. Antonio. La Serna cita una edicion de 1529 que nunca he visto. La confundirá acaso con la del Ritablo de la vida de Cristo hecha en Alcalá en dicho año ?"—Salvá.

The work was reprinted at London in 1843 by the Canon Riego.

In Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i., 549), this edition is described as consisting of only 79 leaves, but there are really 84.

This book was entered to E. Alde in November, 1587, upon condition that "he get yt orderly authorysed and allowed to be printed, when yt is translated into Englyshe." It was again entered to V. Sims in 1595, and to John Danter in August, 1596.

[PALAFOX Y MENDOZA, JUAN DE.] Virtudes del Indio. [S. l. n. a.] 4to. R. M.

A—F in eights, the last leaf blank, without title or preliminary matter.

"Palafox fué un segundo Las Cásas en esponer al gobierno español el estado miserable y desesperado de los Indios, y en abogar por que se tomaran medidas eficazes para mejorar la suerte de aquellos infelizes. Su zelo y humanidad sobresalen en esta esposicion al rei y en ella encarece, quizas con demasiada pasion ó parcialidad, las buenas cualidades y disposiciones des los indígenas del Nuevo-Mundo. Por esta razon logró este tratado el título de Virtudes del indio; pero como es tan cierto que veritas odium parit, fué necesario sin duda, imprimirlo ocultamente hácia el año de 1650, sin portada, sin fecha y sin lugar, y como probablemente el número de ejemplares que se tiró fué mui corto y sin mas objeto que el de distribuirlo entre ciertas personas, es hoi día uno de los libros mas raros que existen relativos á los asuntos de America."—Salva, No. 3373.

A—Y in fours; no sig. Z; Aa—Cc in fours, Cc 4 blank, besides the title (within a border) and a leaf of dedication.

First edition. Dedicated to Sir Francis Drake in twelve Latin verses, after which is an address to the reader, dated from Munday's house at Cripplegate, 5 Feb., 1589-90. On the last leaf, the translator announces the history of "Primaleon" and the first book of "Amadis of Gaul." But no editions of either of these romances in English, prior to 1595, are now known.

In the Stationers' Register is the entry: "9 Januarii [1589] John Charwood Entred for his copie. The honorable histories of Palmendos and Premalion of Grece, Sonnes to the famous emperour Palmerin D'Oliua of Constantinople Devided into. vii. seuerall bookes or partes . . . vj^d."

The only other copy of which any notice has been found is that in Heber's catalogue, which was damaged.

Part 1. A—Dd in eights. Part 2. A, 4 leaves; B—Ff 3 in eights.

Dedicated by Munday, the translator, to Mr. Francis Young, of Brent-Pellam, in the County of Hertford, Esquire, and to Mrs. Susan Young, his wife, which is followed by a second inscription to the Gentlewomen of England, and a Latin epigram by R. W. in praise of the work. From Heber's collection.

PALMERIN DE OLIUA & sus grandes fechos. Nueuamente emprimido. [Colophon.] Emprimido en Venetia por Gregorio de Gregorius. a. xxiii. del mes Nouiembre. M.D.XXVI. Folio. Black letter.

Folios i.-cxxxvii., including title.

A remarkably tall and clean copy with the 128th leaf, which is blank. The only copy known to Brunet was that in the Bibliothèque Nationale, which has no title-page, and he accordingly copied the title which he gives from folio 11. Salvá appears to have known the edition only through Brunet. In the catalogue published in England by the elder Salvá, the existence of the edition was denied.

— Libro de Palmerin de Oliua y de sus grandes hechos. [Colophon.] Aqui haze fin la hystoria del muy esclarecido principe Palmerin de Oliua, emperador de Costantinopla. Fue impresa enla muy noble ciudad de Seuilla por Juan cromberger. Año del señor. M.d.xxxvi. Folio. Black letter.

One hundred and sixty leaves, including the title and a blank leaf at the end.

The book is in the finest possible condition in the original stamped calf. With it is bound the Olivares de Castilla previously described.

This edition is entirely undescribed by bibliographers. The earliest edition hitherto known to have been printed by Cromberger was that of 1540, and that appears to be known only through a copy which was described in a catalogue of Messrs. Payne and Foss in 1830.

A, 6 leaves ; B, 4 leaves ; C, 8 leaves, last blank ; followed by A—D in sixes ; no sig. E ; F—K in sixes, the last leaf of K occupied by Pynson's device on the verso, the recto blank ; no sig. L ; M—X in sixes ; no Y or Z ; AA—XX in sixes ; no YY or ZZ ; AAA—ZZZ in sixes ; A—Z in sixes ; &, 6 leaves ; ℥, 6 leaves, the last bearing only Pynson's large mark on the verso. Printed in two columns, with the device of Richard Pynson occupying the verso of the last leaf, the recto being blank.

The following interesting notice of this book is found in Ellis's "Original Letters," 3rd series, ii., p. 214, in a letter from S. Vaughan to Thomas Cromwell : "Right worshipfull Sir, I humblye commende me unto youe, and praye youe that whereas I am muche desirous t'atteyne the knowlage of the Frenche tonge which is to me so muche the more difficulte as neyther by any sufficient instructor ne any treatise heretofore made, I maye be easily lede to the knowlage of the same, and at my beyng at London made not a litle labour to Mr Palsgrave to have one of his books whiche he made concernyng the same, whiche in no wise he wolde graunt for no price, that ye wilbe so good Master to me as to healpe me to have one of them, not doubtyng but though he unkyndly denyed me one, he will not denye youe one. I perceyve that Palsgrave hathe willed Pynson to sell none of them to any other person then to suche as he shall comaunde to have them, lest his proffit by teching the Frenche tonge myght be mynished by the sale of the same to suche persons as, besids hym, wern disposed to studye the sayd tongue. If I had one, I wolde no lesse exteme it then a Jewell, wherefore I hartely praye youe to healp me to one, and for the same I shall sende youe some other thing to youe of muche more value. If it please youe to cause Willyamson to bring the same to my brother, William Pratt, he will convey it to me at all tymes. Syr, I remember Mr Palsgrave gave youe one of his books, whiche if it please you to geve me I wer much bounde to youe."

From this it is perfectly clear that Pynson was the printer of the work, but as no book with his name to it is dated after 1528, it is probable that Haukyns was employed to finish the work after his death. Pynson's original estimate for printing the book is preserved in the State Paper Office, and was printed under the editorship of Mr. F. J. Furnivall in the Transactions of the Philological Society, 1868.

"This volume is of equal rarity with the first edition of Fox's Martyrology, to which it forms the continuation. It appears from the preface that Fox had intrusted the continuation of his Martyrology to Patrick Hamilton ; but when there was no longer any hope of its being finished either by Hamilton or Fox, Pantaleon at last undertook the publication of it."—*Note by C. There is no clue to the author or place of printing. The cuts much resemble the work of Hans Guldenmundt, and the book was probably printed about 1550.

PAPISTS. The Papists Plot of Firing discovered, in a Perfect Account of the late Fire in Fetter-Lane, London, the Tenth day of April last. From the collections of Mr. Jolley and Mr. Corser. See Jolley's Cat., part ii., No. 1411, and Corser's "Collectanea," part vi., p. 325. It is also the same copy which was employed for the reprint in Brydges's "British Bibliographer," vol. iii., and contains at the end the additional poems from the editions of 1580 and 1600 in the handwriting of Mr. Thomas Park. Unfortunately, the title and all after L 4 are supplied in the same hand. The only complete copy of this impression appears to have been that sold among Mr. Hibbert's books in 1819. Between 1576 and 1606, this, the second in chronological order of the English poetical miscellanies, passed through at least eight editions, the greater part of which survive in single copies.

Several pages are devoted to an account of the copy in Mr. Corser's "Collectanea," from which the title given above between brackets has been derived.

PARASOLE, ELISABETTA CATANEA. Specchio delle virtuose donne. Doue si vedono bellissimi lauori di ponto in aria, reticella, di maglia, & piombini : Disegnati da Isabetta Catanea Parasole. In Roma, Appresso Antonio Facchetti. Alla Fontana di Treui. 1598. Sm. oblong 4to.

Forty leaves.

The title is in letterpress, the other thirty-nine leaves are wood engravings of lace patterns. The book appears to be quite unknown to bibliographers. If it appears in the catalogue of lace books appended to the last edition of Mrs. Bury Palliser's admirable work, the description is taken from this copy.

— Teatro delle nobile et virtuose donne, dove si rappresentano varij disegni di lauori nouamente inuentati, et disegnati da Elizabetta Catanea Parasole Romana. In Roma Lanno 1616. [At the end of the dedication.] Si vendono da Mauritio Bona, à piedi di Piazza Nauona. Oblong 4to.

Forty-six leaves, including title and dedication.

This title is engraved on copper. The dedication to "Donna Elizabetta Borbona d'Austria" is in letterpress, and the remaining forty-four leaves are designs for lace engraved on wood. This book was also unknown to Brunet and other bibliographers.

PARIS, ETIENNE. Homelies suyvant les matieres traictees es principales festes & solennitez de l'annee. Auteur maistre Estienne Paris, Euesque d'Abelonne, docteur en Theologie. Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves ; A—X in eights, the last leaf blank.

PARIS, ETIENNE. Claire & facile Exposition de la diuine Epistre S. Paul aux Ephesiens. On les vèd à Paris par la venfue Viuât Gaultherot, rue S. Jaques, à l'enseigne S. Martin. 1553. Sm. 8vo.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves; a—n in eights, the last leaf blank, and the last but one bearing the same colophon as in the "Homelies."

This work is bound with the "Homelies" described above, in one volume. The binding is an excellent specimen of French work of the sixteenth century. The sides are tooled to a very finely designed scroll pattern which is picked out with black, while the lines are in silver. On each side a coat of arms is emblazoned in the centre.

PARIS ET VIENNE. Folio.

MS. of the fifteenth century, written on 106 leaves of paper.

An inscription on the first page, showing that it was presented "A Mademoiselle Anne de Grauille dame du boys maslesherbes," may serve to identify it and give a clue to its history.

a—b in sixes, first leaf blank; a (repeated)—v in eights, first leaf of a blank, and sig. c wrongly marked; A—I in eights, last leaf blank. One leaf (a vi) of the table is in facsimile.

There is no title-page, the text begins on the 13th leaf after the table. The authorship seems to rest on the authority of Anthony a Wood, who says that the writer was a Carmelite at Doncaster, temp. Edward IV.

PARKER, MARTIN. The Nightingale warbling forth her owne disaster: or The rape of Philomela. Newly written in English verse, By Martin Parker. London, Printed by G. P. for William Cooke, and are to be sold at his shop neere Furneualls Inne gate in Holbourne. 1632. Sm. 8vo.

A—C 7 in eights, title on A 2.

Dedicated by the author to Henry Parker, Lord Morley, and Mount Eagle, &c., with whom, however, he does not claim any kindred. This is the only copy known, and is the one described in the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 536. It has been successively in the collections of Major Pearson, Mr. Midgeley, Mr. Strettell, and Mr. Corser. There is a facsimile reprint of the volume by Mr. Strettell.

"The author is pronounced by Ritson to have been 'a Grub-street scribbler, and great ballad-monger of Charles the First's time,' but, as it is well observed in one of Mr. Park's communications to the Censura Literaria, he possibly might have softened this stigma, had he met with the present poem, or had he known that Martin Parker was the author of those original words 'When the King enjoys his own again,' which, in Ritson's own words, was 'the most famous and popular air ever heard of in this country.'"—Bibl. Anglo-Poetica.

This precious little volume is in the finest state, with many uncut leaves.

— A True and Terrible Narration of A horrible Earthquake, which happened in the Province of Calabria (in the Kingdome of Naples, under the dominion of the King of Spaine) in Italy, upon the 27 of March last past according to Forraigne account, and by our English computation, the 17. on the Festivity of S. Clark, and are to be sold by T. Passinger at the three Bibles on London bridge.* 1673. Sm.8vo. Black letter. Woodcuts.

Eleven leaves. The last is blank, except a rude woodcut on the verso. In verse.

From the Heber, Utterson, and Daniel collections. The only other copy known is in the British Museum. The copy of 1640 in the Bridgewater library is supposed to be unique.

PARKER, MATHEW, ABP. OF CANTERBURY. A Booke wherein is contained most necessary prayers. and comfortable meditations to be vsed with ernest zeale often to be said of a godly & christian person. Sm. 8vo.

A MS. of the sixteenth century on seventy-eight leaves of vellum, written in imitation of italic type, within borders, with the initials illuminated.

Dedicated by Parker to his wife Frances Parker. It is in the original beautifully embroidered binding of a floriated pattern, but this has suffered much from use.

— A Defence of priestes mariages, stablysshed by the imperiall lawes of the Realme of Englande, agaynst a Ciuilian, namyng hymselfe Thomas Martin doctour of the Ciuile lawes. goyng about to disproue the saide mariages, lawfull by the eternall worde of God, & by the hygh court of parliament, only forbydden by forayne lawes and canons of the Pope, coloured with the visour of the Church. . . . Wright the younger, in the old Bayly. 1640. Sm. 8vo.*

A—B 4 in eights. A large and curious woodcut on the title-page.

This was, no doubt, the earliest appearance of the piece. It was licensed to John Okes, 18 June, 1640.

No other copy of this edition is known.

PARLIAMENT-MAN. The Six Distinguishing Characters of a Parliament-Man. Address'd to the Good People of England London: Printed in the Year 1700. 4to.

A—G, 2 leaves each.

PARNASSUS BICEPS. Or Severall Choice Pieces of Poetry, Composed by the best Wits that were in both the Universities before their Dissolution. With an Epistle in the behalfe of those now doubly secluded and sequestred Members, by One who himselve is none. London: Printed for George Eversden at the Signe of the Maidenhead in St. Pauls Church-yard. 1656. 8vo.

A—M 2 in eights.

The editor of this miscellany was Abraham Wright, of whom some account may be found in Wood's "Athenæ," iv., 275. Some of the contributions are biographically and historically valuable.

This was Heber's copy.

PARROT, HENRY. Epigrams. by H. P. Mortui non mordent. Imprinted at London by R. B. and are to be sould by John Helme at his shoppe in S. Dunstans Church-yarde, 1608. 4to.

A—H in fours.

Besides the works usually ascribed to Parrot, the Stationers' Registers attribute to his initials the at present unknown work called "Epigrams, or Humors Lolling," 1608, and to his name in full a very rare volume, which was sold among Mr. Heber's books, and of which the authorship has hitherto been unknown, "Gossips Greeting," 4to, 1620.

— Laquei ridiculosi: or Springes for Woodcocks. By H. P. London, Printed for John Busby, and are to be sould in S. Dunstans Church-yarde in Fleetstreet. 1613. Sm. sqr. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—Q in eights, the last leaf blank.

The words "Caueat Emptor" sometimes occur on the title-page in the place of the author's initials.

"Several of the satiric squibs here published collectively made their appearance in the Epigrams printed in 1608, also in 'The More the Merrier,' 1608, and 'The Mastive,' 1615. A few of Sir John Harington's may also be traced in this volume. It is divided into two books, containing 224 in the first, and 215 in the second, ending with some English and Latin concluding lines."—Bibl. Anglo-Poetica.

The copies which have the motto "Caueat Emptor" on the title, have also a slight variation in the imprint, the words "at his shop" being inserted after "sould." The most important variation in the two issues has, however, not been noticed by bibliographers. It is that the copies without the author's initials on the title have a Latin address to the reader, of three pages, signed with the author's name in full at the end, and this is followed by a leaf bearing six lines of Latin verse on the recto, while the verso is blank. Thus making seven preliminary leaves instead of four.

— The Mastive, or Young-Whelpe of the Old-Dogge. Epigrams and Satyrs. Horat: — Verba decent iratum plena minarum. London, Printed by Tho: Creede, for Richard Meighen, and Thomas Iones, and are to be sold at S. Clements Church, without Temple-Bar. 1615. 4to. R. M.

A—I in fours, title on A 2. Large cut on title.

The address to the reader is signed only with the author's initials. The printer's notice at the end informs us that certain faults escaped in consequence of the author's absence from the press, "who," he adds, "thereto should haue giuen more due instructiōs."

Only two other copies are known. One in the British Museum (the B. A. P. copy, and imperfect), and the other at Britwell, formerly Constable's. The present is from the libraries of Mr. Bright and Mr. Corser, and is quite complete with the exception of the words "Temple-Bar" and the figure 5 in the imprint, which have been restored.

PARRY, WILLIAM. A True and plaine declaration of the horrible Treasons, practised by William Parry the Traitor, against the Queenes Maestie. The maner of his Arraignment, Conuiction and Execution, together with the copies of sundry letters of his and others, tending to diuers purposes, for the proofes of his treasons. Also an addition not impertinent thereunto, conteyning a short collection of his birth, education and course of life. Morcouer, a fewe obseruations gathered of owne wordes and writings, for the farther manifestation of his most disloyall, deuilish and desperate purpose. *At London by C. A—M in eights ; “Leicester’s Ghost,” with a new title, A—C 2 in eights.

A portrait of Lord Leicester is inserted. This was Dr. Bliss’s copy, afterwards Mr. George Smith’s. On the fly-leaf is the following MS. note in the handwriting of the former: “This volume contains not only ‘Leycesters Commonwealth,’ but two copies of the Poem frequently, but not always, appended to that tract and entitled ‘Leycesters Ghost.’ These vary in several particulars, more especially in the omission (in the second) of no less than five entire stanzas in one page. See Walpole’s ‘Royal and Noble Authors,’ by Park, vol. 2, p. 64. Wood’s ‘Athenæ Oxon.,’ edit. 4to. I have collated the first of the ‘Ghost’ with a MS. in Christchurch Library, marking all the variations of any importance, but not noticing mere verbal and literal errors, &c. The MS. is in folio, A 5.” Dr. Bliss adds on another leaf: “Ascribed by some to William Cecil, Lord Burleigh.”

The title to the duplicate copy of the Leicester’s Ghost belongs in fact to another issue of the entire volume, including the poem, and differs from that given above in mentioning the Ghost, and in attributing the “Commonwealth” explicitly to Robert Parsons.

PART OF A REGISTER. A parte of a register, contayninge sundric memorable matters ; written by diuers godly and learned in our time, which stande for, and desire the reformation of our Church, in Discipline and Ceremonies, accordinge to the pure worde of God, and the Lawe of our Lande. [Three quotations from St. Luke.] See the contentes of this Booke on the next leafe. [No place, printer’s name, or date.] 4to. BR. M.

Title and contents, 2 leaves ; A—Zzz 2 in fours.

The volume concludes with “a Prayer for the Faithfull,” the last article mentioned in the table ; but in this copy is annexed: “A briefe aunswere to the principall pointes in the Archbishops Articles. Also certayne reasons against subscription to the booke of common prayers, and the booke of articles, as followeth : Written about añ. 1583.” 3 leaves. After this comes a tract without any title-page, called: “A demonstration of the trueth of that Discipline which Christ hath prescribed in his worde for the gouernement of his Church, in all times, and places, vntill the end of the world.” [By John Udall, 1588.] A—L in fours, the last leaf blank.

In Mr. Maskell’s History of the Martin Marprelate Controversy, p. 25, a full account of the contents of this volume is given, and from this it appears that the three pieces at the end form part of the book. Two of them are given in the table of contents, but are printed at the end instead of being inserted in their proper places.

PARTHENEIA SACRA. A, 4 leaves; a, 4 leaves; B—Y in fours.

With two portraits of Partridge inserted. This is the copy of Partridge mentioned by Lowndes as bound by Roger Payne. Inside the cover is his very curious bill for the work, amounting to 16s. for washing, sizing, mending, and binding. He describes the volume as "bound in the very best manner, the Back lined with Russia under y^e Russia cover. Finished very neat Lettering very correct & is a Specimen of curious Russia work not clumsy but exceeding neat."

Mars 1657. 12 pp. [The words sur la copie, &c., were only used as a blind ; this is the first impression of the letter.]—Lettre av R. P. Annat, svr son escrit qvì a povr titre, La bonne foy des lansenistes, &c., 8 pp., dated Ce 15. Januier 1657.

In later editions certain asperities of expression were softened away for fear of consequences. Instances are in the words, “rendre la Sorbonne méprisable,” in the last paragraph but one of the first Letter, which are changed to “rendre la Sorbonne moins considérable” in all the other editions. Letter III., 4th paragraph, “accusations si atroces . . . des plus détestables erreurs,” in first edition ; “Accusations si surprenantes . . . des plus grandes erreurs,” in the others. Other variations of the same kind will be observed on comparison.

The last letter in the volume is usually attributed to Pascal, although assigned by the critics to Nicole, who had the assistance of Pascal in its revision.

From the remarks concerning the textual modifications, must be excepted the Elzevir edition in sm. 8vo of 1657, which was the first edition of these Letters as a whole work, and was reprinted without alteration from the separate letters issued in pamphlet form as above described.

— Les Provinciales Ou Lettres escrites Par Louis de Montalte, a un provincial de ses amis . . . A Cologne, Chés Pierre de la Vallée M.DC.LVII. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

 1626. Sm. 8vo.

A—M 5 in twelves.

In a dedicatory epistle to Monseigneur le Masuyer Vicomte d'Ambrieres, the author speaks of a work previously published by him, entitled "Le Tableau des Gaules," but neither of his works is mentioned by Brunet.

PASCAROLA. Canto di Don Gio. Thomaso de Benedicti da Pas-carola. Il primo libro de Madrigali a cinque voci. Nouamente posto in luce. In Venetia Ad instantia di Scipion Rizzi Napolitano all'insegna del Giesù. 1589. 5 parts in 1 vol. 4to. R. M.

A—V in fours, including the titles to the five parts.

This writer was quite unknown to Fétis. The dedication is addressed, "Al molto illvstre Signor mio et padrone sempre observandissimo. Il Signor Giovan Thomaso Saracino," and is dated, "Da Napoli il dí vltimo di Febraro 1589."

[PASQUIER, ETIENNE.] Le Catechisme des Jesuistes, Ou Le Mystere d' Iniquité, Revelé Par ses Supposts, par l'examen de leur Doctrine, mesme selon la Croyance de l' Eglise Romaine. À Villefranche, Chez Guillaume Grenier, 1677. Bound in 2 vols. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

This volume is acknowledged to be by the learned Etienne Pasquier, although it is not included in the collected edition of his works. It was first printed in his lifetime in 1602, without his name, and with the imprint of "Villefranche, Guillaume Garnier;" but in both editions the imprint is equally fictitious. The first is supposed to have been executed in Paris; that of 1677 is attributed to a Dutch press.

PASQUILLORUM Tomi duo. Quorum primo uersibus ac rhythmis, altero soluta oratione conscripta quamplurima continentur, ad exhilarandum, confirmandūq, hoc perturbatissimo rerum statu pij lectoris animum, apprimè conducentia. Elevtheropoli [Basileæ]. MDXLIII. 8vo. O. M.

Title, preface, and index, 8 leaves; pp. 1-537.

PASQUILLUS. Carmina ad Pasquillum posita. Anno. M.D.XI. [Colophon.] Impressum Romæ per Jacobum Mazocchium Romanæ Academiæ Bibliopolam. Anno M.D.XI. Dic. vi. Maii. 4to.

A—D in fours; E, 6 leaves, the last blank.

The earliest Pasquinade quoted by Brunet is 1510, but this of 1511 he seems never to have met with. On the title is a large woodcut of a man in a black habit and headdress preaching from a pulpit.

— Carmina ad statuam Pasquini in figuram Martis presenti Anno. M.d.xii. conuersi. [Sine loco aut anno.] 4to.

Ten leaves.

This is spoken of by M. Brunet as a second edition of the "Carmina apposita Pasquillo. M.D.XII.," but it is more probable that it is a distinct publication, especially as the lines he quotes from what he calls the first edition are not to be found in this. On the title is a large woodcut of Mars in armour.

PASQUILLUS. Carmina Apposita Pasquillo anno. M.D.xiii. [Sine loco aut anno.] 4to.

Fourteen leaves. On the title is a large woodcut of Apollo with his bow.

— Carmina Apposita Pasquillo An. M.D.Xiiii. [S. l. et a.] 4to. Sixteen leaves, with large woodcut of Mercury on the title.

Though Brunet chronicles the "Carmina" of 1513 and 1515, he makes no mention of this impression for 1514. He mentions, however, a similar publication for the same year, entitled "Versi posti a Pasquino."

— Carmina Pasquilli año 1518.—Versi posti a pasquillo de anno. 1518. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

The prior of these pieces consists of twenty leaves and the latter of four leaves. On the title of each is a woodcut which represents Pasquin speaking to a Palmer. Neither of them is mentioned by Brunet. They are both without any indication of the place of printing, but were no doubt printed at Rome in the year to which they relate.

A—H in fours, last leaf blank.

From the collections of Mr. Jolley and Mr. Daniel. It is the only copy of this impression which has come under notice. The first edition, 4to, 1604, includes "a brown dozen of Gulls," not found in this, or, it is believed, in any issue posterior to that of 1609.

PASQUIN OF ROME. A recantation of famous Pasquin of Rome. An. 1570. Imprinted at London by John Daye. Sm. 8vo.

A—D 3 in fours. In verse.

PASQVIN ov Coq-a-l'Asne de Covr. [S. l.] M.DC.XVI. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

Eight leaves. A political satire in verse. Undescribed by Brunet.

PASS, CRISPIANUS. Effigies Regvm ac Principum, eorum scilicet, quor. vis ac potentia in re nautica seu Marina præ cæteris spectabilis est. Quibus propter materię affinitatem adiectę sunt et imagines præstantissimorum ac maximè illustrium heroum, quorum virtus ac solertia in expeditionibus nauticis præcipuè claruit. Summa diligentia et artificio depictæ, et tabellis æneis incisæ à Crispiano Passæo Zelando. Adiectis in singulas Hexastichis Matthiæ Quadi chalcographi. [Sine loco aut anno.] Folio.

Engraved title, followed by 6 leaves of letterpress, the first of which is headed: "Initivm artis navigandi, eivsqve præcipvi avtores et actores, in præsens vsque sæculum." This introduction ends on the recto of the sixth leaf with the words: "Vale igitur, ac frueri. Coloniae Agrippinæ, anno 1598. ipso die Theophoriæ Coloniensis."

Then follow portraits of Clement VIII., Philip II. of Spain, Henry IV. of France, Queen Elizabeth, James VI. of Scotland, Christian IV. of Denmark, Sigismund III. of Poland, Mahomet II., the Doge Pascali Ciconia, Maurice of Nassau, Andrea Doria of Genoa, Christopher Columbus, Americus Vesputius, Ferdinand Magellan, Francis Pizarro, René Laudonnière, Sir Francis Drake, Thomas Cavendish. Then follow four plates of ships, "Imagines coeli septentrionales," 1 plate; "Imagines coeli meridionales," 1 plate; concluding with a double plate of the two hemispheres.

It is difficult to understand why this book should be described in Brunet as an oblong 4to, and in the Grenville catalogue as a "long narrow 4to." The letterpress is printed in a full folio page, and the volume opens as an ordinary folio.

PASS, CRISPIANUS. Regiæ Anglicæ Maiestatis pictura, et Historica declaratio. Ultraiecti apud Crispianum Passæum Zeclan: anno Sal: human: 1613. 4to.

This is a reissue of a set of plates originally published in 1604 to some copies of which a letterpress in Dutch was appended, but in this issue the portrait of Queen Elizabeth is withdrawn and that of James I. is most curiously altered, the high-crowned hat is cut down to half its height, a large lace collar is added, and the shape of the beard and of the brim of the hat is altered and the face is widened; the portraits of Queen Anne and Prince Henry are very slightly altered, but of course the impressions are inferior. There are six portraits added, viz., Charles, Duke of York (afterwards Charles I.); the Princess Elizabeth; Frederick IV., Count Palatine of the Rhine; his wife, the Princess Louisa of Orange; Frederick, Prince Palatine; and Count Maurice of Nassau.

Prefixed to this edition is a German text of ten leaves with the following title: "Abbildung desz Durchleuchtigen Hochgebornen Fürsten vnd Herrn, Herrn Friderichs desz V. disz Nahmens, desz Heyligen Römischen Reichs Churfürsten, Pfaltzgraffen bey Rhein Vnd der Durchleuchtigen Hochgebornen Fürstin vnd Frawen, Frawen Elisabeth, ältesten Tochter desz Königs in grosz Britannien, Frankreich vnd Irrlandt, jhrer Fürstlichen Gnaden Gemahlin, Beneben jhrer Königlichen vnd Churfürstlichen Eltern vnd nechsten Blutsverwandten. Durch Crispinum de Passe in Kupffer geschnitten, Darbey auch verfügt worden ein kurtze Beschreibung jhrer Hochheiten, Ankunfft, Stammes, Hewrath, Verwandtschaft, sampt der Reyse, durch die vereinigte Nederlanden newlicher zeit verrichtet. Getruckt zu Arnheim bey Johan Janson im Jahr M.DC.XIII."

Above the imprint is a pretty copper-plate engraving of two hands clasped, a crown above and a coronet below them.

In the Grenville library is the edition with the date, "Coloniae 1604," on the engraved title, and a text in Dutch of sixteen leaves is prefixed, with a title, beginning, "Af-beeldinge Der Coninghinne Elyzabeth," and the imprint, "T'Arnhem, By Jan Janszoon," but without date.

A—K in fours.

This is believed to be the earliest book printed in the German language on the subject of fencing. It is undescribed by all bibliographers. As a German book printed in Roman type at the beginning of the sixteenth century it is a curiosity, though the "Romance of Tyturrell," printed at Augspurg in 1472, is a much earlier specimen of the same peculiarity.

— PAVSANIAS. Pausanias. [Colophon.] Venetis in Aedibus Aldi, et Andreae Soccri Mense Iulio. M.D.XVI. Folio.

Title and preface, 2 leaves; a—s 6 in eights.

An exquisite specimen of ornamental binding of the sixteenth century.

From the library of Pierre Ernest, Comte de Mansfeld [1517-1604]. Specimens from this collection are of great rarity, but are not less remarkable for their beauty than volumes from the library of Henry II. of France and Diana of Poitiers. The Comte de Mansfeld was taken prisoner of war at Ivoy by Henry II. of France, in 1552, and did not regain his liberty till 1557. It was probably during this time that he acquired a taste for costly bookbindings.

The sides are tooled with an interlaced design, such as is seen in some of the early Italian lace-pattern books. This pattern is picked out with white, blue, red, and green, and the interstices dotted with gold "aux mille-points." In the centre is a coat of arms surmounted by a coronet. The edges are gaufered and gilt, and the volume is in as perfect condition as though it had only just left the binder's hands.

— Pausaniæ Græciæ descriptio accurata, Græcè, cum Latina R. Amasæi interpretatione. Access. Hylandri et F. Sylburgii annotationes ac novæ notæ J. Kuhnii. Lipsiæ. 1696. Folio.

PEACHAM, HENRY. The Art of Drawing with the Pen, and Limming in Water Colovrs, more exactlic then heretofore taught and enlarged: with the true manner of Painting vpon glasse, the order of making your furnace, Annealing, &c. Published, For the behoofe of all young Gentlemen, or any els that are desirous for to become practitioners in this excellent, and most ingenious Art. By H. Pecham, Gent. At London, Printed by Richard Braddock for William Iones, and are to be sold at his shop at the signe of the Gun neere Holburn Conduit. 1607. 4to. Woodcuts. G. M.

A—K in fours.

From Sir W. Tite's collection. This is the second edition, the first having been in 1606.

PEACHAM, HENRY. Graphice Or The Most Avncient and Excellent Art of Drawing and Limming, disposed into three Bookes. By Henrie Peacham, Master of Artes, sometimes of Trinitie Colledge in Cambridge. In Genium peccare nefas. London Printed by W. S. for John Browne, and are to be sold at his Shop in S. Dunstanes Church-yard in Fleete-streete. 1612. 4to. Woodcuts. R.

A—Z in fours, Z 4 with the errata only.

Dedicated to Sir Edmund Ashfield, Knight, a deputy-lieutenant for Buckinghamshire. In the epistle to the reader Peacham speaks of this as a new and enlarged edition of his "Art of Drawing," and as having been written by him for the benefit of his own pupils. There are commendatory lines by John Thorpe.

From the libraries of Brand, Heber, and Corser.

— Minerva Britanna or a Garden of Heroical Deuses, furnished, and adorned with Emblemes and Impresa's of sundry natures, Newly devised, moralized, and published, By Henry Peacham, M^r. of Artes. London Printed in Shoe-lane at the signe of the Faulcon by Wa: Dight. 1612. 4to. Woodcuts.

A—Ff in fours.

Dedicated to Henry, Prince of Wales, whose arms are on the back of the title. There are preliminary verses by the author himself, Thomas Heywood, Sir William Segar, Garter, E.[dward] S.[tory?] and others.

— The Period of Mourning. Disposed into six Visions. In Memorie of the late Prince. Together With Nuptiall Hymnes, in Honour of this Happy Marriage betweene the Great Princes, Frederick Count Palatine of the Rhene and The Most Excellent, and Aboundant President of all Virtve and Goodnes Elizabeth onely Daughter to our Soueraigne, his Maiestie. By Henry Peacham, M^r. of Arts. London: Printed by T. S. for John Helme, and are to be sould in Saint Dunstanes Churchyard in Fleetstreet. 1613. 4to.

A—H 3 in fours, title on A 2.

Dedicated to the Lord Mayor and two of the Aldermen of London.

— A Most Trve Relation of the Affaires of Cleve and Gvlick, As also Of all what hath passed this last summer, since the most Excellent and Victorious Prince, Mavrice of Nassav, tooke the field with his Armie, encamping before Rees in Cleueland: and the losse of Wesel, taken in by the Marques Spinola: Vnto the breaking vp of our Armie in the beginning of December last past. 1614. With the Articles of the Peace, propounded at Santen. By Henrie Peacham. London, Printed by W. Stansby for Iohn Helme, and are to be sold at his shop in Saint Dunstons Churchyard, vnder the Diall. 1615. 4to.

A—F 2 in fours, title on A 2. With a copper-plate engraving on the back of the title, emblematical of the virtues of Sir John Ogle, to whom the volume is dedicated.

It appears, from the terms of the inscription to Ogle, who was Governor of Utrecht, and colonel of a regiment of horse in the employment of the Dutch Government, that Peacham had personally visited the seat of war, and the address is dated from Breda. In the preface to the reader he refers to "a ridiculous and lying pamphlet," which had appeared on the same subject.

PEACHAM, HENRY. The Compleat Gentleman. Fashioning him absolute in the most necessary & commendable Qualities concerning Minde or Bodie that may be required in a Noble Gentlemā. By Henry Peacham M^r. of Arts Sometime of Trinity Coll. in Cambridge Anno 1622. Imprinted at London for Francis Constable and are to be sold at his shop at the white liö in Paules churchyard. 4to.

A—Ee 2 in fours, except X and Y, which have five and six leaves respectively.

Dedicated to William Howard, youngest son of the Earl of Arundel. The title is engraved by Delaram.

— The Compleat Gentleman: Fashioning Him absolute in the most Necessary and Commendable Qualities To which is added the Gentlemans Exercise or, An exquisite practise, as well for drawing all manner of Beasts, as for making Colours, to be used in Painting, Limming, &c. . . . The Third Impression much enlarged, especially in the Art of Blazonry, by a very good Hand. London, Printed by E. Tylcr, for Richard Thrale 1661. 4to.

A—Mmm in fours, including the frontispiece, besides a duplicate sheet, Qq.

There is a separate title to "The Gentleman's Exercise." This edition has the engraved title printed from the same plate as that of 1622, a new date being scratched in, and a new imprint substituted. The author of the additions signs an address to the reader with his initials, "M. S."

Malone first pointed out that, although this is called the third impression on the title, it was really the fifth; but the truth seems to be that the volume was merely reissued in 1625 and 1627 with the date altered by the pen, that in 1634 there was a real second edition, and in 1661 a third. Not more than four issues of the work, at all events, are known.

— Coach and Sedan, Pleasantly disputing for Place and Precedence; The Brewers-Cart being Moderator. Spectatum admissi, risum teneatis amici? London: Printed by Robert Raworth for Iohn Crowch; and are to be sold by Edmund Paxton, dwelling in Pauls chayne, neere Doctors-Commons. 1636. 4to.

A—G in fours.

The authorship of this piece has hitherto been unknown, but the following entry in the Stationers' Registers determines the question satisfactorily: "February 9 1635-6, a booke called 'A dispute betweene Coach and Cedan, by Henry Peacham.'" See Arber, iv., 328.

PEACHAM, HENRY. The Valley of Varietie: or, Discourse fitting for the Times, Containing very Learned and rare Passages out of Antiquity, Philosophy, and History. Collected for the use of all ingenious Spirits, and true lovers of Learning. By Henry Peacham M^r. of Arts, Sometime of Trinitie Colledge in Cambridge London. Printed by M. P. for Iames Becket, at his shop at the Inner-Temple Gate in Fleetstreet. 1638. Sm. 8vo.

Pp. 1-117, including title. At the end is a separate leaf, "Præsentis Ecclesiae Anglicanae typvs." At the end of the preface are six copperplate engravings representing the persecutions endured by the English Catholics.

PERSIAN CALLIGRAPHY. A volume containing exquisite specimens of writing in four styles, Extracts from Persian poetry and Arabic prayers; with richly illuminated borders and ornaments, and 12 large Miniatures; executed by Ábú 'l-Cásim of Shíráz, in the Hijra year 1228 = A. D. 1813-14. Sm. folio.

The first portrait is that of Fat'h 'Alí Shah, the then reigning sovereign of Persia, and is dated 1234 (1819). The second is not marked, but from the lack of beard may be intended to represent Fat'h 'Alí's predecessor and uncle, the eunuch Ághá Muhammed. The third, fourth, and fifth are also unnamed. The sixth is the semi-fabulous Kai Khosru (the Cyrus of the Greeks). The ninth is Chingíz Khán. The twelfth is Kai Kans, grandfather of Kai Khosru (and the Cyaxares of the Greeks). The others have no names.

The painted covers of the binding are finely executed and in keeping with the contents of the book.

PETERS, HUGH. The Tales and Jests Of M^r. Hugh Peters, Collected into one Volume. Published by one that hath formerly been conversant with the Author in his life time. And dedicated to M^r. John Goodwin and Phillip Nye. Together with his Sentence, and the manner of his Execution. London. Printed for S. D. and are to be sold by most of the Book-sellers in London. 1660. 4to. R.

A—E in fours, including a portrait.

The print has no engraver's name. It represents Peter preaching, with a wind-mill upon his head, and the devil looking over his left shoulder. The dedication to Goodwin and Nye is sharply satirical. The fifty-fourth tale relates "How mr. Peters jeered the Poet Withers." There is only one impression, but two title-pages were printed the same year.

PETRARCA, FRANCESCO DE. Opere varie. 4to.

MS. of the fifteenth century, of Italian execution. Written on 190 leaves of fine vellum. The first ten leaves are occupied with the index. The first page of the sonnets has a richly illuminated border, within which is a finely painted miniature of the poet seated in his chamber. Beneath this the work begins with the heading: "Sonetti et canzoni de mess. frā. pe. poeta laureato per la sua gloriosa Laura felicemente incomēciano." These sonnets end on the verso of folio 99, and on folio 101 is a miniature of the poet standing by the sea shore. The page is surrounded by an illuminated border. Beneath the miniature: "Sonetti & canzoni di mess frā. pe. poeta laureato per la morte de la sua diua laura felicemente in cominciano." These sonnets end on the verso of folio 139. Folio 141 has a richly illuminated border, and a miniature representing the Virgin and Child supported by four angels, beneath which "Oratione di mess. frā. pe. a la pietosa vergine di paradiso." This concludes on the verso of folio 143 with the name of the scribe and the date: "Gentilis de poetis. 1451." On folio 151 begin, "Triumpho di mess frā. pe. poeta laureato per la sua diua Laura," which end on the verso of folio 186. Folios 187 to the recto of 190 are occupied by other sonnets, and on the verso of 190 the volume concludes with Petrarch's account of his first meeting with Laura and of her death, in Latin. In old Italian morocco binding, with tooled sides.

— [Sonetti e Trionfi.] 4to. ($7\frac{3}{4}$ in. by $5\frac{1}{2}$ in.)

MS. on vellum, of very fine Italian execution, of the beginning of the sixteenth century, enriched with twelve very choice and highly finished miniatures and borders, by an artist of the school of Mantegna. In old Italian red morocco.

The illuminations in this beautiful volume are: 1. An architectural border supported by Amoretti. 2. The triumph of love. 3. A cinque cento border with coat of arms at the foot. 4. A lake with an island in the centre. 5. Love taken captive. 6. A cinque cento border. 7. A similar border. 8. Petrarch and Laura. 9. A cinque cento border. 10. The triumph of fame. 11 and 12. Ornamental borders.

— [Sonetti, Canzoni e Trionfi.] [Colophon.] M.CCCCLXXIII. Impressum ꝑ Antonium zarotū parmēsem. Folio. BR. M.

One hundred and thirty leaves. The text begins on the first leaf, and there is no note or comment throughout the volume.

This edition is described by Brunet as much rarer than that of Jenson, and Dr. Dibdin describes Lord Spencer's copy as being in "very wretched condition." The copy in the Grenville library has the first leaf supplied by an ingeniously deceptive facsimile, which was first discovered by Mr. Panizzi, through a pretended autograph of Zarotti which appears on the recto.

— [Sonetti, Canzone e Trionfi.] [Colophon.] Francisci Petrarcae Poetae excellentissimi Triumphus sextus et ultimus de eternitate expliciunt M.CCCC.LXXIII. Nicolao Marcello Principe regnante impressum fuit hoc opus foeliciter in Venetiis: Finis: Folio. BR. M.

Table, 8 leaves, the eighth blank; the text, 174 leaves; the life of Petrarch, 5 leaves. The colophon is on the 174th leaf of the text. This beautifully printed edition from the press of N. Jenson is very fully described in the "Bibl. Spenceriana," iv., No. 828.

Title and preliminaries, 12 leaves ; A—GG in eights.

— [I Trionfi.] 4to. R. M.

MS. on vellum of very fine Italian execution, of the end of the fifteenth century. Enriched with six very beautiful miniatures by an artist of the Florentine School. A capital letter occurs in each border, and these form the name IACOPO, which probably gives us the name of the artist or of the person for whom the volume was painted.

— The Triumphs of Love : Chastitie : Death : Translated out of Petrarch by M^{rs}. Anna Hume. Edinborgh, Printed by Evan Tyler, Printer to the Kings most Excellent Majestie. 1644. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A—G 7 in eights.

Dedicated by the translator, "To the most excellent Princesse her Highnesse, the Princesse Elisabeth, Eldest daughter to the King of Bohemia." Each of the "Triumphs" has a separate title-page.

— [On folio 1.] Capitula in librum Francisci petrarche de vita solitaria Incipiunt. [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio. R.

Eighty-nine leaves.

This volume is from the press of the typographer whose works are distinguished by the peculiar form of the capital letter R, but whose identity has never been satisfactorily established.

— [On folio 1.] Secretum Francisci Petrarche de Florēcia Poete laureati De Cōtemptu mundi Incipit Fœliciter. [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio.

The edition of fifty-three leaves ; thirty-four lines to the page. Printed about 1472.

— De los Sonetos, Canciones, Mandriales y Sextinas del gran Poeta y Orador Francisco Petrarca, tradvzidos de Toscano Por Salusque Lusitano, parte primera. Con breves svmarios, ò Argumentos en todos los Sonetos y Canciones que declaran la intencion del autor. En Venecia, En casa de Nicolao Beuilaqua. MDLXVII. 4to.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves ; A—V in fours ; X, 6 leaves.

No more than the first part was ever printed.

PETRONIUS ARBITER. Satyricon, cum notis variorum. Amstelodami. 1669. 8vo.

[PETRONYLLA. The Life of Petronylla.] [Colophon.] Empyntyd by Rycharde Pynson. 4to. O. M.

Four leaves. In the octave stanza.

The only other copy known was sold among Horne Tooke's books. This has belonged to Mr. Bright and Mr. Corser. A fragment is among Douce's books.

There is no title-page, the first leaf having only the printer's device on the recto, the reverse blank. Neither Herbert's nor Hazlitt's account is accurate. The first stanza runs as follows :—

“ The parfite lyfe to put in remembraunce
Of a virgyn moost gracious and entere
Which in all vertu had souereyn suffysaunce
Callyd Petronylla petyrs doughter dere
Benygne of porte humble of face and chere
All other maydyns excelled in fairenesse
And as hir legende pleyntyly doth vs lere
Though she were fayre more commēdyd for mekenes ”

There is no punctuation, and the leaves are without catchwords or pagination. The type bespeaks the tract to have been an early production of Pynson's press. It may perhaps be assigned to about 1496. The copy employed by Herbert was at that time in the possession of George Mason. Horne Tooke's copy was afterwards Heber's, and is now probably at Britwell.

See Ames's catalogue, 1760, No. 471, where this and six other valuable tracts are described. The lot realized one shilling.

“ Petronylla ” is reprinted from the present copy in “ Fugitive Tracts,” 1875, 1st series.

PETRUS BLESENSIS. Archidiaconus Bathoniensis. Epistolæ. [At folio 9.] Incipiūt epistole magistri Petri Blesensis bathoniēsis archidyaconi Quaz p̄ma vicem plogi cōtinet Ad regem anglia. [At the end.] Expliciunt epistole Magistri petri blesensis bathoniensis archidyaconi. [Sine ullā notā.] Folio. BR. M.

One hundred and ninety-nine leaves, preceded by eight leaves of table.

Hain attributes this edition either to Therhoernen of Cologne or the Brothers of Common Life at Brussels. By Brunet it is decisively attributed to the latter press.

PETTIE, GEORGE. A Petite Pallace of Pettie his pleasure : Conteyning many pretie Histories, by him set foorth in comely colours, and most delightfully discoursed.

Omne tulit punctum, qui miscuit vtile dulci.

A, 2 leaves, B—Z ii in fours.

The printer was Richard Watkins, to whom the work was licensed in 1576, and who about that date issued the present and two other editions of it, all with the same imprint. A copy of each of these is in the British Museum. Two of the editions do not vary much, but a third (in the Grenville collection) possesses an address to the gentlewomen readers from R. B. and G. P.[ettie's] letter to R. B. respecting the work, not found in either of the others, where the only introductory matter is an epistle from the printer to the reader.

It is a collection of twelve novels, viz., “ Sinorix and Camma,” “ Tereus and Progne,” “ Germanicus and Agrippina,” “ Amphiarus and Eriphile,” “ Icilius and Virginia,” “ Admetus and Alcest,” “ Scilla and Minos,” “ Curiatius and Horatia,” “ Cephalus and Procris,” “ Minos and Pasiphae,” “ Pygmalion,” and “ Alexius.”

From the collections of George Steevens and Mr. Swainson. The only others of this particular impression which have come under notice, are those in the British Museum, formerly Jolley's, and in the Bodleian, among Malone's books.

PETTIGREW, T. J. Bibliotheca Sussexiana. A Descriptive Catalogue, accompanied by Historical and Biographical Notices, of the Manuscripts and Printed Books contained in the Library of His Royal Highness the Duke of Sussex . . . London . . . 1827-39. 3 vols. Roy. 8vo. R.

PETTY, GUIL. Hiberniæ Delineatio quoad hactenus licuit, Perfectissima Studio Guilielmi Petty Eq^{us} Aurati. [Sin loco.] 1683. Folio.

Portrait, index, and thirty-six maps.

A very fine specimen of English binding of the seventeenth century. Red morocco inlaid with white and black, and richly and elaborately tooled in gold.

PEYTON, THOMAS. The Glasse of Time, in the two first Ages. Diuinely handled, By Thomas Peyton, of Lincolnes Inne, Gent. London, Printed by Bernard Alsop, and are to be had at Laurence Chapmans shop ouer-against Staple Inne. 1620. 4to. Woodcuts. G. M.

In verse. From the Jolley and Corser collections.

Title to part 1, engraved in compartments (the title in the centre), with a portrait of the author, an. æt. 31, in the lower right-hand corner, 1 leaf; dedications to Prince Charles and Lord Verulam, and "To the reader," 3 leaves; a leaf with the royal arms, Tudor rose, &c., and below, within a border, the posy, "Beati Pacifici," B—L in fours, L 4 blank; [a new title] "The Glasse of Time, in the second Age . . . Scene and allowed. London, Printed by Bernard Alsop for Lawrence Chapman . . . 1620," 1 leaf, within the same woodcut border in compartments; then M—Z 3 in fours.

Bindley's copy, bought at his sale by Mr. Rice (part 3, 1228), wanted the title to part 1. It appears that there were three editions, but it may be doubted if any of these survive in more than one perfect copy respectively.

PEZZI, LORENZO. *La Vigna del Signore, Nellaquale si dichiarono i Santissimi Sacramenti, et si descrivono il Paradiso, il Limbo, il Purgatorio, & l'Inferno: del R. D. Lorenzo Pezzi da Cologna; . . . [Colophon.] Gedruckt in der Kayserlichen Stat Nürnberg durch den Eltern Hannsen Schönsperger Burger zu Augspurg [1517]. Bound in 2 vols. Folio. Printed on vellum. Woodcuts.

a—z in eights, except d, i, o, r, v, z, which are in sixes; and A—P in eights, except C, F, I, M, O, which are in sixes. The fifth leaf of sig. P is blank. After sig. P come eight leaves containing a description of the cuts and the colophon.

From the Mac Carthy collection. Though in a few places the binder's knife has touched the typographical ornaments above the headlines it by no means justifies the description, "très rogné," which Brunet applies to it. It is rather that a few leaves have been carelessly placed too high by the binder than that the whole book is cut down, as has been proved by a comparison with another copy on vellum, and also with the very fine and tall copy on paper, which is also in the library.

PHÆDRUS. Phædri Augusti Cæsaris liberti, Fabularum Æsopiarum libri quinque; Notis perpetuis illustrati, & cum integris Aliorum observationibus In lucem editi à Johanne Laurentio. Amstelodami. 1667. 8vo.

Brunet remarks of this book that after the "Chartiludium logicæ" of Murner, it is the earliest attempt to instruct children in amusing them by engraved figures. It is the second book printed at St. Dié, the first being the celebrated "Cosmographiæ Introductio."

PHILIP III. OF SPAIN. Relacion del aparato que se hizo en la ciudad de Valencia para el recebimiento de la Serenissima Reyna Doña Margarita de Austria desposada con el Catholico y potentissimo Rey de España Don Phelipe Tercero deste nombre. Vendense en casa de Francisco Miguel a la calle de Caualleros. [Colophon.] En Valencia, En casa de Pedro Patricio Mey junto a S. Martin. 1599. Sm. 8vo.

Sixteen leaves.

This pageant appears to be of very great rarity. It is not mentioned by Brunet, nor is it in Señor Salvá's catalogue.

PHILIP IV. OF SPAIN. Relacion verdadera, en que se contiene todas las ceremonias y demas actos que passarō en la jura que se hizo al Serenissimo Príncipe nuestro Señor Don Phelippe IIII. Sixty-seven leaves, without catchwords, pagination, or signatures.

This volume is very fully described by Dr. Dibdin in the "Bibliotheca Spenceriana," vol. iii., pp. 176-9, where a facsimile of one of the woodcuts is given. That it was printed by Sixtus Riesinger of Strasburg there can be no doubt, as the device at the end clearly shows it to be his work; but whether it was executed at Naples or Rome is uncertain, as the printer had a press in the former town from 1471 to 1479, and in the latter from 1481 to 1483.

An edition of the book was printed at Rome in 1481, with woodcuts, but the designs are quite different from those in this book, and very inferior in every respect.

PHILIPS, KATHERINE. Poems. By the Incomparable M^{rs}. K. P. London, Printed by J. G. for Rich. Marriott, at his Shop under S. Dunstons Church in Fleet-strect, 1664. 8vo.

A—R 4 in eights, the first leaf having the imprimatur and the last the errata.

This is generally considered to have been a surreptitious edition of the poems Printed in folio in 1667. Some trouble was taken, it appears, to suppress the volume, but without success, as many copies of it exist.

PHILLIP, JOHN. An Epitaph on the death of the vertuous Matrone, the Ladie Mairesse, late wyfe to the right Honorable Lorde, (Alexander Auenet) Lord Maior of the Citie of London. Who deceased the . vii. Daie of July. 1570. [At the end.] Post Funcra viuut virtus. Quoth John Phillip. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London by Richarde Iohnes. A Broadside. Black letter.

Sixty-eight long lines, enclosed within a common border. Printed at the back of L. Gybson's "A very proper dittie."

Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c., 1867. Herbert, in his edition of Ames, p. 1134, mentions as licensed to Hugh Jackson in 1577: "Precious Perles of Perfect Godliness, &c. begun by Frances [Lady] Abergavenny, and finished by John Phillip."

The same author appears to have written an epitaph on Sir Alexander himself, licensed to John Kingston, 13th July, 1580, but not at present known. See Arber, ii., 171.

PHILLIS AND FLORA. The sweete and ciuill contention of two amorous Ladyes. Translated out of Latine: by R. S. Esquire. Aut Marti vel Mercurio. Imprinted at London by W. W. for Richarde Iohnes. 1598. 4to.

A—D in fours, title on A 2. In verse. Printed within woodcut borders.

A copy is in the British Museum, and another was in "Bibl. Heber.," part iv., No. 2447; but no others are known. This has belonged to Sir Masterman Sykes, Mr. Skegg, Mr. Bright, and Mr. Corser. Ritson, in his "Bibliographia Poetica," p. 321, says that George Chapman, in his "Ovid's Banquet of Sence," 4to, 1595, "has either made very free with the property of R. S. or been most cavalierly treated by that respectable esquire;" but see Wright's edition of the Poems of Walter Mapes, 1841, 258 and 363-4, where the tract is reprinted entire.

The only introductory matter is an address from the printer to the reader, in which the work is properly described as a translation.

Engraved title and preliminaries, 8 leaves ; A--N 3 in fours ; 18 plates.

There is in the library a second copy of this book, which differs in the preliminary and concluding leaves. The first has engraved title, followed by two leaves, "Dedicatoria," which end on the fourth page with the subscription, "Don F. Honorius Philonus [sic] Monachus S. Benedicti." The second copy has the same engraved title, but at p. 4 of the dedication the name in the subscription is correctly spelled "Philoponus," and beneath this begins an epistle "Ad lectorem," which ends on the following leaf. Then two leaves, "Observatio de magnete navtico," followed by a plate of an owl standing on a cushion. The plates follow as in the other edition. At the end of the volume are also the following differences. The edition which has only two preliminary leaves ends on page 101 with the word "Finis," and on the verso of the leaf is a list of the plates. In the issue with six preliminary leaves there is no word "Finis" on p. 101, but there is additional matter, entitled "Vaticinium de Messia et Evangelii ipsius predicatoribus," which extends to the foot of the next page. Then follows an unnumbered leaf, headed "Ordinis S. P. Benedicti," and at the bottom of the page is a list of plates, but they are directed to be differently placed to what they are in the other edition. On the verso of this leaf is a very long list of errata. Were these errata corrected in the other copy it might be concluded that the copy with the list of errata was the earlier, but such is not the case, as the errors of the press are the same in both copies. Some copies with only the two preliminary leaves have the extra matter at the end. Copies also vary as regards the plates. The first plate (which is not numbered) is a full-length figure of Columbus standing on the side of a ship; he turns to the right: and on the left is a large figure of a globe. Beneath is an inscription, "Almirante de nauios para las Indias. Wolff. Kilian sculp." But in some copies there is also a large folding plate which represents a figure of Columbus similar to that in the smaller one, but the ship on which he stands is shown at full, and there are many other figures of soldiers and monks. The execution of this print is inferior to that of the others, and there is no engraver's name.

In the advertisement it is stated to be uncertain to whom the authorship of this volume should be ascribed, as the MS. was in a handwriting corresponding with that of one undoubtedly in the autograph of Sir James Balfour, while the preliminary verses (addressed to Balfour) were subscribed to Henry Maule. But Maule's verses are merely commendatory, and there can be little doubt that the book may be assigned to Balfour.

This edition is cited by Brunet as though it were the earliest, but from Salvá's catalogue it appears that the first edition was printed at Madrid in 1636. This, however, does not appear to have contained the second part, concerning which Salvá observes: "Latasa, en el tom. 1. p. 167, observa que la Segunda parte se habia publicado por primera vez en Zaragoza el año de 1636."

So, 4 leaves; *, 4 leaves; , 1 leaf; map engraved by W. Rogers; A 3—Ee in fours, with a second map before the second book, and several woodcuts which count in the sheets.

The present copy has a duplicate title, slightly varying from that above given.

In the address to the reader the translator relates that he was induced to undertake the work at the earnest and repeated solicitation of Richard Hakluyt, who, he says, gave him a copy of Pigafetta, "intreating me very earnestly, that I would take him with me, and make him English: for he could report many pleasant matters that he sawe in his pilgrimage, which are indeed vncouth and almost incredible to this part of Europe." Hartwell, seeing no remedy, hereupon yielded. "I brought him away with mee. But within two houres conference I found him nibling at two most honourable Gentlemen of England, [Drake and Cavendish] whome in plaine tearmes he called Pirates: so that I had much adoo to hold my hands from renting of him into many mo peeces, then his Cosen Lopez the Doctor was quartered." He concluded, however, that the remarks were made less ex animo than ex vitio gentis, and entered on his labour.

A—D in fours.

Dedicated to the Governor and adventurers of the Province of New Albion. The dedication is dated 1648. On D 4 verso a vacant space is left for the name of an additional referee to be filled in, which has been done in the present copy in contemporary MS.

The original edition was doubtless published at Middleburgh in 1641 or 1642.

PLANTAGENET, BEAUCHAMP. A Description of the Province of New Albion . . . London, Printed by James Moxon, in the Year MDCL. 4to. O. M.

In this edition the dedication is dated from "Middleboro, this 5 of Decemb. 1641." It is of unusual interest, and was inserted at length in the privately printed volume of "Prefaces," &c., 1874, pp. 428-38.

The author describes himself as "of Belvil in New Albion Esquire," and a member of the company for the settlement of that province.

PLANTER. *The Planters Plea. Or The Grovnds of plantations examined, And vsuall Objections answered. Together with a manifestation of the causes mooving such as have lately undertaken a Plantation in New-England: For the satisfaction of those that question the lawfulness of the Action. In the notice to the reader, which is not signed, it is stated that this tract was "wrested out of the Authours hand, hardly ouerlooked, much lesse filed and smoothed for the Presse."

It is frequently found bound up with a sermon by John Cotton, entitled "Gods promise to his Plantation. 1630," and he is usually esteemed to be the author also of "The Planters Plea."

The second book printed at Friuli, where two books only were printed during the fifteenth century. The other is "Cronica de Sancto Isedoro," which will also be found in the catalogue.

Both in the Grenville catalogue and in Brunet some difficulty is made as to the number of leaves the volume should consist of, but it is perfectly clear from the register that it should contain eleven sheets of eight leaves each and one of six leaves, making ninety-four leaves in all, of which eighty-nine belong to the text, four to the table, and the last is blank.

This edition was doubtless printed in Italy towards the end of the fifteenth century, but no bibliographer has given even a conjecture as to the typographer or place of printing. It is very fully described in the "Bibliotheca Spenceriana," and a facsimile is given of the woodcut representing the Greek game of Cottabus, which is found at the end of the volume. The present copy is from the library of Prince Eugene of Savoy, with his arms on the sides.

There can be no doubt that the preface to this treatise was written by William Tyndale, and that it was printed at Antwerp in 1531, whence the preface is dated. The only other copies known are those in the Bodleian and British Museum. See also Tyndale's Exposition of the 1st Epistle of St. John in this catalogue.

PLOWDEN, PILGRIM. Farrago. Printed for the author. Price 2s. 6^d. sticht. To be sold only by Lawton Gilliver at Homer's Head, against S. Dunstan's church in Fleet-street. 1733. 8vo. BL. M.

Title and preface, 2 leaves; B—N 6 in eights. In prose and verse.

This copy is in the contemporary morocco cover, with the back and sides tooled and gilt. The volume is supposed to have been printed at Calais; the orthography is very singular. The author says at p. 165, that the book is intended to be of the same size as "the first edition of Prior's works," and the "authography" to surpass anything that has hitherto been done in England.

PLUNKET, CAPTAIN THOMAS. *The Character of A Good Commander, Together with a short commendation Of the Famous Artillery (More properly Military) Company of London; Also A Brief Encomium on the Great Duke, and worthy Prince, Elector of Brandenburg. POETICAL AND PROSE MISCELLANY. A volume in the original vellum wrapper, containing the following treatises in MS. of the 15th century. Folio.

1. Here begynneth the compleynte betwene God and Man. A poem in seventy-two stanzas of eight lines each. At the end is the following note in the autograph of John Stow the chronicler, "Here endithe the complaynte of god to man, and was made by Master william lichefield doctor of divinitie, and parson of allhallows the more in thames strete in london, he died in anno. 1447. the 14. of october and made in his tyme. 3083. sermons as apered by his owne hand writinge, and were found when he was deade." See Ritson, "Bibl. Poet.," p. 64, and Warton's "History of Poetry," 1824, v. ii., p. 413. It was printed by Wynkin de Worde about 1510, but the text differs materially from this MS. and contains about 100 extra lines. The only known copy of this edition was formerly in Heber's collection, and is described in his sale catalogue, pt. iv., 782. It is now in the possession of the Rev. J. Fuller Russell. It has also been printed by Mr. Furnivall from two MSS. in the Lambeth Library. Both of these differ from the MS. here described, one in having more and the other fewer stanzas.

2. How Merci & pees, Ryghtuisnes & Trouthe disputyd for the Redempciũ of Mankynde. Seventy-two stanzas of seven lines each, and three lines of a seventy-third stanza. The first stanza runs:—

Who is bonde & feteryd in presonne
Thynkyth longe aftyr delyuance
And he ý felith peynes & passion
Desyreth sore aftyr allegyance
And who ý is in sorw and penance
Lytylle wonder of hertely heuyesse
Though he kannot reles of his distresse.

3. Here begynneth the Stori of the blyssyd Passion of Crist Ihu. And the grete soruis of his blissid modyr Marie. 45 pages. Than aftir that Jesus was closyd in his Sepulcre. ye shul here the Stori of Joseph of Aramathye and Nichodemus. 19 pages. The begynnyng and endyng of Pilatys lyfe that Juced Crist Jhus to dethe, here folwyth. 3½ pages. Then follow the lives of St. Mary and the Apostles, ending with: Here begynnyth the seege and destruxan of Jerusalē & of the Jews aftyr the passion of Crist Jesus.

4. Here begynnyth the Pilgrymage and the Wayes of Jerusalem.

God ý made bothe heuen & helle
To the Lord I make my mone
And geve me grace ye sothe to tell
Of ye pylgrymage ý I haue to gone.

A poem of 868 lines. It is different from that printed in William Wey's "Pilgrymage to the Holy Land," Roxb. Club, 1857.

5. Chaucer's Tale of Melibœus, occupying 37 pages.

6. Chaucer's Monkes Tale, occupying 24 pages. "The modern instances; Peter of Spain, Prince of Cyprus; Barnate, Viscount of Milan; Hugolin of Pisa; are in their right places, in the body of the tale, and are not shifted to the end as in so many MSS."—Note by Mr. Furnivall.

7. Hic Incipit parvus Catho. [On the second folio.] Hic Incipit magnus Catho. Sixty-three stanzas of six lines each. The first stanza runs :—

Whan I aduerte to my remembrance
And see how sele folkes erren greuously
In the wey of vertuus gouñance
I have supposed in myn hert that I
Oughte to supporte & couñeylle prudently
Them to be vertuus in luyng
And how they shal themself in honoure bryng.

8. Cherle & Byrde. A Poem by John Lydgate, in fifty-four stanzas.

9. The Horse the Sheep and the Goose. A Poem by John Lydgate, in twenty-nine stanzas.

10. A poem of seven stanzas of seven lines each, on Conduct and Manners, on Misrule and Goodrule.

POETRY. A volume containing a variety of fugitive pieces, epigrams, elegies, satires, &c. Many anonymous, some by Carew, Cleveland, Beaumont and Fletcher, Donne, and other known writers. Sqr. sm. 8vo.

From the libraries of Lord Kingsborough and Joseph Haslewood, to whom it was presented by Alexander Chalmers. Mr. Haslewood has written some notes and made a few collations on the blank interleaves, particularly opposite the elegy on Richard Burbage (folios 174-7). This volume is referred to in Mr. Grosart's edition of Donne's poems. At p. 125 is a copy of the "Praise of Melancholy," which, as pointed out by Haslewood, occurs in the "Nice Valour," by Beaumont and Fletcher. The lines on the burning of a petty school at p. 147, of which Haslewood has given a second version, are common in MS., and have been printed more than once. W. Browne's verses on Dr. Vaux (p. 115) also occur in the Lansdowne MS., 977, from which they were printed by Brydges and Hazlitt. At p. 60 we have Randolph's poem "on the inestimable content he enjoys in the Muses," &c.

— MS. Records of the Muse Original and Selected, Gathering felicitous Ideas and distinguished Effusions by K. James, Beaumont, Fletcher, Herrick, Donne, Pembroke, Rudyerd, Carew, Randolph, Buc, Suckling, Corbet, &c. With many of uncertain authors, who flourished during the elden days of Q. Elizabeth, K. James I. and Charles Ist. & IInd. 2 vols. in 1. Folio. BR. M.

The title above given is prefixed to the first of two volumes of early English poetry in MS. formerly in the library of Joseph Haslewood, and sold with Lord Kingsborough's collection at Dublin, No. 624. The MSS. were then divided into two volumes, with special title-pages prepared by Haslewood, and bound by Charles Lewis. They have since been rebound in one volume, but are otherwise unaltered.

There are five pieces of poetry on separate leaves inserted at the beginning of the volume; these are: 1. The well-known poem beginning "Go soull the boddies guest," dated 1595. 2. "As I walkt in a month of May." Six five-line stanzas. 3. "Why artt thou proudd thou peacock of thy plumes." [At the end.] "Finis. Farewell to Bewtie." Six six-line stanzas. 4. "As yow cam from that holly land, off Wallsyngham." 5. A fragment. [At the end.] "Finis. John Dorye." Then begins the volume itself, written in different hands of the 17th century. Among the pieces contained in it are the following; Page 11. Against Astrologers. 5. The husband's charge departing from home to his wife. 6. Doctor Corbet's Letter to the Duke of Buckingham in Spaine. 9 b. The description of a Woman. 10. Amor Posthumus "As unthrifts mourne in strawe for their pawn'd beds." 12. Mr. Herrick's Country Life. 14. Mr. Herrick's Farewell to Poetry. 16. Mr. Herrick's Farewell to Sacke. 17. The time expired, thus he welcomes his M^{rs}. Sacke. 19. On the Countess of Somersett. 21. An Elegy upon the Death of M^r. Washington, one of Prince Charles his Pages, who dyed in Spaine. 23. To his peculiar friend M^r. John Weekes his age, he dedicates. "R. Herricke." 26. Oberons feast. 27. A Reformed Taylour. 28. By King James. Ye women that doe London loue soe well. 29. On the Blasing Starre by King James. 30. Parkinson's shade to the house of M^r. Pallavicini taking his death so ill. 30. Of the five sences. 32. If shaddowes be a pictures excellence. 33. Verses made on the Cou. of Somersett. 34. Duns [Donne] curse upon him that knew his M^{rs}. 35. Upon the loss of a Braclett. 39. Verses made upon S^t. Francis Bacon, Viscount Verulam. 43. Come Madame come all rest my powers defye. 46. To the Comedians of Cambridg who in their Acts before the King, abused the lawyers with false imposed ignorance, in two ridiculous persons, Ignoramus the master and Dulman the Clarke, John a Stiles student of the Coman Lawes wisheth a sounder judgment, and a more reverent opinion of their betters from Greys Inne. 47. Dulman the Clarke to John of Stile of Greys Inn sendeth greeting. 49. The Replication of Jehn a Stile, unto the Comedians answer after whose reioynder he will demurr in lawe for the insufficiency of the Plea. 51. Vpon a faire woman. 53. Upon an Hower Glasse. Ben Johnson. 53. The Curse. R. Herrick. 56. State Passages. There was some Policy as I believe. 59. Of Thomas Coriatt. Vaile Bonnetts Jigging festivals. 60. Now God preserve, as you well deserve. B. Jonson. 61. If all the day with fixed thought to rave. 62. To ower blessed St. Eliz : of famous memory y^e Humble Petition of her now most wretched & most Contemptible y^e Comons of England. 63. Since all things love why should not wee. 66. A valediction of Teares. 69. A valediction of my name in the Glass. 70. To the Countess of Bedford. 71. To his Mrs. the usurye of time. 74. Satire to Sir Nicho. Smith. 1602. 76. To Ben Johnson 9th November : 1603. 77. Now why should love a foot-boys place despise. 77. A dreame. 78. Heere wherby all, all saints inuokd are. 79. Elegy to the Lady Bedford. 86. Since she must goe and I must mourne, come night. 89. Upon Mercurivs Gallo-belgicus. 90. Mad paper stay and grudg not here to burne. 92. To Syr Henry Goodyear. 95. Thou art reprimed ould year, thou shalt not Dye. 96. Geo. D: of Buckinghame. Twas fatall unto the that in thy race. 97. A funerall Elegy on the Lady Haddington, who dyed of the Small Pox. 98. A Funerall Ellegy on the Death of the faire vertuous Penelope, late Lady Clinton. 99. A Funerall Ellegye on y^e Death of the famous Actor Richard Burbedg who dyed on Saturday in Lent the 13 of March 1618. 101. On the Pinn y^e choakd Mrs. Cotton by Hugh Holland. 105. Dr. Corbett to Mr. Alsburye upon y^e Comett. Nou : 1628. 106. My M^{rs}. Comaunding me to returne her letters. 107. Upon the Death of Mr. Beamond. 109. The Itinerary in y^e North. 10^{mo}. Aug. 1618. 123. Upon the Duke of Richmond who dyed on the Parliment day. 123. A gentlemans farewell to his Mrs. goeing to sea. 124. A Lamentation upon the conflagration of the Muses habitation being the foundation of J. C. or a description of the burning of A Petty schoole. 131. Vindiciæ Johnso. Since only what past ages had begunn. P. 137 of the Second volume. Sir Guy of Warwike. A poem in 108 stanzas in Spenserian Metre.

This list might be greatly extended, but a complete description of the pieces would occupy too much space.

In a discussion raised in "The Academy" respecting the acting of Mr. Irving, the elegy on Richard Burbage, of which a copy is contained in both of the collections of MS. poetry described above, was referred to, and the genuineness of some of the lines called in question, one writer expressing a most decided opinion that the lines beginning, "No more young Hamlett," &c., as printed by Mr. Collier, were forgeries. There can, however, be no doubt that these volumes are perfectly genuine. The handwriting is certainly of the seventeenth century, and after an inspection of these volumes the imputation of forgery has been fully withdrawn.

Without referring to the texts printed by Mr. Haslewood and Mr. Collier the two versions of the elegy are here printed verbatim et literatim.

From the octavo volume.

On ye Death of ye famous Actor
R. Burbadge.

Some skillfull limmer helpe mee, yf not soe
Some sad Tragadian to expresse my woe;
But (oh) hee's gon', y' could ye best both limme
And Act my greife, & onely tis for him
That I invoke this strange assistance to it
And in ye point call for himsele to doe it;
For none but Tully Tully's praise could tell,
And as-hee could, no man could act so well.
This point of sorrow for him none can drawe,
So truly to ye lyfe, this Map of woe,
This greifes true picture, wch his losse ha-bred;
Hees gon' & wth him w' a world are dead.
Oft haue I seeñe him leape into a Graue
Suiting ye person, (w^{ch} he us'd to haue)
Of a mad Loner, wth so true an Eye
That there I would haue sworne hee meant to dye
Oft haue I seene him play h^{is} part in Jest,
So liuely, yt spectators, & ye rest
Of his Crewes, whilst hee did but seeme to bleed
Amazed, thought hee had bene deade indeed.
Oh! did not knowledge check me I should sweare
Euen yet it is a false report I heare;
And thinke y' hee who did so truly faigne
Is only dead in Jest to liue againe.
But now this part hee Acts not playes tis known'
Others hee plaide but now hee acts his owne
Englands great Roscius, for w' Roscius
Was more to Rome yⁿ Burbadge was to us,
How to ye person hee did suite his face,
How did his speech become him & his pace
Suite with his speech. Whilst not a word did fall
Wthout iust weight to ballance it withall
Had'st t^u but spoke to death, & used y^e power
Of thy enchaunting tongue, but y^e first hower
Of his assault, hee had let fall his dart
And charmed bene by all thy charming Art.
This he well knew & to preuent such wrong
First cunningly made seisure of thy Tonge.
Then on ye rest t'was easy, by degrees
The slender Iuy Topps ye tallest Trees
Poets! whose glory t'was of late to heare

Y^r lines so well expres't; henceforth forbear
 And write no more, or yf you doe let 't bee
 In Comick scenes; For Tragiq parts you see Die all wth him; Nay rather sluce y^r Eyes
 And henceforth write nought else but Tragedies, Moist Dirgies, or sad Elegies, & those Mournfull Laments w^{ch} may expresse y^r woes
 Blurr all y^r leaves wth blotts, y^t w^t is writ
 May bee but one sad blacke, & upon it
 Draw marble lines, y^t may outlast y^e Sun,
 And stand like Trophies wⁿ ye world is done.
 Or turne your Inke to blood your pennis to spears
 To pierce & wound ye hearers hearts & eares.
 Enrag'd, write stabbing lines y^t euery word
 May bee as apt for murder as a sword
 That no man may suruiue after this fact
 Of ruthlesse Death eyther to heare or act
 And you his sad companions to whome Lent
 Becomes more Lenton yⁿ this Accident,
 Henceforth y^t wauering Flagge no more hang out Play now no more at all; wⁿ round about
 Wee looke & misse y^e Atlas of y^r spheare
 W^t comfort thinke you haue wee to bee there
 And how cann you delight in playing when Sad mourning so affecteth other men.
 Yf you will hang it out, yⁿ let it weare
 No more light colours, but Death's liuery beare
 Hang all y^r Howse wth Black, ye eaues it bears
 Wth Isicles of euer-melting teares.
 And, yf you euer chance to play againe
 Let nought but Tragedies affect y^r Scene
 And t^h (Deare Earth) y^t must enshrine y^t dust,
 By Heauen now committed to thy trust;
 Keepe it as precious as y^e richest Mine
 That lies entomb'd in ye riche wombe of thine
 That after times may know y^t much lou'd mould
 Frō others dust, & cherish it as gold.
 On it bee laid some soft, but lasting stone
 Wth this short epitaph endorst thereon;
 That euery one may reade & reading weepe
 Tis Englands Roscius Burbadge whom I keepe.

From the folio volume.

A Funerall Ellegye on ſ^y Death of the famous Actor Richard Burbedg who dyed on saturday in Lent the 13 of March 1618
 Some skilfull Limner helpe me, if not soe some sadd Tragedian helpe t'expres my woe but oh he's gone, that could both best; both Lime and Act my greife; and tis for only him that I inuoake this strange Asistance to itt and on the point inuoake himselfe to doe itt, for none butt Tully, Tullyes praise can tell,

and as he could, no man could act soe well,
 this part of sorrow for him; no man drawe, soe trewly to the life, this Mapp of woe
 That griefes trew picture, w^{ch} his loss hath bred hee's gone & wth him what, A world are dead which he reuiu'd, to be reuiued soe, no more young Hamlett,ould Heironymoe kind Leer, the Greued Moore, and more beside, that liued in him; have now for euer dy'de, oft haue I scene him, leap into the Graue smiting the person, w^{ch} he seem'd to haue of A sadd Louer, with soe true an Eye that theer I would haue sworne, he meant to dye, oft haue I scene him, play this part in ieast, soe liuly, that Spectators, and the rest of his sad Crew, whilst he but seem'd to bleed, amazed, thought euen then hee dyed in deed,
 O lett not me be checkt, and I shall sweare euen yett, it is A false report I heare, and thinke that he, that did soe truly faine is still but Dead in ieast, to liue againe, but now this part, he Acts, not playes, tis knowne

 Englands great Roscius, for what Roscius, was unto Roome, that Burbadg was to us.
 how did his speech become him, & his pace, suite with his speech, and euery action grace them both alike, whilst not A woord did fall, without Just weight, to ballast itt with all, hadst thou but spoake to death, & us'd thy power of thy Inchaunting tounge, att that first hower of his assault, he had Lett fall his Dart and quite been Charmed, by thy all Charm[in]g Art.
 This he well knew, and to preuent this wronge he therfore first made seisure on his tounge, the slender Iuy tops the smallest trees,

 Poets whose glory whilome twas to heare, your lines so well exprest, hencforth forbear, and write no more, or if you doe let 't bee in Commike sceans, since Tragick parts you see, dy all with him; nay rather sluce your eyes and hence forth write nought els but Tragedyes, or Dirges, or sad Ellegies or those mournfull Laments that nott accord with prose, blurr all your Leaus with blotts, that all you writt may be but one sadd black, and open itt draw Marble lines that may outlast y^e sunn and stand like Trophyes, when the world is done turne all your inke to blood, your pens to speares to pearce and wound the hearers harts and Eares enrag'd, write stabbing Lines that euery woord may be as apt for murther as A sword

That no man may suruiue after this fact of ruthless death, eyther to heare or Act and you his sadd Compannions, to whome Lent becomes more Lenton by this Accident, hence forth your wauing flagg, no more hang out play now no more att all, when round aboute wee looke And miss the Atlas of your spheare what comfort haue wee (thinke you) to bee theer and how can you delight in playing, when such mourning soe affecteth other men,
Or if you will still putt 't out Lett it weere no more light cullors, but death liuery theer hang all your house with black, the Ewe it bears with Iseckls of euer melting teares, and if you euer chance to play agen may nought but Tragedyes afflict your sceane and thou deare Earth that must enshrine that dust
by Heauen now committed to thy trust keepe itt as pretious as y richest Mine that Lyes intombd, in that rich wombe of thine,
That after times may know that much loud mould from other dust, and cherrish it as gould, on it be laide some soft but lasting stone with this short Epitaph, endorst theron that euery Eye may reade, and reading weepe tis Englands Roscius, Burbadg that I keepe.

Mr. Grenville's copy of this book was supposed to be the only one in existence on large paper. This copy was acquired in 1854 at the sale of the library of the Rev. C. H. Craufurd, who had obtained it from Messrs. Payne and Foss. Since that time no other copy has occurred. Brunet states that the volume consists of 145 leaves besides the title, and that the last leaf is wrongly numbered 136; but the fact is that the last leaf is correctly numbered CXXXVI, and M. Brunet has been misled by the preceding leaves being incorrectly numbered CXXXIV. and CXXXV.

Mr. Froude, in his history of the reign of Henry VIII., has gone very fully into the history of this important volume, and a summary of his account of it will not be out of place here. The treatise was composed in the winter of 1535, Pole residing then at Padua. It was written in reply to certain questions which had been addressed by the King to Pole, through a private gentleman named Starkey, specially desiring his opinion on the supremacy of the see of Rome. Instead of brief answers to brief questions, he composed a considerable volume, and as the several parts were completed they were submitted to the inspection of Cardinal Contarini The Cardinal protested against an invective which could only irritate, and entreated Pole to reconsider what he had written. The MS. of the work was sent to Henry in 1535-6, and the original is still preserved in the Rolls House. From that it is evident that Pole revised and either rewrote or retouched his work before publishing it. From the MS. it appears that the story of the King's intrigue with Mary Boleyn was only introduced into the printed version, which was put forth 1538-9. Of the reception given by the King to the printed book Mr. Froude makes no mention, but says that the MS. copy was brought to England early in June, 1536, and the perusal of it was left by the King to Tunstall and Starkey. Whether Henry ever read it himself is not certain. So much as was necessary was laid before him, and on the 14th of June—within a day or two, therefore, of its receipt—a courier was despatched with replies from the King, and from Tunstall, Starkey, and Cromwell.

A, 2 leaves with the title and prologue; B—M i in fours.

From Sir W. Tite's collection. This play has been reprinted in the last edition of Dodsley. C. Lamb says of it: "The pleasant comedy from which these extracts are taken, is contemporary with some of the earliest of Shakespeare's, and is no whit inferior to either the 'Comedy of Errors' or 'The Taming of the Shrew' for instance. It is full of business, humour, and merry malice. Its night scenes are particularly sprightly and wakeful; the versification unencumbered, and rich with compound epithets."

PORTOLANO.

MS. Portolano of the early part of the fifteenth century, by an Italian geographer, on a single sheet of vellum (26 in. by 31 in.), presenting the different coast lines of the Mediterranean, the Black Sea, and the upper part of Africa.

PORTOLANO.

MS. Portolano on a single sheet of vellum (31 in. by 24 in.), apparently by an Italian geographer of the end of the fifteenth century, displaying the coasts of the different countries of Europe and the upper part of Africa.

PORTOLANO.

MS. on two large sheets of vellum by a Spanish navigator, probably made about the end of the fifteenth century. In a morocco folio.

PORTOLANO.

MS. on vellum of the sixteenth century, consisting of ten very beautifully executed maps. It appears to have been executed by an Italian geographer, but to have been intended for a Spanish or Portuguese navigator, as the route on the tenth map, "per andar alle maluche" and "el tornar dale Maluche," starts from Lisbon, and a route, "per andar al Peru," is marked from the same place across the Isthmus of Panama. The S.W. coast of South America is left blank, which would fix the date as not later than 1525 or 1530. The Island of Rhodes is still marked as belonging to the Knights of St. John, though it was taken by the Turks in 1522, but it is probable that the conquest by the Turks was then looked on as only temporary. The volume is a small folio (10 in. by 7 in.), and in the original Italian red morocco binding in the most perfect state of preservation.

PORTOLANO. Folio.

MS. on silk paper, probably executed at the Portuguese settlement of Macao about 1580. It contains eighteen maps, seven of which relate to North and South America. In that of Africa the source of the Nile is made to appear to be two large lakes in the centre of the country.

PORTOLANO. Folio.

A MS. Portolano on nine large sheets of vellum by a Portuguese navigator of the sixteenth century. It is preceded by an almanac, and contains a great portion of the coasts of North and South America.

PORTOLANO.

A MS. chart on vellum of the coasts of part of North and South America, and the West India Islands. Made by an English navigator of the sixteenth century.

On this valuable chart are laid down the coast lines with names of the places of "Nouvelle France," "Nova Anglia," "Maryland," "Virginia," "Terra Florida," "Nova Hispania," "Iucatan," "Hondvras," &c.

PORTOLANO. Folio.

A MS. on twenty double sheets of vellum, forming an atlas of the whole world as known at the end of the sixteenth or beginning of the seventeenth century. It was probably made for the King of Portugal, whose arms are emblazoned on every sheet. It is beautifully executed, with an ornamental border round every map. The last three sheets are occupied by an almanac and astronomical calculations and directions.

The book is divided in two parts, the first has a separate colophon, which runs thus: "A honor e laude de lonipotēte idio e de nostra dona Finito el primo libro nominado portulano da nauiganti cominzando da le pte d' Spagna erecto traitefina ī fiādra igelterra e ibernia e de ritorno per staria cerchādo tute le ixole F." The first leaf of sheet A in both parts is blank.

First edition. This rare volume is cited by Panzer, iii., 289, and Hain, 13,303, but it is evident that neither of them had seen it. The authorship is attributed to Aloisio Cadamosto, the famous navigator and companion of Prince Henry of Portugal. It was reprinted under his name at Venice in 1806.

[PORTRAITS de la famille Royale de France, des Princes étrangers et les gens de la Cour de France.] Chez H. Bonnard Paris. 1695. Folio.

A series of 349 portraits and costumes. The last 120 are of a miscellaneous and fanciful character, comprising mythological and grotesque figures.

On the 5th December, 1603, Valentine Sims, the printer of this tract, was ordered to bring thirty copies into the Stationers' Hall, to be dealt with according to the ordinance in that behalf. See Arber's "Transcript of the Stationers' Registers," iii., 103. Sims was, on the same day, fined thirteen shillings and fourpence for his offence in printing this and certain ballads, and ordered not to repeat the act.

Brunet remarks that this volume has been quoted as the earliest work which treats of the Basque language, but points out that the "Linguae Vasconum primitiæ per Bernardum Dechepare" preceded it by thirty-eight years. Of that treatise it appears that only one copy is known to exist, which is in the National Library at Paris. See also Salvá, No. 3130.

The first book of Edward VI., but the third issue, so far as the date of the month goes. It is supposed that in 1549 there were no fewer than seven issues, all slightly varying. The last leaf has the following notice: "The Kinges Maiestie by the aduise of his moste deare vncler the Lorde Protector and other his highnes Counsell, straightly chargeth and commaundeth that no maner of person do sell this present booke vnbounde aboute the price of . ii . Shyllynges & . ii . pence the piece. And the same bounde in paste or in boordes couered with calues leather, not aboute the price of . iiiii . Shillings the piece. God saue the King."

This copy was formerly in the libraries of Lea Wilson and Mr. J. Dunn Gardner.

Lipsiæ in officina Wolfgangi Gvnteri. Anno M.D.LI. 4to.*

Title and preface, 8 leaves; folios 1-66.

See Procter's "History of the Common Prayer" for a critical account of this version.

This translation of the first book of Edward VI. is of extreme rarity. "It is clear that it was used by Bucer, but not probable that it was made expressly for that purpose. On the contrary, we may infer from its title that it was made for general use; 'ad consolationem Ecclesiarum,' &c. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum. Folio. Black letter. R.*

Title and preliminaries, 16 leaves; A, 6 leaves; B—S vi in eights.

Between P iii and P iv is a leaf printed on one side only, containing a rubric about kneeling at the Communion, which had been omitted. After S vi comes "The fourme and maner of makynge and consecratynge, Bishoppes, Priestes and Deacons," with a separate title-page. This ends on the 19th leaf, after which is a leaf of "Faultes escaped" and "The prices of thys boke."

From the insertion of the rubric about kneeling at the Communion on a separate leaf, this would appear to be the earliest of the four editions of this book printed in folio by Whitchurche. This copy was formerly in Mr. Lea Wilson's collection.

Title, within a border, 1 leaf, having on the reverse, "The contentes of this booke;" "An Acte for the vniformitie," &c., 3 leaves; "The preface" and "Of Ceremonies," 3 leaves; the table, 1 leaf; "The order howe the reste," &c., and "Proper Lessons," &c., 3 leaves; "An almanack," 7 leaves, the first page blank; then A—Mii in eights; then M—N, 8 leaves each; O—P, 10 leaves each. The last page has only the device of the printers.

Mr. Lathbury supposes this to be the earlier of the two issues of 1559. It is an important and rare volume, being the first book of Queen Elizabeth, and differing much from that of Edward VI. The present copy is nearly uncut.

A curious testimony to the extreme rarity of this volume two centuries since is given in the life of Cornelius Burges, Wood's "Ath. Ox.," vol. iii., p. 687: "About three weeks before his death, he sent certain common-prayer books to the public library at Oxon, and in a spare leaf before the title of one of them, he wrote this note following with his own hand, dated at Watford 16 May 1665, 'I Cornelius Burges being a^o 1627, by my deere and much honoured mother the renowned University of Oxford, made doctor in divinity, am much grieved that I am able to do nothing worthy of her, yet I humbly offer that I have, viz. This first book of the first of Ed. 6. as also the second book of common-prayer in 5 and 6 of Ed. 6. wherein this hath several alterations, upon the censures of Bucer, extant in his book Scripta Anglicana, I also adde a third book of common prayer renewed and established in 1 Eliz. which is very hard to be had that was then printed: I could never see any other of that edition.'

This is a very fine copy. The catchword "Certaine," at the end of the Psalter, has been pasted over. It was intended to have added "Certaine Prayers" after the Psalms, but for some reason they were cancelled. There are, however, copies in existence with the "Certaine Prayers" at the end.

PRAYERS. 4to.

An ancient Æthiopic MS., written in the now defunct Geez dialect and in the finest style of calligraphy, the characters being equal in size and distinctness to those of the best uncial Greek MSS. It opens with a painting of St. John Chrysostom, which is followed on fols. 2, 3, 4, by an office of devotion to John the Baptist consisting of forty-eight salaams or salutations to his different attributes, such as voice, clothing, camel's-hair dress, &c., &c., and by a short inscription which states that "The Office was obtained from the Church depositories of Constantine, whom all the world reverences," that its proprietor is "Basilides," and ends with a prayer that "the scribe's name may be written in the New Jerusalem," and a sentence of "excommunication on any one who should steal or deface it." At fol. 5 is a representation of God surrounded by the four cherubic beasts, followed by "the Tractate of the Blessed John Chrysostom Archbishop of Constantinople, recited by him in honour of John Baptist." The whole of this part of the MS. was obviously composed on the name of Chrysostom, and every supplication is made to end in favour of Nabiya Lehule, Waleta Kidon, and in the latter part of the MS., of Waled Girgis, or George, who perhaps were monks and nuns—the persons for whom the MS. was written. After fol. 68 (where there is a prayer for the writer, reader, singer, and hearer and purchaser of the book) the subject changes, and has reference to the Passion of Christ—the charge given by him to the twelve apostles with regard to the power of his name to work miracles, a curious use of which is found on fol. 103, and a curious miracle depicted on fol. 109.

The pictures throughout the volume—of which there are about thirty, in admirable preservation, and most of which speak for themselves—have reference to the Scriptural and legendary history of John the Baptist. The legends are very curious, e. g. :—

Fol. 8. The preservation of John B.'s head.

13. Passage of Innocents through Purgatory.

19. Revelation to Joseph and Mary of the 100,000 fruits of Paradise.

21, 22. Revelation of Christ to John and the eleven Apostles, &c.

26. Revelation by Gabriel to Zachariah.

28. Meeting of Elizabeth and Mary.

29. Tree of Life springing from the root of Jesse.

39, 40. John in prison—his head borne by two Angels to Heaven.

John Baptist with the two persons to whom this MS. belonged.

44. Zachariah with John Baptist in his bosom.

Elizabeth and John Baptist under the guidance of Michael.

47. Zachariah condemned by Herod and buried in the Grave of his Father Barachias.

48. Miraculous provision for the infant John Baptist in the Desert.

49, 50. Death and Burial of Elizabeth, Michael and Gabriel assisting—the Virgin Watching.

55. John Baptist fed by Michael in the Desert. His Head brought in a charger.

56. John Baptizing Christ. The Trinity.

58. The Beheading of John Baptist.

- Fol. 61. Herodias gazing at the head, from which a ray of light darts into her breast, it speaks (in the text) to Herodias, then flies up "thro' the roof" into Heaven. Herodias is swallowed up in the earth—after an act of cruelty in cutting off a servant's arm.
64. The Beheading.
65. Christ commands the Head to proclaim the sin of Herodias to the world.
108. Christ, S. Mary, Gabriel, piloting souls across the sea of Death on a kind of Sea Serpent—a sinner is drowning on the left.
115. How the Lord Blessed the fields of Abu-Samuel.
116. Abuna Ciros and Abuna Arkaior. Abuna Arkaior or Aragawi is also called Michael, one of the nine great Æthiopic Saints.

Upon the whole this MS. is very curious and probably unique. There is no copy of any such Devotions in the British Museum. If the Basilides mentioned above (p. 1 of this MS.) be a king of Æthiopia, the date of the MS. could be accurately fixed, as he reigned in the latter end of the sixteenth and beginning of the seventeenth century. But this Basilides was probably a private individual, and the antiquity of the MS. may be best judged of from the criteria laid down by Dillman, pp. 52, 72, 74, 275 of his Grammar, which throughout this MS. are in favour of its antiquity. It may safely be set down as 350 years old. It is in the finest style of Æthiopic writing and in perfect preservation.

This little volume appears to have been privately printed for the use of Queen Elizabeth, and was probably written or compiled by her. At the end are "Sententię de Consilio," "de bello," &c., in which the quotations are taken not only from the Scriptures but also from the Fathers and from classical authors. No mention of the book is to be found in Ames, Lowndes, or any other bibliographers.

It is to this play that Shakespeare is supposed to allude in the "Midsummer Night's Dream," when Peter Quince says: "Marry our play is—The most lamentable comedy and most cruel death of Pyramus and Thisby," thus parodying the title of "A lamentable Tragedie, mixed full of pleasant mirth."

PRICE, LAURENCE. Witty William of Wilt-shire. His birth, Life, and Education, and strange adventures: with his unmatchable Cheats, witty feats and merry conceits; setting forth his travels, what Dangers he escapt by the help of his wits, and how he was himself Cheated of fifty pounds by a Lady of pleasure, and yet knew not whether she was a man or woman, but by her hands and face. With merry songs and sonnets.

You that this book shall hear or read, and understand the same,
You cannot chuse but laugh indeed, for it deserves no blame.

PSALTERIUM DAVIDIS. Symbolum S. Athanasii, Te Deum laudamus, Litaniam Sanctorum &c. Sm. folio.

MS. on 173 leaves of vellum. A fine specimen of English thirteenth century work. The first seven leaves are occupied with the table to find Easter day, and the calendar; each page of the latter is decorated with two circular paintings, one representing the occupation of the month, the other the sign of the zodiac. Then follow twelve pages of illuminations containing: 1. A representation in six circular compartments of the work of the six days of Creation, in the centre the Deity seated holding a book in his right hand. 2. Adam and Eve eating the forbidden fruit, the Expulsion from Paradise, Adam and Eve digging and spinning, Cain killing Abel. 3. The Annunciation, the Announcement to the Shepherds, the Nativity. 4. The Offerings of the Magi, the Massacre of the Innocents. 5. Christ's Entry into Jerusalem, the Betrayal of Christ. 6. Christ before Pilate and Herod, the Scourging. 7. The Crucifixion, a large illumination with sixteen figures. 8. The Resurrection, the appearance to Mary Magdalen, the Ascension, the Descent of the Holy Spirit. 9. The Martyrdoms of St. Peter, St. Andrew, St. Paul, and St. Stephen. 10. The Martyrdom of St. Thomas a Becket, the Martyrdom of St. Catherine, St. Michael overcoming the Devil. 11. The Last Judgment, the reward of the just, the punishment of the wicked. 12. A magnificent initial letter B for the first Psalm, with twelve figures skilfully introduced. After this succeeds the text with illuminations to Psalm 27, "Dominus illuminatio;" Psalm 39, "Dixi custodiam;" Psalm 81, "Exultate Deo;" Psalm 98, "Cantate Domino;" Psalm 102, "Domine exaudi;" Psalm 110, "Dixit Dominus domino meo," a brilliant illumination in four compartments.

— PSALTERIUM DAVIDIS. Psalterium Davidis, Symbolum S. Athanasii, Te Deum laudamus, Litania Sanctorum &c. Folio. R. M.

MS. of the fourteenth century, on 133 leaves of vellum. The first six leaves are occupied by the calendar. Psalm 1 opens with a rich border in gold and colours; in the initial letter King David is represented playing on the harp. At Psalm 27 the initial letter represents David in the attitude of prayer, a rich border round the page. At Psalm 39 a similar border; in the initial letter David walking. Psalm 53. A curious representation of a fool in the initial letter, with border. Psalm 69. David in the deep waters of affliction, with border. Psalm 81. David playing on six bells, with border. Psalm 98. A choir of priests in rich robes singing from a lectern, with border. Psalm 110. A curious representation of the Holy Trinity, with border.

On the last page is inscribed in a hand rather later than the book itself: "Off your charite pray for the soules of Symon Rice and Letyce his wyffe their father soules ther mothers sōles ther frendes soules and all Cristen sōlles. Amen."

This and the preceding MS. were formerly in the possession of the family of Davenport, of Bramhall, in Lancashire. The family became extinct in the direct line about 1830, and these books were sold shortly after the famous fourteenth century mansion was disposed of in 1877.

— Psalterium Davidis, cum hymnis Ecclesiæ, et Calendario. Sm. 8vo.

MS. on vellum, of German execution, of the fourteenth century. It contains seven miniatures and a great number of figures to illustrate the text drawn on the margins. Many of them are most curious from the quaint and original way in which the subjects are represented.

— Psalterium, Hebræum, Græcū, Arabicū, & Chaldeū, cū tribus latinis iterpratōibus & glossis. [Colophon.] Impressit miro ingenio, Petrus Paulus Porrus, genuæ in ædibus Nicolai Justiniani Pauli, præsidente reipub. genuensi pro Serenissimo Franco Rege, prestanti viro Octaviano Fulgoso, anno christiane salutis, millesimo quingentesimo sexto decimo mense. VIII bri. Folio. BR. M.

A, 10 leaves; B—Z in eights; &, 8 leaves; 3, 6 leaves, the last bearing the printer's device and the register.

This volume is remarkable both as being the earliest printed polyglot Psalter, and also as containing the earliest biographical notice of Christopher Columbus, which is introduced into the commentary on the 19th Psalm.

Gloyre a Dieu seul.

These initials without doubt are those of Hector de Beaulieu, who in his youth had written some poems of a very free character, but he afterwards espoused the doctrines of Calvin. This edition of the Psalms was quite unknown to Brunet, who however mentions one printed at Geneva in 1537, "translatez et reveu par Belisem de Belimakon," which is the pseudonym of Robert Olivetan. That the same author had to do with this edition is evident, as at the end is an address in Latin, "Petrus Robertus Olivetanus condido lectori," but whether the version of the Psalms is by Hector de Beaulieu there is no indication.

Title, table, and calendar, 4 leaves; epistle to the reader, notes of music, and dedication to Dr. Owen Oglethorpe, Master of Magdalen College, Oxford, 4 leaves; A—Vv in fours.

Lowndes quotes only a single copy, that which belonged to Heber, and Herbert was not aware of the existence of any other than Mr. Tutet's, which he does not appear to have seen, as he does not furnish any collation, and gives the title itself very imperfectly. The description given by Lowndes is also incorrect.

— The whole Psalter translated into English Metre, which containeth one hundredth and fifty Psalmes. The first Quinquagene. Quoniam omnis terre Deus: Psallite sapienter. Psal. 47. Imprinted at London by Iohn Daye, dwelling ouer Aldersgate, beneath S. Martyns.

Cum Gratia et Privilegio Regiæ Maiestatis, per Decennium. [1575?] 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

A—Zz in fours, but no sig. Z in the first and second alphabets.

Archbishop Parker's version. The second Quinquagene begins on Cc 4 and the third on Xx 4. The present copy is that described in the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 534, and has on the title the autograph of T. Park, 1796.

Mr. Lea Wilson was the first to remark that the author has given his name in the book, though concealed in a curious manner. Preceding the 119th Psalm is a metrical preface of sixteen lines, and the initial letters of each line compose the name of the author, Mattheus Parkerus:—

Made is this Psalme: by Alphabete: in Octonaries folde,
 All letters two: and twentie set: as Hebrues them have tolde.
 The verses all: an hundred bee: threescore and iust sixteene,
 Thus framde and knit: for memorie: and elegance some wene.
 Here letters all: so sortely bound: do shew in mysterie:
 Eternall health: may sure be found: in Scripture totallie.
 Uerse yokd by eight: Christes rising day: doth figure them, in some,
 Sweete Saboth rest: not here I say: I meane of world to come.
 Peruse this Psalme: so wide and brode: eche verse save one is freight
 As still in termes: of law of God: most'ofte by voyces eyght.
 Right statutes, olde precepts, decrees: cōmaundmēts, word, & law.
 Known iudgemēts, domes, & witnesses: al righteous wais thei draw
 Envie no man: Gods worde to painte: in arte by such devise.
 Reade Hebrue tonge: the tong so sainte: and causeles be not nise.
 Upfolde be here: God's truthes discust: right sure us all to teache,
 So lies of man: all low be thrust: full false in glosing speache.

PSALTERIUM DAVIDIS. The Psalmes of David metaphrased into verse by the noble learned & famous gent S^r. Philip Sidney Knight. 4to. BR. M.

MS. on paper. One hundred and sixty-two leaves.

No contemporary edition of this version is known to have been printed. The MS. here described, from the library of the poet Hayley and Mr. Corser's collection, is in a handwriting of the time of James I., and is beautifully and legibly executed. Three others are known, of which two are preserved in the British Museum.

— The Psalmes of David Translated into divers and sundry kindes of verse, more rare and excellent for the Method and Varietie than ever yet hath been done in English. Begun by the Noble and Learned Gent. Sir Philip Sidney, Knt. And finished by the Right Honorable the Countess of Pembroke, his sister. A—S 7 in eights. The first leaf marked A only.

Among these psalm tunes are many with the name of John Milton, father of the poet. The work contains a melody for every one of the 150 Psalmes, many by the editor himself, of which a considerable number are still in use.

— The Psalmes of King David. Translated by King Iames. [No place, printer's name, or date but London, 1625-6.] Cum Privilegio Regiæ Maiestatis. Sm. 8vo.

A—Z 7 in eights, including the engraved title and a leaf preceding it, with Charles I.'s privilege, surmounted by the Royal Arms, by Marshall.

This is the first edition of the version known as King James's, to the authorship of which, however, Sir W. Alexander, afterwards Earl of Stirling, is said to be chiefly entitled. See Holland's "Psalms of Britain," pp. 251-67.

From the collection of Sir W. Tite.

PSALTERIUM DAVIDIS. Les sept pseaulmes penitēciaulx et letanie en francoys. [Sans lieu ni date.] 4to. Black letter. R. M.

Fourteen leaves, with twenty-three lines to the page.

It was probably from this copy (formerly in the collection of M. Yemeniz) that Brunet took his description. It is a metrical version of the penitential psalm. On the title is a woodcut of King David kneeling, which is repeated on the back of the same leaf. This edition is probably from the press of Guillaume le Roy at Lyons, about 1500.

QUARLES, FRANCIS. A Feast for Wormes. Set forth in a Poeme of the History of Ionah. By Fra. Quarles. [Woodcut.]

This naked Pourtraiture before thine Eye,
Is Wretched, helplesse Man, Man borne to Die:
On either side, an Angell doth protect him
As well from Evill, as to Good direct him:
Th' one Poynts to Death, the t'other to a Crowne;
Who This attaines, must tread the Other downe:
All which denotes the Briefe of Mans Estate,
That Hee's to goe from Hence, by This, to That.

On X 3 occurs another title partly engraved: "Hieroglyphikes of the life of Man. London, Printed by Iohn Dawson . . . 1639," which is preceded by a leaf, X 2, containing "the minde of the Frontispiece" and the Imprimatur. X 1 would be a blank leaf.

This is the second edition of the "Emblems," and also of the "Hieroglyphics," originally printed in 1638; but here the two works were first published together with continuous pagination and signatures. The present volume seems to be unknown to bibliographers, who quote the edition of 1643 as the second of the "Emblems."

— An Elegie vpon the Trvely Lamented Death of the Right Honorable Sir Julius Cæsar K^{nt}., Master of the Rolles, and of S^{nt}. Katherins: And One of His Majesties most Honorable Privy Counsell. Wept by Fra: Qva. . . . London, Printed for Iohn Marriot. 1636. Sm. 8vo.

Eight leaves, title on A 2.

The only copy known. A present from Mr. J. Payne Collier, who found it at Keswick in 1875.

— Divine Poems: Containing the History of Jonah. Ester. Job. Samson. Sions Sonets. Elegies. Written and newly augmented, By Fra: Quarles. London, Printed by M. F. for I. M. and are to be sold by Lawrence Blaikclocke, at his shop at the signe of the Sugar-loafe, next Tcmple-barre in Fleet-strect. 1638. Sm. 8vo.

A—Mm 4 in eights; Kk 6 and Mm 4 blank.

The title engraved by Cecill. There is a separate printed title to each part (not included in the above collation). Facing the first title is a metrical explanation, which forms A 1.

The engraved title is dated 1632, having been prepared for the first edition, which has the letterpress title dated 1633. It was used for the later editions without alteration.

— Sighes At the contemporary deaths of Those incomparable Sisters, The Countesse of Cleaveland, and Mistrisse Cicily Killegrve, Daughters of Sir Iohn Crofts Knight of Saxom Hall, in the Countie of Suffolke Deceased, And his Noble Lady now living. Breathed forth by F. Q. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes, for N. Alsop; and are to be sold at the Angell in Popes head Alley. 1640. Sm. 8vo.

A—B in eights, the first and last leaves blank.

The "Sighs" conclude on the eighth leaf of A, and on B 1 is a fresh title, as follows: "An Elegie. Vpon the truly lamented Death of Sir Iohn Wolstenholme, Knight; who on the of November, 1639, Quitted the lower World, and put on Glorious Immortalitie. By Fra. Quarles. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes . . . 1640." The "Sighs" are dedicated to Lady Crofts, and the Elegy to the son of Sir Iohn Wolstenholme. The exact date of death is left blank in the original.

Of the present tract no other perfect copy is known; the first portion is in the Grenville collection, and was considered not only unique, but complete with eight leaves, until this was lately discovered inserted in the copy of the "Divine Poems," 1638, described above.

QUARLES, FRANCIS. Enchyridion Containing Institutions. Divine. Contemplative Practicall. Ethycall. Morall. Œconomicall. Politicall. Written by Fra. Qvarles. Printed at London by T. Cotes, for G. Hutton in Turne-Stile-Alley in Holbourne, 1641. Sm. 8vo.

* , 8 leaves; A—F in twelves. "The Second Book," B—P 4 in twelves.

The first book is dedicated to Prince Charles, the second to Mrs. Elizabeth Usher. The former was printed in 1640, but this is the first edition of the two parts together.

— Enchiridion Miscellaneum. Spare Houres Improv'd in Meditations Divine Contemplative From the Pietie & Learning of Fr. Quarles & Ar. Warwick Gent: By it They being dead, yet Speak (Heb. xi, 4.) Quarles, A—G in twelves, last leaf blank. Warwick, with a separate title, A—D 2 in twelves.

Inserted in the volume is a leaf bearing verses in Warwick's autograph, and signed by him, addressed, "Venerabili equiti Roberto Gordon iter in Scotiam prefecturo," dated from Barv. [Berwick?] 22 Dec. 1642. On the back of the slip he has signed his name a second time.

— Enchiridion. Containing Institutions, Divine. Contemplative. London, Printed by T. James, 1681. Sm. 8vo. R. M.
A—I in twelves. With a portrait. From the library of the Rev. Theo. Williams.

— The Shepherds Oracle: Delivered in an Eglogue.
Printed in the Yeare, 1644. 4to.

A—B in fours.

This is the first instalment of what appeared in 1646 under the title of "The Shepherds Oracles," and went through two editions in that year. The publisher of this tract professes not to have known who the author was. At the end is the following curious postscript :—

“A word more to the Reader.

“The Author, (as I am informed) being not over curious of this Peece, was made bold with, concerning the speech of Anarchus; which hath been nos'd by the Balad-singers about the streets of London, with some additions of their owne, to make up a full penny worth: What you had then by stealth, now yee have by purchase, which with all the rest you may lawfully (if you please) now call your owne.”

QUARLES, FRANCIS. Observations concerning Princes and States, upon Peace and Warre. By Fran. Quarles. . . . London, Printed for John Sweeting, and are to be sold at his shop, at the signe of the Angell in Popes-head-Alley. 1642. 4to.

From the Wolfreton collection.

— Judgement & Mercy for Afflicted Soules. Or Meditations. Soliloquies, and Prayers. By Fra. Qvarles. London, Printed by Ric. Cotcs, for Richard Royston, at the Angell in Ivy-Lane, 1646. Sm. 8vo.

A—H 4 in eights, including a portrait and an engraved frontispiece by Marshall. Dedicated to King Charles.

— Judgement and Mercie for Afflicted Souls. Cambridge: Printed by R. Daniel for V.[rsula] Q.[uarles.] Ann. Dom. 1646. Sm. 8vo.

¶, 4 leaves, the first blank; A—H 4 in eights.

First genuine impression, with a preface by the writer's widow, in which she speaks of this essay having been "taken from him by a slie hand, and presently printed without his knowledge; so that, as in like cases it alwayes happens, it came forth much unsuitable to the Authours mind." The reference is evidently to the edition of the same year described above.

QUARLES, FRANCIS. Barnabas and Boanerges: or, Wine and Oyle for Afflicted Soules. Poured forth and applied in Consolatory Promises, Prayers, and Soliloquies. By Fra. Quarles. The Second Edition. London, Printed for Richard Loundes, at the Golden Vnicorne upon Ludgate hill over against Bell Savage, 1646. Sm. 8vo.

A, 5 leaves, including an engraved title containing a portrait of the author by T. C.[ross]; B—L 6 in twelves, L 6 blank. [A new title:] "Boanerges and Barnabas: Or Judgement and Mercy for afflicted Soules. Consisting of Meditations. Soliloquies, and Prayers. By Francis Quarles. London, Printed by Rich. Cotes for Richard Royston, and Richard Lownes 1646," A—K in twelves, the last leaf blank.

In the engraved title this volume is entitled: "Boanerges and Barnabas Or Judgment & Mercy for afflicted Soules." In this volume, the work printed in 1646 as "Judgment and Mercy for Afflicted Souls" forms the second part, being preceded by the "Barnabas and Boanerges," of which this purports to be a second edition.

— Argalvs and Parthenia. Written by Fra: Quarles. Lusit Anaercon. London Printed for Iohn Marriott by S^t. Dunstons Church yard fleetstreet. 1647. 4to. R. M.

A—V in fours, besides the engraved title by Cecil.

Although the preface is dated 1621, the book does not appear to have been licensed till March 27, 1629. See Arber, iv., 209.

— The Virgin Widow. A Comedie. Written by Fra: Quarles. London, Printed for R. Royston, at the Angel in Iwie-lane. MDCXLIX. 4to. The edges uncut.

A, 2 leaves; B—K in fours.

A posthumous publication. In the address to the reader, the publisher states that the play, which he calls "an Interlude," had been "sometimes at Chelsie privately Acted (by a Company of young Gentlemen) with good approvement."

From the Wolfreton collection.

QUARLES, JOHN. Fons Lachrymarum; Or a Fountain of Teares: From whence doth flow Englands Complaint, Jeremiahs Lamentations Paraphrased, with Divine Meditations; An Elegie Upon that Son of Valor Sir Charles Lycas. Written by John Quarles. London, Printed by J. Maceock for Nathaniel Brooks at the Angel in Cornhil. 1649. Sm. 8vo.

A—K 2 in eights, including the frontispiece and portrait, both by W. Marshall. In verse.

— Regale Lectum Miseriæ: or, a Kingly Bed of Miserie. In which is contained, a Dreame: with An Elegie upon the Martyrdome of Charls, late King of England, of Blessed Memory: and Another upon the Right Honourable The Lord Capel. With A curse against the Enemies of Peace, and the Authors Farewell to England. By John Quarles. Printed in the Yeare, 1649. Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—H in eights, besides the frontispiece and a plate representing the King and executioner on the scaffold. In verse.

From the libraries of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser.

QUARLES, JOHN. Gods Love and Mans Unworthiness: Whereunto is annexed a Discourse between the Soul & Satan. With several Divine Ejaculations. Written by John Quarles. London, Printed for John Stafford, and are to be sold at his house in S. Brides Church yard 1651. Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

A, 5 leaves; B—L in eights.

At p. 301 occurs a plate representing a man at prayer, which forms a leaf in sig. H. A 1 is occupied by the "Minde of the Frontispiece," which is followed by the frontispiece itself. The first edition.

Dedicated "To My much-honoured and Esteemed Friend, Edward Benlowes, Esq."

— The Tyranny Of the Dutch against The English. Wherein is exactly declared the (almost unvaluable) loss which the Commonwealth of England hath sustained by their Usurpation. Folios 1-128, including title and 1 leaf of subscription, not paged.

This edition was unknown to Brunet, who mentions no edition between that of Valencia, 1513, and Zamora, 1539, both of which are in folio. Gallardo describes an edition of Salamanca, 1519, and another without place or date, but this of 1533 was unknown to him also.

Though these two pieces have separate title-pages, it is probable that they were published as one work. The first piece consists of eight leaves with sig. ¶. The second has sigs. A—L in eights. At sig. I is a third title: "Sensuiuent plusieurs deuotes Oraisons et meditations sur la mort et passion de nostre seigneur Jesus christ. Auec le voyage & oraison du Mont de Caluaire. Et aussi vne meditation, pour l'espace d'une basse Messe."

— Les Quinze ioyes de mariage, Extraicts d'un vieil exemplaire escrit à la main, passez sont quatre cens ans. A Rouen. Chez Raphaël du petit Val. . . . M.D.XCVI. Sm. 8vo. BR. M.

QUIR, FÉRDINAND DE. Terra Australis incognita or A new Southerne Discoverie, containing A fifth part of the World. Lately found out By Ferdinand de Quir, a Spanish Captaine. Neuer before published. London Printed for John Hodgetts. 1617. 4to. R. M.

A—D in fours, the first leaf blank.

According to Purchas, this account of De Quir's discoveries was originally printed in Spanish at Seville in 1610, but no copy of that edition appears to be known to bibliographers. An edition in 4to (four leaves) printed at Pamplona in the same year was in a London bookseller's catalogue in 1873, and is now in the public library at Melbourne. An edition in Spanish without date, consisting of two folio leaves, is in the Grenville library. A Latin version was printed at Amsterdam, 1612. See under Hudson in this catalogue. The discovery had nothing to do with the continent of Australia, but relates in fact to the region south of Magellan's Straits.

Title and dedication to Sir Christopher Hatton, 2 leaves ; A—D 2 in fours.

This is the copy described by Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i., 27), and was lent to him for the purpose of being noticed in his work. Only one other perfect copy is known. That in the Bodleian wants the title-page. In the present the initials "W. R." at the end of the dedication to Hatton are filled up in an old hand, "W. Rowly;" but the ascription seems to be erroneous, as the tract is written very much in the style of "the Mirror of Monsters," and not at all in that of any of Rowley's acknowledged works.

R., E. Two fruitfull exercises, The one : A Christian discourse vpon the 16. and 17. verses of the 16. Chapter of the booke of Iudges. . . The other : A godly meditation vpon the 41. and 42. verses of the 10. chapter of Saint Luke . . . A—Z in fours, A 1, blank, and N—P repeated. A copy of this curious book is in the British Museum; but no others appear to be known. Following the title-page is an Advertisement to the Reader, setting forth the advantages of the publication, and at the end occurs a certificate in its favour signed by Alexander Gil and others.

R., S. Hell's Broke Loose. London Printed by W. W. and are to be sold by G. Loftus in Popes-head Allie neare the Exchange. 1605. 4to.

Title and preface, 2 leaves; A—F 2 in fours. In stanzas of six lines.

The argument is signed "S. R.," and the tract is by the printer or publisher of several of S. Rowlands' pieces. Heber thought that the volume was not by Rowlands; but although it is not in his humorous vein, it must be remembered that he produced the "Betraying of Christ," and the "Sacred Memory of Christ's Miracles," both of a character somewhat similar to this.

The present copy was from the libraries of Mr. Bright and Mr. Corser.

R., T. Hey for Horn Fair: the general Market of England. Or, Room for Cuckolds. Being a Merry progress of nine several sorts of Cuckolds here discovered. viz. A Kind Cuckold. A Contented Cuckold. A, 4 leaves; ¶, 4 leaves; B—P in fours.

Dedicated to "My singuler good Lord and kinsman, Charles Howard," and to Sir Robert Cecyll. This volume has been reprinted in De Bry, Hulsius, and other collections of voyages. The object of it was to induce Queen Elizabeth to send a force to take possession of Guiana. At page 99 Raleigh says: "And I am resoluèd that if there were but a smal army a foote in Guiana, marching towards Manoa the chiefe Citie of Inga, he would yeeld her Majesty by composition so many hundred thousand pounds yearely, as should both defende all enemies abroad, and defray all expences at home, and that he woulde besides pay a garrison of 3000. or 4000. soldiers very royally to defend him against other nations."

Mr. Collier in his "Bibliogr. Catal.," pp. 219-22, has given a very full account of this volume, and points out that two editions with numerous typographical variations were put forth in the same year.

Ten leaves.

This is an account of the discovery of a new route for the conveyance of silver from Potosi in Peru to Spain in less than half the time and with less than half the expense of the ordinary route. This copy has the autograph signature and MS. corrections of the author. The work is undescribed by bibliographers, but Antonio mentions the writer as the author of "Relacion y descripcion de las provincias de Tipname, Cenuchos y Paititi. 1624."

RÉCIT véritable de la cruauté faite dans la Ville de Londres en Angleterre, à l'endroit d'un Prestre & d'un jeune Garçon, âgé de 18 ans qui ont esté surpris en célébrant la Sainte Messe dans une cave en cachette, & comme le Garçon a esté sauvé par un armateur de Dunckerque en pleine Mer, estant sur une planche, et amené à Nostre-Dame de Boullogne, près Calais. [1694.] 4to. R. M.

The text of this curious piece occupies two leaves. The title as given above is beneath a large rude woodcut of ships. A third leaf is headed: "Profil de la machine des ennemis, qui a eschouée devant Saint Malo," and beneath this heading is a rude woodcut of a kind of marine infernal machine. Then follows a copperplate print of the same machine with a similar heading and lettered at the foot, "Chez Landry."

Brunet mentions this edition as having been sold in the Gaignat and Meerman collections and again in 1858, but does not appear to have seen it himself, the title he gives being evidently taken from a sale catalogue. Señor Salvá says that he has seen this edition, but the earliest in his own collection was that of Valencia, 1602.

REGIMEN MORALITATIS. [Colophon.] Impressum Bamberg. [s. a.] 4to.

Four leaves. This edition begins without separate title.

REGIMEN MORALITATIS. [Sine loco aut anno. Circa 1490.] 4to.

Six leaves.

This curious book has remained undescribed by Panzer, Hain, and Brunet, but Dr. Graesse has given a notice of the three editions. That of Bamberg is quoted by him from Renouard's "Catalogue d'un amateur," where the date of about 1475 is assigned to it. Only thirteen books are described by Panzer as printed at Bamberg in the fifteenth century, and the whole of those are either service books or relating to ecclesiastical matters. The title bears only the words, "Regimen moralitatis," and the text begins on the next leaf. It consists of Latin couplets, each one followed by a German rhyming paraphrase. The first runs thus:—

Pater virtutum timor est nocet esse locutum
Esse nocet mutum faciunt mediocria tutus
Reden ist alweg nicht gut
Schweygen auch offte schaden thut
Darumb in allen dingen masze han
Und forcht ist wol gethan.

On the recto of the last leaf begins, "Lentuli epistola ad Senatū Romanum de ihesu christo," which is not, however, found in the Bamberg edition.

REGIMEN MORALITATIS. [Sine loco aut anno. Circa 1490.] 4to.

Six leaves.

Printed in a smaller type than the edition described above.

Over the title as given above is the following quotation : “ Quicūq̄ hāc regulā secuti fuerit : pax sup illos & misericordia dei. Paul⁹ ad Gal. vi. capitu.”

The only copy of this volume known to Brunet was that in the National Museum of Mexico. HARRISSE mentions a copy as being in a private library in Mexico. It is unquestionably a book of extreme rarity.

REILY, HUGH. Ireland's Case briefly stated; or, A Summary Account of the most Remarkable Transactions in that Kingdom since the Reformation. The First Part. By a True Lover of his King and Country. . . . Printed in the year 1695. Sm. 8vo.

Four leaves.

This piece appears to be unknown to bibliographers. As a contemporary record of the doings of the Inquisition it is of the greatest importance. It contains a list of fourteen persons condemned to be burned alive, six of them women. At the head of this list is Agostino de Cazaglia, chaplain and preacher to the King. Then follows a list of seventeen persons condemned to imprisonment, and loss of goods. Among them are found the brother and sister of Agostino de Cazaglia. Then a list of 37 men and women who remain in prison for another "auto da fe." The piece ends with the following announcement: "L'atto dell'Inquisitione di Seuiglia si celebrerà presto, che non aspettauano se non che si celebrasse prima questo atto di Valladolid."

This is one of the most curious and valuable old plays of its period on account of the many allusions to, and notices of, contemporary persons and events. In "Notes and Queries," Feb. 20, 1875, Dr. B. Nicholson has pointed out that there was evidently a previous drama of the same name which is no longer known.

The title as given above is printed in red within a woodcut border. Over the title, but within the same border, are printed these verses—

" De Warheyty my gantz fremde ys/De Truwe gar seltzē/ dat ys gewisz."

These lines and the date are printed in black. The woodcut border is printed in red and black. Graesse says that the engravings, which were first used for the edition of 1539, are by Erh. Altdorffer, but Nagler mentions no other Altdorffer than Albrecht, and does not mention these cuts as his work. Graesse further says that the smaller cuts are by the monogrammist NB., but the initials to these cuts are MP.

Engraved title and 34 plates.

This is one of the sets of which Brunet says (vol. v., col. 1090): "Les exemplaires les plus précieux de ces estampes sont ceux qui parurent d'abord avant la lettre, et sans les noms des peintres et graveurs." Ordinary copies have only 33 plates, but this has a 34th, which is a duplicate etching of a Virgin and Child after Raphael, by Matham. The first etching not being considered satisfactory, it was re-engraved, but impressions of the suppressed plate are of the utmost rarity.

A—C in fours. In prose and verse.

This is the only copy known of Colwell's edition. From Mr. Corser's collection. There is no regular title-page, that given above occurring as a head-line on the top of A i.

The earliest known impression is described by Hazlitt in the Addenda to his "Handbook" from a copy in the library of Lord Robartes, at Lanhydrock, near Bodmin, in Cornwall.

RIBAS, ANDRES PEREZ DE. *Historia de los Trivmphos de Nuestra Santa Fee entre Gentes las mas Barbaras, y fieras del nueuo Orbe: conseguidos por los Soldados de la Milicia de la Compañia de Iesus en las Misiones de la Prouincia de Nueva-España. A—X in eights, including the title. The last leaf bears only the register and the printer's woodcut device, with the initials A. V., but the name of the printer is not given.

This is the earliest known edition, though Brunet says that an earlier one is supposed to have been printed.

RICCHI, AGOSTINO. Comedia di Agostino Ricchi da Lvcca, intitolata i Tre Tiranni, Recitata in Bologna a N. Signore, et a Cesare, Il giorno de la Commemorazione de la Corona di sua Maestà. [Colophon.] Stampata in Vinegia per Bernardino de Vitali, Adi xiiij di Settēbre del MDXXXIII. 4to. BL. M.

A full account of this very rare volume will be found in Collier's "Bibliogr. Cat.," ii., 251-5.

RICH, BARNABY. Favltes Favlts, And nothing else but Favltes. At London Printed for Jeffrey Chorleton, and are to be sold at the great North doore of Paules Church. 1606. 4to. G. M.

A—R 3 in fours; title on A 2. Dedicated to Prince Henry. From Mr. George Smith's collection. In the address "To the Gentlemen that are disposed," the author says: "Should we forbear to speake against vice, because the vicious will be offended, if that might once be brought to passe, it were high time to follow Tarlton's aduice, to pull down the Church, and set up the Ale-house."

— A Short Svrvey of Ireland. Trvely discovering who it is that hath so armed the hearts of that people with disobedience to their Prince. With a description of the Countrey, and the condition of the people. No lesse necessaric and needfull to be respected by the English, then requisite and behooeufull to be reformed in the Irish. By Barnabe Rych, Gentleman. London, Printed by N. O. for B. Setton and W. Barenger, and are to be sold at their shop at the great North dore of S. Paules Church. 1069 [1609.] 4to. R.

A—H in fours. Dedicated to the Earl of Salisbury.
This is one of the rarest of Rich's later works.

— A New Description of Ireland: Wherein is described the disposition of the Irish whereunto they are inclined. Printed at London for Thomas Adams.* 1610. 4to. G. M.

A—R 2 in fours.

This work, dedicated to Robert, Earl of Salisbury, was doubtless written and printed in the expectation of meeting with many purchasers among those who were concerned in the plantation of Ulster. In the address to the reader the writer says: "It is but a thriftlesse, and a thankelesse occupation, this writing of Bookes, a man were better to sit singing in a Coblers shop, for his pay is certaine, a penny a patch . . . Bookes are like Cheese, that is neuer well seasoned to euery mans tast; for one will say it is too salt, another wil say it is too fresh . . . it neuer pleaseth euery mans tast; no more do Bookes."

— A Trve and a Kinde Excuse Written in Defence of that Booke, intituled A Newe Description of Irelande wherein is freely confessed, 1. The cause of the writing of that Booke. 2. How that Booke was brought into obloquy and slander. 3. A Reuocation of all ouersightes that through ignorance were published in that Booke. 4. A Bulwarke or Defence of all truthes contayned in that Booke. Pleasant and pleasing both to English, and Irish. By Barnabe Rych, Gent. Seruant to the Kinges most excellent Maicstie. The rebukes of a Friend, are better then the kisses of an Enemie. Malui . . . London Printed for Thomas Adams. 1612. 4to.

Dedicated to Sir Thomas Middleton, Knight, Lord Mayor of London.

— My Ladies Looking Glasse. Wherein may be discerned a wise man from a Foole, a good woman from a bad: and the true resemblance of vice, masked vnder the vizard of vertue. By Barnabe Rich Gentleman, seruant to the Kings most excellent maiestie. Malui . . . London, Printed for Thomas Adams. 1616. 4to. G. M.

¶, 4 leaves; A—I in fours.

Dedicated "To the worthily and Honovred and most worthy to be worthily honoured, the Lady Saint Iones, wife to the Right Honourable Sir Oliver Saint Iones, Knight Lord Deputie of Ireland." Here the author says, in explanation of the title of his work: "To discover them therefore [i. e. the vices of the age] . . . I haue composed this looking Glasse, which I haue fronted in the forehead with the title of My Ladies Looking Glasse. Not that it is any thing lesse behouefull for my Lord, than it is for my Lady to looke in; for although women doe vse their looking-glasses, but to espie the deformities of their bodily beautie, yet this looking Glasse is composed of a contrarie constitution: for this maketh manifest the diseases of the minde —" On the back of ¶ 3 is a short poetical address "To the wide world."

RICH, BARNABY. The Irish Hvbbvb or, the English Hve and Crie. Briefely pvrsving the base conditions, and most notorious offences of this vile, vaine, and wicked Age. No lesse smarting then tickling. Rich, Gent, one of the Voyage. London Printed by Edw: Allde, and are to be solde by Iohn Wright at Christ-Church dore. 1610. 4to. R. M.

A—B in fours, the first leaf occupied by a woodcut of a ship, and the last blank.

This tract is in verse, with the exception of the address "To the Reader." in which the author says, "Reader, thou dost peradventure imagine that I am mercenarie in this busines, and write for money (as your moderne Poets vse) hyred by some of those euer to be admired Aduenturers, to flatter the world: No, I disclaime it, I haue knowne the Voyage, past the danger, seene that honorable work of Virginia, & I thanke God am arriud here to tell thee what I haue seene, don, & past : if thou wilt believe me so, if not so to : for I cannot force thee but to thy owne liking : I am a Soldier, blunt and plaine, and so is the phrase of my newes : and I protest it is true. If thou aske me why I put it in Verse? I prethee knowe, it was onely to feed mine owne humour."

The only copy known. From Lord Charlemont's library.

RICH, R. Newes from Virginia (1610). A Poetical Tract, describing the Adventurcs supposed to be referred to in Shakespeare's Tempest. Reprinted from a copy believed to be unique. Edited by J. O. Halliwell. London. 1865. 12mo.

Ten copies preserved out of twenty-five privately printed.

RICHARD CŒUR-DU-LION. Kyng Rycharde cuer du lyon. [This title is in a scroll over a woodcut occupying the remainder of the page, intended to represent the King in full armour on horseback, attended by a squire.] [Colophon.] *Thus endeth the story of y noble kyge Rycharde cure delyon. London, Imprinted by Felix Kyngston, for Roger Michell. 1630. Sm. 8vo.

A, 2 leaves; B—L 6 in eights.

At the end are epitaphs on James I., the Duke of Richmond, the Marquis Hamilton, Arthur, Lord Chichester, Sir Francis Carew, and Lady Frances Gorges. There are anagrams on the names of Robert, Earl of Warwick, and Sir Julius Cæsar, and verses on the coat of arms of the author's friend, Sir Henry Hart, Knight of the Bath.

From the collections of Bindley, Lloyd, Freeling, and Corser.

It is believed that only one other perfect copy of this original edition is known, which is in the British Museum.

RICHARDS, NATHANIEL. Poems. Divine, Morall, and Satyricall; in sundry Tracts. Viz. The Celestiall Pvblican. Spirituall Sea-Fight. World, Flesh. The Vicious Covrtier. Iesvite. Divell. A—F 2 in fours, title on A 2.

In prose and verse. In the only other copy known of this edition, which belonged to Robert Mylne and afterwards to Mr. Maidment, occurred a woodcut in an imperfect state, not found here. It is very doubtful whether this cut (separate from the letterpress) really belongs to the book. The Maidment copy was not in good condition. The work is in two parts, each with a separate title, upon which is a large woodcut of a very singular character. From the collections of Sir Francis Freeling and Mr. G. Daniel. In Daniel's sale catalogue, 1864, it is classed among the jest-books, but though a book of jests, it is not a jest-book.

ROBIN HOOD. A merry Iest of Robin Hood, and of his life. With a newe play for to be plaied in May-games. Very pleasant and full of pastime. London. Printed for Edward White. [1594?] 4to. Black letter. O. M.

A—H in fours. On the title are rude woodcuts of Robin Hood and Little John.

On the back of the title is the heading "Heere beginneth a little iest of Robin Hood and his merry men and of the proud Sheriffe of Notingham." This is in eight "fits," and ends on the recto of G iv. On the verso of G iv we read, "Heere beginneth the play of Robin Hood, very proper to be played in May games." The interlocutors are Robin Hood, Little John, Friar Tuck, The Potter and the Potter's boy Jack. On H iv recto, "Thus endeth the play of Robin Hood."

This is probably the edition which was licensed to E. White, May 13, 1594. From the Daniel collection, with the following note by Mr. Heber on the flyleaf: "This identical copy (being the only one known, I believe, of the present edition) formerly belonged to Narcissus Luttrell (See his MS. note of the price [4^d.] on the title page), whose collection passed from the library of M^r. Edw. Wynne of Chelsea into that of D^r. Farmer (7199 in Cat.) At D^r. Farmer's sale it was bot. for £3. 13. 6 by M^r. Forster."

An earlier impression by William Copland is in the Garrick collection.

ROBIN HOOD'S GARLAND. Containing his Merry Exploits, and the several Fights which he, Little John, and Will Scarlet had, upon several occasions. Some of them never before Printed. B—Q in fours, including the colophon, besides title, dedication, &c., 3 leaves.

In "The Epistle dedicatorie," addressed to Gilbert Talbot, Esq., the author says that he composed this volume of poems "to eschewe Idlenes, and speciallye in suche times as my turne came to serue in watche of the Scottishe Queene, I then euery night collected some part thereof, to thend that nowe it might the better appeare, that I vsed not altogether to sleepe."

From the library of the Marquis of Hastings. In a woodcut at the end of the book occurs the date of 1573, but this cut was used by the printer in different books, and the volume was probably printed about 1576.

ROBINSON, THOMAS. The Anatomie of the English Nunnery at Lisbon in Portvgall: Dissected and laid open by one that was sometime a yonger Brother of the Couent: Are to bee sould by R. Milbourne and Philemon Stephens. 1623. 4to.

Part 1, title and preliminaries, 12 leaves, pp. 1-63; part 2, pp. 1-63, including title; part 3, pp. 1-56, including title.

The author of this play appears to have been anxious to display his knowledge of languages, and has accordingly introduced passages in English, French, Spanish, and Italian. At p. 22 of the 2nd part occurs the following curious plagiarism from the 68th Sonnet of Sir P. Sidney's "Astrophel and Stella":—

"Melibé the onely planet of my light,
World of my wealth, & heau'n of my delight,
Chief good, where to my hope doth only aspire,
Light of my life, and life of my desire," &c.

Folio. BL. M.

One hundred and fifty leaves. Hain, No. 13,939.

Prefixed to this edition is a dedicatory Epistle addressed to Pope Paul II., and a preface in which is given some account of the author.

— Speculum Humanæ vitæ. [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio. G. M.

This edition is not mentioned by Brunet, nor is it described by Hain. It much resembles the edition printed at Rome by George Lauer, but differs materially both in the number of lines and of leaves. This has 140 leaves, with 32 lines to the page, while that of Lauer has only 106 leaves, with 41 lines. It formerly belonged to the McCarthy Library, and forms No. 1521 in the sale catalogue. It is merely described there as "Editio vetus, sine loco et anno." — Speculū hūane vite. [Colophon.] Finit feliciter liber excellentissimus. Speculū hūane vite nūcupatus im̄ssus Bisuncii Anno Dñi Milesimo. CCCC.LXXXVIII. 4to. BLK. M.

A—L in eights; M, 12 leaves; n, 8 leaves (n 1 being blank); O—y in eights.

This is one of the earliest books printed at Besançon, and is the rarest of the many editions of this work which were printed in the fifteenth century. On the title-page are given the titles of seven other treatises, which were also printed uniform with the volume, which is however quite complete in itself as described by Brunet.

— Dises büchlin genant d' spiegel des menschlichen lebens. von dem hochwirdigen Rodorico von hispania byschoffen Zamorensi gemachet. [Übersetzt von H. Steinhöwll.] [O. O. u. Ț.] Folio. Woodcuts.

This is the edition described by Brunet as having 164 folios numbered, and 10 without numbers. It is attributed to the press of Günther Zainer, at Augsburg, about 1475.

RODOMONTADOS. Or, Brauadoes and Bragardismes. Collected out of the Commentaries of the most Dreadfull, Terrible, and Inuincible capitaine Mattamores, Crocodillo Raiabroquelos. Arma virumque cano. Printed by W. Iaggard, 1610. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—E in fours, title on A 2.

From Lord Charlemont's library; only two others are known, both of which are in the Bodleian.

Under "Rodomuntadas" Brunet describes a volume printed in 1607, of which the title given above is an exact translation. He then gives the title of a book, "Rodomontades Espagnoles. Rouen 1612," as though it were quite a different publication, and says to it "(par Jac. Gautier)." But it is probably the same book under a different title, as the dedication of the volume here described is signed "Jacques Gaultier." A book which reads like an earlier edition of the present publication was entered to John Wolf twenty years before:—

"John wolf Entred for his copie vnder master Hartwelles hand and master newberies. a booke to be printed in French and English. Entituled. Les Rodomantades Du Capitaine VIQVES, and a letter of a Frenche gent. to my lady JAQUET CLEMENT. . . . vj^d."—Arber, ii., 267.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; folios 1-281. From the Yemeniz collection.

RODRIGUEZ, MANUEL. Sobre las Misiones Llamadas de los Maynas. [s. l. y a.] Folio.

This author is not mentioned by Antonio, but is probably identical with the Manuel Rodriguez who wrote "El Marañon y las Amazonas." Madrid 1684. Folio, as described by Brunet. The present work appears to be unknown to bibliographers.

ROHAN. Mémoires du Duc de Rohan sur les choses aduenües en France depuis la Mort de Henry le Grand jusques à la paix faite avec les Réformez au mois de Juin 1629. [A la Sphère.] 1646. Sm. 8vo. G. M.

Part 1. Title engraved on copper, portrait of the author and other preliminaries, 8 leaves; then follows a second title; Les Emblemes de Maistre Gabriel Rollenhague, mis en vers François par vn professeur de la langue Française a Colongne. Coloniæ, Excudebat Seruatius Erffens: Prostant Apud Ioannem Iansonium bibliopolam Arnheimensem Anno MDCXI, with sigs. A—D in fours; plates by Crispin de Passe, 1-100.

Part 2. Title, engraved on copper, portrait, Latin dedication, and verse in French, illustrating the emblems; A—D 2 in fours; plates 1-100.

Brunet describes the first part with the French title given above as though it were a separate edition. The copy he took his description from wanted, no doubt, the preliminary leaves which precede the French title.

The plates of the beautiful engravings in this book were afterwards sold to an English bookseller, and served to illustrate Wither's celebrated Book of Emblems, but the impressions are necessarily very inferior.

ROMAN MARTYROLOGY. The Roman Martyrologe, according to the reformed Calendar. Faithfully translated out of Latin into English by G. K. of the Society of Iesus. Imprinted with Licence. M D C XXVII. Sm. 8vo.

Engraved title, dedication, &c., 5 leaves; A—Dd in eights.

compuesto. En Enveres, En casa de Martin Nucio. [s. a.] Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Title and preliminaries, including table, 5 leaves ; folios 6-275.

This is the first edition, and of so great rarity that it was entirely unknown to Señor Gallardo, and Brunet was acquainted with it only by the copy preserved in the Library of the Arsenal at Paris. Salvá also knew it only through Depping, who mentions it in his "Romancero Castellano," printed at Leipzig in 1844.

ROMANCERO. Cancionero de Romances en que estan recopilados la mayor parte de los Romances Castellanos, que hasta agora se han compuesto. Nueuamente corregido, emendado, y añadido en muchas partes. En Anvers En casa de Martin Nucio, a la enseña de las dos Cigueñas. M.D.LV. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

Title and table, four leaves; folios 1-cxxvii. A large woodcut on the title.

This edition appears to be entirely unknown to bibliographers. Brunet, Salvá, and Gallardo alike quote the edition printed at Seville by Cromberger in 1550 as the earliest, and not either of them appears to have even met with the title of this edition of Toledo, so that the volume may fairly be considered unique.

ROSMITAL. Commentarius brevis et jucundus Itineris atque peregrinationis, pietatis et religionis causa susceptæ, ab Illustri et Magnifico Domino, Domino Leone libero Barone de Rosmital et

A, 4 leaves; B, 6 leaves; C—D, 8 leaves each; E, 13 leaves.

First edition, printed about 1730. From Mr. Daniel's collection. Dedicated "To the Worshipful Mr. Lunn, Compleat witch-maker of England, and Conjuror General of the Universe; at his Great House in Lincoln's-Inn-Fields."

This tract is often cited by Brand in his "Popular Antiquities."

ROVENSON, JOHN. A Treatise of Metallica. Bvt not that which was published by M^r. Simon Stvrtevant vpon his Patent, which is now by order cancelled and made voyd, by reason of his standing out-lawed at the time of the grant, and so still continuing, and his neglect and not performance of the workes. Wherevpon Priviledge by Patent is granted by the Kings most excellent Maiesty to Iohn Rovenson, Esquire, for the making of Iron, and other Mettals and Materials with Sea-cole, Pit-cole, &c. for one and thirty yeares. London: Printed for Thomas Thorp. 1613. Cum Priuilegio. 4to.

A—D in fours; D 4 blank; title on A 2.

This is apparently the second treatise on the subject in English. The treatise by Simon Sturtevant was printed in the previous year.

ROWE, JOHN. Tragi-Comœdia. Being a Brief Relation of the Strange, and Wonderfull hand of God discovered at Witny, in the Comedy Acted there February the third, where there were some Slaine, many Hurt, with severall other Remarkable Passages. By John Rowe of C. C. C. in Oxford, Lecturer in the Towne of Witny. Oxford, Printed by L. Lichfield, For Henry Cripps. Anno Dom. 1653. 4to.

¶, 4 leaves; *, 4 leaves; ¶¶, 2 leaves; A—K in fours.

The Narrative of the Catastrophe occupies pp. 13, the rest of the book being taken up by three sermons. The play performed at Witney on this occasion was the comedy of "Mucedorus," and all the actors were countrymen from Stanton-Harcourt, who had been rehearsing their parts since Michaelmas.

ROWE, NICHOLAS. Works, consisting of his Plays and Poems. London. 1756. 2 vols. Sm. 8vo. Portrait.

ROWLANDS, RICHARD. The Post of the World. Wherein is contained the antiquities and originall of the most famous Cities in Europe. With their trade and traficke. And the Raignes of all the Kinges of England. A booke right necessary and profitable, for all sortes of persons, the like before this tyme not Imprinted. As the Bird is prepared to flye, So Man is ordained to labour and trauaile. Imprinted at London by Thomas East. 1576. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R.

*, 4 leaves ; , 4 leaves ; A—P in fours. Dedicated to Sir Thomas Gresham. On sig. A occurs a second title-page : "The Post For diuers partes of the world : to trauaile from one notable Citie vnto an other, with a description of the antiquitie of diuers famous Cities in Europe. The Contents doe farther appeare in the nexte leafe folowing. Very necessary & profitable for Gentlemen, Marchants, Factors, or any other persons disposed to trauaile. The like not heretofore in English. Published by Richard Rowlands. Imprinted at London by Thomas East. 1576."

After the first title-page comes an almanac for seventeen years, beginning with 1572.

ROWLANDS, SAMUEL. Greenes Ghost havnting Conie-Catchers. Wherein is set downe, The Arte of Humouring. The Arte of carrying Stones. Will. St. Lift. Ia.Fost.Law. Ned Bro.Catch.and Blacke Robins Kindnesse. With the conceits of Doctor Pinch-backe a notable Make-shift. Ten times more pleasant then anything yet published of this matter. Non ad imitandum, sed ad euitandum. London, Printed for R. Jackson, and I. North, and are to be sold in Fleetstreete, a little aboue the Conduit. 1602. 4to. Black letter. G. M.

A—G 2 in fours.

First edition. The dedication runs, "To all Gentlemen, Merchants, Apprentises, Farmers, and plaine countrimen, health," after which there is an Address to the Reader, in verse. This publication was suggested by Greene's pieces on the same subject, to which Rowlands refers at the commencement ; it is throughout an exposure of the tricks of London sharpers. There is a later edition, 4to, 1626.

— Greenes Ghost Haunting Cony-catchers. Edited by J. O. Halliwell. London, 1860. 8vo.

Only twenty-six copies printed.

— Hvmors Ordinarie. Where a man may bee verie merrie, and exceeding well vsed for his six-pence. At London, Printed by Edward Allde for William Firebrand and are to bee sold at his Shoppe in the Popes head Alley, right ouer against the Tauerne-doore. 1607. 4to. GR. M.

A—G in fours.

From the Sykes, Bright, and Corser collections.

ROWLANDS, SAMUEL. Doctor Merrie-man: or, Nothing but Mirth. Written by S. R. At London, Printed for Iohn Deane, and are to [be] sold at his Shoppe at Temple-barre vnder the gate. 1609. 4to.

A—C in fours. From the Corser collection.

The first edition was printed in 1607 under the title of "Democritus, or Doctor Merry-man his medecines, against Melancholy Humors. Written by S. R." It contained five pages of preliminary matter consisting of humorous and satirical verses, which were omitted in subsequent impressions.

The Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica copy, with the autographs of Thomas Park and Thomas Hill on the title, and the book-plate of Samuel Merriman, M.D.

— The Knave of Clubbes. [Woodcut of the Knave.] Printed at London for W. Ferebrand, and are to be sold at his shop in Popes-head Pallace. 1609. 4to. BL. M.

A—F in fours. In verse.

The dedication to Fustis, Knave of Clubs, is signed S. R. The only copy yet discovered of the earliest known edition. It is a series of poetical characters and descriptions. The "Knave of Clubs" was the first of a series; it was followed by the "Knaves of Hearts," "the Knaves of Spades and Diamonds." Every trace of the original impressions of these satirical pieces has disappeared; they were ordered to be suppressed in 1600, but outlived that proscription, and became excessively popular in James I.'s time. The "Pair of Spy-Knaves," a tract of a similar character, exists only in an unique fragment, 12 leaves of a 4to tract which probably consisted of 16.

— Martin Mark-All, Beadle of Bridewell; His defence and Answer to the Belman of London. Discouering the long concealed Originall and Regiment of Rogues, when they first began to take head, and how they haue succeeded one the other successiue vnto the sixe and twentieth yeare of King Henry the eight, gathered out of the Chronicle of Crackeropes, and (as they time it) the Legend of Lossels. By S. R.

A—G 3 in fours, title on A 2. In verse.

Dedicated "To all Sorcerers, Enchavnters, Charmers, Nigromancers, Coniurers, Magitians, Southsayers, Witches, Fortune-tellers" There are three woodcuts, which are repeated.

ROWLANDS, SAMUEL. Well met Gossip : or, Tis merrie when Gossips meete. Now Newly enlarged, with diuers merry Songes. London, Printed by Augustine Mathewes, and are to be sold by Michael Sparkes. 1627. 4to. BL. M.

A—D 2 in fours. In verse.

This seems to be the sixth known impression, and, as is the case with all after the first of 1602, omits the curious preliminary matter which is reprinted in the "Shakespeare Society's Papers." The work consists of a poetical discourse between a wife, a widow, a maid, and a vintner, the last of whom, however, is only an incidental interlocutor. The divers merry songs are two in number. There is a woodcut on the title-page, representing the wife, widow, and maid.

From the Bright and Daniel collections.

— Diogenes Lanthorne.

In Athens I seeke for honest men,

London, Printed by W. I. for Thomas Baily, and are to be sold at his Shop in the Middle-row in Holbourne neere Staple Inne. 1634. 4to.

A—E 2 in fours. In verse.

Printed with type borders at the top and bottom of the page. This tract, of which there was an earlier edition, 4to, 1620, consists of characters in verse, metrical versions of old tales and proverbs, and incidents of a humorous character. The Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica copy.

— The Famous History of Gvy Earle of Warwick. Written by Samvel Rowland. London, Printed for Edward Brewster. 1667. 4to. Woodcuts. R.

A—Q in fours. In stanzas of six lines.

Dedicated to Philip, Earl of Montgomery. From the libraries of Sir F. Freeling and Mr. Corser. There were several editions of this work ; but they are all very rare. It is to be remarked that the last figure but one of the date is somewhat indistinct, and might, at first sight, be mistaken for o instead of 6, which may possibly have led to the quotation of an edition of 1607, which no bibliographer seems to have actually seen.

In the Stationers' Registers, Arber (iii., 169), the tract was entered on the 23rd June, 1608, to "William Farbrand."

ROWLEY, SAMUEL. When yov see me, You knowe me. Or the famous Chronicle Historie of King Henrie the Eight, with the birth and vertuous life of Edward Prince of Wales. As it was playd by the high and mightie Prince of Wales his seruants. By Samvell Rowly, servant to the Prince. At London, Printed for Nathaniell Butter, and are to be sold at his shop in Paules Church-yard neare S. Austines gate. 1613. 4to. Woodcut on title.

A—L in fours. The second edition.

— The Noble Souldier. Or, a Contract Broken, justly Reveng'd. A Tragedy. Written by S. R. London: Printed for Nicholas Vavasour, and are to be sold at his shop in the Temple, neere the Church. 1634. 4to.

A—H in fours, title on A 2.

From the address of the Printer to the Reader we may conclude that this play is much older than the date of publication. The running-title throughout is: "The Noble Spanish Souldier."

ROWLEY, WILLIAM. A New Wonder, a Woman never vext. A Pleasant Conceited Comedy: sundry times Acted: never before printed. Written by William Rowley, one of his Maiesties Servants. London, Imprinted by G. P. for Francis Constable, and are to be sold at his shop at the signe of the Crane in Saint Pauls Churchyard. 1632. 4to.

A—L 2 in fours.

— A Tragedy Called All's Lost by Lvst. Written by William Rowley. Divers times Acted by the Lady Elizabeths Servants. And now lately by her Maiesties Servants, with great applause, at the Phoenix in Drury-Lane. . . . London: Printed by Thomas Harper, 1633. 4to.

A—I 3 in fours. First edition.

— The Birth of Merlin: Or, The Childe hath found his Father. As it hath been several times Acted with great Applause. Written by William Shakespear and William Rowley. Placere cupio. London: Printed by Tho. Johnson for Francis Kirkman and Henry Marsh 1662. 4to.

A—G in fours.

The only edition, but written long before the date at which it was printed. Probably it was the unassisted production of Rowley, and one which he did not choose to print in his lifetime. The Roxburghe copy, from Sir W. Tite's library.

ROY, WILLIAM.

Rede me and be nott wrothe
 For I saye no thyng but trothe.
 I will ascende makynge my state so hye/
 That my pompous honoure shall never dye.

[Worms, 1526.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R.

a—i in eights. On the title is a satirical woodcut of Wolsey's arms, printed in red and black.

First edition of this poetical satire on Wolsey. A second, which was printed at Wesel in 1546, differs from it in omitting the matter at sig. C vi relating to the divorce of Henry VIII. from Catherine of Arragon, and in suppressing the mention of Wolsey, for whom the bishops generally are substituted.

From the collections of Steevens, Heber, and Mr. Daniel.

— Rede me and be nott wrothe
 For I saye no thyng but trothe.

Reprinted by C. Whittingham, 1845. Sm. 8vo. Printed on vellum. BR. M.
 Only two copies were taken off on vellum.

ROY, WILLIAM. The Military Antiquities of the Romans in Britain. London. 1793. Folio. Plates. R.

SACHSENSPIEGEL. Folio. BR. M.

MS. of the fifteenth century of this celebrated code of laws. Written on 574 folios of vellum in large Gothic character. Nearly every leaf is illuminated with borders and brilliantly painted initials, and in very many of the borders coats of arms are introduced.

This famous code of laws was brought together by Ecke von Rebkau (called also Repko, Rebgow, Ribikow, &c.) in the year 1240. The first dated edition is that of Basle, 1474, and it has been reprinted again and again till the present time.

— [On the recto of the first leaf.] [G]ot gebe seiner sele rat Der dys buch getichtet hat Ecke von Repchaw Seine pflge vnser frawe [O. O. u. j.] Folio. BR. M.

This edition appears to have been unknown to Panzer, Ebert, Brunet, or Graesse, the earliest described by either of these bibliographers being that of Basle, 1474. This has every appearance of being earlier, but is without any indication of date, place, or printer. It begins as above with 12 short lines of rhyme printed as prose, space being left at the side for a large initial letter. The volume consists of 148 leaves of text, 38 lines to a full page, and 2 leaves of table, which ends on the verso of the 150th leaf. Had the edition been known to Panzer it would of course have been included in his list of books without date.

SACK-FULL OF NEWES, THE. London, Printed by Andrew Clark, and are to be sold by Thomas Passenger at the Three-Bibles upon London Bridge, 1673. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

Twelve leaves.

From the collection of Mr. Daniel, with the following note by him on the fly-leaf. "This is a humorous collection of Jests and Merry Tales. I never heard of or saw but two copies, the present one and another, imperfect. Both from Mr. Heber's Library. Mr. J. P. Collier has the Imperfect one."

SACKVILLE, THOMAS, EARL OF DORSET. The Tragidie of Ferrex and Porrex, set forth without addition or alteration, but altogether as the same was shewed on stage before the Queenes Maiestie, about nine yeares past, vz. the xvij. day of Ianuarie. 1561. by the gentlemen of the Inner Temple. Seen and allowed. &c. Imprinted at Lou- don by Iohn Daye, dwelling ouer Aldersgate. [1570.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R.

A—H in fours, last leaf blank.

This is the first authorized edition, though it had already been published without the author's permission in 1565, in 4to. In the address of the printer to the reader the play is said to be the joint work of Thomas Sackville and Thomas Norton, though the former is supposed to have had the chief share in it.

From Lord Charlemont's library.

SACKVILLE, THOMAS, EARL OF DORSET. The Tragedie of Gorboduc, whereof three Actes were written by Thomas Norton, and the two last by Thomas Sackuyle. Set forth as the same was shewed before the Queenes most excellent Maiesty in her highnes Court of Whitehall, by the Gentlemen of the Inner Temple. *At London, Printed by Edward Allde for Iohn Perrin, and are to be sold in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Angell. 1590. 4to. From Mr. Jolley's library. See Hazlitt's "Handbook," p. 359, for a notice of a copy in the British Museum, which is preceded by an edition of Lydgate's "Serpent of Division," on the title of which the Tragedy of Gorboduc is spoken of as "annexed." It is to be remarked, however, that the copy in the British Museum appears to have had the "Serpent of Division" placed before it of late years, and that it was not originally bound up with it.

SALAMANCA UNIVERSITY.

An original MS. document in Latin. Beautifully written on four pages folio. The following is a summary of the contents :—

A question having arisen among the ecclesiastics in one of the [newly discovered] islands subject to the Emperor as to the baptism of the natives, one party maintained the argument and practice that they should be baptized, if willing, within a short and definite period, the other urged the necessity of long previous instruction and careful examination. The undersigned masters and theologians of the university of Salamanca, being consulted in the controversy, answer as follows :—

The question is one about which there does not appear to be any diversity of opinion among the saints and theologians, as is sometimes the case; nor ought there to be such about baptism, which is the door of the Christian Religion, especially among barbarous nations, where controversies of this kind cannot take place without scandal.

In cases of faith and religion, zeal and a desire to increase and promote religion are not enough, but zeal should be directed not by impulse, but in accordance with the canons and rules of the Scriptures, the church and the saints, and therefore the former party in the controversy are to be praised for their zeal and love of the faith and religion, but are nevertheless liable to error. Our own conclusion is that barbarians ought not to be baptized until they have been sufficiently instructed, not only in the Christian faith, but also in morals, at least so far as is needful to salvation; nor until it is probable that they understand what they receive or look for and profess in baptism, and are willing to persevere in the Christian faith and religion.

In this conclusion all extant authors read by theologians concur, witness the master of the Sentences and his commentators, St. Thomas, Clement, Dionysius, and Origen, in fact, the authority of Augustine alone, in whose time a like controversy arose, is enough to end the discussion, he having in his work "De Fide et Operibus" distinctly laid down the above conclusion, and proved it by the testimony of Scripture.

Hence it is clearly rash and perilous to baptize barbarians indiscriminately; and without greater care and examination much that is irrational and unedifying must ensue, just as in Spain where many, though admitted to baptism, are excluded from all the Church Sacraments, when, according to the tradition of the ancient church, they ought to communicate directly after baptism. The haste to have many baptized, results in having few really Christians either in faith or morals. A short cut often proves a long round, and the more diligence is needed in dealing with barbarians from their natural dulness, inconstancy, and incapacity to see their own interest. Dated Salamanca, 1st July, 1541.

The only edition of this work known to Antonio was the reprint of Brussels, 1590. To Brunet it was known only through Panzer. In Señor Salvá's catalogue the full title of this edition is given, but he possessed only the Brussels reprint.

Though Ticknor gives no account of the book in his "History of Spanish Literature," a notice of it will be found in the Spanish translation of that work by D. Pascual de Gazangos. He remarks, "A pesar de lo que Salazar dice, hay razones para dudar que su obra sea, como él lo anuncia, un resumen de las conversaciones del Gran Capitan. Hay en ella trozos enteros tomados del Libro dell' arte della guerra, de Machiavelo, el cual está tambien escrito en forma de diálogo entre Fabricio Colonna y Cosme de Rosellar, caballero florentin."

Brunet remarks that although we learn from the colophon that 400 copies of this edition were printed, it has become a book of very great rarity. Brunet calls it a quarto, and if it were shorn of some of its ample margin, it might appear so. With its full margin as in this copy it must certainly rank as a folio.

This edition, printed in a thin Roman letter, has the date of 1473 or thereabouts assigned to it by Brunet. On account of the letters A. R., which occur on the last page, Maittaire has ascribed the impression to Adam Rot, but Brunet differs entirely from this opinion.

Brunet mentions an edition printed at Brussels in the same year, but this appears to have been unknown to him. The Brussels edition was also in Señor Salvá's collection, but he was evidently unacquainted with this, or he would have included it in his list.

a—f in eights. The title is a large woodcut with only the words, "Carcel de amor" engraved on a ribband.

Brunet mentions an edition of this book dated 1511, but there can be little doubt that the edition intended is really this of 1516, as it agrees with it in the day of the month named in the colophon, and in every other particular. He mentions that the title had been communicated to him by Mr. Payne, and the date is no doubt a misprint. According to Señor Salvá's careful account, this is the sixth edition, but his own choice collection contained nothing earlier than the eighth edition printed at Saragossa in 1523.

The translator was Captain Robert Hitchcock, of Caversfield, Co. Bucks, whose arms are engraved on sig. Ee 2, verso. At the end of the volume occurs the translator's name, and this Note: "This saide Captaine Hichcock seruing in the Lowe Cuntries, Anno. 1586 with two hundreth Souldiours: brought from thence with this Booke, the second booke of Sansouinos politick Conceites, which shall be put to the Printing so soon as it is translated out of the Italian into English." No more, however, is known to have appeared. Captain R. Hitchcock was the author of "The Politique Platt," described under his name in this catalogue.

Title and preface, 2 leaves ; B—I in fours ; K, 6 leaves.

This volume appears to be unknown to bibliographers. Antonio informs us that the author was murdered by some apostate natives in the Island of San Juan in 1672, but the only work he mentions by him is a life of S. Francis Xavier printed in 1661.

SAPARTON, JOHN. Sapartons Alarum, to all such as do beare The name of true Souldiers, in England, or els wheare. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London, in Fleetstreete, by William How, for Richard Johnes, and are to be solde at his shoppe vnder the Lotterie house. [1570 ?] A Broadside. Black letter.

A—Dd ; A—Cc in fours, including title, the last leaf blank.

The French original of this piece was first printed in 1594, though the title bears the date of 1593. In 1595 an English translation of it was printed (Herbert 1728) under the title of "A pleasant Satyre or Poesie : wherein is discovered the Catholicon of Spain, and the chief Leaders of the League, finely laid open in their Colours."

The running title of the edition described above is "A Satyre Menippized." It is very probable that it is the edition of 1595 with a new title. It does not appear to be described by any bibliographer. The edition of 1595 is noticed only by Dr. Graesse, who quotes the title from Bindley's catalogue.

SAVAGE, ELIZABETH. A Narrative Of the Late Extraordinary Cure Wrought in an Instant upon Mrs. Eliz. Among the books mentioned in a list of advertisements at the end occurs: "The Lord Faulkland's Works, Secretary of State to King Charles I. Folio." It is, with other works, said to be "in the press, and designed for it;" but no such collected edition of Falkland's Works is known.

This copy has by way of a frontispiece a very curious copper-plate engraving of the fifteenth century, evidently executed by a piagnone artist. It represents a papal tiara formed of shields bearing pious inscriptions and surmounted by a crucifix. This is probably a unique plate.

[SEAGER, FRANCIS.] The Schoole of Vertue, and Booke of good Nurture, teaching Children and Youth their duties. Newly perused, corrected, and amended. Hereunto is added a briefe Declaration of the duties of each degree. Also certaine Prayers and Graces, compiled by R. C.[rowley.]

*If thou wilt be counted vertuous and holy,
Despise not good counsell, but rebuke folly.*

London, Printed by M. Flesher for Robert Bird. [About 1640.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R. M.

A—C in eights, first leaf blank, and last having only on verso a full-page woodcut. In verse, excepting two or three of the prayers at the end.

The only other copy known is in the Bodleian. From the Wolferston collection, dispersed in 1856.

— The Schoole of Vertue, and Booke of good Nurture London Printed by M. Flesher for John Wright at the Kings head in the Old Bayley. [About 1660.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. BL. M.

A—C in eights. From Mr. Corser's collection. The only copy known of this edition. On the back of the title in both editions are some verses headed "The Preachers Counsell to Parents and Masters," and forming an acrostic on the name of Robert Crowley, the compiler of the "Prayers and Graces." With the exception of these graces on the last printed leaf, the whole is in verse.

This work was assigned to John Wright by the widow of William Jones, 17 September, 1618; but both the editions here noticed are evidently much later than that date, and the John Wright who published one of them was probably the son of the assignee of 1618.

SEAMAN'S KALENDAR. The Seamans Kalender, Or An Ephemerides of the Sunne, Moone, and certaine of the most notable fixed Starres. The ninth Edition. Newly corrected and enlarged; with an abridged Table of Sines, and some propositions thereupon, concerning Arithmeticall Nauigation. London, Printed by Edw: All-de, for John Tap, and are to be sold at his shop at Saint Magnus corner. Anno Dom. 1625. 4to. Woodcuts.

A—L in eights. Dedicated by the publisher to Sir John Paiton, Governor of Jersey.

It has been suggested that this is the work which Thomas Lodge promises at the end of his Rosalind; but John Tap the publisher speaks of it most clearly, in the dedication, as his own compilation, and it is very unlike anything Lodge would probably have written.

SEARCH. A Search after Wit; or, A visitation of the Authors: In answer to the late Search after Claret. . . . By an Vnder-Drawer at the ——'s Head-Tavern in —— Gate-Street. London, Printed for E. Hawkins, 1691. 4to.

SEBASTIAN, KING OF PORTUGAL. The Strangest Adventvre that ever happened : either in the ages passed or present. Containing a discourse concerning the successe of the King of Portugall Dom Sebastian, from the time of his voyage into Affricke, when he was lost in the battell against the infidels, in the yeare 1578. vnto the sixt of Ianuary this present 1601. In which Discourse, is diuerse curious histories, some auncient Propheesies, and other matters, whereby most evidently appeareth: that he whom the Seigneurie of Venice hath held as prisoner for the space of two yeres and twentie two dayes, is the right and true King of Portugall Dom Sebastian. More, a Letter that declareth, in what maner he was set at libertie the xv. of December last. And beside, how he parted from Venice and came to Florence. All first done in Spanish, then in French, and now lastly translated into English. London, Printed for Frances Henson dwelling in the Black-Friers. 1601. 4to. The edges uncut. R. M.

A—Mi in fours.

Dedicated by Munday, who subscribes the Epistle with his initials, to the Lord Mayor and other civic dignitaries.

From the library of Mr. Corser. In the Grenville catalogue, ii., 652, the copy in that collection is described by mistake as printed for Henry Henson, but it is in fact the same in every respect as the one here described.

SECKENDORF, V. L. Æ. Commentarius Historicus et Apologeticus de Lutheranism, Sive de Reformatione Religionis ductu Martini Lutheri in magna Germaniæ parte aliisque regionibus. . . . Francofurti. 1692. Folio.

MS. on paper. Beneath the title as given above is written, "The above mentioned Francis Segar as Agent for his Master above mentioned in the 3 & 10th years of King James the first was rewarded by the King with two Chains of Gold with medals weighing 3⁸ oz 5^d wt of the value of 135 as appears upon the Account of the Masters of the Kings Jewell House in the respective years of the said Kings Reign."

This is probably the most valuable Album Amicorum ever formed by an Englishman, containing signatures of some of the most eminent men of letters in England at the beginning of the seventeenth century, as well as a great number of royal and courtly personages eminent in their day, but whose names are no longer remembered. Among the names worthy of notice are the following, with mottoes in their autograph:—

1. Jacobus R. Parcere subiectis & debellare superbos. 1604.
2. Henricus P. fax mentis honestæ gloria: 1604.

MDLIII. Sm. 8vo. Y. M.*

Of this edition Señor Salvá says : "Comprende esta apreciable edición, ademas del Proceso ó epistolario de cartas de amores de Juan de Segura, las Cartas de refranes de Blasco de Garay, y el Dialogo que habla de las condiciones de las mugeres. De esta composicion de Castillejo mencionan los traductores de la Hist. de la lit. de Ticknor, tom. ii., pag. 499, una edición de Venecia, 1544 . . . y otra de Toledo . . . 1546 ; ambas parecen estar completas como la de 1553." It appears that in the later editions a considerable portion was omitted as it spoke unfavourably of the nuns. The suppressed verses are reprinted in Señor Salvá's catalogue.

H. for Thomas Archer, and are to be sold at his shop in Popes-head Pallace, 1612.* 4to. Black letter.

A—C in fours; first leaf (marked A) and last blank.

Selman's offence consisted in "purchasing" the purse of one Leonard Barry. There is a full-length portrait of the culprit on the title, which is repeated on the last leaf but one. It represents him apparently just as he has succeeded in obtaining the purse. Besides this tract, other pieces relating to the subject were evidently printed. On the 8th January, 1611-12, William Barley entered "A ballad called, Sellmans sorrowfull song"; and on the following day John Wright procured leave to print "A ballad called The arraynmente, condemnacon, and execucon of the graund Cutpurse John Sellman, who was executed at Whitehall . . ." See Arber's "Transcript," iii., 215.

SEMPILL, ROBERT, OF BELTREES. ane new ballet set out be ane Fugitiue Scottisman that fled out of Paris at this lait Murther. [At the end.] Finis. Quod Sempell. [Colophon.] Imprintit at Sanctandrous be Robert Lekpriuik. Anno. Do. 1572. A Broadside. Black letter.

Eighteen 6-line stanzas, in two columns.

Artificis: non est passa perire manus
Huic igitur meritas grates studiosa inuentus
Pro tam sublimi munere semper agas.*

[On folio 107 of the second part.] Explicit liber epistolarum Senecæ. Folio.

Editio princeps. The chef-d'œuvre of the press of Moravus. The grandeur of the margins and the beauty of the type are alike remarkable even among the finest books of the fifteenth century. This is one of the copies referred to by Brunet as having the six Latin verses beneath the colophon, and a list of contents after the register. Hain. 14590.

— [On folio 1.] Lucii Annei Senecæ Cordubensis ad Lucillum epistole Feliciter Incipiunt [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio. BR. M.

This is the edition attributed to the press of Mentelin on account of the peculiar formation of the capital R. It consists of 210 leaves, with 35 lines to the full page, and is generally considered to be the first edition of the work.

— [Epistolarum Senecæ ad Lucillum libri xxv.] [Colophon.] Præsens hæc epistolarum Senecæ ad Lucillum impressio In alma urbe Roma in domo nobilis uiri Petri de maximis non atramento: plumali calamo: neq̄ stilo æreo: sed artificiosa quadam ad inuentione imprimendi seu characterizandi: opus sic effigiatum est, ad dei laudem īdustriæq̄: p̄ magistru Arnoldū pannartz Alamanū est cōsumatū. Anno salutis. M.CCCC.LXXV. Die uero Prima Mensis Februarii: Sedeñ. Sixto Pon. Max. Anno eius quarto. Folio. R.

Ebert counts only 169 leaves to this edition, but the copy he collated must have been imperfect. Brunet correctly makes it 179 leaves. Eight leaves for preliminary matter, 170 for the body of the book and one leaf of register.

— Senecæ Tragoediæ [Colophon]. Venetiis in Aedibus Aldi et Andreae Soceri mense Octobri M.D.XVII. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

Title and dedication, 3 leaves ; folios, 1-217.

In this volume are collected the translations which had already been published, with the addition of the "Hippolytus" and "Hercules Oetæus," translated by John Studley, and "Thebais," translated by T. Newton, which appear to be printed for the first time in this volume.

— The Seconde Tragedie of Seneca entituled Thyestes faithfully Englished by Jasper Heywood fellowe of Alsolne College in Oxforde. Imprinted at London in Fletestrete in the hous late Thomas Berthelettes. Anno. 1560. 26. die Martij. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R.

Imprinted at London by Thomas Powell, for George Bucke. [About 1560.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R.

A—F 3 in eights.

Dedicated to Queen Elizabeth. There was another edition, dated 1559, of which a copy is in the British Museum. In the preface, Heywood describes his plan and the extent to which he has enlarged upon his original. From Mr. Corser's library.

— The Lamentable Tragedie of OEdipvs the Sonne of Laivs Kyng of Thebes out of Seneca. By Alexander Neuytle. Imprynted at London in saint Brydes Churchyarde: oucragaynst the North doore of the Churche: by Thomas Colwell. 1563. 28. Aprilis. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R. M.

A, 7 leaves ; title on A 2 ; A—F 2 in eights.

Dedicated to "Maister Doctor Wotton," one of the Queen's Majesty's Privy Council. This, like Heywood's version of the "Troas," is rather a paraphrase than a translation, Nevile admitting in the dedication that he has made additions and omissions. He also apologizes for the rudeness of the work and any errors of the text, by stating that the MS. fell accidentally into the printer's hands, and had only been intended by him for private use; and indeed, when it was republished in 1581, it had undergone an elaborate process of revision.

SENECA, L. A. The seventh Tragedie of Seneca, Entituled Medea: Translated out of Latin into English, by Iohn Stvdley, Student in Trinitie Colledge in Cambridge. *Imprinted at London in Fleetestreate, bench the Conduit, at the Signe of Sainct Iohn Euangelist, by Thomas Colwell. [Colophon.] Printed at the Charges of W. Jaggard, Ed. Blount, I. Smithwecke, and W. Aspley, 1623. Folio. Portrait by Droeshout. R.

First edition. The present copy, from the libraries of Mr. Wilkes and Mr. J. Dunn Gardner, is sound and clean throughout. The volume measures, however, only a trifle over 12½ in. × 8¾ in. A full collation is given by Lowndes.

— M^r. William Shakespeares Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies. Published according to the true Originall Copies. The second Impression. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes, for Robert Allot, and are to be sold at the signe of the Blacke Beare in Pauls Church-yard. 1632.

Second edition. A remarkably large and beautiful copy. A full collation is given by Lowndes.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. Mr. William Shakespeares Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies. Published according to the true Original Copies. The Third Impression. London, Printed for Philip Chetwinde, 1663. Folio. Portrait by Droeshout. R.

The first issue of the third edition. It is of much rarer occurrence than the issue of 1664 with the seven doubtful plays added, and both issues are much rarer than the first and second editions.

— Mr. William Shakespear's Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies. Published according to the true Original Copies. The third Impression. And unto this Impression is added seven Playes, never before Printed in Folio. viz. Pericles Prince of Tyre. The London Prodigall. The History of Thomas L^d. Cromwell. Sir John Oldecastle Lord Cobham. The Puritan Widow. A York-shire Tragedy. The Tragedy of Loocrine. London, Printed for P. C. 1664. Folio. Portrait by Droeshout. O. M.

Second issue of the third edition, with the seven spurious plays annexed.

— Mr. William Shakespear's Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies. . . . The Fourth Edition. London, Printed for H. Herringman, E. Brewster, and R. Bentley. . . . 1685. Folio. R.

— The Works of Will. Shakspeare. From the text of Sam. Johnson and Geo. Steevens. London, John Bell, 1785-6. 20 volumes. 8vo. Large paper. G. M.

With plates and portraits. This was George Steevens's copy, and has Bell's receipt to him for the fifty-nine numbers at 5s. each, and also that of Benj. White and Son for binding the work in green morocco by Kalthoeber, whose ticket is pasted on the flyleaf.

— The Plays and Poems of William Shakspeare. Edited by Edmond Malone. London, 1790. 10 volumes bound in 11. 8vo.

The first volume is divided into two parts.

— The Plays of William Shakspeare. With the Corrections and Illustrations of various Commentators. To which are added Notes by Samuel Johnson and George Steevens. The Fourth Edition.

Revised and augmented with a Glossarial Index by the Editor of Dodsley's Collection of Old Plays. [Isaac Reed.] London. 1793. 15 vols. Supplement to the edition of 1778, 2 vols. Together, 17 vols. 8vo. G. M.

This was for a long time esteemed the best edition, and for the curious matter contained in the illustrations, it will always have a certain degree of value. As a text, it is of course quite superseded.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Dramatic Works of William Shakespeare. Chiswick, C. Whittingham, 1814. 7 vols. Sm. 8vo. Printed on India paper. G. M.

This copy, from Mr. G. Daniel's library, is illustrated by a set of proof-plates from Bannatyne's edition.

— The Works of William Shakespeare. The Text formed from a new Collation of the early Editions . . . By J. O. Halliwell. . . . The Illustrations and wood-engravings by F. W. Fairholt. London: Printed for the Editor. . . . 1853-65. 16 volumes. Folio. Large paper. Plates.

— Shakespeare A Reprint of his Collected Works As put forth in 1623. London, 1862-4. Bound in 3 vols. Folio. Printed on vellum.

This reproduction was superintended by Mr. Charles Wright. Only one other copy was printed on vellum, which is now in the Royal Library at Windsor. No other edition of Shakespeare has been printed on vellum.

— Twenty of the Plays of Shakespeare, being the whole number printed in Quarto during his lifetime, or before the Restoration Edited by George Steevens. London, 1766. 4 vols. 8vo.

— King Lear, Hamlet, Othello, Macbeth, and Julius Cæsar, collated with the Old and Modern Editions. London, 1770-4. 2 vols. 8vo. Portrait and plates.

Dedicated by the anonymous editor to Charles Jennens, Esq., of Gopsal, Leicestershire, the owner of the old copies here used.

— The Tragedie of King Richard the second. As it hath beene publicly acted by the right Honourable the Lorde Chamberlaine his Seruants. London Printed by Valentine Simmes for Androw Wise, and are to be sold at his shop in Paules churchyard at the signe of the Angel. 1597. 4to. R. M.

A—K 2 in fours.

First edition. There is no prefatory matter. The only other copy known is that in the Capell collection. From Mr. Daniel's library.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Tragedie of King Richard the second. As it hath been publikely acted by the Right Honourable the Lord Chamberlaine his seruantes. By William Shake-speare. London, Printed by W. W. for Mathew Law, and are to be sold at his shop in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Foxe. 1608. 4to. R. M.

A—K in fours, the last leaf blank.

Third edition of the play, and first issue of 1608. There was a second, less rare and valuable, on the title-page of which occurs: "With new additions of the Parliament sceane, and the deposing of King Richard."

— The History of Henry the Fovrth; With the battell at Shrewsburie, betweene the King and Lord Henry Percy, surnamed Henry Hotspur of the North. With the humorous conceits of Sir Iohn Falstaffe. Newly corrected by W. Shake-speare. At London, Printed by S. S. for Andrew Wise, dwelling in Paules Churchyard, at the Signe of the Angell. 1599. 4to. R. M.

A—K in fours.

Second edition. The first appeared in 1598, and of it only two perfect copies are said to exist. The present copy of the second quarto is very large and clean, with rough leaves, but sigs. I—K are inlaid, and are in a few places slightly defective.

— The History of Henrie the fourth, With the Battell at Shrewseburie, betweene the King, and Lord Henrie Percy, surnamed Henrie Hotspur of the North. With the humorous conceites of Sir Iohn Falstaffe. Newly corrected by W. Shake-speare. *London, Printed by W. W. for Mathew Law, and are to be sold at his shop in Paules Church-yard, neere vnto S. — The Second part of Henrie the fourth, continuing to his death, and coronation of Henrie the fift. With the humours of sir Iohn Falstaffe, and swaggering Pistoll. As it hath been sundrie times publikely acted by the right honourable, the Lord Chamberlaine his seruantes. Written by William Shakespeare. London Printed by V. S. for Andrew Wise, and William Aspley. 1600. 4to. R. M.

A—L 2 in fours; L 2 blank, and in sig. E there are 6 leaves.

The addition to sig. E arose from an accidental omission in the setting up of Act iii., sc. 1, and the necessity of cancelling E 3-4, and printing two more leaves to allow the hiatus to be supplied. Slight literal variations have been found in copies of this impression, probably made as the volume was passing through the press.

— The Cronicle History of Henry the fift, With his battell fought at Agin Court in France. Together with Auntient Pistoll. As it hath bene sundry times playd by the Right honorable the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. London Printed by Thomas Creede, for Tho. Millington, and Iohn Busby. And are to be sold at his house in Carter Lane, next the Powle head. 1600. 4to.

A—G in fours. The last leaf blank.

First edition. From the Heber and Daniel collections.

Other copies are in the British Museum, the Bodleian, the Capell collection, and the library of the Duke of Devonshire, the last being from Steevens's collection. These five copies seem to be all that are known.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Chronicle History of Henry the fift, with his battell fought at Agin Court in France. Together with ancient Pistoll. As it hath bene sundry times playd by the Right Honourable the Lord Chamberlaine his Seruants. Printed for T. P. 1608. 4to. R. M.

A—G in fours, G 4 blank. This is the third edition ; the second was in 1602.

— The Tragedy of King Richard the third. Containing, His treacherous Plots against his brother Clarence : the pittiefull murder of his innocent nephewes : his tyrannicall vsurpation : with the whole course of his detested life, and most deserued death. As it hath bene lately Acted by the Right honourable the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. At London Printed by Valentine Sims, for Andrew Wise, dwelling in Paules Chuch-yard, [sic] at the Signe of the Angell. 1597. 4to. R. M.

A—M 3 in fours.

First edition. From the Heber and Daniel collections. The only other copy known is that in the Bodleian. The book is entered in the Capell catalogue, but it is not now in that collection.

— The Most Excellent and lamentable Tragedie, of Romeo and Iuliet. Newly corrected, augmented, and amended : As it hath bene sundry times publicly acted, by the right Honourable the Lord Chamberlaine his Seruants. London Printed by Thomas Creede, for Cuthbert Burby, and are to be sold at his shop neare the Exchange. 1599. 4to. R. M.

A—M 2 in fours.

From the Steevens, Roxburghe, and Daniel collections. This is the second edition ; of the first no perfect copy is known to have occurred for sale.

There are some contemporary MS. notes and corrections in this copy evidently made for the purpose of acting.

On sig. H 3 verso is the autograph of an early possessor :

Anagr. } " Elisabeth Rotton,
Her Lot is to be neat."

On the 5th August, 1596, before the appearance in print of the first edition of Shakespeare's play, Edward White registered, "A newe ballad of Romeo and Juliet." See Arber, iii. 12.

— The Most Excellent And Lamentable Tragedie, of Romeo and Ivliet. As it hath beene sundrie times publikely Acted, by the Kings Maiesties Seruants at the Globe. Written by W. Shake-speare Newly Corrected, augmented, and amended. London, Printed for Iohn Smethwicke, and are to bee sold at his Shop in Saint Dunstanes Church-yard, in Fleetstreet, vnder the Dyall. [About 1630.] 4to. R. M.

A—L in fours.

The prologue is the only preliminary matter. This play was licensed to Smethwicke as early as 1607, and he published it in 1609, of which date there is a copy extant. But a careful examination of the present edition, and a comparison of the types with those used for other books in and about 1630, has led to the conclusion that this undated edition could not be confidently attributed to an earlier period than that given above.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Most Excellent And Lamentable Tragedie of Romeo and Juliet. As it hath been sundry times publikely Acted by the Kings Majesties Servants at the Globe. Written by W. Shake-speare. Newly corrected, augmented, and amended. *London, Printed by R. A—I in fours. First edition. It was not reprinted separately.

— A Midsommer nights dreame. As it hath beene sundry times publikely acted, by the Right Honourable, the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. Written by William Shakespeare. Printed by Iames Roberts, 1600. 4to.

A—H in fours. This is supposed by Mr. Halliwell to be the first edition.

— A Midsommer nights dreame. As it hath beene sundry times publickely acted, by the Right honourable, the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. Written by William Shakespeare. Imprinted at London, for Thomas Fisher, and are to be sould at his shoppe, at the Signe of the White Hart, in Fleetstreet. 1600. 4to.

A—H in fours.

This is supposed to be the second edition, but it is far rarer and more valuable than the other edition, printed in the same year. An edition of 1595 is mentioned by Chatwood, but no copy is known. From the libraries of Bindley, Heber, and Mr. Daniel, in remarkably fine condition, in the old stitched wrapper.

— The Excellent History of the Merchant of Venice. With the extreme cruelty of Shylocke the Iew towards the saide Merchant, in cutting a iust pound of his flesh. And the obtaining of Portia, by the choise of three Caskets. Written by W. Shakespeare. Printed by J. Roberts. 1600. 4to. R. M.

A—K in fours.

First edition. The running title, as in the other quarto edition, is "The Comicall History of the Merchant of Venice." It was licensed to J. Roberts, July 22, 1598. This is a perfectly distinct impression from that printed by Roberts in the same year for Thomas Heyes, and the balance of evidence is in favour of this being the first edition. In Heyes's edition the text has undergone revision throughout.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The most excellent Historie of the Merchant of Venice. With the extreame crueltie of Shylocke the Iewe towards the sayd merchant, in cutting a iust pound of his flesh : and the obtayning of Portia by the choise of three chests. As it hath bene diuers times acted by the Lord Chamberlaine his Seruants. Written by William Shakespeare. At London, Printed by I. R. for Thomas Heyes, and are to be sold in Pauls Church-yard, at the signe of the Greene Dragon. 1600. 4to. O. M.

A—K 2 in fours.

Doubtless the second edition, but the preferable text, and by far the rarer book. It was licensed to Heyes, Oct. 28, 1600.

— A Most pleasaunt and excellent conceited Comedie, of Syr Iohn Falstaffe, and the merrie Wiues of Windsor. Entermixed with sundrie variable and pleasing humors, of Syr Hugh the Welch Knight, Iustice Shallow, and his wise Cousin M. Slender. With the swaggering vaine of Auncient Pistoll, and Corporall Nym. By William Shakespeare. As it hath bene diuers times Acted by the right Honorable my Lord Chamberlaines seruants. Both before her Maiestie, and elsewhere. London Printed by T. C. for Arthur Iohnson, and are to be sold at his shop in Powles Church-yard, at the signe of the Flower de Leuse and the Crowne. 1602. 4to.

A—G in fours, title on A 2.

This is the first sketch of the play, which was not printed entire, till it appeared in the folio of 1623. There are copies in the Bodleian library, in the Capell collection, and in the library of the Duke of Devonshire. The present, in the old stitched wrapper, is in the finest possible state, with rough leaves. It was formerly in the collections of Bindley, Heber, and Mr. George Daniel.

— A Most pleasant and excellent conceited Comedy, of Sir Iohn Falstaffe, and the merry Wiues of Windsor. With the Swaggering vaine of Ancient Pistoll, and Corporall Nym. Written by W. Shakespeare. Printed for Arthur Iohnson, 1619. 4to. R. M.

— The Tragickall Historie of Hamlet, Prince of Denmarke. By William Shakespeare. Newly imprinted and enlarged to almost as much againe as it was, according to the true and perfect Coppie. At London by I.[ames] R.[oberts] for N.[icholas] L.[ing] and are to be sold at his shoppe vnder Saint Dunstons Church in Fleetstreet. 1604. 4to. R. M.

B—O 2 in fours, and the title-page.

In a red morocco binding of the last century, the book itself being in the finest possible condition. This copy has never passed through public auction, but was purchased privately through Messrs. Hatchard, of Piccadilly, who had received it from Scotland. In the cover is the book-plate of Plummer, of Middlestead. Only two other copies are known. This is the first complete edition, that of 1603 being little more than a sketch of the play.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Tragedy of Hamlet Prince of Denmarke. By William Shakespeare. Newly imprinted . . . At London, Printed for John Smethwicke, and are to be sold at his shoppe in Saint Dunstons Church yeard in Fleetstreet. Vnder the Diall. 1611. 4to. R.

B—O 2 in fours, and the title-page.

From Dr. Bandinel's collection. On the title is written in a hand contemporary with the date of the book, "for Marc Stapfer."

— The Tragedy of Hamlet Prince of Denmarke. Newly Imprinted and enlarged, according to the true and perfect Copy lastly Printed. By William Shakespeare. London, Printed by W.[illiam] S.[tansby] for John Smethwicke, and are to be sold at his Shop . . . [n. d.] 4to. R. M.

— The Hamlets of 1603 and 1604. Reproduced in facsimile from the copies belonging to the Duke of Devonshire. Under the care of J. Payne Collier. Privately printed, 1858-9. 4to. 2 vols.

Only forty copies printed. Presentation copies from Mr. Collier.

— M. William Shake-speare, His True Chronicle History of the life and death of King Lear, and his three Daughters. With the vnfortunate life of Edgar, sonne and heire to the Earle of Glocester, and his sullen and assumed humour of Tom of Bedlam. As it was plaid before the Kings Maiesty at White-Hall, vppon S. Stephens night, in Christmas Hollidaies. By his Maiesties Seruants, playing vsually at the Globe on the Banck-side. Printed for Nathaniel Butter. 1608. 4to. BL. M.

A—L in fours.

The second edition ; the first appeared the same year, and has the same publisher's name.

— The Famous Historie of Troylus and Cresseid. Excellently expressing the beginning of their loues, with the conceited wooing of Pandarus Prince of Licia. Written by William Shakespeare. London Imprinted by G. Eld for R. Bonian and H. Walley, and are to be sold at the Spred Eagle in Paules Church-yard, ouer against the great North doore. 1609. 4to. BR. M.

First title-page, 1 leaf; "A neuer writer, to an euer reader. Newes," 1 leaf; second title, in which there is this addition: "As it was acted by the Kings Maiesties seruants at the Globe," 1 leaf; A 2—M 2 in fours, last leaf blank. From the Daniel collection. The duplicate title and preface are sometimes wanting. The writer of the latter prophesied truly enough, in saying: "And beleue this, that when hee is gone, and his Commedies out of sale, you will scramble for them, and set up a new English Inquisition."

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Tragœdy of Othello, The Moore of Venice. As it hath beene diuerse times acted at the Globe, and at the Black-Friers, by his Maiesties Seruants. Written by William Shakespeare. London, Printed by N. O. for Thomas Walkley, and are to be sold at his shop, at the Eagle and Child, in Brittans Bursse. 1622. 4to. BL. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—N 2 in fours.

First edition. From the Bindley, Heber, and Daniel collections. This was the last of the quartos printed before the publication of the first folio. Prefixed is a rather curious notice from the stationer to the reader, in which he likens a book set forth without an Epistle to "a blue coat without a badge," yet this and the Troilus and Cressida are the only dramas by Shakespeare to which there is any introduction.

— The Tragœdy of Othello, The Moore of Venice. As it hath beene diuerse times acted. . . . Written by William Shakespeare. London, Printed by A. M. for Richard Hawkins, and are to be sold at his shoppe in Chancery-lane, neere Sergeants-Inne. 1630. 4to. G. M.

A—M in fours.

— Julius Cæsar. A Tragedy. As it is Now Acted at the Theatre Royal. Written by William Shakespeare. London, Printed by H. H. Jun. for Hen. Herringman and R. Bentley . . . [1680.] 4to.

A—H in fours.

The first edition in 4to. The Dramatis Personæ are on the back of the title with the cast. Betterton played the part of Brutus.

— The most Lamentable Tragedie of Titus Andronicus. As it hath svndry times beene plaide by the Kings Maiesties Seruants. London, Printed for Eedward White, and are to be solde at his shoppe, nere the little North dore of Pauls, at the signe of the Gun. 1611. 4to. G. M.

A—K in fours.

This is the second known edition; but there is some reason to believe that an edition of 1594 once existed. Even this of 1611 is of such extreme rarity, that Mr. George Daniel purchased the present copy of Rodd, the bookseller, for thirty guineas, while of the earlier 4to, in 1600, the Bridgewater copy is presumed to be unique. The play was licensed Feb. 6, 1593[-4.]

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The Late, And much admired Play, Called Pericles, Prince of Tyre. With the true Relation of the whole Historic, adventures, and fortunes of the said Prince : As also, The no lesse strange, and worthy accidents, in the Birth and Life, of his Daughter Mariana. As it hath been diuers and sundry times acted by his Maiesties Seruants, at the Globe on the Banck-side. By William Shakespeare. Imprinted at London for Henry Gosson, and are to be sold at the signe of the Sunne in Pater-noster row, &c. 1609. 4to. BR. M.

A—I in fours, the last leaf blank.

First edition. From Mr. Daniel's collection. On the title-page of this copy is the contemporary autograph of Scipio Squyer. 5. Maij 160[9].

— The Whole Contention betweene the two Famous Houses, Lancaster and Yorke. With the Tragicall ends of the good Duke Humfrey, Richard Duke of Yorke, and King Henrie the sixt. Diuided into two Parts: And newly corrected and enlarged. Written by William Shakespeare, Gent. Printed at London for T.[homas] P.[avier.] [n. d.] 4to.

A—B b 2 in fours ; B b 2 blank, besides a second title as presently described.

After sig. Q, though not mentioned on the first title-page, occurs a second title : "The Late, And much admired Play, called, Pericles, Prince of Tyre. With the true Relation of the whole History, adventures, and fortunes of the saide Prince. Written by W. Shakespeare. Printed for T. P. 1619." This is the third edition, the second having appeared in 1611. Of "the whole Contention," which is not by Shakespeare, but merely one of the plays of which he made use, this is the third or fourth edition. In the impressions of 1594 and 1600 there is no mention of Shakespeare as the author.

This copy is bound in two volumes.

— The first part Of the true & honorable history, of the Life of Sir Iohn Old-castle, the good Lord Cobham. As it hath bene lately acted by the Right honorable the Earle of Notingham Lord High Admirall of England his Seruants. Written by William Shakespeare. London printed for T.[homas] P.[avier.] 1600. 4to. O. M.

A—K in fours.

First edition ; a second, very considerably revised, appeared the same year without Shakespeare's name.

— The London Prodigall. As it was plaide by the Kings Maiesties seruants. By William Shakespeare, London. Printed by T. C. for Nathaniel Butter, and are to be sold uere S. Austins gate, at the signe of the pyde Bull. 1605. 4to. G. M.

A—G in fours.

From the Heber and Daniel collections.

— The Pvritaine or the Widdow of Watling-streete. Acted by the Children of Paules. Written by W. S. Imprinted at London by G. Eld. 1607. 4to. R. M.

A—H in fours; title on A 2.

A fine copy, evidently on thick paper, from the Heber and Daniel collections. The author was probably Wentworth Smith.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. The True Chronicle Historie of the whole life and death of Thomas Lord Cromwell. As it hath beene sundry times publikely Acted by the Kings Maiesties Seruants. Written by W. S. London: Printed by Thomas Snodham. 1613. 4to. R. M.

A—G 3 in fours.

Second edition of this play, which was probably the work of Wentworth Smith. The first edition appeared in 1602, and is of great rarity.

— A Yorkshire Tragedie. Not so New, as Lamentable and True. Written by W. Shakespeare. Printed for T. P. 1619. 4to. G. M.

A—D 2 in fours, and the title-page.

On the leaf following the title, marked A, is a headline as follows: "All's One, or, One of the foure Plaies in one, called a Yorkshire Tragedy. As it was plaid by the Kings Maiesties Players." There was a former edition of this drama, 4to, 1608, for the same publisher, and also attributed falsely to Shakespeare on the title. The foundation story was a murder committed in the spring of 1605 by a gentleman named Calverley.

— Venuſ and Adonis

*Vilia miretur vulgus: mihi flavus Apollo

London. Imprinted by Richard Field, and are to be sold at the signe of the white Greyhound in Paules Church-yard. 1594. 4to. R. M.

Title and dedication, 2 leaves; B—H 2 in fours, last leaf blank.

Prefixed is a dedicatory epistle by the author to Henry Wriothesly, Earl of Southampton. This is the second edition, the first having appeared in 1593, 4to. From Mr. Daniel's collection. Only two other copies are known. One in the Bodleian, among Mr. Malone's books, and the other in the Grenville collection, British Museum, previously in Mr. Jolley's library.

— Lvrece. London. Printed by Richard Field, for Iohn Harrison, and are to be sold at the signe of the white Greyhound in Paules Chur[c]h-yard. 1594. 4to. BR. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—N 1 in fours.

First edition. Prefixed is a dedicatory epistle by the author to Lord Southampton. From Mr. Daniel's collection. Only five perfect copies seem to be on record. The Grenville copy wants the last leaf.

— Shake-speares Sonnets. Neuer before Imprinted. At London By G. Eld for T. T. and are to be sold by Iohn Wright, dwelling at Christ Church gate. 1609. 4to. G. M.

A, 2 leaves; B—L 2 in fours.

First edition.

SHAKESPEARE, WILLIAM. Poems: Written by Wil. Shakespeare. Gent. Printed at London by Tho. Cotes, and are to be sold by Iohn Benson, dwelling in St. Dunstons Church-yard. 1640. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

*, 4 leaves; A—M 4 in eights. With a portrait by W. Marshall, with eight lines of verse beneath it.

With complimentary poems by Leonard Digges and John Warren. The last eleven leaves are occupied by "An Addition of some Excellent Poems, to those precedent, of Renowned Shakespeare, By other Gentlemen." On the fifth leaf of the volume occurs a second title-page, identical with the first, except that it bears no note of the year.

Shakespeare's poems having already been licensed at different dates, only the supplementary poems are mentioned in the entry of this volume in the Register at Stationers' Hall. It runs thus:—

"4 Nouembris 1639.

"John Benson. Entred for his Copie vnder the hands of doctor Wykes and Master ffetherston warden An Addicion of some excellent Poems to SHAKESPEARES Poems by other Gentlemen, viz^t., His mistris drawne. and her mind, by BENIAMIN: JOHNSON. An Epistle to Benjamin Johnson by FFRANCIS BEAUMONT. His Mistris shade. by R. Strangely preserved amongst other Writings belonging to an old Monastery in York-shire. . . . London, Printed for B. Harris at the Stationers Arms in Sweetthings-Ally near the Royal Exchange in Cornhill, 1677. 4to. Black letter. Woodcuts. R.*

A—G in fours. In prose and verse. With a woodcut on title, and two others in the volume.

Published by Richard Head, who, in his Preface, pretends that he deciphered these prophecies by the application of galls to a MS. which he found in Yorkshire.

— Mother Shiptons Prophecie: with Three and xx more, all most Terrible and Wonderful, Predicting strange Alterations to befall this Climate of England. London, Printed for W. Thackeray, at the Sign of the Angel in Duck-Lane, neer West-smithfield, 1685. 4to.

Four leaves. In prose and verse. Woodcut on title.

This is bound up with "The Life and Death of Mother Shipton," 1677. From Mr. Daniel's library.

— The Life and Death of Mother Shipton. Being not only a true Account of her strange Birth . . . but also all her Prophecies London, Printed by W. Harris, and are to be sold by him in Dunnings-Alley, without Bishops-Gate. 1687. 4to.

Pp. 30, besides the frontispiece, preface, title, and table, 4 leaves. This is an ingenious forgery, printed within the last few years.

SHIPTON, WILLIAM. Dia, a Poem; To which is added Love made Lovely. By William Shipton. Published by a Friend. Hæc dedit ut Pereant. London, Printed for Charles Tyus, at the Signe of the Three Bibles on the middle of London-Bridge, 1659. Sm. 8vo.

A, 7 leaves; title on A 2; a, 8 leaves; B—M 7 in eights.

Dedicated "To the Truly Noble, Edward Trotter Esquire." The title here given is somewhat misleading, as the volume consists: first, of a series of short poems, addressed or relating to Dia, the poet's mistress; secondly, a prose piece, called "Cupid made to see, and Love made Lovely"; and thirdly, verses upon various subjects.

A copy is in the British Museum, and another was sold among Mr. Utterson's books. Those and the present are the only ones known.

SHIRLEY, HENRY. The Martyr'd Souldier: As it was sundry times Acted with a generall applause at the Private house in Drury lane, and at other publicke Theaters. By Queenes Majesties servants. The Author H. Shirley Gent. London: Printed by I. Okes, and are to

A—I in fours, besides the leaf with the prologue, marked *2. The only edition.

— The Gamester. As it was Presented by Her Majesties Servants At the private House in Drury-Lane. Written by Iames Shirly. London, Printed by Iohn Norton. 1637. 4to.

A—K 2 in fours.

"This Comedy was licensed Nov. 11, 1633. The following memorandum respecting it occurs in the office book of the master of the revels: 'On Thursday night 6 of Febru. 1633 [1633-4]. The Gamester was acted at Court, made by Sherley, out of a plot of the King's, given him by mee; and well likte. The king said it was the best play he had seen for seven years." Gifford's edit. of Shirley, iii, 185, where see further as to the sources of the story.

SHIRLEY, JAMES. The Gratefvll Servant. A Comedie. As it was lately presented with good applause in the private House in Drury-Lane. By her Majesties Servants. Written by James Shirley Gent. London: Printed by I. Okes for William Leake. 1637. 4to.

A, 4 leaves, the first blank; a, 4 leaves; B—L 2 in fours. The second edition; the first appeared in 1630; and the play was licensed in 1629, under the title of "The Faithful Servant."

— The Yovng Admirall. As it was Presented By her Majesties Servants, at the private house in Drury Lane. Written by James Shirly. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes. 1637. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K 3 in fours. First edition.

— The Royall Master; As it was Acted in the new Theater in Dublin: and before the Right Honorable the Lord Deputie of Ireland, in the Castle. Written by Iames Shirley. London, Printed by T. Cotes. 1638. 4to.

A—L 3 in fours. Dedicated to George, Earl of Kildare, premier Earl of Ireland.

— The Dykes Mistris, As it was Presented by her Majesties Servants, At the private House in Drury-Lane. Written by Iames Shirly. London, Printed by John Norton, for Andrew Crooke, 1638. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K in fours.

This play was licensed on the 14th January, 1635-6, and performed at Court on the 22nd February following. The only edition.

— The Ball. A Comedy, As it was presented by her Majesties Servants, at the private House in Drury Lane. Written by George Chapman, and James Shirly. London, Printed by Tho. Cotes 1639. 4to.

A—I in fours. First edition.

This drama was left incomplete by Chapman, and finished by Shirley. Mr. Dyce (edit. of Shirley's Works, i. xix.) was inclined to assign the greater part of the composition to him.

— The Maides Revenge. A Tragedy. As it hath been Acted with good Applause at the private house in Drury Lane by her Majesties Servants. Written by Iames Shirley, Gent. London Printed by T. C. for William Cooke. . . . 1639. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—I in fours. Dedicated to Henry Osborne, Esquire.

SHIRLEY, JAMES. The Coronation. A Comedy. As it was presented by her Majesties Servants at the private House in Drury Lane. Written by John Fletcher, Gent. [sic.] London, Printed by Tho. Cotes, for Andrew Crooke. . . . 1640. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K 2 in fours.

On the title-page of this copy, in a contemporary hand, occurs: "This Play was written by James Shirley Gent." Gifford observes: "This play was licensed in February, 1634-5, as the production of Shirley; but from some cause or another it is attributed to 'John Fletcher' in the title-page of the first edition, printed in 4to in 1640, though Fletcher had been dead ten years prior to its first appearance on the stage. In 1652 Shirley claimed it in a list of his plays then published, which he appended to the 'Cardinal;' but this, it appears, did not set the matter at rest, since the editor of the second folio edition of Beaumont and Fletcher's Works in 1672, again gave it to Fletcher; and all the subsequent editors of these two poets have continued perversely to insert it among their dramas." Mr. Dyce omitted it from his edition of Fletcher's works.

— A Pastorall called the Arcadia. Acted by her Majesties Servants at the Phœnix in Drury Lane. Written by Iames Shirly, Gent. London, Printed by I. D. for Iohn Williams and F. Eglesfield, 1640. 4to.

B—I in fours, and the title.

"This piece," it is said in the edition of Shirley's Works, 1833, vi., 171, "is nothing more than Sidney's Arcadia in a dramatic form; it embraces all the leading incidents of that formidable romance, with the exception of the capture of the Princesses by Cecropia."

— The Opportvnitie. A Comedy, As it was presented by her Majesties Servants, at the private House in Drury Lane. Written by

 1640. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K in fours.

SHIRLEY, JAMES. The Gentlemen of Venice. A Tragi-Comedie Presented at the Private house in Salisbury Court by her Majesties Servants. Written by James Shirley. London, Printed for Humphrey Moseley . . . 1655. 4to.

— Two Playes. The Constant Maid. A Comedy. And St. Patrick for Ireland. Written by James Shirley Gent. London: Printed for Joshua Kirton, at his Shop in S. Paul's Church-yard, at the sign of the Kings-Arms. 1657. 4to.

General title, 1 leaf; the "Constant Maid," with separate title; A—I 3 in fours; "St. Patrick for Ireland," A—I in fours.

The unsold copies of "The Constant Maid" and "St. Patrick for Ireland," both originally published in 1640, are here printed together, the imprint to the "Constant Maid" cut off, and the title-page of the other play replaced by a blank leaf.

— Honoriam and Mammon. Written by James Shirley. . . . London, Printed for the use of the Author. [1659.] 8vo.

A, 4 leaves, the first blank; B—K 4 in eights; G 8 and K 4 blank.

On sig. H i occurs a new title, as follows: "The Contention of Ajax and Ulysses, for the Armor of Achilles. As It was nobly represented by young Gentlemen of quality, at a private Entertainment of some persons of Honour. Written by James Shirley. London, Printed for John Crook at the sign of the Ship in S. Pauls Church-yard."

This was an alteration and enlargement by Shirley himself of his "Contention for Honour and Riches."

— Love will finde out the Way. An Excellent Comedy. By T. B. As it was Acted with great Applause, by Her Majesties Servants, at the Phœnix in Drury Lane. London: Printed by Ja. Cottrel, for Samuel Speed, at the Signe of the Printing-Press in St. Paul's Church-yard. 1661. 4to. The edges uncut.

A—H in fours. The Wolfreston copy.

This is Shirley's "Constant Maid," with an altered title and certain changes. See W. Dyce's edition of Shirley, i. xxxvi-vii.

— Poems &c. By James Shirley. Sine aliquâ dementiâ nullus Phœbus. London, Printed for Humphrey Moseley, and are to be sold at his shop at the signe of the Princes Armes in St. Pauls Church-yard. 1646. Sm. 8vo.

With a portrait by W. Marshall. Dedicated to Bernard Hide, Esq. There are complimentary verses by Thomas Stanley, Thomas May, &c.

The Poems, A—F in eights, including the portrait. "Narcissvs, or, the Self-Lover," A—D in eights, last leaf blank; "The Triumph of Beavtie," A—B in eights, last leaf blank. Shirley's "Narcissus" was registered at Stationers' Hall by Francis Constable, 4th January, 1617-18, as "A booke called Ecco and Narcissus, the 2 vnfortunate Lovers written by James Sherley."

SHIRLEY, JAMES. Via ad Latinam Linguam Complinata. The Way made plain to the Latine Tongue. The Rules composed in English and Latine verse: For the greater Delight and Benefit of Learners. By James Shirley. London, Printed by R. W. for John Stephenson. . . . 1649. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

SIDNEY, SIR PHILIP. The Works of S^r Philip Sidney, K^t. In Prose and verse. . . . London 1725. 3 vols. 8vo. Portrait and plates. R. M.

— The Covntesse of Pembrokes Arcadia, Written by Sir Philippe Sidnei. London Printed for William Ponsonbie. Anno Domini, 1590. 4to. R. M.

A, 3 leaves, title on A 2 ; B—ZZ in eights ; A iii is in facsimile.

First edition. In the subsequent ones the text was much altered and improved, the MS. used for this 4to being imperfect and otherwise faulty. In a short prefatory notice we are told that "The diuision and summing of the Chapters was not of Sir Philip Sidneis dooing, but aduentured by the ouer-seer of the print, for the more ease of the Readers." This "division and summing of the chapters" was omitted in the second edition. It appears that Lady Pembroke herself revised the work for the new edition, which was printed in folio, 1593.

— The Covntesse of Pembroke's Arcadia. Written by Sir Philip Sidney Knight. Now the Fovrth time Pvblished, with Svndry New Additions Of The same Author. London Imprinted for Simon Water-son Anno Domini. 1605. Folio. G. M.

¶, 3 leaves ; A—B b b in sixes.

The Savile copy, with the arms from the original covers preserved. This, though called on the title the fourth edition, was really the fifth in order of time. Some copies have on the title "imprinted for Matthew Lownes."

There is a curious entry in the Stationers' Registers (Arber's "Transcript," iii., 133), where, on the 16th January, 1605, is licensed to Edward Aldee, "The Countesse of Bedfordes Arcadia (begynnynge where the Countesse of Pembrookes endes)." No such book is now known.

— The Covntesse of Pembrokes Arcadia. Written by Sir Philip Sidney Knight. Now the Fovrth time published, with some new Additions. London Imprinted by H. L. for Mathew Lownes. 1613.

Folio. R. M.

Title and dedication, 2 leaves; A—E e 4 in sixes; ¶, 4 leaves; *, 5 leaves; Ee 5-6, 2 leaves; F f—B b b in sixes, except that in S s there is an extra leaf unpagged, marked S s 11.

The extra leaves marked ¶ and * in sig. Ee appear to have been introduced from the Supplement by Sir W. Alexander, first printed in 1621, to assist in completing the text, which is, notwithstanding, still imperfect and inconsequent, having been left so probably in the original MS. In the copy of edit. 1605, described by Hazlitt, twelve additional leaves were inserted with a similar object from the same source.

This is a very uncommon edition.

Beling's supplement to the "Arcadia" was first printed separately at Dublin, 8vo., 1624. It is a very rare volume, and a copy in gilt vellum sold at Heber's sale for £3 19s.

SIDNEY, SIR PHILIP. Sir P. S. His Astrophel and Stella. Wherein the excellence of sweete Poesie is concluded. At London, Printed for Thomas Newman. Anno Domini. 1591. 4to. The edges uncut. R. M.

A—H in fours.

The only other known copy of this edition is in the Grenville collection. In that library is another edition, containing more matter than we find here and, according to Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," i., 34-7), a large number of misprints, which were subsequently corrected, although some still remained. It is to be remarked, however, that the three errors of the press specified by Mr. Collier do not occur in the present copy of the edition of thirty-two leaves, where the words wish, kindled, and seeming iett stand in the text in the 63rd (not 64th), 67th, and 90th sonnets. It appears most probable that this is the first edition. From the collections of Mr. Bright and Mr. Corser.

The two 4to. editions of 1591 and that in the Bodleian among Malone's books printed for Mathew Lownes are the only issues separate from the "Arcadia" at present known, but on the 23rd October, 1598, William Ponsonby registered the poem, perhaps, however, only to secure himself against intrusion by another printer or stationer, a very usual practice. See Arber, iii., 42.

— An Apologie for Poetrie. Written by the right noble, vertuous, and learned, Sir Phillip Sidney, Knight. Odi profanum vulgus, et arceo. At London, Printed for Henry Olney, and are to be sold at his shop in Paules Church-yard, at the sign of the George, neere to Cheap-gate. Anno. 1595. 4to. R. M.

A—L in fours, first and last leaves blank, except that the former is marked A.

The leaf following the title is occupied by four Sonnets "written by Henrie Constable to Sir Pbillip Sidneys soule." In the collected works there is a reprint of the Apology, where it is called "The Defence of Poesie," and Constable's Sonnets are suppressed. This work was of course written several years before it was printed. From Mr. Geo. Smith's collection.

SILVAYN, ALEXANDER. The Orator: Handling a hundred seuerall Discourses, in forme of Declamations: Some of the Arguments being drawne from Titus Liuius and other ancient Writers, the rest of the Authors owne inuention: Part of which are of matters happened in our age. Written in French by Alexander Siluayn, and

4to. BR. M.

A, 4 leaves ; B—Ee in eights ; Ff, 4 leaves. The first leaf is blank.

Dedicated by Lazarus Piot (i. e. Anthony Munday) to Lord St. John, Baron of Bletsho. In the headline on fol. i. the book is called "The Mirrovr of Eloquence." It is well known that the interest of this volume arises from the fact that it contains the story of the pound of flesh, introduced by Shakespeare into the "Merchant of Venice."

SILVER, GEORGE. Paradoxes of Defence, wherein is proved the true grounds of Fight to be in the short auncient weapons, and that the short Sword hath aduantage of the long Sword or long Rapier. And the weakenesse and imperfection of the Rapier-fights displayed. Together with an Admonition to the noble, ancient, victorious, valiant, and most braue nation of Englishmen, to beware of false teachers of Defence, and how they forsake their owne naturall fights : with a briefe commendation of the noble science or exercising of Armes. By George Siluer Gentleman. London, Printed for Edward Blount. 1599. 4to. R. M.

A, 6 leaves, the first a blank ; B—K in fours, except that E has 5 leaves, E 3 being in duplicate.

Dedicated to Robert, Earl of Essex and Ewe, whose shield of arms (gartered) with numerous quarterings is on the back of the title. This Epistle gives an account of the design with which the volume was undertaken. It appears that Silver was not, like Saviolo, a professional swordsman, but an amateur. He expresses great contempt for "long Swords, long Rapiers, and frog pricking Poiniards," and also for the Italian teachers, including Saviolo, against whose book this treatise may be considered as partly directed.

Folios 1-32, including title.

In verse with the exception of the preface, which occupies rather more than three pages. The author was evidently a most violent Protestant partisan. It was in answer to a piece by Artus Desiré, entitled "Le contre-poison des cinquante-deux chansons de Clement Marot, faulsement intitulées par lui Psalmes de David. Paris. Pierre Gaultier. 1560. 8vo."

"Bought at the Sale of Dr. Chauncey's Library, April 15, 1790, for £1 6s. I never saw any other copy of this work. The late Duchess of Northumberland had a fragment of it, concluding with the page that begins—'Howe the hostler dyd byte Skeltons Mare,' &c."—MS. note by George Steevens.

These Tales were in all probability compiled by some one after Skelton's death, and the name of so popular a writer was annexed to them to assist the sale. This, from Steevens's, Heber's and Daniel's collections, is the only copy known. On the back of the title is the device used by Robert Wyer, an earlier typographer than Thomas Colwell.

SKELTON, JOHN. Elynovr Rvmmmin, The famous Ale-wife of England. Written by Mr. Skelton, Poet Laureat to King Henry the egiht.

"This is the famous reprint of Skelton's Ellinor Rummin with the Portrait, for which collectors were so many years in search, and which, when at length found, excited the anonymous ridicule of Steevens in the 'Gentleman's Magazine.' The portrait is at the back, as well as in the front of the Title, and it is of the rarest possible occurrence. The copy in the Bodleian is without a title."—Bibl. Heber. part 4, No. 1470. "The present impression is the Lincoln Nosegay one."—MS. note by Mr. George Daniel.

The only perfect copy known.

SKINNER, STEPHANUS. Etymologicon Linguae Anglicanae, Seu Explicatio vocum Anglicarum Etymologica ex propriis fontibus . . . Londini. 1671. Folio.

SLATYER, WILLIAM. The History of Great Britanie from the first peopling of this Iland to this present Raigne of o' happy and peacefull Monarke K. James, by Will : Slatyer. London Printed by W. Stansby for Rich. Meighen, and are to be sold at his shop at St. Clements Church. [1621.] Folio. R.

¶, 6 leaves; ¶¶, 6 leaves; A—Dd 3 in sixes. In verse.

The title-page is engraved in compartments, with portraits of some of the English Kings, including K. James I. At the end, but wanting in this copy (and many others) should be a leaf with the imprimatur and a colophon as follows: "London, Printed by W. Stansby, and are to be sold by Richard Meighen at his shop under Saint Clements Church, without Temple-barre." 1621. Notwithstanding what has been said to the contrary, there can be little or no doubt that the leaf in question should form part of the volume.

At the bottom of the title is written—"Tho. Edwards possidet ex dono Rich. Meighen predicti 30. die Augusti Anno domini 1622. Apud Londinum."

SLATYER, WILLIAM. Genethliacon. sive, Stemma Iacobi: Genealogia scilicet Regia, Catholica, Anglo-Scoto-Cambro-Britannica. “The Protestants met at Smalcald to consider the proposed plan of an Italian council, and remonstrated against it, as being to be held in Italy. This is a facsimile reprint executed for Mr. John Carter Brown, of Boston, U.S. from the very rare original.

SMITH, CAPTAIN JOHN. The Generall Historie of Virginia, New-England, and the Summer Isles : with the names of the Adventurers, Planters, and Governours from their first beginning An : 1584 to this present 1624. With the Proceedings of those Severall Colonies and the Accidents that befell them in all their Journyes and Discoveries. Also the Maps and Descriptions of all those Countreyes, their Commodities, people, Government, Customes, and Religion yet knowne. Divided into six Bookes. By Captaine Iohn Smith sometymes Governour in those Countreyes & Admirall of New England. London. Printed by I. D. and I. H. for Michael Sparkes. 1624. Folio.

First issue. Engraved title, with portraits of Elizabeth, James I., and Charles Prince of Wales at the top. Dedication to the Duchess, 1 leaf; "Preface of foure Poynts," and verses by S. M., 1 leaf; A—N in fours, with a map of Virginia, and another of "Ould Virginia," the latter surrounded by engravings in six compartments; no sheet O; P—I i in fours, with maps of the Summer Isles and New England, the latter having in the upper left-hand corner a portrait of Smith.

The present copy is in the original richly gilt calf binding, with the arms of the Duke of Norfolk quartered with those of his wife, the daughter of the Duke of Richmond and Lenox. It evidently never possessed the portraits of the Duchess of Richmond and Matoaka, which are inserted in some copies, but were not originally issued with the book.

— The Generall Historie of Virginia, New-England, and the Summer Isles : with the names of the Adventurers, Planters, and Governours from their first beginning An : 1584. to this present 1626. London. Printed by I. D. and I. H. for Michael Sparkes. 1631. Folio. R. M.

This is a reissue of the edition of 1624, and although the title-page promises a continuation of the narrative to 1626, the latest date is, as before, 1624. The map of New England, however, in the later issues presents some curious variations in having the portrait of Smith retouched, a coat of arms introduced, the longitudes marked, and several places inserted, which do not occur in the original impression. The only difference in the title-page is that the portrait of Charles I. is crowned, instead of exhibiting him as Prince of Wales. The portraits of the Duchess of Richmond and Matoaka are inserted in this copy.

— The True Travels, Adventvres, and Observations of Captaine Iohn Smith, In Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, from Anno Domini 1593. to 1629. The only other copy known is among Selden's books at Oxford. This was Heber's copy, afterwards G. Daniel's; it is in beautiful condition, with rough leaves. This work was originally published in 1525, small folio, of which edition a copy, supposed unique, was purchased by Lord Fitzwilliam at West's sale in 1773 for £3 10s. and is still preserved at Wentworth-Woodhouse.

Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," ii., 361-3) gives a full account of this exceedingly rare volume. Not more than three copies are known, one of which is among Malone's books at Oxford, a second occurred in "Bibl. Heber," part 4, No. 2473; and this, from the "Bibl. Ang. Poet.," is the third. It has successively belonged to Sir M. M. Sykes, Mr. Rice, and Mr. Daniel.

The editor, Mr. George Livermore, has added a Preface, giving some account of the tract, of the original edition of which only two copies are said to be known, one in his own possession, the other in the British Museum. Ten copies were printed on vellum.

There is in the library another reprint of this work, executed in facsimile under the careful editorship of Mr. Francis Fry, from the copy in the British Museum. Like the American reprint, it is one of a few copies struck off on vellum.

SOLINUS, CAIUS JULIUS. [Rerum memorabilium collectanea, edente Bonino Mombritorio.] [Sine ullâ notâ.] 4to.

This is described in Brunet and in the Spencer Catalogue as being without signatures, and in any copy a little shorter than the present such would appear to be the case. The volume is thus composed. The Table, 6 leaves (no signature). First sheet of the book, 10 leaves (no signature); second sheet, 10 leaves, with a signature C on the sixth leaf. Sigs. C—K, 8 leaves each; L, 14 leaves, but on the fifth and sixth leaves of this signature are marked O and O 2. M and N, 8 leaves each. This makes altogether 120 leaves, not 122, as described by Brunet. It was printed at Milan about 1473.

Singrenius on the verso.

Although this edition was at one time so little esteemed that M. Brunet did not think it worthy of mention in his "Manuel," it is now justly regarded as a book of the highest interest, from the fact that the map which it contains gives the earliest known delineation of the continent of America, with the name marked upon it. Without the map it is, of course, a book of little value.

Title and dedicatory matter, 6 leaves. Twelve leaves printed on one side only and numbered 1-12 in Arabic numerals; twelve leaves numbered i.-xii. in Roman numerals, followed by three unpagged leaves. A copperplate engraving of the arms of the town of Basel faces the dedication. Before each of the printed leaves 1-12 are two plates (except the first, which has only one plate). One of these plates is a text in Latin and German engraved within an ornamental border, the others represent the Creation, Fall, and Redemption of mankind. Before each of the second set of twelve letterpress leaves are also two copperplates. The first contains a sentence of the Apostles' Creed within an ornamental border, the second represents one of the Apostles.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves; A—S 3 in fours.

It seems more than probable that this book proceeded from the pen of James Wadsworth the elder, father of the writer of the “English-Spanish Pilgrim,” 1629, as the latter speaks of himself as the son of a man who had been in the service of the Spaniards in Holland.

In the Address to the Reader the anonymous writer observes that having written on this subject from Flanders to some of his acquaintance in England, the copies of his letters got abroad, contrary to his intention, “and lastly not long since,” he adds, “a discourse printed in Paules Church-yard, containing some parte of the substance thereof, but manye thinges that I had written left out, and manye thinges inserted that I neuer ment, and finally in the whole so falsified and chaunged, as well in matter as words, & ignorantly entermixed with fictions of the publisher, that howsoeuer the vulgar sorte bee therewith pleased, those that are of farther reach and insight, cannot but condemne it as a thing fabulous, grossely handled and full of absurdities.”

— The Estate of English Fvgitives vnder the King of Spaine and his ministers. . . . Newly corrected and amended. London, Printed for Iohn Drawwater, and are to be sold at his shop in Canon lane neere Powles, at the signe of the Vnicorne. 1596. 4to.

[Colophon.] Impressa en Seuilla en Casa de Cosme delara, Impressor. en la calle de la Sierpe Con licencia del Conde de Orgaz Asistete de Seuilla. [s. a.] Folio. Black letter.

Two leaves.

This title is over a woodcut of a coat of arms. The text begins immediately below this and ends on the recto of the second leaf. The verso is entirely occupied by a large woodcut of the arms of Spain surmounted by a spread eagle, at the foot the words "Tanto. Mõta" in large capitals, the whole enclosed in a woodcut border. This contemporary document relating to the famous Armada is believed to be entirely undescribed.

— The copie of a letter sent ovt of England to Don Bernardin Mendoza Ambassadovr in France for the King of Spaine, declaring the State of England, contrary to the opinion of Don Bernardin, and of all his partizans Spaniardes and others. This Letter, although it was sent to Don Bernardin Mendoza, yet by good hap, the Copies therof as well in English as in French, were found in the chamber of one Richard Leigh a Seminarie Priest, who was lately executed for high treason, committed in the time that the Spanish Armada was on the seas. Whereunto are adioyned certaine late Aduertisements, concerning the losses and distresses happened to the Spanish Nauie, as well in fight with the English Nauie in the narrow seas of England, as also by tempests, and contrarie winds, vpon the West, and North coasts of Ireland, in their returne from the Northerne Isles beyond Scotland. Imprinted at London by I. Vautrollicr for Richard Field. 1588. 4to. Black letter.

A—F ii in fours; then follow the "Certaine Aduertisements" with a separate title; A, 4 leaves; B, 6 leaves.

This appears to be the earlier of the two editions published in the same year. In the other edition the "Certaine Advertisements" begins with a headline only on the verso of F 2.

[SPECULUM HUMANÆ SALVATIONIS et alia Opuscula.] Folio. BR. M.

Manuscript on vellum, by a German scribe, ornamented with 134 paintings. Prefixed is a large painting of Bathsheba in the bath, to whom a handmaiden brings presents from David, who is looking on from a window of his palace.

This manuscript is important for the history of block-books. Though different in composition, the designs are the same as those of the woodcuts in the earliest known edition of the "Speculum." It is probably one of the earliest MSS. of the work, being dated on the last page 1358. It formerly belonged to the Noble Elector Theoderic Count of Moers, Bishop of Bonn and Archbishop of Cologne, who died on St. Valentine's Day in 1463. His coat of arms is painted on the first leaf.

[— Latino-germanicum, cum Speculo Sanctæ Maria editum a fratre Johanne.] [Sine loco aut anno.] Folio. Woodcuts. BR. M.

This is the first edition printed entirely with movable types. It is attributed to the press of Gunther Zainer of Augsburg, about 1470. It consists of 269 leaves with thirty-three and thirty-five lines to a full page.

— [On the first page.] Hie vahet an ein spiegel menschlicher behaltensz, in dem geoffnet wirt d' val des mēschen vñ die masz des wid'pringēs. Und wie der mensch von des tewfels betrügnusz seÿ verdamnet. vnd wie er mit der erbärmd gottes seÿ widerpracht. [O. O. u. J.] Folio. Woodcuts.

One hundred and thirty leaves.

This edition has no table and is without pagination, catchwords, or signatures. It has 192 woodcuts, including some that are repeated. Thirty-five lines to a full page.

— [The Mirror of Man's Salvation. An old English poetical version of the Speculum Humanæ Salvationis]. Folio. BR. M.

MS. on paper, written in the first half of the 15th century. It consists of sixty-one leaves, and is divided into forty-five chapters. The work has never been printed, nor is any other MS. of it known to exist. It opens with the following lines :—

In name of god almyghti y^e blyssed Trinitee
 In o substaunce entwynned and eure in psones thre
 And in oure laydis honor hevenes soureynne & quene
 Y^t most mine hert and hand gouerne if well shall bene

Third book, with new title [Imprinted at London. 1612.] and divisions of Scotland, 2 leaves; Hh 2, 2 leaves. Fourth book, containing the Kingdome of Ireland, Imprinted at London by William Hall. 1612. With new title and divisions of Ireland, 2 leaves; Ll, Ll 2, and Kk 2, 2 leaves each; Mm and Nn, 2 eaves each; *, 2 leaves; * 2, 3 leaves.

SPEED, SAMUEL. Fragmenta Carceris: or, The Kings-Bench Scuffle; with the Humours of the Common-Side. The Kings-Bench Litany and The Legend of Duke Humphrey. Are they at it? [A copper-plate engraving representing the Scuffle.] The Devil part'em. London, Printed by J. C. for S. S. and sold by the Booksellers of London and Westminster. 1674. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—H i in fours. In verse.

— Fragmenta Carceris: Or, The Kings-Bench Scuffle, London, Printed by J. R. for Tho. Rooks . . . 1675. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—G in fours. With the same engraving on the title as in the previous edition.

SPEGHT, RACHEL. A Movzell for Melastomvs, The Cynicall Bayter of, and foule mouthed Barker against Evahs Sex. Or an Apologeticall Answere to that Irreligious and Illiterate Pamphlet made by Io.[seph] Sw.[etnam] and by him Intituled, The Arraignement of Women . . . London, Printed by Nicholas Okes for Thomas Archer, and are to be sold at his shop in Popes-head Pallace. 1617. 4to.

A—G 3 in fours; title on A 2.

On sig. E 4 is a second title: "Certaine Qvaeres to the bayter of Women. With confvtation of some part of his Diabolicall Discipline." In the separate "Notice to the Reader" before this portion the authoress speaks of herself as "young in years and more defective in knowledge."

— Mortalities Memorandum, with a dreame prefixed, imaginarie in manner; reall in matter. By Rachel Speght.

Live to die, for die thou must,
Die to liue, amongst the iust.

London Printed by Edward Griffin for Iacob Bloome, and are to be sould at his shop in Pauls Church-yard at the signe of the Gray-hound. 1621. 4to.

A—F in fours, the last leaf blank, and the last but one bearing only, "Faults escaped in printing." In verse.

It would appear from the dedication to this tract that the critics had asserted that not Rachel Speght, but her father was the author of her "Movzell for Melastomvs," which, however, she warmly denies.

SPELMAN, H. Glossarium Archaologicum: continens Latino-Barbara, Peregrina, Obsoleta, & Novatæ significationis Vocabula . . . Londini . . . 1687. Folio.

SPENCE, JOSEPH. Polymetis: or, An Enquiry concerning the Agreement Between the works of the Roman Poets, And the Remains of the Antient Artists. Being An Attempt to illustrate them mutually from one another. In Ten Books. London: R. Dodsley. M.DCC.XLVII. Folio. Large paper. Portrait and plates. R. M.

First edition. Pp. 362 + xii.; pp. 155-6 are repeated. There are Plates numbered I.—XLI., besides others on the letterpress. The vignette at the end of the seventeenth dialogue is not in the later editions.

— Anecdotes, Observations, and Characters of Books and Men. Collected from the Conversation of Mr. Pope, and other eminent Persons of his time. Now first published from the original Papers, with Notes and a Life of the Author. By S. W. Singer. London. 1820. 8vo. Portrait. R. M.

SPENCER, JOHN. A Discovrse Of divers Petitions of high Concerment, and great consequence; delivered by the Author, into the hands of King James, of famous memory, and into the hands of our gracious King Charles ; And divers other Letters delivered unto some great Peers of the Land, and divers Knights and Ladies, and others of great worth and quality. A Treatise of Melancholic, and the strange effects thereof ; with some directions for the comforting of poor afflicted soules, and wounded consciences ; and some directions for the curing and reclaiming furious mad men, and some rare inventions, in case of great extremity, to feed them, and preserve them from famishing, and to procure them to speak : which it pleased the God of wisdom to enable me to finde out in the long time of fifty years experience and observation. By John Spencer Gentleman. [Quotation from Eccl. vii. 27.] London Printed by H. Dudley. 1461. [1641.] 4to. O. M.

A—Q 3 in fours.

Dedicated to Charles I. At p. 29 is "A copy of a Letter to my Cousin M. Bullie, a grave Preacher in new England," after which occur some doggrel verses headed, "A charitable Consideration of new-Englands plantation." On the following page are some verses headed : "Mr. Brightman a little before he died, translated the Canticles into verse, whereupon I wrote these verses"—four stanzas of six lines. Two or more of the letters are addressed to his brother Nicholas Spencer ; and in one he admonishes him against cockfighting, in another against paying bills on the Sabbath.

In the Grenville Catalogue, ii., 680, is some further account of this work, which is, however, erroneously attributed to the author of the "Discourse concerning Prodigies," &c. Lowndes copies the error.

SPENCER, JOHN. A Discourse concerning Prodigies : wherein The Vanity of Presages by them is reprehended, and their true and proper Ends asserted and vindicated. By John Spencer, B.D. ¶, 4 leaves ; A—N in fours.

First edition. Dr. Morris has lately pointed out that Mr. Collier through not having followed this edition has fallen into a variety of mistakes and corruptions. It is a volume of the highest rarity.

SPENSER, EDMUND. The Shepheardes Calender containing twelue Æglogues proportionable to the twelue Monethes. Entitled to the Noble and vertuous Gentleman, most worthy of all titles, both of learning and cheualrie, M. Philip Sidney. Imprinted at London for Iohn Harison the younger, dwelling in Pater noster Roe, at the signe of the Anker, and are there to be solde. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London by Thomas East for Iohn Harrison the younger. 1581. 4to. Black letter. Woodcuts.

·, 4 leaves, and A—N in fours.

From Mr. Corsers's collection.

The variation between the imprint and the colophon of this edition has given rise to the statement that there were two impressions in the same year. But such was not the case.

— The Faerie Queene. Disposed into twelue books, Fashioning XII. Morall vertues. London Printed by William Ponsonbie. 1590. The Second Part of the Faerie Queene. Containing the Fovrth, Fifth, and Sixth Bookes. By Ed. Spenser. Imprinted at London for William Ponsonby. 1596. 2 vols. 4to. G. M.

On G 2 occurs a new title: "Daphnaida. An Elegie vpon the Death of the Noble and Vertvovs Doyglas Howard, daughter and heire of Henry Lord Howard, Viscount Byndon, and wife of Arthur Gorges Esquier. Dedicated to the Right honorable the Ladie Helena, Marquesse of Northampton. By Ed. Sp. At London Printed for William Ponsonby, 1596." This is a second edition, having originally appeared in 1591.

— Brittain's Ida. Written by that Renowned Poët, Edmond Spenser. London: Printed for Thomas Walkley, and are to be sold at his shop at the Eagle and Child in Brittaines Burssc. 1628. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A, 4 leaves, the first blank; B—C in eights.

Dedicated by the publisher to the Lady Mary, daughter of George, Duke of Buckingham, whom he informs that he had been "certainly assured by the ablest, and most knowing men, that it must be a Worke of Spencers."

Mr. Grosart, in his Letter to Lord Coleridge, 1869, assigns this poem to Phineas Fletcher.

SPENSER, EDMUND. Three Proper, and wittie, familiar Letters : lately passed betweene two Vniuersitie men : touching the Earthquake in Aprill last, and our English reformed Versifying. With the Preface of a well-willer to them both. Imprinted at London by H. Bynneman, dwelling in Thames streete, neere vnto Baynardes Castell. Anno Domini. 1580. Cum gratia & priuilegio Regiæ Maiestatis. 4to. Black letter.

A—E in fours ; F, 2 leaves ; G—13 in fours.

On G 2 occurs a new title : “ Two other, very commendable Letters, of the same mens writing : both touching the foresaid Artificiall Versifying, and certain other Particulars : More lately deliuered vnto the Printer.”

“ Both Tyrwhitt and Chalmers were of opinion that Shakespeare had perused this Correspondence of Spenser and Gabriel Harvey : and had it in his recollection, when he wrote his ‘ Romeo and Juliet : ’ the Nurse observes—

‘Tis since the earthquake now eleven years?

‘ But,’ says Tyrwhitt, ‘ how comes the Nurse to talk of an earthquake upon this occasion ? There is no such circumstance, I believe, mentioned in any of the novels from which Shakespeare may be supposed to have drawn his story ; and, therefore, it seems probable, that he had in view the earthquake, which had really been felt in many parts of England in his own time, viz. on the 6th of April, 1580.’ He then refers to G. Harvey’s Account of the Earthquake addressed to Spenser. These Letters have been reprinted by Edwin and Hughes, but scandalously mutilated and falsified.”—Note in G. Chalmers’ Catalogue.

“ The ‘ two Vniuersitie men ’ were Edmund Spenser and Gabriel Harvey. In Edwin’s folio edition of Spenser’s Works, 1679 (which was followed by Hughes in his republication), these Letters are abridged, falsified, and mangled, to an extent that could scarcely be conceived by any one who had not compared them with this original edition of 1580, though Mr. Neve, in his ‘ Cursory Remarks on Spenser,’ says that ‘ the partial and deficient publication of these Letters is well known.’”—Bibl. Anglo-Poetica.

— Staffords Niobe, Dissolv'd into a Nilvs: or, His Age drown'd in her owne teares: seruing as a Second Part to the former Treatise. Wherein the vanitie and villanie of the Age, and the miserie of Man are so painted to the life, as that it will make a man long to leave this painted life, to come to that true and eternall one. Seclusus a seculo. Printed at London by H. L. for Matthew Lowmes. 1611. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A—O 10 in twelves; title on A 2, and between A and B are 5 leaves marked ¶, Dedicated to Anne, Countess of Dorset.

The dedication is followed by an address "To the younger Gentry of England," and by a second "To the long-ear'd Reader," the latter composed in a strong vein of invective, on account of some attacks which had been made on the former part of the "Niobe." At sig. N commences a new pagination, with the following headline: "An admonition to a discontented Romanist," which occupies the rest of the volume.

From Mr. Maskell's collection.

a—e in eights, including the frontispiece; A, 3 leaves; B—R in eights, last leaf blank, and the preceding one occupied by the colophon.

The dedication copy on large paper, and in the original richly gilt morocco, presented to Lady Theophila Coke, whose autograph is on the title-page.

After the dedicatory epistle follow addresses "To the Feminine Reader" and "To the Masculine reader." Then come "Meditationes poeticæ & Christianæ in annunciationem beatæ Virginis, W. A.," and "The Ghyrlond of the blessed Virgin Marie," two sets of verses signed, "B. J.," and probably from the pen of Ben Jonson. "A Pannegyricke upon the blessed Virgin Mary," a poem occupying seven pages, with the initials, "T. M." "A Panegyricke &c.," a poem of two and a-half pages without signature. The prefatory matter concludes with an anonymous poem of twenty-seven pages, entitled, "A Panegyricke dedicated to the eternall Memory, and glorious Fame of the blessed Virgin Mary."

Four leaves. In prose, with two woodcut figures on the title purporting to represent the two actors, but in separate blocks, and evidently borrowed from some other publication.

A curious tract, reprinted in facsimile by Mr. Ashbee, and also included in the "English Drama and Stage" volume, Roxburghe Library, 1869. It is believed that only three copies of this original edition are known. The dialogue opens with the names of Cane and Reed as the interlocutors, but after the first two sentences the names are changed to "Quick" and "Light."

STANBRIDGE. Vulgaria stäbrige. [This title is printed in white letters on a black ground, from a wood block. Beneath it is a cut of a Master and Scholars.] [Colophon.] Enprynted at London in Fletestrete by Wynkyn de Worde at the sygne of the sonne. [n. d.] 4to. BR. M.

Title and dedication, 4 leaves; B—F in eights.

The dedication is addressed to Sir John D'Anvers. In it the author says, "Lighting casually on the Poems of Mr. George Herbert, lately deceased (whose pious Life and Death have converted me to a full beleefe that there is a St. George) and therein perusing the description of a constant-man, it directed my thoughts unto yourselfe, having heard that the Author in his life-time had therein designed no other Title then your Character in that Description." The book appears to have been privately printed.

STANDFAST, RICHARD. *A Caveat against Seducers: As it was Preached by Richard Standfast, M^r. of Arts, and Rector of Christ-Church in Bristol, Whereunto are annexed The Blind Mans Meditations. STATUTES OF EDWARD I., &c. Sm. 4to.

MS. on vellum, written at various times from A.D. 1297 to 1335. It is evidently the work of two hands, the greater part of it being written in 1297-1300 by one person, as a book to contain the Fundamental Laws of the English Constitution; and the remainder added to it, without any special object beyond that of recording facts, by another hand in 1333 to 1343.

The book commences with the "Magna Carta de Libertatibus Angliæ," in which Edward I. recites and confirms the Magna Carta of Henry III. Then follow the statute for Disforestation and several other enactments concerning the rights of the freemen of England and the powers of the Crown; the apparent intention of the scribe having been to record these hardly-won concessions in one corpus juris. This, therefore, as a contemporary MS. embodying the legal acts of a reign in which the English constitution may be said to have had its first thorough establishment, is of considerable interest. About half the book is in French, and the rest of it in Latin. The articles concerning the Coin of the realm, its size and weight, are in French, and contain an English word in "le denier gest appele schlyng." The assize of Bread and Beer is in Latin.

After the two statutes concerning the Power of the Crown and a few others, which together with the preceding matter occupies about two-thirds of the volume, the work ends abruptly. This was done in 1299.

Then on some interposed pages of later date, after a blank leaf, we have the Northampton Statute of Edward III., followed by counsels concerning what to eat, drink, and avoid, in Latin, from the "Magister Philosophorum." Next, after a Scarborough "de quo warranto," follows a little Chronicle of England, in Latin, being a list of events from the Saxon invasion to the coronation of Edward II. in 1307—the time at which it was written. This chronicle occupies five pages, and at the bottom of its text there is added in English (about 1340) a remedy for pains in the stomach. After another document which refers to the year 1326, the original scribe's hand is seen again, and we have Ordinances of Edward I. at Scarborough, about 1300. Next comes a little chronicle, 1311-33, written at the later date; succeeded by Ordinances of the Parliament held at Westminster in 1343, and a mandate from Edward III. to Sir William Clynton, Constable of Dover, concerning the introduction into the kingdom by foreigners of an illegal coinage, which counterfeits "lesterling" and forbidding it under penalties. Then follow Statutes of the Parliament of York, 1335; Inquisition by Commissioners; burghers of Scarborough, concerning the rate and mode of taxation; Ordinance of Edward III. in 1335; ending with a statement in French of the misdeeds of the Le de Spencers and others of Edward II.'s followers, which is not completed.

A—S in eights and fours alternately. Sigs. F, G, and P are repeated.

A volume of the utmost rarity, unknown to Herbert and Lowndes. The first portion concludes with the printer's colophon and smaller device on G 3 verso; but the signatures are continuous. The woodcut on the title is repeated three or four times through the book. The whole of the text is in English.

STEBBING, SAMUEL. A Genealogical History of the Kings and Queens of England . . . Continued to this Time, with many new Sculptures, Additions, and Annotations; as likewise the Descents of divers Illustrious Families now Flourishing, maternally descended from the said Monarchs, or from Collateral Branches of the Royal Blood of England. By Samuel Stebbing, Esq., Somerset Herald. London . . . M.DCC.VII. Folio. Large paper. R. M.

It is said that only twenty-four copies were printed on large paper. The present is enriched with an extensive series of contemporary MS. notes. Title and Dedication to the Queen, 2 leaves; To the Reader, 1 leaf; names of subscribers, 1 leaf; half title to book 1, and plates of seals, 2 leaves; pp. 1-878; table, 14 pages, not numbered. There are plates detached from the letterpress at pp. 64, 412, 442, 472, and 684, the last an extra one, being the monument of James II. in the Scottish College at Paris, engraved by Le Roy. Between 372 and 373 are two pages, (372) b and (372) c, and 371-4 are repeated. Between 548-9 are placed 4 leaves of seals marked 548 a, &c., and a table.

A—M in twos; N, 3 leaves. Sig. B is in duplicate. There are 26 portraits, and on the 3rd leaf is an engraved title. Dedicated to the writer's cousin, Mrs. Grace Killingbeck.

From Miss Richardson Curre's collection.

— Poems. [Quotation from Martial.] London, Printed by R. Davenport for Lodowick Lloyd, and are sold at his Shop at the Castle in Cornhil. 1665. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A—L in eights, including a half-title and a portrait by R. Gaywood. Dedicated to the Marquis of Worcester. With complimentary verses by Valentine Oldis, Henry Bold, Edw. Baynard, and E. Bostocke.

From Mr. Daniel's library, with a very brilliant duplicate impression of the rare portrait. Some of the poems relate to the county of Norfolk, of which the author was a native.

STIGELIUS, JOHN. Oratio de dicto Christi Lucae 22 Ego pro te orai &c. Carmen Iohannis Stigelii de Teucro. Impressum Vuitenbergæ apud Josephum Klug. Anno 1549. 8vo. R. M.

Eleven leaves, the last with a woodcut on each side.

STILE, CHRISTOPHER. Psalmes of Inuocation vpon God, To preserue her Maiestie and the people of this lande, from the power of our enemies. Collected and gathered together, by Christopher Stile. London Printed by Iohn Wolfe, dwelling in Distaffe Lane, neare the Signe of the Castle. 1588. 4to. Black letter.

A—B in fours. The last two leaves are occupied by "A Godly Prayer, wherein is desired aide of God against his enimies, forgiuenesse of sinnes, and to turne his plagues as well of the sword as penurie, which be due for sinne, farre from this land."

This appears to be the only copy known. It is a series of psalms adapted specially for use in the expected contingency of a Spanish invasion. Some of the verses are paraphrased in a remarkable way, as for instance: "Let not the Antichristians saie in their hearts, there, there, so would we haue it: neither let the Spaniard say, wee haue deuoured them." Again, "Who is such a God as thou, that pardonest wickednes, and forgiuest the offences of the remnant of thine English heritage?"

STILL, JOHN. A Ryght Pithy, Pleasaunt and merie Comedie: Intytuled Gammer gurtons Nedle: Played on Stage, not longe ago in Christes Colledge in Cambridge. Made by M^r. S. Imprynted at London . . . by Thomas Colwell.* 1575. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—E in fours.

The title is within a woodcut border. This drama, which has been usually ascribed to John Still, afterwards Bishop of Bath and Wells, was long supposed to be the earliest comedy in the language; but it has been deprived of that distinction by the discovery of Udall's "Ralph Roister Doister." "Gammer Gurton's Needle" was written and perhaps performed at Cambridge about 1566. See Halliwell's "Dictionary of Old Plays," 1860, p. 106.

For an account of the author, see Cooper's "Athenæ Cantabrigienses," ii., 467.

From the Bindley and Daniel collections.

A—F in fours, and A, 4 leaves.

The "Tears" are in stanzas of seven lines. The last four leaves open with a separate title: "An Anniversary Ode upon the Kings Birth-day, May 29. Written for this Yeare 1654, being his 24 Yeare."

From Dr. Bandinel's collection.

STIRLING, W. ALEXANDER, EARL OF. Recreations with the Muses. By William Earle of Sterline. London, Printed by Tho. Harper. 1637. Folio. Large paper.

A—X in sixes; A i blank; Y, 8 leaves; "Doomesday," with a new title and an introductory sonnet by W. Drummond, 2 leaves; B—Dd in sixes; Ee, 8 leaves, the last blank. Inserted at the beginning is a brilliant impression of the portrait of the author by W. Marshall.

This copy, in the original gilt calf binding, has belonged successively to Dr. Mavor, Dr. Bliss, and Mr. Corser. Inserted are some MS. memoranda by Dr. Bliss respecting the book, and also an autograph letter from Mr. W. H. Miller, in which he says, "A full-sized L. P. should be, I think, 13 inches at least." The present copy measures over 13 inches \times 8 $\frac{1}{2}$. The portrait was not with the book when purchased by Mavor, but was acquired subsequently. It represents the poet in his 57th year. There is a large paper copy in the famous Britwell Library, which contains also a fine impression of the rare portrait; but, as in this copy, the paper on which it is printed is not the full size of the book.

This collected edition exhibits the poems much altered, and the "Aurora" altogether suppressed. Following the leaf of contents is a long poem in 14 stanzas of 8 lines, addressed to Charles I. The poem called "Dooms-day" is greatly enlarged.

STIRLING, W. ALEXANDER, EARL OF. The Tragedie of Darivs. By William Alexander of Menstrie. Omne tulit punctum qui miscuit vile dulci. Edinburgh Printed by Robert Walde-graue Printer to the Kings Maicstie. 1603. Cum Privilegio Regio. 4to.

Title, with the arms of the author on the back, 1 leaf; dedication to James VI. King of Scots, three 8-line stanzas, 1 leaf: To the Reader, 1 leaf; "In praise of the Authour and his Poeme," A Sonnet, by John Murray, and a Sonnet and Anagram by W. Quin, 1 leaf; The Argument, and "The persons names that speakes," 2 leaves; B—K 2 in fours. This is the first edition, and is of the greatest rarity. In the address to the Reader, the author says, "I present to thy favourable vewie and censure the first essay of my rude & vn-skilfull Muse in a Tragicall Poeme." He remarks, a little further on, "The language of this Poeme is (as thou seest) mixt of the English and Scottish Dialects; which perhaps may be vn-pleasant and irksome to some readers of both nations." In later editions the text is much altered.

— The Monarchick Tragedies. [Cræsus & Darius.] By William Alexander of Menstrie. Printed at London by V. S. for Edward Blount. 1604. 4to. R. M.

A—K in fours; E 4 and K 4 blank.

A poem in 7-line stanzas, written on the model of the "Mirror for Magistrates," and dedicated to Mr. John Howson, the Queen's Chaplain. There are introductory verses by Charles Fitzgeoffrey and Thomas and Edward Michelborne, and a poem in fifteen stanzas of 8 lines addressed to the author by his fellow-collegian, John Sprint.

STORY, GEORGE. An Impartial History of the Wars of Ireland, With a Continuation thereof. In Two Parts. From the Time that Duke Schonberg Landed with an Army in that Kingdom, to the 23^d. of March, 169 $\frac{1}{2}$, when Their Majesties Proclamation was published, declaring the War to be ended. Illustrated with Copper Sculptures describing the most Important Places of Action. Together with Some Remarks upon the Present State of that Kingdom. By George Story, Chaplain to the Regiment formerly Sir Tho. Gower's, now the Earl of Drogheda's. London: Printed for Ric. Chiswell. . . . MDCXCIII. 4to. R.

Part 1, A—Y in fours, besides general title to both parts; Part 2, A, 4 leaves, including half-title; a, 4 leaves; B—U [u] in fours.

An original and valuable work by an eye-witness. The first part appeared in 1691, the second in 1693, when a general title, dated 1693, was added. In Part 2 there are plans, views, &c. at pp. 4, 8, 10, 16, 22, 38, 44, 46, 88, 106, 124, 134, 172 (misprinted 272), 224. The copy collated by Lowndes must have been imperfect. There was no second edition of Part 1 in 1693.

STOW, JOHN. A Svrvey of London. Contayning the Originall, Antiquity, Increase, Moderne estate, and description of that Citie; written in the Yeare 1598. by John Stow Citizen of London. Londini Impensis Thomæ Adams. 1615. [Colophon.] Imprinted in London at the three Cranes in the Vintree, by Thomas Dawson, for Thomas Adams. Anno 1615. Folio. Fine paper. R.

Title, 1 leaf; Dedication to Prince Charles, 1 leaf; To the Reader, 1 leaf; Preface, 7 leaves; A—Qqqq in sixes.

Mr. Furnivall has recently, for the first time, drawn attention to the curious and important variations in the successive re-versions of Stow in 1605, 1615, and 1631. He remarks: "I see that the 1615 Howes has a new Dedication, Address to the Reader, and Historical Preface; and that after Stow's xii. of May 1602, Howes (p. 804, c. 1, l. 10) inserts a long, or as he calls it—a breefe relation of some of the chiefe Eng. Souldiers and Nauigators of the Queenes Raigne with other things of note' (an account of John Stow, a list of our poets (including William Shakespeare), and an account of Sir Humfrey Gilbert), to p. 811, col. 2. . . . On p. 816 starts a fresh heading, and account of K. James, which so swallows, enlarges, and continues Stow's, that it becomes a fresh original work. The 1631 edition enlarges greatly the list of new inventions, customs, &c. given in the 1615 edition, and has fresh remarks on the increase of population and buildings in London."

STOW, JOHN. A Summarie of the Chronicles of England. Diligently collected, abridged, & continued vnto this present yeare of Christ. 1604. By Iohn Stow. London, Imprinted by Iohn Harison. 1604. Sm. 8vo. Y. M.

This volume was printed as a protest against the proposed marriage of Queen Elizabeth with the Duke of Anjou. In Harington's "Nugæ Antiquæ," vol. i., pp. 143-65, are several papers relating to the book and the trouble which befell the author. Having had his right hand cut off by the common hangman, he concludes a petition to the Queen (printed in the "Nugæ Antiquæ") with the prayer that "The Lorde God cut off both their handes and shorten their armes, who doe not, with all their hart praie for your everlastinge lyfe in heaven."

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves, the first blank; A—T in eights, last leaf blank.

Dedicated by Stubbes to Mistress Katherine Milward, wife to Master William Milward, Esquire, 10th April, 1592. In this dedication he states that the volume was printed at the desire and expense of one of his very good friends, and that he sought for it the lady's protection against the "poysoned tongues of railing Phormions and flouting Momusses."

The first edition appeared in 1592. This of 1610 (from Heber's library) is unrecorded. This copy is in the original gilt vellum.

M.

A—B, 6 leaves each; and D, 4 leaves; no sig. C, but the tract is quite complete.

From the Caldecott and Daniel libraries.

The only other copy known of this edition is in the library of Salisbury Cathedral. The woodcut figures on the back of the first leaf had already been used to represent the dramatis personæ in the play or interlude of "Hickescorner."

The device of Scott (or Skot) on the last page is the same as that at the end of the "Boke of Maid Emlyn," the blocks at top and bottom only varied. Mr. Daniel asserts on the flyleaf, in a MS. note, that "This is a much earlier edition than that mentioned in Dibdin's 'Typographical Antiquities,' vol. iii., p. 79, as being in the library of Lincoln Cathedral;" but for this statement there is no authority. Both impressions were in all likelihood issued within a year or two of each other, though the question of priority might be difficult to decide. The title, "The summoning," is found at the foot of several leaves.

SUNDSTRÖM, SVENO. Dissertatio historico politica De Statu Regiminis Americanorum ante Adventum Christianorum. . . . Upsaliæ, Typis Wernermanis. 1716. Sm. 8vo.

SURREY, HENRY HOWARD, EARL OF. Songes and Sonnets, written by the Right Honorable Lord Henrie Haward late Earle of Surrey, and others. Imprinted at London by Robert Robinson, dwelling in Fetter Lane nere Holborne. 1587. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. G. M.

A—O in eights.

The only other perfect copy known of this edition is believed to be that in the Bodleian. The present was found in the old wainscot of a baker's house at Chobham in Surrey. See Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," ii., 402-6.

Haward appears to have been a recognized mode of spelling the name formerly; it is adopted (among many other instances) by Archbishop Parker in a quotation from Surrey, which occurs in his version of the Psalter (circa 1560), sig. G ii verso. Surrey's "Songes and Sonnets" is one of the books which Edward Deering the puritan, in the address to the Reader prefixed to "A Briefe and Necessary Catechisme," 1572, commends to the burning zeal of some good Ephesian; and, no doubt, certain "good Ephesians" acted on the advice.

SURTEES, ROBERT. The History and Antiquities of the County Palatine of Durham: compiled from Original Records. . . . London, 1816. 4 vols. Folio. Large paper. R.

Vol. i., part 2, half-title, 1 leaf; Introduction, 1 leaf, then pp. 1-318. The plates, beside those of the seals, are at pp. cvi., cxx., cxxiv., 1, 13, 24, 116, 148, 171, 226, 239, 255. Vol. ii., title and half-title, 2 leaves; pp. 1-408. The plates are at pp. 10, 13, 20, 67, 95, 127, 138 (2), 153, 162, 254, 261, 372. Vol. iii.: title and half-title, 2 leaves; pp. 1-432; pp. 195-6 are repeated with an asterisk. The plates are at pp. 26, 71, 99, 109, 116, 196, 199, 230, 233, 243, 250, 362, 372. Vol. iv.: title and advertisement by Raine, 2 leaves; the work, pp. 1-170; "Ri. Cavend. to the Citye of Duresm.," 1 leaf, in verse; Account of the City of Durham, &c., pp. 3-172. In the Appendix to the General History (in vol. i.) pp. cxxxix.-cxliii. occupy one side of a leaf only. In the Account of the City (vol. iv.) there are no pp. 33-6. The plates to vol. iv. are at pp. 8, 35, 79, 81, 101, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 166, and 18 plates to follow p. 170. The last leaf of vol. iv. is a list of plates for the whole work.

SWIFT, JONATHAN. Travels into several Remote Nations of the World. In Four Parts. By Lemuel Gulliver, first a Surgeon, and then a Captain of several Ships. London . . . MDCCXXVI-VII. Gulliver Decypher'd: Or Remarks on a late Book, intituled Travels . . . London . . . [1728.] 4 vols. 8vo. Plates and portrait.

Although four parts are mentioned in the title to vol. i., the work consists in reality of six, besides the supplementary volume, "Gulliver Decyphered," vols. i.-iii. being divided into two parts, each with separate titles.

SWINHOE, GILBERT. The Tragedy of The unhappy Fair Irene. By Gilbert Swinhoe, Esq; London: Printed by J. Streater, for W. Place, at Grays-Inn Gate, next Holborn, M.DC.LVIII. 4to. The edges uncut.

A—D in fours, besides a leaf after the title, with commendatory verses by James Swinhoe, the writer's brother, Eldred Revett, and F. S.

From the lines by F. S., it appears that the author was a native of Northumberland, and that "Irene" was a youthful production. At the end occur these two lines :—

" This is a Spectacle of like Woe,
To that of Juliet and her Romeo."

SYLLACIUS, NICOLAUS. De Insuli Meridiani atque Indici Maris nuper Inventis. With a translation into English by the Rev. John Mulligan, A.M. New York, 1859. 4to. Facsimiles.

SYLVESTER, JOSHUA. Avtomachia, Or The Self-Conflict of a Christian. [Colophon.] London, Printed by Melch. Bradwood for Edward Blount. 1607.

In verse. A, 8 leaves, the two first blank; B—C, 8 leaves each; D, 8 leaves, the last two blank.

This is a diminutive volume, in the original velvet binding, and measuring only about $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. in height by $2\frac{1}{4}$ in. in width. No account of it is to be found in any bibliographical work, and the present is believed to be the only copy known. It was licensed to Edward Blount, 19 December, 1607.

Dedicated "To the Most Noble, vertuous, and learned Lady, the Lady Mary Nevil, One of the Daughters of the right Honourable the Earle of Dorcet, Lord High Treasurer of England," in an anagram, and six "Stanzas Dedicatory." The main poem, called "Avtomachia," concludes on the eighth leaf of C, and on D begins with a headline: "A comfortable Exhortation to the Christian, in his Self-Conflict," which occupies the remainder of the book.

This poem is reprinted in the collected edition of Sylvester's minor pieces, sm. 8vo., 1614-15, with an additional inscription to Lady Cecily Nevil, the daughter of Lady Mary, who was then dead.

— Lachrimæ Lachrimarvm. or The Distillation of Teares Shede For the vntymely Death of The incomparable Prince Panaretvs [Prince Henry.] By Iosuah Sylvester. [Colophon.] London, Printed by Humfrey Lownes. 1612. 4to.

A—D in fours. In verse.

First edition. The poem is printed on one side only within mourning borders, the reverse black with the Prince of Wales's feathers in white relief. The copy is so large that it appears to be on large paper.

The way in which this work is entered at Stationers' Hall is peculiar:—"27 Novembris Humfreye Lownes Junior. Enterd for his copie A Booke called Lachryma Domesticæ. A viall of household teares shedd ouer frynce Henryes hearse by his highnes fyrst worst Poett and pencioner Josua Sylvester." See Arber's "Transcript," iii., 230. The title of the work, when printed, was varied, omitting the disparagement of the author as a poet.

— *The Parliament of Vertues Royal: (Summoned in France: but assembled in England) for Nomination, Creation, and Confirmation of The most Excellent Prince Panaretvs. A Præsaige of Pr. [No place, printer's name, or date.] [London, Humphrey Lownes ? 1614-15.] Sm. 8vo. O. M.

First Session, pp. 1-308, besides title, 1 leaf; dedication to Sir Robert Carie, Sir James Fullarton, Sir Robert Carr, Sir David Foulis, and Mr. Thomas Murray, dedication to Prince Charles, &c., 2 leaves more. Second Session, pp. 1-191, besides title-page and 7 other leaves of preliminaries. Then follow eight other pieces, namely:—"St. Lewis; the King: Or A Lamp of Grace. 1615;" 22 leaves, the last blank; "A Hymn of Alms: Or The Beggars Bell," 18 leaves, the last two blank; "The Batail of Yvry: Or, the Break-Neck of The Hellish-Holy League," 15 leaves; "Honor's Farewel to Her Honorable Friends: Or The Ladie Hay's Last Will," 8 leaves; "Tobacco Battered; & The Pipes Shattered (about their Eares that idly Idolize so base & barbarous a Weed; or at least-wise ouer-loue so loathsome Vanitie :) by A Volley of holy Shot Thundered From Mount Helicon," 22 leaves, last blank. Dedicated to Mr. William Loe. "Simile non est Idem: Seeming is not the-Same. Or All's not Gold that glisters. A Character of This corrupted Time, which makes Religion but A Couer-Crime," 9 leaves; "A Glimse of Heavenly Loyes: or New Hiervsaalem. In An old Hymne extracted from The most Diuine St. Avgvstine," 5 leaves; "Avto-Machia: or The Self-Conflict of a Christian. From the Latin of Mr. George Goodwin," 8 leaves.

All these are in verse, the chief part translations, but a few original. The bulk of the contents appeared here for the first time. The supplementary poems are paged and signed throughout, but so irregularly as to render a collation by sheets both difficult and intricate.

It was entered at Stationers' Hall (Arber's "Transcript," iii., 247):—

"13 Januarij 1613[-1614.]

Master Humphrey Lownes the elder. Entred for his Coppie vnder the handes of Master Taverner and master warden feild a booke called, "The Parlament of vertues royall." Bethulias rescue. Little Bartas with other tractes translated and generally dedicated to Josua Siluester."

The other pieces were licensed to Lownes at a somewhat later date in 1614-15, the "Tobacco Battered," &c., not occurring till the 13th December, 1615.

The "Annales;" ¶, 3 leaves, title on ¶ 2, A—Z 4 in sixes; "The End of Nero," &c., with fresh title and signatures; ¶, 6 leaves; A—V 5 in sixes. The translator of the first portion, dedicated to the Earl of Essex, was Richard Greenway; of the second, Sir Henry Savile, who inscribed his work to the Queen. Following this inscription occurs an address, headed "A. B. to the Reader;" which we learn from Ben Jonson's Conversations with W. Drummond of Hawthornden was written by Lord Essex.

The Harleian copy in old English morocco, with an inscription on the first title, signed "Ro. Harley."

A—F in fours, with Rastell's device and name on the last page, and Cum privilegio Regali beneath it.

The only copy known of this edition. It was discovered by Mr. Conybeare of Cambridge, in the covers of another book, having been used as a binder to form the board, and in the process has been sadly mutilated. It was from this copy that the edition of 1815 was edited by Mr. Singer. Since that time a perfect copy of another edition has been found in the library at Gottingen, but till this copy was discovered the book was unknown. It has great interest not only from the fact that it is referred to by Shakespeare in "Much Ado about Nothing," but also as being the earliest book of the kind in the English language.

— Tales and quicke answeres, very mery, and pleasant to rede. [This is the whole title, and is enclosed within a woodcut border.] [Colophon.] *Imprinted at London in Fletestrete, in the house of Thomas Berthelet, nere to the Cundite, at the sygne of Lucrece. A—E in fours.

The present copy is bound up with "Scogin's Jests," and wants the title-page. The following note is written on a blank leaf by Mr. Daniel: "This is a volume of extraordinary rarity. It formerly belonged to Oldys, the antiquary, who has written in it a variety of Notes. I purchased it (wanting the Title-page, but in every other respect perfect) at the sale of Mr. Inglis's library for £8. No other copy has occurred for sale. It is not to be found in the most celebrated collections, nor is it (I believe) in the British Museum. At the sale of Mr. Townley's prints by Mr. Evans, I bought the (almost unique) original Portrait of Tarlton for £4 10s., which I have prefixed to his 'Jests.' It represents him with a Tabret and drum. . . . It is so well cut, as to resemble or represent the flatness of his nose, which he got by parting some dogs and bears. . . ." The facsimile, as it is called, of this print is a mere caricature.

TASSO, TORQUATO. Godfrey of Bulloigne, or The Recouerie of Ierusalem. Done into English Heroicall verse, by Edward Fairefax Gent. Imprinted at London by Ar. Hatfield, for I. Iaggard and M. Lowmes. 1600. Folio. R.

These "Mayden-bloshomes" of Tatham's prolific Muse are dedicated to Sir John Winter, Secretary of State and Master of Requests. On I 4 occurs a fresh title : Love Crownes the End. A Pastorall presented by the Schollers of Bingham in the County of Notingham in the yeare 1632. Written by Io. Tatham Gent. Sed opus docere virtus. London : Printed by I. N. for Richard Best. 1640. There are commendatory verses by R. Browne, Thomas Nabbes, Robert Chamberlaine, Thomas Rawlins, and others.

This collection of epithalamiums, epigrams, acrostics, epistles, &c., many addressed to Clarinda, is of very uncommon occurrence. Mr. Corser had two copies, both defective. At the end there is an apology for the errors of the press in consequence of "the obscurity of the coppie and absence of the Author."

TATHAM, JOHN. The Distracted State, A Tragedy. Written in the Yeer, 1641. By J. T. Gent. Seditiosi sunt Reipublicæ ruina. London, Printed by W. H. for John Tey, and are to be sold at his shop at the Sign of the White Lion in the Strand, neer the New Exchange, 1651. 4to. The edges uncut.

Imprinted, 1630. At London, Printed by J. B. for James Boler; at the signe of the Marigold in Pauls Churchyard. 1630. Folio. Woodcuts. R.

With an engraved title by Cockson, containing in the lower centre a portrait of Taylor. A—O 2 in sixes, including frontispiece; Aa—Rr in sixes; Aaa—Kkk in sixes; Aaa—Lll in sixes, and Mmm in eights.

From the libraries of Sir Mark Sykes and Mr. George Daniel.

There is in the library a second copy, in the original binding with many uncut leaves, but the engraved title inlaid, with the autographs of Charles Cotton and Bernard Cotton, from the library of the Marquis of Hastings.

TAYLOR, JOHN. The Scvller, Rowing from Tiber to Thames with his Boate laden with a hotch-potch, or Gallimawfry of Sonnets, Satyres, and Epigrams. With an addition of Pastorall Equiuocques or the complaint of a Shepheard. By Iohn Taylor. Sum primus homo. Vis ire mecum Remis? Est mihi proxima cimbe. Reade, and then iudge. Printed at London by E. A. & are to be solde at the Pide-bull neere St. Austins-gate. 1612. 4to.

A—F in fours. In verse. Dedicated in an acrostic to Sir William Wood, Lieutenant of the Tower. Woodcut on title, representing Taylor in his boat.

This was Taylor's earliest publication, his Elegy on Prince Henry having probably been composed quite at the end of 1612. This was Dr. Bandinel's copy.

Among the introductory poems are verses addressed by the author to John Moray, Esquire, Ben Jonson and Thomas Coriat, and others in commendation of the book by Nicholas Breton, Samuel Rowlands, Henry Taylor, John Moray, and R. B. (Robert Branthwaite), the last of whom heads his contribution "To my friend both by water and land Iohn Taylor." This was registered at the Stationers' Hall as "The Sculler Antipapa rowinge from Tyber to Thames," by Henry Gosson on the 4th October, 1611, and on the 9th May, 1612, the same person entered "Laughe and be fatt, or the Sculler," thus composed in two distinct books. But, as we perceive, Gosson did not eventually publish or print the "Sculler" at all, and the only original impression of "Laugh and be Fat" appears to have no note by whom it was brought out. Compare Arber's "Transcript," iii., 211, 220.

— The Nipping or Snipping of Abvses : or The woolgathering of Witte. With The Muses Taylor, brought from Parnassus by land, with a paire of Oares Wherein Are about a hundred seuerall Garments of diuers fashions, made by Nature, without the helpe of Art, and A Proclamation from Hell in the Deuils name, concerning the propogation and excessiue vse of Tobacco. By Iohn Taylor.

*Judge not, before thou all doest ouer-looke,
And then if Nothing please thee, burne the Booke.*

London. Printed by Ed: Griffin for Nathaniel Butter, and are to be sold at the signe of the Pide-Bull neere Saint Austens-gate. 1614. 4to. G. M.

¶, 4 leaves ; A—L in fours.

In the reprint in the folio some of the introductory poems are omitted, including those by Robert Anton, Robert Daborne, and William Rowley. The dedication to King James is also suppressed, and there are other variations.

— The Pennyles Pilgrimage, or The Money-lesse perambulation, of Iohn Taylor, Alias the Kings Majesties Water-Poet. How he travailed on foot from London to Edenborough in Scotland, not carrying any Money to or fro, neither Begging, Borrowing, or Asking Meate, drinke or Lodging. With his Description of his Entertainment in all places of his Iourney, and a true Report of the vnmatchable Hunting in the Brea of Marre and Badenoch in Scotland. With other Obseruations, some serious and worthy of Memory, and some merry and not hurtfull to be Remembred. Lastly that (which is Rare in a Trauailer) all is true. London Printed by Edw: All-de, at the charges of the Author. 1618. 4to.

A—G iii in fours. Dedicated to George Marquis of Buckingham, after which comes :—"To all my louing Aduenturers, by what name or title so euer, my generall salutation." The tract is partly in verse.

TAYLOR, JOHN. A Briefe Remembrance of all the English Monarchs, From the Normans Conquest, vntill this present. By Iohn Taylor. London, Printed by George Eld, for Henry Gosson. 1618. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—D 3 in eights, title on A 2. With a series of twenty-five half-length portraits of the Kings, ending with Prince Charles.

The prints have no engraver's name.

First edition. It was reprinted in 1623, but not afterwards. "The Memorial of all the English Monarchs," described below, is a totally distinct book.

— An English-Mans Love to Bohemia: with a friendly Farewell to all the Noble Souldiers that goe from great Britaine to that honorable Expedition. As also, The Names of the most part of the Kings, Princes, Dukes, Marquisses, Earles, Bishops, and other friendly Confederates, that are combined with the Bohemian part. By Iohn Taylor. Printed at Dort. MDCXX. 4to.

A—B in fours, last leaf blank. In verse. With a large cut on the title and a second on the back.

The woodcuts are omitted in the folio, and there are certain other minor variations. No original edition of Taylor's "Travels to Prague in Bohemia" (Works, 1630, second sig. Hhh) is known. The present tract is inscribed in prose to Sir Andrew Gray, Knight; Colonel of the Bohemian expedition.

— Superbiæ Flagellum, or, The Whip of Pride. By Iohn Taylor. London, Printed by G. Eld. 1621. Sm. 8vo.

A—D 7 in eights. In verse. First edition. From Mr. Jolley's collection.

Dedicated in verse and prose, headed by an anagram, to Sir Thomas Richardson, Knight, Speaker of the House of Commons; after which comes a prose epistle of six pages addressed "To no matter who, no great matter where, yet to be read there is matter why, although not much matter when." To this succeeds "A Few Lines, to small pvrpose, against the Scandalous Aspersions, that are either maliciously, or ignorantly cast vpon the Poets and Poems of these Times."

— A Shilling, or, The Trauailles of Twelue-pence. [No place, printer's name, or date.] [London, 1622.] Sm. 8vo.

A—C in eights, including a leaf before the title, with verses.

There is a curious woodcut on the title, having in the centre an Edward VI. shilling. The preface to the Reader is addressed "To all those that have beene, are, will, or would be, Masters of a Shilling or Twelve-Pence."

TAYLOR, JOHN. Sir Gregory Nonsense His Newes from no place. Written on purpose, with much study to no end, plentifully stored with want of wit, learning, Iudgement Rime and Reason, and may seeme very fitly for the vnderstanding of Nobody. This is the worke of the Authors, without borrowing or stealing from others. By Iohn Taylor. Printed in London, and are to be sold betweene Charing-Crosse, and Algate. 1700. [sic.] [Colophon.] Printed at London by N. O. 1622. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—B in eights, first and last leaves blank.

Prefixed is a list of authorities quoted, of which some are real, others fictitious. This is followed by a facetious table of errata. The whole is in doggrel verse. The errata are omitted in the folio.

— A Memorial of All The English Monarchs being in number 151, from Brvte to King Charles. In Heroicall Verse by Io. Taylor. London, Printed by Iohn Beale, for Iames Bowler, 1630. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—G in eights, first and last two leaves blank.

Dedicated to Lionel, Earl of Middlesex. The portraits in this edition are in small size, and are engraved on wood. Prefixed to the present copy, which was formerly Dr. Bandinel's, is a very fine impression of the full-length print of Charles I., probably by Elstracke, with "Are to be Sould by Ihon Stafford in blacke horse Ally near fleet bridge 1631" beneath it.

A MS. note, in the handwriting of Dr. Bandinel, occurs on the flyleaf: "In Dr. Bliss's copy of this work, now in the Bodleian Library, is the following note: 'The head [sic] of Charles I. prefixed to this copy is so rare that Graves the printseller never saw or heard of it, and positively offered me £10. 10s. in exchange for the volume, in order, as I believe, to sell the Portrait to Mrs. Sutherland, now collecting all the effigies of Charles for her illustrated Clarendon.' 'P. B. 1834.' The illustrated Clarendon alluded to above has since been presented to the Bodleian Library by Mrs. Sutherland. This impression is much finer even than Dr. Bliss's. —' B. B. 1858.'"

At the end of the volume, on two leaves, is given a list of the works (above sixty) which Taylor was then having printed in folio together; but many of the titles he gives at random, and one or two are not recognizable as being in the folio at all.

— The Suddaine Turne of Fortunes Wheele. A Conference holden in the Castle of St. Angello betwixt the Pope, the Emperour, and the King of Spaine. By Iohn Taylor. 1631. 8vo.

MS. of the seventeenth century, occupying thirty leaves of paper. In verse.

From the Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica with the autographs of Thomas Park, 1797, and Thomas Hill, afterwards in the libraries of Mr. Heber and Mr. Corser. This work was printed for the first time in Halliwell's "Illustrations of Early English Literature," 1849.

— An Armado, or, A Navy of a Hvndred and three Ships, and other Vessels; who have the Art to Sayle by Land, as well as by Sea. Morally Rig'd, Man'd, Munition'd, Appointed, Set forth, and Victualled, with two and thirty sorts of Ling: with other Provisions of Fish and Flesh. By John Taylor. The names of the Ships, are in the Page before the Description of the Navie. Anno Milessimo, quillimo, trillimo. London, Printed for Henry Gosson. 1635. Sm. 8vo.

A—E in eights. The first edition was in 1627, 8vo.

TAYLOR, JOHN. An Arrant Thiefe,

Whom cuerie Man may trust :

In word & decd, exceeding true and just.

With a Comparison betweene a Thiefe and a Booke. Written by Iohn Taylor. Printed at London for Henry Gosson. 1635. Sm. 8vo.

A—C in eights. Woodcut on title, with a dedication in verse to Richard and George Hatton, then at Croydon Free School.

There were previous impressions of this tract in 1622 and 1625.

— A Bawd. A vertuous Bawd, a modest Bawd : As Shee Descrues, reprove, or else applaud. Written by John Taylor. Printed at London for Henry Gosson. 1635. Sm. 8vo.

A—C in eights. No separate edition of this piece anterior to the folio is known.

— Taylors Travels and Circvlar Perambvlation through, and by more then thirty times twelve Signes of the Zodiack, of the Famous Cities of London and Westminster. With the Honour and Worthinesse of the Vine, the Vintage, the Wine, and the Vintoner ; with an Alphabeticall Description, of all the Taverne Signes in the Cities, Suburbs, and Liberties aforesaid, and significant Epigrams upon the said severall Signes. Written by Iohn Taylor. London, Printed by A. M. 1636. Sm. 8vo.

A—D in eights, last leaf blank.

In Mr. George Daniel's sale catalogue this copy is said to be unique. Lowndes evidently never saw the book, as he mistakes both the title and the size.

— The Honorable and Memorable Foundations, Erections, Raisings, and Ruines, of divers Cities, Townes, Castles, and other Pieces of Antiquitie, within ten Shires and Counties of this Kingdome ; Namely, Kent, Sussex, Hampshire, Surrey, Barkshire, Essex, Middlesex, Hartfordshire, Buckinghamshire, and Oxfordshire : With the Description of many famous Accidents that have happened, in divers places in the said Counties. Also, a Relation of the Wine Tavernes either by their signes, or names, of the persons that allow or keepe them, in, and throughout the said severall Shires. By John Taylor. London, Printed by A. M. 1636. Sm. 8vo.

A—D in eights, title on A 2.

Dedicated " To all the Good-Fellowes in generall, and particular, that do keep, inhabit, allow, or maintaine the Wine Tavernes, or Inne Tavernes in the ten Shires and Counties before named." The present publication appears to have been intended as a sequel to Taylor's similar tract on the taverns of the metropolis, for which there are here inserted two pages of supplementary names. There were two issues of this piece in the same year.

TAYLOR, JOHN. Drinke and welcome : Or the Famovs Historie of the most part of Drinks, in use now in the Kingdomes of Great Brittain and Ireland ; with an especiall declaration of the potency, vertue, and operation of our English Ale. With a description of all sorts of Waters, from the Ocean Sea to the teares of a Woman. As also, The causes of all sorts of weather, faire or foule, Sleet, Raine, Haile, Frost, Snow, Fogges. . . . Compiled first in the high Dutch tongue, by the painefull and industrious Huldricke van Speagle, a Grammaticall Brewer of Lubeck, and now most Learnedly enlarged, amplified, and Translated into English Prose and Verse. By Iohn Taylor. London, Printed by Anne Griffin. 1637. 4to. R. M.

A—D i in fours.

— The Carriers Cosmographic. or A Briefe Relation of the Innes, Ordinaries, Hosteries, and other lodgings in and neere London, where the Carriers, waggons, Foote-posts and Higglers doe naturally come from any parts, townes, shires, and countries of the Kingdome of England, Principality of Wales, as also from the Kingdomes of Scotland and Ireland. With nomination of what daies of the weeke they doe come to London, and on what daies they returne, whereby all sortes of people may finde direction how to receiue, or send goods or letters, unto such places as their occasions may require. As Also, where the Ships, Hoighs, Barkes, Tiltboats, Barges and Wherries do usually attend to carry Passengers, and goods to the coast Townes of England, Scotland, Ireland, or the Netherlands; and where the Barges and Boats are ordinarily to bee had that goe up the River of Thames westward from London. By Iohn Taylor. London Printed by A. G. 1637. 4to. BL. M.

A—C in fours.

— Taylors Feast : Contayning Twenty-seaven Dishes of Meate, Without Bread, Drinke, Meate, Fruite, Flesh, Fish, Sawce, Sallats, or sweetmeats, only a good Stomacke, &c. [sic.] Being full of variety and witty mirth. By John Taylor. London: Printed by J. Okes dwelling in little St. Bartholomews. Anno. 1638. Sm. 8vo. The edges uncut.

A—G in eights, first and last leaves blank.

This is believed to be unique. Till the present copy was discovered the tract was entirely unknown. It is in the finest condition.

It seems to have been the original intention to publish this work as an annex to another; for on the 24th June, 1637, John Okes entered "a booke called Cupid and Sica [Psyche] with a description of a Feast without Meat, &c. by J: T:" But on the 10th November following Okes entered "Taylors Feast without bread, drinke, Meate, &c. with the Merry Jestes of the Cobler of Canterbury, by John Taylor," all mention of the "Cupid and Psyche" being dropped. In the printed book, however, there is no addition of the "Jestes of the Canterbury Cobler."

TAYLOR, JOHN. Bull, Beare, and Horse, Cut, Curtaile, and Long-taile. With Tales, and Tales of Bulls, Clenches, and Flashes. As also here and there a touch of our Beare-Garden-sport; with the second part of the Merry conceits of Wit and Mirth. Together with the Names of all the Bulls and Beares. London, Printed by M. Parsons for Heury Gosson, and are to be solde at his shop on London Bridge. 1638. Sm. 8vo.

A—E 4 in eights, title on A 2. In verse and prose.

A perfect copy is in the Bodleian among Malone's books of the present piece; the one here noticed wants the last three leaves. It is bound up with "An Arrant Thiefe," "A Bawd," and "Armado," and "Taylor's Travels or Circular Perambulation," from Skegg's and Daniel's collections.

— Differing Worships, or, The Oddes, betweene some Knights Service and God's. Or Tom Nash his Ghost, (the old Martin queller) newly rous'd, and is come to chide and take order with Nonconformists, Schismatiques, Separatists, and scandalous Libellers. Wherein their Abusive opinions are manifested, their Jeeres mildly retorted, and their unmannerly manners admonished. By Iohn Taylor. London, Printed for William Ley, and are to be sold at his shop neere Pauls chaine. 1640. 4to. R. M.

A—E 2 in fours, the first leaf blank, and the last with the Envoy. In verse.

A—C in fours. In verse and prose.

Taylor appears to have been in want of a subject just at this juncture, and did not scruple to appropriate Sempill of Beltrees's "Packman's Paternoster," first printed before 1640.

— A Swarme of Sectaries, and Schismatiques: Wherein is discovered the strange preaching (or prating) of such as are by their trades Coblers, Tinkers, Pedlers, Weavers, Sowgelders, and Chymney-Sweepers. By John Taylor.

Collected and Written by Iohn Taylor. Printed at London 1642. 4to. The edges uncut.

Four leaves.

On the title is the autograph of Sir Roger Twysden, 1642.

— Mercurivs Aquaticvs ; or, the Water-Poets Answer to all that hath or shall be Writ by Mercurivs Britanicvs. Ex omni ligno non fit Mercurius. Printed in the Waine of the Moone Pag. 121, and Number 16, of Mercurius Britanicus. 1643. 4to.

A—C in fours ; C 4 blank. Chiefly in prose.

The number of the "Mercury" to which Taylor's tract is a reply is printed with it. On sig. B is : "An Elegie on Master Pym," and the preface contains a very curious and (we believe) unnoticed allusion to Thomas May the poet : "Be it known to all People to whom these presents shall come, that I Thorny Aylo Water-Poet Laureat (if my place be not sequestred for the use of Tho. May for his Poeticall relation of his Excellencies Victory at Newbury, and more Poeticall Interpretation of TOUCH NOT MINE ANOYNTE) . . ."

— No Mercurivs Avlicvs ; But some merry flashes of Intelligence, with the Pretended Parliaments Forces besieging of Oxford

— A Recommendation to Mercurius Morbicus. Together with a fair Character upon his worth.

To the Reader.

Unto the arrant'st Knave that lives by bread,
I send this greeting (you may please to read)

His name is Mordicus (a non-sense Talker)
Which being interpreted is Harry Walker ;

Printed in the Year 1647. 4to.

Four leaves.

From this tract, undoubtedly by Taylor the water-poet, it appears that Walker was the writer of the tracts published under the name of "Mercurius Morbicus," from which it may perhaps be inferred that Taylor himself was the "Mercurius Melancholicus" of the fugitive literature of the day, although he speaks of "Melancholicus" as a friend, in whose behalf he had taken up the pen.

TAYLOR, JOHN. The Number and Names of all the Kings of England and Scotland, From the beginning of their Governments to this Present. A—S in eights, first and last leaves blank.

A thumb-book, $2\frac{1}{4}$ in. long by $1\frac{5}{8}$ in. in width. This is the only copy known. See Hazlitt's "Handbook," p. 604, for a notice of two other editions. As the Epistle by Taylor is directed to his Highness, [Prince Charles,] no doubt the book was published originally before 1625. It is reprinted in the folio.

It is curious that the three known separate copies should be of different impressions, and that each should be, so far as is known, unique.

TESTAMENT, THE NEW. GREEK. Evangelia IV. Græcè. MS. of the 12th century written on 219 leaves of vellum. Small folio (9½ in. by 6¼ in.). BR. M.

This fine MS. was formerly in the possession of M. Libri, and is thus described in the catalogue of his manuscripts sold in 1859:—

“This noble manuscript, containing the four Gospels, with the Canons and fine Greek numerical notes, is quite perfect. The characters in red and black are large and beautiful, with some ornaments in the old Byzantine style. With the exception of some liturgical books and fragments of the Scriptures of the eleventh century, the Meerman collection, so celebrated for ancient manuscripts, chiefly Greek, had not a single manuscript of the Evangelia which could compete with the present one. On comparing a few chapters of this manuscript with Mill's edition of the New Testament (Oxonii, 1707, in folio) we found that the text of our manuscript is exceedingly pure, and that it contains some various readings which are not quoted by Mill. The Canones, at the end, also differ from the Eusebian. Some small additions are in the manuscript which are not to be found in the printed editions. The capitulatio of St. Matthew is not at the beginning but at the end of the volume. In this capitulatio the title of the second chapter instead of being, as in Mill, περι ἀναρρηθίντων παιδιών is in the present manuscript περι ἀναρρηθίντων νηπιών, which will show an instance of the variations in the readings contained in this Codex. This manuscript, in the handwriting as well as in the ornaments and the capitals, bears a very close resemblance to the celebrated ‘Codex Ebnerianus’ of the New Testament, supposed to be of the eleventh and even of the tenth century, in the Bodleian Library at Oxford (see, for instance, the capital E at the beginning of St. Luke), of which a facsimile is to be found in Mr. Shaw's ‘Illuminated Ornaments,’ plate v. By comparing this manuscript with the facsimiles given by Montfaucon in his ‘Paleographia Græca,’ and by Zanetti and Bongiovanni in their catalogue of the St. Marc Library at Venice, we find that it bears a strict resemblance (for instance in that protracted form of the Greek letter α, which is mentioned by Montfaucon as a proof of great antiquity) to several manuscripts described in those classical works as being of the tenth or eleventh century.’

— ARMENIAN. Evangelia IV. Armenicè. 4to.

MS. of the sixteenth century written on 283 leaves of vellum. At the beginning are twelve leaves bearing the Eusebian Canons, illuminated in gold and colours. At the beginning of each Gospel is a miniature of the Evangelist executed in the conventional Byzantine style. On the side margins are thirty small miniatures representing subjects in the Gospel history. The volume is in the most perfect state of preservation in the original binding.

"From the Dering Library, Surrenden, Kent. I apprehend this to be the Manuscript from which Lewis printed a part of his Edition of Wiclif's Testament." J. J. Conybeare, 1810. "It appears from the signature to have belonged formerly to Sir Ra. Bosville of Brabonne, and subsequently came to the Rev. John Craige, who gave it to Sir Edw. Dering of Surrenden Dering, Bt. 1637. See Lewis's 'New Test.,' fol. 1731, p. 105. The New Testament, of the later version, with the usual prologues. At the end were added, now forming a separate volume, the lessos and epistles of the old law, which generally, but not uniformly, agree with the later version. This MS. was lent to Lewis, who used the text for the Epistles, Acts, and Apocalypse of his edition. When Lewis saw the MS. it contained also a table of the Epistles and Gospels, which was probably taken out at the time the volume was rebound."—Wickliffe's Bible, edit. Forshall and Madden, lxiv.

In the original binding.

Much confusion prevails in the distinction of the two editions of Coverdale's Testament printed by Nicolson in 1538. This has been caused by the supposition that the first edition was to be distinguished at once by having the title-page printed in black and red, and bearing thereon the name of Coverdale as the translator, while the second edition was to be distinguished by the title being entirely in black, and bearing the name of John Hollybush as the translator. An examination of all the copies available has shown, however, that in fact both editions were printed with the name of Coverdale on the title, and with the title in black and red, while the title entirely in black and with the name of Hollybushe is simply a cancel title inserted in some copies of the second edition. This is no mere assertion, but may be proved by an examination of the copies in Lambeth Library and Trinity College, Cambridge, both of which have the Hollybushe title in black. That in Lambeth is in the original binding, and the title is simply stuck in, the body of the book being of the second edition. The Trin. Coll. Camb. copy is in a modern binding, but the difference of the waterlines in the paper is enough to show that it is an insertion and does not belong to the sheet.

That there were two title-pages printed in black and red, and with the name of Coverdale thereon, has never yet been pointed out, but the copies in this library taken in conjunction with the descriptions of Ames and Lea Wilson incontestably prove that such was the case. In the titles given above the words printed in italic are red in the original; but the title-page of the first edition is copied from Lea Wilson and Ames (who agree exactly) as it is here in facsimile.

Of the second edition there are two copies in the library, one in the original binding (with flyleaves made from Coverdale's Bible of 1535) and the other in a binding of the last century. In both of them the title forms part of the sheet, clearly showing that it is no insertion, but was thus published originally.

It should be mentioned that the list of the places where the two editions are to be found, given by Dr. Cotton in his List of Editions of the Bible, is altogether at fault, as has been proved by actual examination of the copies he indicates.

The following references will serve to identify the editions where copies are either imperfect or sophisticated.

This is the famous Bordeaux Testament, concerning which Bishop Kidder wrote his "Reflections on a French Testament" four years after its publication. Dr. Cotton, however, in his "Memoir of a French New Testament," has shown that the extraordinary corruptions of the text which occur in it are to be traced to editions of a much earlier date, the earliest known being that of Jacques Corbin, printed at Paris in 1641.

This very curious volume appears to be undescribed by bibliographers, but it is mentioned by Nagler in his "Künstler Lexicon," vol. xx., p. 500, under the article "Heinrich Vogtherr," though he erroneously dates it 1537 instead of 1527. He says (speaking also of an edition of the Old Testament illustrated by Vogtherr), "Die vielen Holzschnitte dieser seltenen Bibel sind von Vogtherr senr. Er hält die mitte zwischen Burgkmair und Holbein jun. erreichte aber keinen. Die Blätter des alten Testaments sind klein 4, die des neuen nehmen die ganze Seite ein, weil mehrere Scenen vereint sind. Das schönste Blatt bildet den Titel des neuen Testaments, und enthält das Zeichen des Meisters."

To Le Long, Jocher, and other authorities the name of Beringer as a translator or commentator on the Scriptures seems entirely unknown.

— IRISH. Tiomna Nvadh ar Dtighearna agvs ar Slanajghtheora Josa Criosd re Huilliam O Domhnuill. Dublin. 1602. 4to. BR. M.

Title, English dedication to King James, and Address to the Reader in Irish, 4 leaves; A—V in twos.

The preface is signed by William Daniell. In it he says that Queen Elizabeth "prouided the Irish Characters and other instrumentes for the Presse, in hope that God in mercy would raise vp some to translate the Newe Testament into their mother tongue. . . . Yet blessed be the memorie of such as haue giuen the first attempt to enterprise this worke, namely Maister Nicholas Walsh that famous Bishoppe and Martyr, Maister John Kearney, and Nehemias Donellan, now Archbishop of Tuame: whose godly indeuours were notwithstanding vntimely cut off in Gods secret iudgement, and the waight of the burden cast vpon my weake shoulders." Farther on the writer says that "Sir William Vsher undertooke the greatest part of the charges of this Impression."

As the title is dated 1602, and Queen Elizabeth did not die till March 24, 1603, it is clear that this preface must have been inserted some time after the book was printed.

O. M.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves ; folios 1-347 ; table and errata, 5 leaves.

The author of this translation was Franciso de Enzinas, a native of Burgos in Spain. He was born about 1520, and on the 4th of June, 1539, was entered as a student at the University of Louvain. About 1540 he went to Paris, and on the 27th of October in the following year matriculated at the University of Wittenberg. During his stay here he received the hospitality of Melanchthon, and made his principal business the translation of the New Testament into his native language. He at first submitted it to the theologians of Louvain for their approbation, but without waiting for their decision he went to Antwerp, where he had the volume printed by Stephen Mierdman (who subsequently established himself in London as a printer of Dutch and French Protestant books) at his own expense. On the 12th and 14th of November, the Emperor and the Queen of Hungary gave orders to Van de Werve, the Mayor of Antwerp, to interdict the circulation of the book, and on the 13th of December the author was arrested and thrown into prison. It has been stated that only four copies of the book are in existence, but this makes a fifth, and there are probably others in public libraries, though it is undoubtedly a volume of very great rarity.

First edition in the French language. No copy except this appears ever to have occurred for sale. M. Gustave Brunet ("La France Litt. au XV^e Siècle") says of it, "Volume probablement imprimé à Lyon. On n'en cite aucune adjudication." In Brunet's "Manuel du Libraire," vol. v., col. 802, this copy is described as having been sold at the La Vallière sale; but having the last leaf in MS. with an imaginary colophon, it was supposed by M. Brunet to be a reprint of the first edition, and he describes it as the third in order of publication. It has since been compared with the only other copy known, in the National Library at Paris, and proved to be the original edition printed at Lyons. The last leaf and folio c i have accordingly been supplied in very accurate facsimile. The volume is still in the La Vallière binding. It has subsequently belonged to Mr. Kenelm Henry Digby, the author of the "Broadstone of Honour," whose autograph is on the flyleaf.

Folio. R. M.

This copy accords exactly with the minute description given by Brunet so far as the four parts are concerned, with the exception of the general title to the "Relation du voyage du Sayd" in pt. iv. Of the rare pieces at the end it has those described by Brunet as far as the "Fragment en Espagnol sur les Iles de Salomon."

There is in the library a second copy which accords with this, except that it has not the fragment on the Solomon Islands, but has that entitled "Asganii Sassonii," &c.

Lowndes does not mention this edition. At the back of the dedication to Frederic, Prince of Wales, it is said that "This Poem having been published several Years ago, and considerable Additions made to it lately, some little Anachronisms have thence arisen, which it is hoped the Reader will excuse."

On the flyleaf of the present copy, facing the title, is the following inscription in the autograph of the Author:—

"To George Lyttelton, Esq, from the Author.

"Go, little Book, and find our Friend,
Who Nature and the Muses loves ;
Whose cares the Public Virtues blend
With all the softness of the Groves.

"A fitter time thou canst not chuse,
His fostering Friendship to repay :
Go then, and try, my Rural Muse,
To steal his widdow'd hours away."

"The Tinker hammers ovt an Epistle, to all Gentlemen, that loue Lattin, to all Strowling Tinkers ; And to All the braue Mettle-men that Trauell on the Hoofe, with a Dog and a Doxie at 's Tayle."—Dedication. This Epistle ends with a citation of many of the popular stories of that time, "Robin Hood," "Tom Thumb," "Clym of the Clough," &c.

This is a reprint of the volume published in 1590 and 1608 under the title of "The Cobler of Canterbury," and in 1614 as "The Merry Tales of the Cobler of Canterbury." It is a highly curious and entertaining work, with songs and metrical descriptions of the characters interspersed. The lines, in which a mention of Troilus occurs at pp. 34-5, appear to have been intended as an imitation of Chaucer's style.

Two or three copies only of this edition are known. Of each of those which preceded it a single one only remains. The present edition has been reprinted by Mr. Halliwell, and that of 1608 by Mr. Ouvry. In the beginning of the tract entitled "Greenes Vision," of which the authorship is not certain, but which was printed just before Greene's death in the autumn of 1592, and was disowned by him with his dying breath, it seems to be intimated that he was credited improperly with the composition of "The Cobler of Canterbury." The tract in question opens with this passage: "After I was burdened with the penning of 'the Cobler of Canterbury,' I waxed passing melancholy, as griewing that either I shold be wrong with enuy, or wronged with suspition."

Four leaves, with a postscript of six lines in verse.

Probably by Martin Parker; it is written somewhat in the style of Parker's "Harry White his Humour." From Sir Francis Freeling's collection, bound up with three other curious pieces.

TOM TELL-TRUTH. Tom Tell Troath or, A free discourse touching the manners Of the Tyme. Directed to his Majestie by way of humble advertisement. [No place, printer's name, or date, but printed in Holland, 1627.] 4to. Black letter.

A—D 3 in fours.

This is a most severe attack on James I. for the manner in which he acted towards the French Protestants, in promising assistance, and then not rendering it. The writer states that the Duke of Buckingham went down on his knees to pray for his Majesty's aid; and he adds, that the disappointed and deceived Deputies of Rochelle, declared that they would as long as they lived call England the Land of Promise.

TOM THE SHOE-MAKER. The Pleasant History of Tom the Shoo-Maker; Shewing his Birth, his Education, & Life. As also, his Travels to London, putting himself an Apprentice to a Shoo-maker. Together with his Notable witty tricks, and shifts of Knavery: Being very delightful to read in long winters nights by a Fire-side with a Cup of good Ale and Lambs-Wool. Never before Extant; being drawn out into Two Parts. Printed for I. Hose, over-against Staples-Inn in Holborn, neer Grays-Inn-Lane. 1674. Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

Twelve leaves, with a woodcut on the title.

— The Second Part of Tom the Shoo-maker, Shewing the Mad, Merry Prancks that he did in his Life Time: Full of Witty Mirth, and merry Jest: As also shewing his Sickness, Death, & Buriall. Never before Extant. Printed for J. Hose. . . . Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

Twelve leaves, with a cut on the title, which is repeated on the last page.

TOM THUMB His Life and Death. Wherein is declared many marvelous acts of man-hood, full of wonder and strange merriment, which little Knight lived in King Arthurs time in the Court of Great Britain. Printed for F. Coles, T. Vere, and J. Wright. [About 1670.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. Woodcuts. O. M.

Twelve leaves. In verse.

A reprint of the edition of 1630, and with the same cuts, omitting, however, that on the back of the title. The present copy, from the libraries of Heber, Utterson, and Daniel, is probably the only one existing of this impression. See "Bibl. Heber," part iv., No. 1743. Of the twenty-five pieces there enumerated, the greater part are now in this library, and of only two or three of them are duplicate copies known.

— The History of Tom Thumbe, the Little, for his small stature surnamed, King Arthurs Dwarf: Whose Life and adventures containe many strange and wonderfull accidents, published for the delight of merry Time-spenders. Imprinted at London for Tho: Langley. 1621. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. O. M.

A—C 3 in eights, with a woodcut on the title.

At the end occur the initials R. I., probably those of Richard Johnson, the author of the "Seven Champions of Christendom." The cut on the title is borrowed from the metrical version of the story, of which there were doubtless many editions anterior to that of 1630, the earliest at present known. The introductory chapter or preface is very interesting and curious from its allusions to the popular literature of the day, including "Garragantua," of which no English version earlier than that of 1650 is now known.

On the 13th December, 1620, John Trundle assigned to Thomas Langley, with the consent of Master Lownes, "The first and 2. parte of Tom Thombe." See Arber's "Transcript," iv., 6.

The only copy known. From the collections of Heber ("Bibl. Heber," part iv., 1743), Utterson, and Daniel.

TOM THUMB. The Famous History of Tom Thumb. Wherein is declared, His marvellous Acts of Manhood. Full of Wonder and Merriment. London: Printed for the Booksellers. [About 1790.] Sm. 8vo.

In three parts, with woodcuts.

In the present copy the original paper covers are preserved. The second and third parts were the addition of a later and inferior pen.

— The Metrical History of Tom Thumb the Little. As issued early in the eighteenth century in three parts. Edited J. O. Halliwell. London, 1860. Sm. 8vo.

Thirty copies printed.

— A Comment upon the History of Tom Thumb. . . . The Second Edition, corrected. London . . . 1711. 8vo.

A—C in fours.

Attributed to Dr. Wagstaffe, author of a similar tract on Robin Hood. The writer explains that the publication originated in his having been left in charge of the library of a school-boy, "where," he says, "amongst other undiscover'd valuable Authors, I pitch'd upon 'Tom Thumb' and 'Tom Hickathrift,' Authors indeed more proper to adorn the Shelves of Bodley or the Vatican, than to be confin'd to the Retirement and Obscurity of a private Study."

TOM TYLER. Tom Tyler and His Wife. An Excellent Old Play, as It was Printed and Acted about a hundred Years ago. Together, with an exact Catalogue of all the playes that were ever yet printed. The second Impression. London, Printed in the Year, 1661. 4to. Black letter.

The Play, A—D 2 in fours; the Catalogue, A—B in fours.

The Catalogue, which is not so exact as it professes to be, has no regular title, but opens under the following descriptive headline: "A True, perfect, and exact Catalogue of all the Comedies, Tragedies, Tragi-Comedies, Pastorals, Masques and Interludes, that were ever yet printed and published, till this present year 1661. all which you may either buy or sell at the several shops of Nath. Brook at the Angel in Cornhil, Francis Kirkman at the John Fletchers Head, on the Back-side of St. Clements, Tho. Johnson at the Golden Key in St. Pauls Churchyard, and Henry Marsh at the Princes Arms in Chancery-lane near Fleetstreet. 1661."

Here we find a record of Wager's "Cruel Debtor," of which only a single leaf remains, "Jack Juggler," "Hickscorner" (misprinted "Dick Scorner"), "Common Conditions," &c.

No earlier edition of "Tom Tyler" is now known. From Mr. Mitford's collection.

TOM TYLER. Tom Tyler and His Wife. An Excellent Old Play, as it was Printed and Acted about a hundred years ago. The second Impression. London, Printed in the Year, 1661. 4to. Black letter. R. M.

A—D 2 in fours; the Catalogue "of all the Plays that are Printed," 3 leaves.

It will be observed that in this issue the Catalogue of plays is not mentioned on the title. The list is much less elaborately and carefully compiled, and contains many errors which are not in the catalogue described above. It occupies only three leaves instead of eight.

TOMKIS, JOHN. Albvmazar. A Comedy presented before the Kings Maiesty at Cambridge. By the Gentlemen of Trinity Colledge. Newly reuised and corrected by a speciall Hand. London, Printed by Nicholas Okes 1634. 4to.

A—D 2 in fours. In verse.

There was an edition in 1625, from which Mr. Grosart has republished the work in his Miscellanies, with a preface, pointing out that it is curious and valuable in connection with the Reformation. From Mr. Corser's library.

TUNDAL. The Visions of Tundale; together with Metrical Moralisations and other Fragments of Early Poetry, hitherto inedited. Edinburgh, 1843. 8vo. Printed on vellum. BL. M.

Pp. xii + 164, besides a frontispiece.

The only copy printed on vellum. Inserted is the original autograph of the dedicatory letter from Mr. Turnbull, the Editor, to Mr. Eyton.

Mr. Turnbull's Introduction contains a critical and bibliographical notice of the chief MSS. and printed editions of the Legend of the Visions of Tundal, which occupies the greater part of the volume.

TUNGANO. Twelve leaves. Above the title is a woodcut, the whole enclosed in a border.

Señor Salvá believed his copy of this precious volume to be unique, never having (he says) found any mention of another. The book appears to have been so popular in the fifteenth century that it was printed in Latin, German, and Dutch several times. One of the earliest Latin editions was printed without place or date, but evidently from the press of Reyser of Eichstadt about 1472, and a German edition was printed at Augsburg in 1473. Though translated into English at an early period, it appears to have remained in MS. until printed by Mr. Turnbull in 1843. The English version is in metre, and according to it, Tundale, who in the Spanish is turned into "Don Tungano," was an Irishman. It is remarkable that all the old printed editions, whether in Latin, German, Dutch, or Spanish, are of very great rarity. According to M. Delepierre, who printed a French version in 1837, the legend dates from the twelfth century.

It is suggested by Panzer that the unique copy of the Revelation to the Monk of Evesham, in the British Museum, is in fact a translation of this book ; but a comparison of the two works has proved them to be entirely distinct.

Dedicated to the "Ladie Anne, Countess Warwick," whose crest is at the end of the Table. See "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," No. 758, and Mr. Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," ii., 446-50.

Of the present volume there were at least three editions. Of the first, printed before 1567, but the exact date of which is unknown, only a fragment remains ; the second appeared in 1567, and survives in a single copy, deficient of a leaf, in the Bodleian ; the third was in 1570, as above described ; and the present is the only perfect copy yet discovered. Another, in indifferent state, and wanting the last leaf of table, was in Farmer's library, again in the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica," and again in "Bibl. Corser," Part 7, No. 363. The Bodleian copy of the edition of 1567 formerly belonged to Edward Alleyn, and was obtained by Malone from Dulwich College. It has been reprinted by Mr. Collier, the missing leaf supplied from the later impression. Like the copy of 1570, it purports on the title to have been "newly corrected, with additions," and in the dedication the author distinctly alludes to the earlier book.

This copy is in the old sheep binding, and as clean and fresh as when issued.

— The Booke of Faulconrie or Hauking, for the onely delight and pleasure of all Noblemen and Gentlemen : Collected out of the best authours, as well Italians as Frenchmen, and some English practises

The Contentes whereof shall more playnely appeare in the Page next folowyng. [Colophon.] Imprinted by Henry Bynneman, for Christopher Barker. [1575.] In 1 vol. 4to. Black letter. Woodcuts. G. M.

“The Booke of Falconrie” consists of: Title and preliminaries, 6 leaves; A—Aa 4 in eights, the last leaf with the errata only. After the epistle dedicatory to Ambrose, Earl of Warwick, come the list of authors used, some verses by Ro. Baynes, “in the behalfe of the Writer,” and two leaves of poetry by Turberville “In commendation of Hawking.” At the end Turberville has a metrical “Epilogue vnto the Reader,” in twelve stanzas of seven lines each.

“The Noble Art of Venerie” contains: Title, 1 leaf; dedication by the publisher to Sir Henry Clinton, Lord Clinton and Saye, Master of the Hart Hounds to the Queen, 1 leaf; The Translator to the Reader, dated “from my chamber this xvi. of Iune, 1575,” and commendatory verses by George Gascoigne and “T. M. Q.” in prayse of this booke. 3 leaves; A—Q 4 in eights; and “The measures of Blowing,” 2 leaves marked †. N 6 is cancelled, and 2 leaves marked a are substituted, as pointed out by Herbert, p. 977.

From the fact that commendatory verses by George Gascoigne are prefixed to “The Noble Art of Venerie,” and on account of the strong resemblance of the verses throughout the volume to those found in Gascoigne’s acknowledged books, Mr. Hazlitt has inserted the whole of these verses in his edition of Gascoigne’s works.

TURBERVILLE, GEORGE. The Booke of Falconrie or Hawking. . . . At London, Printed for Thomas Purfoot. An. Dom. 1611. The Noble Art of Venerie or Hunting. . . . At London, Printed for Thomas Purfoot. An. Dom. 1611. In 1 vol. 4to. Woodcuts. R.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves; A—Aa 3 in eights. The Art of Venerie. Title and preliminaries, 3 leaves; A—Q 4 in eights, except N, which has 10 leaves; R 2 leaves. In this edition the portrait of King James is substituted in the woodcuts for that of Q. Elizabeth.

TURN APACE, turn apace: or, The money-mills must be kept going: The Millers at Westminster, the Grist-bearers, the Mill-horses of the City, the Grindstones Rebellion, Tyranny, Oppression. TURNER, WILLIAM. A cōparison betwene the Olde learnynge & the Newe. Translated out of latin in Englysh by Wyliam Turner. Prynted in Sowthwarke by me James Nicolsō, Anno. 1537. Sm. 8vo. Black letter. B. L. M.

A—G in eights; ✕, four leaves. The title is within a woodcut compartment. From Mr. Maskell's collection.

— A newe Dialogue VVherin is conteyned the examinatio of the Messe and of that kind of priesthode, whiche is ordeyned to saye messe: and to offer vp for remission of synne, the body & bloud of Christe againe. Beluee not euery spirit, but trye the spirites, whether they be of God or no: for manye false prophets are gone into the world. Imprinted at London by Jhon Day and William Seres, dwelling in Sepulchres Parish at the signe of the Resurrectiō a little aboue Holbourne Conduite. Cum gratia &c. [About 1550.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter.

A—G in eights.

On the back of the title are "The names of the speakers in thys Dialogue," beneath which are some verses, headed "The Messe speaketh." Dr. Turner, in his Address to the Reader, observes: "Al though it be not belongyng vnto my profession to dispute, of matters of diuinitie which am a Phisician: yet extreme necessitie requiryng, I am compelled to do in this kinde of warre as coblers, shomakers, masons, carpētres and al other mē of handy occupations are cōpelled to doo, whē theyr city is besiged that is to take wepens in theyr handes and become warriars whiche haue had lytle or no experience of ware before."

This very rare volume, described by Warton as "a poem," and by Ritson as "partly in verse," is, with the unimportant exception above named, entirely in prose.

BR. M.*

A—N in eights, except that M has only 4 leaves.

This book was really printed abroad, probably at Basle; it is dedicated by Turner, under the name of Wraghton, to Henry VIII. On the back of the title are ten lines of verse beneath a woodcut of a fox bearing a crosier in his paws. The verses are headed: "The bannished fox of rome speaketh."

— The Huntynge of the Romyshe Vuolfe, made by Vuylliam Turner doctour of Phisik. Take hede of false Prophetes/ whiche come vnto you in Shepes clothyng/ but wythin/ are rauenyng Wolues. [No place, printer's name, or date.] Sm. 8vo. Black letter. R.

A—F 4 in eights.

From the collections of Herbert and Heber. On A iii verso occur eighteen lines of verse, headed "The Romyshe Foxe/ latelye returned into Englande agayne speaketh." The volume was probably printed at Basle about 1554.

— A new Boke of the natures and properties of all Wines that are commonlye vsed here in England, with a confutation of an errour of some men, that holde, that Rhennish and other small white wines ought not to be drunken of them that either haue, or are in danger of the stone, the reume, and diuers other diseases, made by William Turner, doctor of Phisicke. Whervnto is annexed the booke of the natures and vertues of Triacles, newly corrected and set foorth againe by the sayde William Turner. *Imprynted at London, by William Seres. Anno. 1568. Sm. 8vo. Part 1 : *, 3 leaves ; table, 1 leaf ; A—T 4 in sixes, except C, which has eight leaves ; errata, 2 leaves. Dedicated to Queen Elizabeth. Part 2 : Title and table, 2 leaves ; A—Ff 4 in sixes ; Gg, 2 leaves, containing the errata. Part 3 : Title, dedication, and table, 4 leaves ; Aaa—Ggg 5 in sixes ; "The Book of the Baths," B—D 5 in sixes, besides *, 4 leaves, with the title and a preface dated from Basle, 10 March, 1557 ; then follows, "A most excellent and perfecte homish apothecarye or homely physicke booke, for all the grefes and diseases of the bodye." Translated out of the Almaigne speche into English by Jhon hollybush. Imprinted at Collen by Arnold Birckman/ In the yeare of our Lord 1561, a—h 3 in sixes. The "Homish Apothecary" was originally printed to accompany the 1562 edition of Turner's "Herbal," parts 1 and 2, but is usually annexed also to that of 1568, there having been only a single impression.

The dedicatory epistle to the Queen, exposing the ignorance and incapacity of the medical practitioners of the period, is republished entire in the volume of "Prefaces, Dedications, &c." 1874.

The translator was T.[homas] P.[rice], who dedicates his work to our Lady of Loreto, and secondly to Mistress M. B.

TUSSER, THOMAS. Fiue hundreth points of good husbandry vnited to as many of good huswiferie, first deuised, & nowe lately augmented with diuerse approued lessons concerning hopps & gardening, and other nedeful matters, together with an abstract before euery moneth, conteining the whole effect of the sayd monethe with a table & a preface in the beginning both necessary to be reade, for the vnderstanding of the booke. Set forth by Thomas Tusser gentleman, seruant to the honorable Lord Paget of Beudesert. Imprinted at London in Flete strete within Temple barre, at the signe of the Hand & starre, by Rycharde Tottell. anno. 1577. Cum priuilegio. 4to. Black letter.

A—Bb in fours.

The dedications and preface, as well as the work itself, are in verse. This is an edition of the greatest rarity. A copy is in the British Museum. The first issue of the two parts, the "Husbandry" and "Housewifery," together, was in 1562; but no separate edition of the latter is known to exist. It is supposed that the book licensed to Thomas Hacket in 1561 was the first edition of the treatise on Housewifery, but no copy of it is now known. From the library of Mr. Corser.

— Fiue hundred pointes of good Husbandrie, as well for the Champion, or open countrie, as also for the woodland, or Seuerall, mixed in euerie Month with Huswiferie, ouer and besides the booke of Huswiferie, corrected, better ordered, and newly augmented to a fourth part more, with diuers other lessons. . . . TUVILL, DANIEL. Essayes, Morall and Theologicall. London Printed by I. W. for Eleazar Edgar, and are to be sold at his Shop at the Wind-mill in Pauls Church-yard. 1609. Sm. 8vo.

A, 6 leaves, but title on A 2; B—M 4 in twelves, M 4 having only the colophon.

As some question has been made as to the authorship of these and the other volume of Essays by Tuvill in 1608, even to the extent of ascribing the initials D. T. to George Turbervile, it may be worth while to note that on the 19th April, 1613, Eleazar Edgar assigned to John Hodgets, among other matters, "a half parte of master Tuvalls essayes." See Arber, iii., 237.

TWENTIETH CENTURY. Memoirs of the Twentieth Century. Being Original Letters of State under George the Sixth: Relating to the most Important Events in Great-Britain and Europe, as to Church and State, Arts and Sciences, Trade, Taxes, and Treaties, Peace, and War: And Characters of the Greatest Persons of those Times; From the middle of the Eighteenth to the End of the Twentieth Century. . . . In Six volumes. Vol. I. London. . . . 1733. 8vo.

Pp. x-527, with a portrait of Frederick, Prince of Wales. A satirical work.

"A book of the most extreme rarity, and of which not more than two copies besides the present are in existence; all but that number being destroyed as soon as they issued from the press. It is called the first volume in the title; but it is not supposed that any more were intended. See some curious particulars concerning the author and his book in Nichols's 'Literary Anecdotes.'"—Note in Midgley's Catalogue, 1818, p. 41. See further Davis's "First Journey round the Library of a Bibliomaniac," 1821, p. 65. There are certainly more copies in existence than the writer of the note in Midgley's catalogue supposed.

This is printed in the same type as "The Prophete Jonas" described below, and was no doubt printed at Antwerp by Martin Empeureur, during Tindal's residence in that city. A copy is in the British Museum, but not more than two or three are known.

This original edition is just mentioned by Lowndes, but he gives no particulars or description of it.

A comparison of the types employed in this book with those used in "The prairer and complaynte of the plowman vnto Christ," described in this Catalogue under "Ploughman," proves clearly that both works proceeded from the same press. The same types are also found in "The Prophete Jonas" described below.

TYROS RORING MEGGE. Planted against the walles of Melancholy. One Booke cut into two Decads. Vno die consenui. At London Printed by Valentine Simmes. 1598. 4to.

A—G 2 in fours. In verse and prose.

The title above given refers only to the first 11 leaves of the present volume, which contain the two leaves of epigrams, dedicated to Master John Lucas in three 6-line stanzas, which is followed by a prose address to the Courteous Reader, an epigram "In Zoilistam," and some lines headed "Recentibus Salem Plurimum & Salutem." On the last leaf of C occurs a new title-page: "Tyronis Epistolæ: Siue Mus rampant in agro aureo. Liber vnus in duas Decades partitus. Capilli curis semicani. Londini, Ex Officina Valentini Sims. 1598." This portion, which is dedicated to the same person as the first part, Master John Lucas, is entirely in Latin, and is mostly in prose; it occupies 10 leaves. On F 2 we have a third title: "The meane in Spending: Promising, Prayse Pittie, Mischiefe, to the Liberall, Prodigall, Couetous. Præstat esse Prometheus quam Epimetheus. At London Printed by Valentine Simmes. 1598." This, which is in prose, and occupies five leaves altogether, concludes the volume, of which the present is believed to be the only perfect copy existing.

From Mr. Daniel's library, having formerly belonged to George Steevens. It is strange that Mr. Daniel should have overlooked the circumstance that the copy described in "Bibl. Heber.," part 4, No. 2831, contained only parts 1 and 2, which indeed was evidently also the case with the copy seen by Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," ii., 456-7.) The book is curious from its allusions to George-a-Green, Sir John Harrington, Raleigh's recent voyage to Guiana, &c.

The real author is not known, but it is clear that he was a Cambridge undergraduate.

BY HENRY HUTH, WITH COLLATIONS AND BIBLIOGRAPHICAL
DESCRIPTIONS.

“L'étude de la bibliographie, si aride en apparence pour qui ne la considère que superficiellement, est loin, pour qui l'examine de plus près, d'être dépourvue d'un certain charme; elle offre à l'esprit observateur bien des faits curieux, bien des anecdotes piquantes, bien des rapprochements singuliers. Voilà pourquoi sans doute plusieurs hommes de lettres distingués, des poètes même, se sont livrés à cette étude avec autant d'ardeur que de succès.”—BRUNET.

OF HENRY HUTH.

UBALDINI, PETRUCCI. [Liber precum.] [About 1580.] Sm. 8vo.

MS. on paper written in a beautiful Italian hand with gilt capitals. In the original but worn binding.

This volume appears from the initials E. R. surmounted by a crown, which are illuminated on the first two leaves, to have belonged to Queen Elizabeth, and was probably presented to her by the author, who was an Italian Protestant refugee. He was the author of "Le Vite delle donne illustri del regno d'Inghilterra e del regno di Scotia &c. G. Wolf. 1591." 4to, and some other pieces.

UBEDA, FRANCISCO DE. Libro de entretenimiento, de la picara Ivstina, en el qual debaxo de graciosos discursos, se encierran prouechosos auisos. En Brucellas, En casa de Oliuero Brunello, en la Fuente de oro. Año M.D.C.VIII. Sm. 8vo.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves; A—Ff 4 in eights, the last leaf blank. Brunet must be mistaken in describing the title to this book as engraved on wood. In this copy at least it is letterpress. From the library of Bishop Burnet, with his bookplate at the back of the title.

UBERTI, LUC. ANT. Libro Dabaco che insegna a fare ogni ragione mercadãtile; ⁊ a ptegarẽ le terre cõ larte di la geometria: ⁊ a lire nobilissime ragione straordinarie cõ la Tariffa come respõdeno li pen ⁊ monede de molte terre del mõdo con la inclita citta di Vinegia. A satire in verse. The Answer is explanatory of the satirical meaning of the first portion.

UNFORTUNATE JACK. The Second Part of Unfortunate Jack.

Jack comes once upon the Stage,
And shews the People of the Age,
His Fortunes and his discontent,
And finally his banishment.
And whatsoever of him I hear,
I purpose to you to declare,
Being full of honest mirth and wit,
The merriest Book that e'er was writ.

London: Printed by and for C. B. and sold by C. Bates at the Sun and Bible in Gilt-spur-street. [About 1675.] Sm. 8vo. G. M.

A—B 4 in eights. In verse. Woodcut on title.

The first part of this History appeared under the title of "The Unfortunate Son; Or, A Kind Wife is worth Gold." A copy, the only one yet noticed, is in the Pepysian library. In the same collection occurs a copy of the second part, sm. 8vo., 1681. But "a Pamphlett called the vnfortunate Sonne" was licensed to Richard Harper on the 10th August, 1635. See Arber, iv., 318.

URQUHART, SIR THOMAS. Epigrams, Divine and Morall. By Sir Thomas Vrchard, Knight. London, Printed for William Leake, and are to be sold at his Shop in Chancery-Lane nere the Roules. 1646. 4to. R. M.

A—I in fours, the first and last leaves blank.

These Epigrams were originally published in 1641, and the present edition is nothing more than the unsold copies of that impression with a new title-page. The volume is dedicated to the Marquis of Hamilton in an Epistle, with some of the terms of which Mr. Collier ("Bibliogr. Catalogue," ii., 460) very properly finds fault. The author, Sir Thomas Urchard, or Urquhart, of Cromarty, is well known as the earliest translator of Rabelais into English.

In the present copy is the usual full length portrait, by Glover, with an English couplet beneath it, signed "W. S.;" but an infinitely rarer engraving (also by Glover) is inserted, which represents a full length figure of the author seated on Parnassus, surrounded by the Muses, two of whom are about to crown him with garlands. The winged horse Pegasus hovers over his head. The impression of the usual full length portrait has some inscriptions which do not appear on it as issued with the edition of 1641. From Dr. Bliss's collection. A MS. note states that he had never heard of a second impression of the extra frontispiece inserted in this copy.

There is also in the library a fine tall copy of the Epigrams of the issue of 1646 (from the collections of Bindley and Skegg), with the print in the first state, dated 1641, and also a duplicate of the plate as altered, inserted since Bindley's time.

Part 1 : A—G in fours, besides a half title. Part 2 : A—F in fours.

From the collections of Mr. Tyrrell and Sir W. Tite, and the only complete copy of both parts known. It was from this copy that M. Berjeau made his reprint. The dates between brackets given above are inserted on each title in the handwriting of Narcissus Luttrell, by whom the two tracts were doubtless purchased at the period of publication, as in the same hand we have the price given, i. e. 5*d.* for each portion.

The copy referred to by Sir W. Tite, in an autograph note on the flyleaf, as being in the possession of a country clergyman, was only an imperfect one of the first part.

"Every leaf (amounting to upwards of one hundred) is decorated by a woodcut of the sign of some well-known tipping establishment, many of which are known by the same sign at the present day, while underneath the qualities of the liquors are rehearsed, and the names of the guzzlers or frequenters rendered, their drinking capabilities being faithfully recorded in verse ; the names given to many of the London drinks have fallen into oblivion or disuse, while numerous houses, mentioned as being well-frequented, no longer exist."—*Note in Sir W. “ First edition, of the very highest rarity and geographical importance. Unknown to HARRISSE, who says, under 1515, “ We find under this date in Maittaire (“ Annales,” vol. ii., pt. 1, p. 267): Rudolphus Agricola junioris ad Joachimum Vadianum Epistola de locorum nonnullorum obscuritate cum Joach. Vadiani Epistolâ responsoriâ. 4to., but we are unable to state whether the Epistle of Vadianus mentioned in that work is the same which entitles the various editions of Pomponius Mela by Vadianus to a place in this compilation.” With the exception of the Letters of Columbus and Vespucci, and the first Decade of Peter Martyr of 1511, we know of no other single publication up to 1515 comparable with this in point of historical and geographical interest, so far as the new discoveries affect the geography of the ancients and are interpreted by it. We neither forget nor undervalue the Ptolemy of 1508 (with its extraordinary map by Johan Ruysch, and “ The New Description of the World” by Beneventanus), nor the editions of 1511 and 1513, nor the geographical work of Schoner this same year. This little book of Vadianus was suggested and edited by his friend Rudolphus Agricola, who addresses his Dedicatory Letter to Caspar Ursinus. Then follows Agricola’s Letter to Vadianus (omitted in the Pomponius Mela of 1518, where this letter of Vadianus is reprinted in full) in which, after some pleasant gossip, Agricola asks him to explain a passage in Pliny about the Pygmies, a line in Persius—and thirdly, to give his opinion about the Antipodes, which, he says, are denied by Lactantius, Firmianus, and Augustine ; while Pliny, Pomponius, Strabo, Macrobius, and many others do not deny them, although they speak differently about them. He adds that Laurentius Corvinus, his beloved preceptor, agrees with the Moderns, but he himself does not know what to do between the Fathers and the learned authorities. He then says : “ It has not escaped me with what diligence you have promised the books of Pomponius Mela de situ orbis to the studious next Summer.” Agricola’s Letter is dated September, 1514. In a postscript, he asks questions about Lake Acronius, a passage in Lucan, &c.

In his answer to Agricola’s Letter, Vadianus, after replying to the first two queries, has a very long dissertation upon the Antipodes, whose existence he demonstrates in a variety of ways, telling Agricola that he ought to be as certain that there are Antipodes as that he has fingers and nails. He enters at length on the question of the relative latitude and longitude of Antipodes in different parts, &c. He demolishes the old objection of people walking with their heads downwards by saying that everything tends to the centre of gravity [and this two centuries before the fall of Newton’s apple, and the new birth of the doctrine of gravitation.] He refutes Augustine and Lactantius at length. He says that to get to Catagara its Antipodes will be in Western Africa, near the Sinus Hesperius, but that the inhabitants of America have their Antipodes much more to this side. He also says he will write more about the Periæci in his Annotations (Prænotamentis) to Pomponius. Throughout the treatise he seems well acquainted with the progress of discovery by the Portuguese and Spanish, and is acquainted with all the books printed relative to them. He adopts without hesitation the suggestion of the Gymnasium of St. Dié, and calls the Mundus Novus (that is Brazil) America, without explanation or qualification. It is not a little singular that this original special edition is not noticed by any geographers or bibliographers who have written about America, though Humboldt, D'Avezac, and many others have used with effect the reprint of it at the end of the Pomponius Mela, 1518."—MS. note by Mr. H. Stevens.

VADIANUS, JOACHIMUS. A, 6 leaves ; Aa, 6 leaves ; Bb—Cc, 4 leaves each ; B—Z in sixes ; &, 5 leaves.

Facing p. 1 of the text is a large folding woodcut map, "Typus cosmographicus universalis. Tiguri Anno M.D.XXXIII." We here find America marked, but it is represented as an island somewhat in the shape of that portion of the continent now known as South America. There are in the book also two large woodcut initial letters, representing Elisha, and Christ clearing the Temple, which are evidently from designs by Holbein.

In the printer's preface, addressed "To the Reader," we are told "The History here written, was translated out of French into English above 100 years ago, by one Henry Watson, and since that time it hath by him been Corrected, and put into a more plysant stile, and so followed on to the Presse till this present Edition."

In Lowndes it is said that four leaves of an edition printed by Wynkyn de Worde are in the Duke of Devonshire's library, but of the identity of this edition there is no certainty.

In the "Bibliotheca Heber.," pt. ix., Nos. 3111 and 3112, are two editions printed by W. Coplande, with variations in the colophon, and of the second of these another copy was sold in Mr. Corser's library, pt. 7, No. 369. The next edition on record is that entered in the Stationers' Register, Arber's "Transcript," ii., p. 210, "8 Augusti [1586] Thomas Purfoote. Received of him for printinge the olde Booke of VALENTINE and ORSON vi^d. ALWAIES PROVIDED that y^e companie shall haue them at his handes." We know of no other edition till 1637, and then followed that described above.

VALTAN, PETRUS LUDOVICUS. Ad honorem Trinitatis immense Patrem et Filii et Spiritus Sancti Unius Dei. Petri Ludovici Valte Andegavensis Archidiaconi. Super qualibet dictione Symboli Apostolici. Opusculum quoddam incipit. Quod Sacre Theologie Parisii presentatum: fidei Catholice consonum approbatum est. Sm. Folio.

MS. on twenty-three leaves of vellum.

This volume contains, as will be seen from the foregoing title, a commentary on the Apostles' Creed. It is an admirable example both of calligraphy and illumination. Each word of the Creed is written in blue on a beautifully designed scroll and beneath each scroll are six lines of Latin verse, beginning always with the word on the scroll above. The first verse runs:—

"Credo fide militanti
Vera certa et constanti
In te unum summum deum
Orans ut animum meum
In hac fide tuearis
Pro salute."

The first page is occupied with an exquisite miniature of St. Peter, seated at a desk writing his Gospel, within a beautifully designed architectural border. The miniatures of the other Apostles are arranged throughout the book in the following unusual order : St. Andrew, St. James the Great, St. John, St. Thomas, St. James the Less, St. Philip, St. Bartholomew, St. Matthew, St. Simon, St. Jude, St. Matthias.

In the year 1500 this beautiful volume was presented by the author to Isabella, Queen of Spain, to whom the author addresses the following preface:—

“Excellentissime potentissime et serenissime Principi Elisabeth dei gratia Regine Castellæ Aragonū Sicilie Granate &c. Petrus Ludovicus de valtā, patria cathalanus, andegauēsis archidiaconus, christianissimi Regis Franciæ impresentia hic legatus. Cum humillima atque debita obedientia Salutem Didici Regina excellentissima inter cetera memoratu digna que Regiis tuis moribus atque nomini plurimum venerationis acquirunt : te latine lingue peritiam (quo altius et terebrantius que fidei sunt valeas adipisci) nō diu est, fuisse consecutam. Et huius rei gratia, in latinis operibus lectitandis haud parum sepenumero delectari quod profecto non minus credendum mihi quam admirabile visum est. Noui enim his diebus inter agendum et tua cum Serenitate super negociis ipsius legationis communicandū qua bonitate, qua fide, quo sermone cuius tandem ingenii claritate decoreris.

“Quamobrem non miretur precor Tua Maiestas : nec cuique omnium indecens quoquo pacto probetur : Si presens opusculum de apicibus sumē Trinitatis elaboratum, Tibi q̄ q̄ mulieri presentatum iri decreverim Scio Maiestatem tuam in ipso tuo genere muliebri : et viris equipollere litteratis et omnia que ad fidei religionē spectāt, maxima cum devotione rimari. Vale Regina Serenissima mulierum nostri temporis omnium precipua. Ex amenissimo suburbano Granate. xiii^o. kalē Decembres anno dominice natiuitatis et sacri iubilæi Millesimo Quingentesimo.”

VALTELLINE. Alla Maesta Christianissima. Il clero, et cattolici di Valtellina. [Senz' alcuna data.] 4to. R. M.

A—D iii and A—D ii, besides the second title.

Two memorials for the extirpation of “Heretics” (Waldenses) in the Valtelline. They are unnoticed by Muston (“Bibliographie des Vaudoises”) or other bibliographers. They were printed about 1623.

[VALTURIUS (ROBERTUS) de re militari libri XII. ad Sigism. Pandulfum Malatestam, edente P. Ramusio.] [Colophon.] Johannes ex uerona oriundus : Nicolai cyrugię medici filius : Artis impressorię magister : hunc de re militari librum elegantissimum : litteris & figuratis signis sua in patria primus impressit. An. M.CCCCLXXII. Folio. Woodcuts. R. M.

This volume consists of 262 leaves, including 4 leaves of table and 3 blank leaves, two of which follow the table, and the other forms folio 176. It is impossible to give a more exact collation, as the book is not only without folios, signatures, or catchwords, but a great many leaves consist of single woodcuts, and in others the text is complete at the end of the page, and does not run on to the next. The only means of exact collation therefore is to compare one copy with another. The engravings are extremely curious, and the figures, where they occur, are drawn with very great spirit. They are ascribed to Matteo Pasti of Verona, see Nagler, “Künstler-Lexicon,” vol. ii.

Title and preliminaries, 8 leaves, the last blank ; folios 1-178 ; table, 4 leaves.

Though this author is unnoticed by any other bibliographer, a long list of his writings is given by Antonio, who describes this book as printed at Madrid in 1626, but as the approbation and licence to print are dated January 20, 1628, it appears probable that this is the first edition.

A—H 4 in eights.

Dedicated "To the Vertvovs Ladies and Gentlewomen Readers of these Ditties." Here the author says that his original intention was not to commit his poems to the press, but that having shown them to a friend, and having been urged to make them public, he had not only done so, but had made additions to the original collection; and he asks his lady readers to procure some skilful musician to set them to proper tunes.

The only other perfect copies known are three: in the Bodleian, at Britwell (formerly Heber's), and Mr. Addington's, purchased at Corser's sale, Mr. Corser having obtained it at Pickering's sale in 1854. The Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica copy was not complete.

There can be no doubt that the book was executed by the same printer who issued Verstegan's "Restitution of Decayed Intelligence" in 1605; the typographical ornaments are exactly similar.

[VERSTEGAN, R.] A Restitvtion of Decayed Intelligence : In antiquities. Concerning the most noble and renowned English nation. By the studie and trauaile of R. V. Brunet has given a collation of these pieces, which is correct except as to the first, to which he assigns only fifty-seven leaves instead of fifty-eight. The copy he saw probably wanted the first or dedicatory leaf, which is blank on the recto. There being no signatures or catchwords its absence would not easily be detected.

VICARS, JOHN. Mischeefes Myserie : or, Treasons Masterpeece, The Powder-plot. Inuented by hellish Malice, prevented by heauenly Mercy : truely related. And from the Latine of the learned and reuerend Doctour Herring translated, and very much dilated. By Iohn Vicars. London, Printed by E. Griffin, dwelling in the Little Olde Bayly neere the signe of the Kings head. 1617. 4to.

¶, 4 leaves ; A—P in fours. In two parts, with separate titles, but continuous signatures. In stanzas of six lines.

This is an expansion of Herring's "Pietas Pontificia," printed in Latin verse in 1606 and 1609. It is dedicated by Vicars to Sir John Lemmon, Lord Mayor, Sir W. Craven, President of Christ's Hospital, the Treasurer, Mr. Richard Heath, and all the Governors of that Institution. There are commendatory verses by Thomas Salisbury, Joshua Sylvester, N.B. (Nicholas Breton?), &c. On the title to the first part is a woodcut which represents an eagle [Lord Monteagle] bringing a letter in its beak to King James, seated on his throne ; the title to the second part has a cut representing the discovery of "Infernal Fauks."

— Babel's Balm : or the Honey-combe of Romes Religion. With A neate draining and straining-out of the rammish Honey thereof. Sung in tenne most elegant Elegies in Latine, by that most worthy Christian Satyryst, Master George Good-winne. And Translated into tenne English Satyres, by the Muses most vnworthy Echo, Iohn Vicars. Augustine, Pride hath an appetite of Vnitie and Omnipotency. Imprinted at London by George Purslowe for Nathanaell Browne, and are to be sold at his Shop, at the vpper end of the long Walke neere Little S. Bartholomews. 1624. 4to.

C, 4 leaves, title on C 2; A—B 2 in fours; C—Q in fours.

Dedicated to William, Earl of Pembroke, in verse. Goodwin's dedication in prose to Sir Robert Nanton is retained and translated. An acrostic on Goodwin's name follows, then some more verses by Vicars, and some complimentary lines by Thomas Salisbury.

VICARS, JOHN. Englands Remembrancer, or, A thankfull acknowledgment of Parliamentary Mercies to our English-Nation. Wherein is contained a breife enumeration of all, or the most of Gods free favours and choise Blessings multiplied on us since this Parliament first began. By Iohn Vicars. London, Printed for Thomas Underhill, and are to be sold at the Bible in Wood-street. M.DC.XLI. 4to.

Four leaves. In verse. With marginal notes.

— A Looking-Glasse for Malignants: or, Gods hand against God-haters. Containing A most terrible yet true relation of the many and fearefull personall examples (in these present times, since the yeere 1640.) of Gods most evident and immediate wrath against our malevolent Malignants. Together with a Caveat for Cowards and unworthy, (either timorous or treacherous) Newters. Collected For Gods honour, and the ungodlies horroure, by John Vicars. [Quotations.] London, Printed for John Rothwell, at the signe of the Sunne in Pauls Church-yard. 1643. 4to. The edges uncut.

A—F in fours, title on A 2.

Dedicated to Sir John Wollastone, Lord Mayor of London, and to Lady Wollastone.

— Magnalia Dei Anglicana. Or, England's Parliamentary Chronicle. Containing a full and faithfull Series, and Exact Narration of all the most memorable Parliamentary Mercies, and mighty (if not miraculous) Deliverances, great and glorious Victories, and admirable Successes, of the Counsels and Armies of this present Parliament, both by Sea and by Land . . . Collected chiefly for the high Honour of our Wonder working God; and for the unexpressible Comfort of all Cordiall English Parliamentarians. By the most unworthy Admirer of Them, John Vicars. [Quotation from Gen. xlix. 22-4.] Imprinted at London for J. Rothwell . . . and Tho. Underhill . . . 1646. 4to. R.

In four parts. Parts 1-2: A—Mmm in fours, besides the general title to the volume as above. Part 3 ("God's Arke," &c.): A—Ss 3 in fours, title on A 2. Part 4: title and dedications, 3 leaves; , 4 leaves; , 3 leaves, containing a Paraphrase of the Song of Moses; B—Dd in fours; Aaa—Gggg 3 in fours. The last leaf of part 2 contains anagrams and epigrams on the Governor and Mayor of Gloucester, omitted in their right place.

— A Sight of y Trans-actions of these latter yeares Emblemized with engrauen plats which men may read with out Spectacles. Are to be sould by Thomas Jenner in his shop at the old Exchange. [1645.] 4to. O.M.

A—D in fours, including the engraved title. There are several copper-plates on the letterpress.

The last event mentioned in the text is of the 5th April, 1645. At the end occurs : " Collected by John Vicars."

VICARS, JOHN. England's Worthies. Under whom all the Civill and Bloudy Warres since Anno 1642, to Anno 1647, are related. Wherein are described the severall Battails, Encounters, and Assaults of Cities, Townes, and Castles at severall times and Places; so that the Reader may behold the time, yeare, and event of every Battle, Skirmish and Assault. Wherein London-Apprentices had not the least share. As Also, Severall Victories, by Sea by the Noble Admirall, Robert Earle of Warwick. [Quotations from Heb. ii. and Psal. xlv. 3.] London, Printed for J. Rothwell at the Sun and Fountain in Pauls Churchyard, 1647. Sm. 8vo.

A—G 7 in eights. A duplicate leaf, A 2, is inserted in this copy with a brilliant impression of the portrait of the Earl of Essex and a variation in the inscription.

This volume contains eighteen portraits, some of which are by W. Hollar, all on the letterpress. From Sir W. Tite's collection.

VICTOR, SEXTUS AURELIUS. Historia Romana cum notis variorum. Traj. ad Rhenum. 1696. 8vo.

— Corn. Nepos. Vom Ursprunge des Römischen Reiches, den sieben Königen wie die regiert, auch wie sie zuletzt vertrieben seind worden, vnd das Burgermaisterthumb angefangen. Jac. Cammerlander von Mentz.* [1535.] Folio. Woodcuts.

Fifty-six leaves.

The first named work, though described as Cornelius Nepos, is in fact a translation of Aurelius Victor.

VIES DES PHILOSOPHES. 4to.

MS. of French execution, written on sixty-eight leaves of vellum. Probably executed about the end of the fifteenth century. It contains the lives of twenty of the Greek philosophers, beginning with Solon and ending with Theophrastus. At the beginning of each life is a conventional portrait of the subject of the biography, well executed in gold and colours.

At the end of the book is the inscription, "Ce lyure est amoy, Gaillarde," and on the fly-leaf, "Ce presant liure est de berthelemy Pancatier." It was subsequently in the collection of Sir W. Tite.

a—f in eights ; g & h, 6 leaves each.

On a r is a large woodcut representing "Galienus," "Brunellus," and a Fool who holds up to Brunellus (represented as an ass) a mirror in which his head is reflected. Both the Grenville copy, and that described by Brunet, must from the description of them be deficient of this leaf. Brunet speaks of this edition as printed by Koelhoff of Cologne about 1480, but the presence of a title would make 1490 a more probable date.

[VIGELLUS, SEU NIGELLUS WIRECKER.] Brunellus Vigelli, & Vetula Ovidii. Seu: Opuscula duo Auctorum Incertorum, Prius quidem Vigelli qui fertur, Speculum Stultorum; Posterius verò libri tres de Vetula Ovidii, falsò sic dicti . . . Anno clbclxii. Wolferbyti Typis Sterniis. Sm. 8vo.

The ninth of May. Beeing a Gentlewoman named Margret Vincent, wife of Mr. James Vincent, of the same Towne. With her Examination, Confession and true discouery of a[ll the] proceedings in the said bloody accident. Whereunto is added Andersons Repentance, [who] was executed at Tiburne the 18. of May being Whitson-Eve. 1[616.] Written in the time of his prisonment in Newgate. [London, 1616.] 4to.

A—C in fours. A large woodcut on the title.

The narrative of the murder is in prose, and printed in black letter; the Repentance of William Anderson is in roman letter, in stanzas of 6 lines.

The only copy known. The imprint has been cut off from the bottom of the title. On the last leaf is the device of John Smethwick.

VINCENT, SAMUEL. The Young Gallant's Academy. Or, Directions how he should behave himself in all Places and Company.

As 1. In an Ordinary. 2. In a Play-house. 3. In a Tavern. 4. As he passes along the Street all hours of the Night. 5. And how to avoid Constables Interrogatories. To which is added, The Character of a Town-Huff. Together with The Character of a right Generous and well-bred Gentleman. By Sam. Vincent. London, Printed by J. C. for R. Mills at the Pestle and Mortar without Temple-Bar. 1674. Sm. 8vo.

A, 10 leaves; B—H 2 in eights.

Dedicated to George Doddington, Esq., by Vincent, who does not acknowledge his very great obligations to Decker's "Gull's Horn Booke," 1609, of which the larger portion of these pages is an adaptation.

A—P in fours, including the titles to the different parts Canto, Tenore, Alto, Basso, Quinto.

VIRGILIUS MARO, PUBLIUS. Opera. Folio. O. M.

MS. of Italian execution on 213 leaves of vellum, beautifully written in a semi-gothic hand. The first page has an interlaced illuminated border, and there are numerous capitals illuminated in the same style.

— [Opera, cum aliis opusculis.] [Colophon.] Presens hæc Virgiliti impressio poetæ clarissimi in alma urbe Roma facta est. . . . per Vdalricum Gallum & Simonem de Luca. Anno domini M.CCCC.LXXiii. Die uero. IIII. mēsis Nouembris. Folio. BR. M.

This third Roman edition is said by Brunet to be equal in rarity to the two which preceded it, and to be of great importance in that a great number of the passages wanting in the former editions are here inserted. The collation given by M. Brunet is not quite correct, as he makes only 265 leaves, including the two which are blank, whereas this copy contains 267. The discrepancy appears to be in the last part, which contains the 13th book of the Æneid, the Priapeia, Catalecta, &c., and a leaf of register, which M. Brunet makes to consist of only 51 leaves; but it has really 53, and should have that number according to the register at the end of the book.

— [Virgilii Opera.] [Colophon.] Impressum parmæ opera & impensis Andreæ Portiliæ Anno Domini M.CCCCLXXIX. Quarto Idus Maii. Folio. R. M.

a, b, 10 leaves each, a 1 blank; c, d, e in eights; f—m in tens; n, 8 leaves; o, 10 leaves; p, 8 leaves; q—u in tens; x, 8 leaves; y, 10 leaves.

M. Brunet's collation is so incorrect, that he had doubtless been obliged to take it at second-hand.

— Vergilius. [Colophon.] Venetiis ex aedibus Aldi Romani mense Aprili. M.DI. Svo. BR. M.

First Aldine edition. This tall and fine copy is from the collection of Bilibald Pirckheimer, whose library was purchased by Henry Howard, Duke of Norfolk, and presented to the Royal Society of London. It measures $6\frac{1}{2}$ in. by $3\frac{1}{8}$.

— Virgilius [ex recensione A. Naugerii.] [Colophon.] Venetiis in aedibus Aldi et Andreæ Soceri anno M.D.XVIII mense Octobri. Svo. R. M.

This is the third Aldine edition, and the second with the date of 1514, having a more correct text than the first issue of the same year, and two blank leaves at the end in the place of the errata.

— P. Virgilii Maronis Opera. Ex antiquis Monumentis illustrata, Cura, Studio & Sumtibus Henrici Justice. . . . Prostant venales Apud J. L. de Boubers Bruxellis. [s. a.] 5 vols. Roy. Svo. R.

The text is engraved throughout, and is illustrated with numerous plates.

This is probably the identical copy through which, according to Brunet, the edition was first described by M. Potier in 1856. (Manuel, vol. v., col. 1278-9). It was printed at Paris about 1525-30. On the verso of the last leaf is the printer's device.

*, 4 leaves, with title-page, dedication, and "A generall somme"; A—U 2 in fours; Aa—Gg in fours.

Dedicated "To the ryght honorable and my verye good Lorde Syr Nicholas Bacon knyght, Lorde Keeper of the great Seale of Englande," by William Wightman, who dates from London, the 6th of July, 1562. This dedication contains the following interesting information: "Whilest God gaue lyfe and health to Thomas Phaer Doctour of Phisike, I had some moore frendly familiaritie with him then moste men had. In whych respect he did before his last departynge downe from hence into Penbroke shire of speciall trust leaue in my handes the eyght and nynth bookes of Virgilles Eneidos, by him translated into Englyshe verse. And promised to vse all hys possible diligence for the finishing of the other three bookes then vterly vnbegonne: Declarynge moreouer vnto me that hys verye mynde and purpose was not onely to prynt the former part agayne for reformation of some faultes overslypt vpon the first impression, but also hauyng finished the same to dedicate the whole worke vnto your Lordship Albeit, it pleased God to preuent hym by death I do herewith present vnto your honour the first seuen bookes newly prynted, the two latter bookes as I had them with his owne hande roughly written, not throughly corrected, and so much of the tenth booke as vpon diligent searche amongst his secrete wrytynges at hys house in kilgarron foreste in Penbroke shire my selfe coulde fynde or come by. Marie it should appeare by the two verses in the ende of this booke by hym translated upon his death bed the very day before he dyed, which he sent vnto me subscribed with his left hand (the vse of the right hande beyng taken awaye, through the hurte whereof he dyed) that he had gone so much further as those verses be in Virgilles tenth booke"—

The two verses here referred to are on the recto of the last leaf but one, with the heading, "The two verses which Thomas Phaer did the daye before his death translate, and sende to William Wightman Receyuour of South Wales," and they are subscribed, "Thomas Phaer olim tuus nunc dei."

From Mr. Corser's collection.

Dedicated by the author "To the Right Honovrable my very Loving Brother the Lorde Baron of Dvnsanye." See Mr. Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," ii. 386-7. The present is a reprint of the original edition of 1582, which issued from the press at Leyden, and of which only two copies (one not quite perfect) are now known. A copy, however, occurs in the Harleian catalogue.

The Heber and Corser copy, with a long note by Mr. Heber as to the Leyden edition.

a—c in eights, the first leaf blank; d—g in sixes; h—l in eights; m, 6 leaves, the last blank. A most beautiful copy, full of rough leaves.

The book is not really a translation of Virgil's Æneid, but a prose romance founded on Virgil's poem.

Preface, 2 leaves; table, 3 leaves; B—L 7 in eights.

The first four leaves are inlaid, and the fifth is in facsimile. From the collections of Mr. Hanrott and Mr. Lancelot Holland.

This work is a literal translation from the French book described above, which was no doubt the "lytly booke in frenshe, named Eneydos," which Caxton describes in his preface as the original of his work. Mr. Blades was unacquainted with the original, and suggests that Caxton translated from a MS. no longer known, but Brunet remarks, "C'est probablement d'après cette paraphrase anonyme que Caxton a donné l'Æneide en anglais."

The Bucolics, A—E in fours. The Georgics, A—K in fours, and a leaf of L.

This translation is in blank verse and is dedicated to the Archbishop of Canterbury. The Georgics has a separate title. The present copy has passed through the collections of Herbert, Heber, and Mr. Corser.

In 1575 Fleming had already published a version of the Bucolics in rhyming verse.

VIRGILIUS MARO, PUBLIUS. Virgil's Georgicks Englished by Tho: May Esq. Lo: printed for Tho: Walkley in Brittaines Burse. 1628. Sm. sqr. 8vo.

A—L in eights; A 8 blank, and A 7 verso, with the printer's device.

Dedicated to the translator, Sir Richard Moresine, or Morysine, "To the ryght worshypful master Gregory Crumwell, sonne to the ryght honorable Lord Crumwell, lorde priue seale," in an epistle occupying several pages. He observes: "If ye make these preceptes yours, by vse of them, speakyng as they teache you, workyng as they aduise you, who shall have more cause to reioise of it, than you youre-selfe? wherin can you more please my lord your fathers mind? what thinge can more satisfye his desire? what greater comferte can come to his lordeshyppe, then to se you moste lyke him in condicions? what greater worshyppe to you, then to treade in his steppes? . . ." As the Earl of Essex was disgraced and executed this very year, possibly the present volume was suppressed, as no record of any other copy of this edition of 1540 appears to exist. Herbert cites an edition by the same printer in 1544, which he had not seen; but a copy of it is in the British Museum.

[VOCABULARIUM Teutonico-Latinum.] [Sine ullâ notâ.] 4to.

A—t in eights, the first leaf blank; aa—pp in eights; qq, 10 leaves. Thirty-two lines to a full page.

This is by Graesse described as "Imprimé vers 1471 chez J. Zainer à Ulm," but the fact of the book having signatures would indicate a year or two later. It is believed to be the earliest printed German and Latin dictionary.

[VOCABULARIUM Latino - Teutonicum.] [Sine ullâ notâ.] Folio. BR. MOR.

This edition consists of 258 leaves, with forty lines to a page. The type is that of Michael Reyser of Eichstadt. It is without folios, catchwords, or signatures.

A—S 2 in eights.

Dedicated by Vondernoodt to Queen Elizabeth. See Collier's "Bibliogr. Catalogue," ii., 374-5. This volume is of special interest, as containing the earliest printed verses of Edmund Spenser. An edition of the book in French was printed by John Day in 1568, which is much rarer than the English version, but the Flemish was the original of both.

VORAGINE, JACQUES DE. [On the fourth leaf.] Ci commence la legende doree Et traicte premierement de laduent nostre seigneur. [Colophon.] Cy finist le legede doree dicte la vie des saincts en francois veue et diligēment corrigee au pres du latin et segond le vray sens de la lectre Cōme il pourra appareistre par ceulx qui diligemment mectront la peine a la lire & bien entendre Par notable & reuerend docteur maistre ichan batallier docteur en la saincte theologie a paris religieulx de lordre des pscheurs de la ville de lyon sur le rosne Et imprimee en la dicte ville de lyon p barthelemy buyer citoyen du dit lyon le dix & huitiesme iour dapuril mil quatre cens septante et six. Folio. Black letter.

Three preliminary leaves ; 348 leaves of text ; 16 leaves of table.

The first book printed in France in the French language. No other perfect copy is known. That in Lord Spencer's library wants six leaves of text and two leaves of table, and Brunet appears to have known of no other than that.

The last leaf is printed on the recto only, and ends at the bottom of the second column, thus :—

"Cy finist ceste presente table faicte & composee selon lordre de la b c pour trouver les matieres auctorites et miracles sur la legende douree dicte vie des saints."

M. Gustave Brunet, in "La France littéraire au XV^e Siècle," says, "Un exemplaire, 200 fr. vente Filheul, en 1779. Il ne paraît pas que depuis il s'en soit, montré aux enchères. Il s'en trouve un chez Lord Spencer; Dibdin le décrit Bibliotheca Spenceriana, t. 4, p. 526.

"M. Pericaud observe que cet ouvrage, le second avec date publié à Lyon (le premier est le Lotharii compendium de 1473), est peut-être le premier livre mis au jour en langue française, Les Chroniques de Saint-Denis étant datées du 16 janvier (vieux style) ne furent publiées qu'en 1477, tandis que la Légende est datée du 18 avril."

In this copy the first five leaves, the last, and portions of gg iii, and another leaf, are in facsimile. From Mr. Utterson's library, and afterwards in Mr. Corser's collection.

See Blades, ii., 249-51. There can be no doubt that the present volume, of which the only perfect copy known is at Althorp, was finished by Wynkyn de Worde after Caxton's death.

— [The Golden Legend.] [Colophon.] *Thus endeth the legende| named in latyn Legēda aurea that is to saye in englysshe the golden legende. VOX VERITATIS. [No place or printer's name.] Anno M.DC.L. 4to.

A—D in fours, and a leaf of E. This exceedingly rare tract was evidently printed abroad; it is of considerable historical interest and curiosity, as it contains numerous allusions to celebrated characters of the time. The author was clearly a Royalist, though he does not disclose his identity; but he animadverts in severe terms on the behaviour of the men of the other party.

¶, 8 leaves; A, 4 leaves; B—M in eights. The last two leaves occupied by the errata. Dedicated "To the right worshipful wise and learned Knight, Sir Ivs-tinian Lewin," by T. W., who dates "from my study in St. John's x. Calend. of March."

Lowndes quotes Dr. Farmer's "Essay on the Learning of Shakespeare" as pointing to "The Optick Glasse of Hvmors" as the source from which Shakespeare derived the saying of Shylock: "And others when a Bagpipe sings i' th' nose cannot contain their urine for affection;" whereas what Farmer says is, that the story is found in Scaliger's "Exercitations against Cardan," and was afterwards printed in Le Loyer's "Treatise of Spectres," whence Shakespeare must have taken it. If this were so, it must have been from the original French, as the English version did not appear till 1605. All that Farmer says of this book is: "The passage from Scaliger is likewise to be met with in 'The Optiek Glasse of Hvmors,' written I believe by T. Wombwell." By Lowndes it is attributed to T. Walkington.

W., T. A Short Story Of the Rise, Reign, and Ruin of the Antinomians, Familists, and Libertines That Infected the Churches Of New-England: And how they were Confuted by The Assembly of Ministers there: As also of the Magistrates proceedings in Court against them. Together with God's strange Remarkable Judgements from Heaven upon some of the Chief Fomenters of these Opinions; and the Lamentable Death of Mrs. Hutchison. Very fit for these Times;

In the "Advertisement to the Reader" it is said: "This parcell of exquisite Poems, have pass'd up and downe through many hands amongst persons of the best quality, in loose imperfect Manuscripts, and there is lately obtruded to the world an adulterate Copy, surreptitiously and illegally imprinted, to the derogation of the Author and the abuse of the Buyer. But in this Booke they appeare in their pure originals and true genuine colours." An examination of the two editions, however, shows that this edition is a literal reprint of that which is spoken of in such strong terms of disapprobation. The misprints and corruptions of the text are exactly the same in both. It will be observed that the first is "Printed for Thomas Walkley," and the second "by T. W." The only real difference between the two books is that the Epistle "To my Lady," and the mendacious advertisement to the reader occupy three leaves, which are inserted after the title, and the speeches contained in the first issue are here omitted, while two leaves of poems and two leaves of Table are added at the end. It appears from a contemporary folio MS. of Waller's Poems with corrections in his autograph, now in the possession of Mr. Waller, of Beaconsfield, that the Epistle addressed here and in the other printed editions simply "To my Lady," and applying not to the volume, in which it is inserted, but to a MS. copy sent to the patroness, was designed for Lady Sophia Bertie, for in the MS. the superscription is: "To my Lady Sophia Bartec," to which is added in a contemporary hand, "the Earl of Linsey's daughter." The Lady Isabella mentioned by Waller was Lady Isabella Thynne. But the MS. described has a still higher interest as possessing an inedited dedication, which the poet intended to have addressed to Queen Henrietta Maria, but which was suppressed in consequence of the Civil War. See "Notes and Queries," 3rd S. vii., 435, and ix., 193.

WALLER, EDMUND. Poems, &c. Written by Mr. Ed. Waller And Printed by a Copy of his own hand-writing. London, Printed by I. N. for Hu. Mosley. . . . 1645. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A, 4 leaves; B—N 4 in eights; O—P 2 in eights.

This is the first genuine edition with much more correct text. The speeches now appear again. The advertisement regarding the spurious copy is repeated.

The present copy, from the libraries of Mr. Jolley and Mr. J. Delaware Lewis, has been called "large paper," but this seems to be doubtful. The volume is printed in a larger and handsomer type than the earlier issue, and instead of fifty-four occupies ninety-six leaves, exclusively of the Speeches.

A—G in eights, the last leaf blank.

The Stationer, in his Address to the Reader, says that this letter was intended as a Preface to a larger work, the “History and Vindication of the Loyal Formulary,” folio, 1674—but that some few copies had crept abroad, he knew not how, by themselves. He therefore reprinted the Prefatory Letter separately in 8vo. to supply the demand for it, requiring all the folio stock to bind up with the History.

WARD, JOHN. An Encovragement to Warre. Or, Bellvm Parliamendale. Shewing The unlawfulness of the late Bellum Episcopale. As also the Justnesse of this present Expedition for the defence of the Kingdom. . . . [No place, printer's name, or date.] [About 1640.] 4to.

A—C 2 in fours. In verse. An engraving on the title.

In the dedication to his "Worthy and much esteemed good Friends," Mr. John Millington, Mr. Peter Goodwin, and Mr. Samuel Clark, the writer apologizes for the imperfections of his "infant Muse."

WARD, SAMUEL. Deo trin-vni Britanniaë bis ultoro. In memoriam Classis invincibilis subversæ submersæ Proditionis nefandæ detectæ dissectæ. To God, In memorye of his double deliverance from the invincible Navie and the unmatcheable powder Treason. 1588. 1605. Invented by Samuëll Ward preacher of Ipswich. Imprinted at Amsterdam Anno 1621. A large Broadside.

In the centre is an engraving of the Pope and his adherents in council, with a view of the Parliament house on the right-hand side, and Faux advancing with his lantern towards the cellar, while on the left hand we see the Spanish Armada drawn up in the form of a horse-shoe. At the foot are three sets of verses, a Latin hexameter and pentameter, and a quatrain in English, each descriptive of a portion of the plate. Above, in the clouds, are cherubim shedding rays of light on the deeds of darkness projected against England by her Romish enemies.

WARE, SIR JAMES. The whole Works of Sir James Ware concerning Ireland. Revised and Improved. . . . The whole adorned with Variety of Copper Plates. . . . Dublin: Printed for the Author 1739-46. 3 vols. in 2. Folio. Large paper. Portrait and plates. R. M.

In the Grenville Catalogue it is stated that only six copies were printed on large paper, but that is certainly an error, as is also the opinion expressed that the plates of Costume are always on small paper. They are here the same size as the book with one exception.

WARLY, JOHN. English Iliads, or A Sea-Fight reviewed in a Poem Occasioned by the death of a person of Honour Slain in the late War between the English and the Dutch. By J. W. A—U in fours, title on A 2, and (between A and B) ¶, 2 leaves.

A work of prose fiction, of which there is an earlier and less correct impression, attributed to 1585, the book having been licensed in 1584. The first edition was dedicated to Sir George Casey, Lord Hunsdon, and the author here retains the dedication, or, as he expresses it, "most humbly continueth the recommended patronage of his reformed Syrx." Both editions are of the greatest rarity, the only other copy known of this, being that which was formerly in the Roxburghe and White Knight collections, and is now in the British Museum.

Warner's "Syrinx" is described by Warton as "a novel, or rather a suite of stories, much in the style of the adventures in Heliodorus's Ethiopic Romance."

WARNING FOR FAIR WOMEN. A Warning for Faire Women. Containing, The most tragicall and lamentable murther of Master George Sanders of London Marchant, nigh Shooters Hill. Consented vnto By his owne wife, acted by M. Browne, Mistris Drewry and Trusty Roger agents therin: with their seuerall ends. As it hath beene lately diuerse times acted by the right Honorable, the Lord Chamberlaine his Seruantes. Printed at London by Valentine Sims for William Aspley. 1599. 4to. Black letter.

A—K 3 in fours.

It has been strenuously asserted by some writers that Shakespeare must have had some hand in the composition of this remarkable old play, but the proposition has been as strenuously denied by others. The style of certain passages is of course all that can be adduced in favour of the idea.

From Mr. Daniel's collection.

WARREN, ARTHUR. The Poore Mans passions. And Pouerties Patience. Written by Arthur Warren. Anno. Dom. 1605. At London, Printed by I. R. for R. B. and are to be sold in Paules Church-yard, at the signe of the Sun. 4to.

A, 2 leaves; B—K i in fours.

A poem in stanzas of six lines, in which measure also is the author's dedication in verse "To his kindest Fauourer Maister Robert Quarmer."

From the collections of Mr. Bright and Mr. Corser, with the autograph of Sir Hamon L'Estrange on the title-page. For an account of the book, see Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," ii., 487.

WARREN, WILLIAM. A pleasant new Fancie of a fondlings deuce: Intituled and cald the Nvrerie of names. Wherein is presented (to the order of our Alphabet) the brandishing brightnes of our English Gentlewomen. Contriued and written, in this last time of vacation: and now first published and committed to printing, this present month of mery May. By Guillam de Warrino. Imprinted at London by Richard Ihones, dwelling ouer against the signe of the Faulcon. neere Holburne Bridge. 1581. 4to. Black letter.

A—I 2 in fours. In verse.

On A 2 are some mottoes and verses, and on A 3, "The Proæme, to the Gentlemen Readers." On B 1 is an Address to the Gentlewomen of England. The volume consists of a series of poems on the Christian names of women from "Anne" to "Ursula," except Q, for which the author's ingenuity failed to supply him with a representative.

From the libraries of the Duke of Roxburghe, Mr. Jolley, and Mr. Corser. The only other copy known is that at Britwell, formerly Mr. Heber's.

"This copy formerly belonged to Mr. Jo. Robinson, who was the possessor of some of the rarest books I ever saw; then to the Chauncy, Steevens, Roxburghe, White-Knights, and Perry collections."—MS. Note by Mr. Jolley (Catalogue, part 4, p. 106).

The author in "The Proæme" speaks of this as his "first effort," but in Arber's "Transcript," v. 11. 153b. Nov. 7, 1578, we find licensed to Richard Jones, "A pithie and pleausaunt discourse Dialoguewyse betwene a welthie citizen and a miserable souldiour briefelye touchinge the commodityes and discommodityes both of warre and peace by W. Warren." No copy of this book is known to exist. If it were in prose, it is probable that the author speaks of "The Nurserie of Names" as his "first effort" in verse.

[WATTON, JOHN.] [Speculum Christiani.] Hic incipit liber de speculō xani Prohemium. Magna differēcia ē int^o pdicacōm & doctrinam MS. of the fifteenth century on vellum. 4to.

This work is attributed to John Watton, an English priest, who lived in the latter part of the fifteenth century.

The body of the book is in Latin, and begins with a statement concerning the duty of teaching religious truths, citing the Lambeth Constitution of Archbishop Peckham in 1281, by which priests were ordered to expound at certain intervals the articles of faith, the precepts of charity, the seven works of piety, the seven deadly sins, &c. In the course of his work the author gives a rhyming version of the Decalogue, verses in which the seven deadly sins express themselves, a kind of sermon on these sins in prose, followed by various other metrical counsels, and a hymn to the Virgin, all in English. In this hymn a couplet is found in the MS., one half only of which appears in the printed book. After the words, "Grete the with Avys five," near the end, the MS. proceeds, "A paternoster and a crede," which is necessary to rhyme with "To helpe me lady at my nede." On the other hand this MS. omits the last couplet, which is found in Machlinia's edition.

Occasionally the verses differ materially from the printed copy, as the following:—

MS.
I chyde and fyght and malas faste
All my foe men I will downe caste
Mercy on hem I will non haue
But veniance strong so god me saue

Machlinia.
I chide I flite I manace faste
Alle my fo men I doun caste
Mercy on hem wille I not haue
But vengeaunce strong so wood I raue

[WATTON, JOHN]. [Speculum Christiani.] Another MS. of the same work on 44 leaves of vellum. Written in the fifteenth century. Folio. BR. M.

This also varies in some of the English verses, as for example :—

MS.	Machlinia.
Thi goddes name in vanyte	Thy goddes name in vanitee
þow schalt not take for wele ne wo	Thou schalt not take for wel nor woo

A—P in sixes. With a dedication "To Mrs. Sarah, Mrs. Mary, and Mrs. Elizabeth, Abney, Daughters of Sir Thomas Abney Knt. and Alderman of London," by their affectionate Instructor, I. Watts, dated from Theobalds in Hertfordshire, July 31, 1720. This dedication is of much interest, and refers to the neglect of the subjects here dealt with till the establishment of a school at Cheshunt under the patronage of the Abneys. This copy was presented by the author to Lady Abney, in whose family, as it is well known, he was long domesticated. An autograph memorandum on the flyleaf says : "To the Honoured Lady The Lady Abney. I. W."

Written by John Webster and William Rowley. Placere Cupio. London : Printed by Tho. Johnson, and are to be sold by Francis Kirkman . . . 1661. 4to.

A, 2 leaves ; B—H in fours, for each play, besides the general title.

In the Address to the Reader before the first play, Kirkman mentions that this was the earliest of a series of three plays, which he intended to produce in the course of the term, the second being the other drama in the volume, and the third, "Gammer Gurton's Needle." He says "It was not long since I was only a Book-Reader, and not a bookseller, which Quality . . . I have now lately taken on me." He further says that he had been a collector of old plays for some years, and that he had some 700 by him ; and in the preface to the "Thracian Wonder" he informs us that he had several MS. plays by worthy authors in his possession.

First editions of both pieces. No other copy with a general title-page is noticed. The authorship of Webster and Rowley has been questioned.

WEBSTER, JOHN. *The Displaying of supposed Witchcraft. Wherein is affirmed that there are many sorts of Deceivers and Impostors. And Divers persons under a passive Delusion of Melancholy and Fancy. Dedicated "To the right worshipful his Master Edward Darcy, Esquier, Groome of her Maiesties priuie Chamber."

This is a distinct work from the preceding, not a reprint of it.

— Cantvs [Tenor, Bassus] Ayeres or Phantastick Spirites for three voices, Made and newly published by Thomas Weelkes, Gentleman of his Majesties Chappell, Batchelar of Musicke, and Organest of the Cathedral Church of Chichester. London Printed by William Barley, and are to be sold at his shoppe in Gracious Street. 1608. 3 parts in one vol. 4to. R. M.

Each part consists of A, 2 leaves ; B—E 2 in fours.

Dedicated to Edward, Lord Denny, Baron of Waltham. This was the last work published by Weelkes.

“For originality of ideas and construction in part writing . . . Weelkes in my opinion leaves all other composers of his time far behind,” says Mr. Oliphant in the “Musa Madrigalesca;” and, especially in relation to the “Ayeres;” he further states, “Some of them I really think are the cleverest specimens of three-part writing that are to be met with.”

The twenty-sixth piece in the collection is a Song for six voices, “A remembrance of my friend M. Thomas Morley.”

There is in a satirical piece (No. 19) a curious allusion to hackney coaches, which, as it is known, had then been some time already in use:—

“— for he that doth the Cochman prayse,
May safely use the Coch.”

There is also a song in praise of Tobacco.

WEERDT, SEBALD DE. *Wijdtloopigh verhael van tgene de vijf Schepen (die int jaer 1598. tot Rotterdam toegerust werden, om door de Straect Magellana haren handel te dryven) wedervaren is, tot den 7. Reprinted by De Bry, “Grands Voyages,” vol. ix., pt. 2, 1602. See also Camus, “Mém.,” p. 102, &c., and Muller, p. 21, where a full collation is given. After D 2 is another title-page, for the treatise of Jan Outghersz, as described by Muller, who says, p. 23, “de cette première édition M. Muller n’a jamais vu d’autre exemplaire que le sien propre.”

This copy is in beautiful condition and entirely uncut. It is the identical one described by Muller.

— Historisch Ende Wijdtloopigh verhael van ’tghene de de vijf Schepen &c. . . . Tot Amstelredam by Michiel Colijn, Boeck-vercooper, wonende op’t Water by de Oude-brugge aen de Cooren-marckt int Huys-boeck. Anno 1617. Oblong 4to. Plates.

This is a reprint of the first edition, but the piece by Jan Outghersz is omitted. The plates are re-engraved for this edition.

WEEVER, JOHN. The Mirror of Martyrs, or, The life and death of that thrice valiant Capitaine and most godly Martyre Sir Iohn Oldcastle knight Lord Cobham. Printed by V. S. for William Wood. 1601. Sm. sqr. 8vo. The edges uncut. O. M.

A—F 3 in eights. In verse.

Weever, whose name is better known as the author of the “Funeral Monuments” than by his poetical pieces, says in his dedication to his friend, William Covell, that this work had lain two years in the corner of his study, where he kept his waste paper. There is a second inscription (in verse) “To the Author’s most honored friend Richard Dalton of Pilling.” The address to Dalton is, like the poem itself, in 6-line stanzas.

The present copy with uncut leaves was obtained at the sale of the Wolferston collection. Copies are in the Bodleian and Pepysian libraries. A fourth, wanting the title, was sold among Mr. Caldecott’s books in 1833. No others are known.

WEEVER, JOHN. An Agnus Dei. Printed by V. S. for Nicholas Lyng. 1606. A thumb-book, measuring about $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. in height.

This diminutive poetical volume contains a history of Christ from the birth of the Virgin. It collates in eights, A—Q. The present is the only copy known. It is in the original vellum binding with a ribbon attached, as first published. The dedication runs: "To Prince Henry. Your humble servant. Io: Weever."

It shows that the poem had been written some years before it was printed.

"Thou machlesse issue of a mighty King,
To whose green years & iudgemēt grave, I bring
These holy numbers of my heav'nly muse,
Which my late Emprise daigned to peruse:
The like acceptance humblie I intreate,
My Booke is litle, but my love is great."

"Io: Weever."

On the flyleaf is the autograph of "Elizabeth Baynton. 1622."

Folios i.-cxxxvii., including title, followed by ten un-numbered leaves.

There are fifteen woodcuts in this volume, including that on the title. On the last appears the monogram H. S. as figured by Nagler, Monogrammisten, No. 1449. This book appears to have been unknown to him, though he quotes two other works printed at Leipsic about the same period, with woodcuts in which the monogram occurs. He goes carefully through the probable claimants to the monogram, but is only able to come to the conclusion that the name of the artist is unknown.

Eight leaves.

This rare tract was evidently printed at the same press as the Admonition to the Bishops of Winchester, &c. dated two days earlier, and was probably from the same pen.

WHETSTONE, GEORGE. An Heptameron of Ciuill Discourses. Containing: The Christmasse Exercise of sundrie well Courted Gentlemen and Gentlewomen. In whose behaiours, the better sort, may see, a represētation of their own Vertues: And the Inferiour, may learne such Rules of Ciuil Gouvernēt, as wil rase out the Blemish of their basenesse : Wherin is Renowned, the Vertues, of a most Honourable and braue mynded Gentleman. And herein, also, [as it were in a Mirrour] the Vnmarried may see the Defectes whiche Eclipse the Glorie of Mariage : And the wel Married, as in a Table of Housholde Lawes, may cull out needefull Preceptes to establysh their good Fortune. A Worke, intercoursed with Ciuyll Pleasure, to reauce tediousnesse from the Reader : and garnished with Morall Noates to make it profitable, to the Regarder. The Reporte, of George Whetstone. Gent. Formæ, nulla fides. At London. Printed by Richard Iones, at the Signe of the Rose and the Crowne, neare Holburne Bridge, 3. Feb. 1582. 4to. Black letter.

A, 4 leaves ; ¶, 2 leaves ; B—Z in fours. In prose and verse.

Dedicated to Sir Christopher Hatton. This work was reissued in 1593 under a different title : "Aurelia. The Paragon of Pleasure," &c.

From the collections of Mr. J. Dunn Gardner and Sir W. Tite.

"We are sent to Cinthio for the Plot of 'Measure for Measure,' and Shakespeare's judgement hath been attacked for some deviations from him in the conduct of it : when probably all he knew of the matter was from Madam Isabella in the 'Heptameron' of Whetstone."—Farmer on Shakespeare.

Mr. Hazlitt states that there was another issue of this work, also dated Feb. 3rd, 1582, "with a very different title," but the difference appears to be made only by omitting a portion of the text of the title in each of the versions he gives of it.

WHETSTONE, GEORGE. The Honorable Repvtation of a Souldier. With a Morall Report, of the Vertues, Offices, and (by abuse) the Disgrace of his profession. Drawne out of the liues, documents, and disciplines, of the most renowned Romaine, Grecian, and other famous Martialistes. By George Whetstone, Gent. Malgre de Fortune. Imprinted at London, by Richard Iones : dwelling neere vnto Holburne Bridge. 1585. 4to. Black letter.

A—F 2 in fours. Dedicated "To the most worthy Gent. Sir William Russell, Knight." The Epistle dedicatorie, which is in prose, is followed by five stanzas of six lines directed "To the Right Valiant Gentlemen & Souldiers, that are, or shall be Armed vnder the Ensigne of Sainct George."

We learn from the Epistle, that "the English Mirror," not printed till 1586, was already written, "But because, the booke is of some volume," says Whetstone, "I cannot haue it speedily printed : and for that occasiō now (at this present) maketh passage for this Subject, being a member or small parcell of the fore-recited booke." He tells us, a little farther on, a story which was intended by him to illustrate the arrogance of the Spaniards at that time—eight years before the Armada. He says that being in the company of a Gentleman of Picardy, a Monsieur Dobart, in a garrison town in the Duchy of Milan, with another Englishman, in the year 1580, a Spaniard came in when Dobart asked him what might be the cause that the King of Spain had raised so great an army. "Ah Sir," returned the other, "the time nowe draweth neare, that we shall have the spoile of rich England, that we shall embrace their faire wiues, and make hauocke of their lōg gathered riches." The story goes on to relate how the Spaniard, being challenged to fight, disappeared before morning.

WHETSTONE, GEORGE. A Mirror for Magistrates of Cyties Representing the Ordinaunces, Policies, and Diligence, of the Noble Emperour, Alexander (surnamed Severvs) to suppress and chastise the notorious Vices nourished in Rome, by the superfluous number of Dicing-houses, Tauerns and Common Stewes, Suffred and cheerished by his beastlye Predecessour, Helyogablvs. With sundrie graue Orationes, by the said noble Emperour, concerning Reformation. And herevnto is added, A Touchstone for the Time Containyng: many perillous Mischiefes, bred in the Bowels of the Citie of London: By the Infection of some of thease Sanctuaries of Iniquitie. By George Whetstones Gent. Virtute, non vi. Printed at London, by Richard Iones. 1584. Authorised and allowed. 4to Black letter.

Publishing the peaceable victories obtained by the Queenes most excellent Maiesty, against this mortall enimie of publike peace and prosperitie, and lastly, A Fortris against Enuy. Builded vpon the counsels of sacred Scripture, Lawes of sage Philosophers, and pollicies of well gouerned common weales: wherein euery estate may see the dignities, the true office and cause of disgrace of his vocation. A worke safely, and necessarie to be read of euery good subiect. By George Whetstone Gent. Malgre. Seene and allowed. At London. Printed by I. Windet for G. Seton, and are to be sold at his Shop vnder Aldersgate. 1586. 4to. Black letter. O. M.

¶, 4 leaves; A—P in eights.

Dedicated to Queen Elizabeth, on whose name there is an acrostic on the back of the title. The work is divided into three Books, and is in prose, but there are a few pieces of verse interspersed.

This, as well as some other of Whetstone's publications, is reviewed at length by Mr. Collier in his "Bibliographical Catalogue."

A—G 2 in fours.

A reissue in February, 1586-7, with the title and last leaf reprinted. The two issues agree so far as the middle of G 2 recto; but then, in the place of a paragraph which refers to Mary Queen of Scots as still living, another is inserted, mentioning her execution, which had taken place in the meantime. This piece was edited, during the absence of Whetstone in the country, by his friend Thomas Churchyard, who signs with his initials a short address to the reader on the back of the title.

See Hunter's "New Illustrations of Shakespear," 1845, i., 222, Note.

WHITAKER, ALEXANDER. Good Newes from Virginia. Sent to the Covnsell and Company of Virginia, resident in England. From Alexander Whitaker, the Minister of Henrico in Virginia. A—D 3 in fours, and the title-page, on which is a large woodcut.

From Mr. Corser's collection. See Mr. Collier's "Bibl. Cat.," ii., 519-21.

The book is dedicated by the publisher to Mr. George Shilliton, the King's Receiver for Yorkshire.

It has been said that the Sapphics found at the end of this rare volume are the earliest examples of that kind of metre in the English language, but earlier ones may be found in "Certaine English Verses," 1586, and in Colse's "Penelope's Complaint," 1596. See the privately printed "Fugitive Tracts," 1st series, and volume of "Prefaces," &c., 1874, p. 165.

WHITNEY, JOHN. The Genteel Recreation : Or, the Pleasure of Angling, A Poem. With a Dialogue between Piscator and Corydon. By John Whitney, A Lover of the Angle. London, Printed in the Year 1700. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

Title, dedication, and preface, 6 leaves ; B—K in fours, H 4 blank.

Dedicated “To My Honoured Friend John Hyde Esq.”

It appears from the preface that Whitney selected Hyde as the patron of his book on account of the kindness of the latter in allowing him to fish at Winckhurst. He relates that while he was there, in company with an old gentleman, a Captain Comer, who was enjoying the sport, his companion had left his rod for a moment, when a fish came and took away rod and all. But Comer stripped, jumped in, and brought out both rod and fish, "with much content to regain his rod."

The first edition of this little work was published with the imprint of "Norenburch" 1546. This second edition was put forth by Myles Coverdale, whose initials are found at the end thus, "Ouerscene by M. C." From the title of the first edition, as given by Herbert, p. 1559, it would seem that it did not contain the protestation of John Lascelles, which in this second edition is placed between the treatise of Wickliffe and "the Testament of William Tracie." Lascelles was burned in Smithfield in 1546.

First edition. Dedicated by Thomas James, the editor, to Sir Thomas Flemynge, Knight, Lord Chief Justice of England.

WIDOW OF WATLING-STREET. The first part of the faire widow of Watlingstreet & her 3 daughters, and how her wicked sonne accused her to be a harlot, & his sisters bastards, only to deceiue them of their portions. To the tune of Bragandary. Imprinted at London for T. P.[avier.] The second part. . . . To the tune of the Wanton wife. Imprinted, &c. A Broadside. Black letter.

Printed on two sheets within borders. The only copy known.

This is apparently the earliest impression remaining of the ballad upon which is founded the drama of "The Puritan," printed in 1607.

Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c., 1867. There is also in the library a separate reprint edited by Mr. Halliwell, 1860, sm. 8vo., of which only thirty copies were struck off.

WILSON, CHRISTOPHER.

Almightie God I pray, his Holy spirite to send :

The iust mannes hart stedfast to stay, and wicked liues to mend.

[At the end.] Finis (qd.) Christopher Wilson. [Colophon.] Imprinted at London without Aldersgate, in little Britaine: by Alex. Lacy. The. 16. of August. 1566. A Broadside. Black letter.

The first letters of the lines read acrostically form the words : "Tempvs Edax Rervm. Time Bryngethe Al Thynges To An Ende. Qvod Christopher Wilson."

Reprinted in "Anc. Ballads," &c. 1867. Wilson's lines occupy only one column of the sheet ; the other contains nine anonymous stanzas of six lines each.

WILSON, GEORGE. The Commendation of Cockes, and Cock-fighting. Wherein is shewed, that Cocke-fighting was before the comming of Christ. London, Printed for Henric Tomes, and are to be sold at his Shop ouer against Graies Inne gate in Holburne, 1607. 4to. Black Letter. O. M.

A—D in fours, title on A 2.

Dedicated to Sir Henry Bedingfield, in the county of Norfolk, Knight, in an epistle in which Wilson states that this treatise had been long since promised by him to friends in London, Boston, and elsewhere. It appears that Sir Henry was a fellow-lover of the sport. On the title is a cut of two cocks preparing to close. Mr. Collier ("Bibl. Cat.," ii., 528) states that "Wilson's tract was several times reprinted." According to Lowndes the latest edition was in 1655.

WILSON, JOHN. Cheerfull Ayres or Ballads First composed for one single Voice and since set for three Voices by John Wilson Dr. in Mvsick Professor of the same in the Vniversity of Oxford. Oxford. Printed by W. Hall, for Ric. Davis. Anno Dom. M DC LX. Oblong 4to.

A—U 2 in fours. The Cantus Primus.

It is stated in the Preface that, this being the first essay in the way of printing music at Oxford, certain mistakes (for which there is a table of errata) had been committed by the printer, chiefly in "omission of Moods." It also informs us that this part was intended to form "a compleate Book of it selfe, carrying the principall Ayre to Sing alone with a through Base." The two other parts were Cantus Secundus and Bassus. Some of the music had been composed by others, but the whole is here reset by Wilson.

WILSON, LEA. Bibles, Testaments, Psalms, and other Books of the Holy Scriptures in English In the collection of Lea Wilson Esq^r. London M DCCC XLV. 4to.

Printed at the cost of Mr. Lea Wilson for presents only.

WILSON, THOMAS. The Rule of Reason, contaynyng the Arte of Logike. Set forth in English, and newly corrected by Thomas Wilson. Anno Domini. M.D.LXvii. Mens. Feb. Imprinted at London by I. Kingston. 4to. Black letter.

A—Aa i in fours. This is the earliest regular treatise on logic in the English language. The first edition was in 1551, 8vo.

A passage quoted by Wilson from Udall's "Ralph Roister Doister" is the earliest indication of the existence of that drama, so nearly lost to us, and fixes approximately the date of its composition, if not the original performance of it, as anterior to 1551—at least fifteen years before it was entered at Stationers' Hall.

WILSON, THOMAS. The Arte of Rhetorike, for the vse of all suche as are studious of Eloquence, sette foortlie in Englishhe, by Thomas Wilson. 1553. And now newlie sette forth againe, with a Prologue to the Reader. 1567. Imprinted at London, by Ihon Kingston. 1584. 4to. Black letter.

A—Q 6 in eights.

In the prologue there is a curious passage, where he speaks of his escape from the Inquisition, adding, "If others neuer get more by bookes then I have done : it were better be a Carter, then a Scholar, for worldly profite."

— A Discourse vppon vsurye, by waye of Dialogue and oracions, for the better varietye, and more delite of all those, that shall reade thys treatise. WINGAR, HENRY. Light Extinguish'd. A Poem Intitul'd the Sight's Retreat: or, The True Light at last made Manifest. By H. W. Gent. Printed for the Author. [About 1680.] 8vo.

A—C in fours.

This copy is dedicated to the Countess of Dalkeith, but the volume has the appearance of having been printed with the name of the patron or patroness left blank, with a view to subsequent insertion, as it is in a different type and ink. Such was the case with Anderson's "Court Convert" and some of Jordan's publications. Wingar speaks of his work as the "offspring of an obscure Muse," and of himself as "altogether benighted, and his Candle extinguish'd"; and he humbly takes leave, upon a just consideration of Lady Dalkeith's character, to light his candle again at her illuminating altar.

A copy is in the British Musum; but no other, besides the present, has been noticed.

The above title is engraved on copper within an ornamental border. It is followed by a second title in Latin, also within an engraved border, which reads, "Monumenta Amicorum Libellus elegans, omnium statuum galeas et clypeos varios præfigurans, quos pro sua quisque conditione adimplere deinceps paruo labore valebit : intiectis sparsim facietis nonnullis et elegantibus diuersorū habituum iconibus. Nunc primum in gratiam generosæ nobilitatis ac studiosæ Juuentutis in lucem editus sculptoris Hen. Wi. et Jo. Hogenbergio. Impressore Joan Bussemachero." [s. a.] The work consists in all of forty-five plates besides the two engraved titles. Seventeen of these plates represent various subjects, mostly satirical or humorous in their character, and twenty-eight are coats-of-arms with scroll-work round them, and some of them with full-length figures for supporters. There are no numbers on any of the plates. No bibliographer appears to have known the book, and the artist is mentioned only by Nagler as the engraver of a single plate, of which he says, "Dieses blatt ist sicher von Hieronymus Wierx, oder Copie nach demselben mit falschem Namen." The only other copy known of the volume is in the South Kensington Museum, but that contains only twenty-four plates, and has only the German title.

WIT. Wit Restor'd In severall Select Poems Not formerly publish't. London, Printed for R. Pollard, N. Brooks, and T. Dring, and are to be sold at the Old Exchange, and in Fleetstreet. 1658. Sm. 8vo. The edges uncut. G. M.

B—O 7 in eights, and the title-page, but L has 9 leaves. On the extra leaf is printed at the bottom "Place this before the Innovation of Vlysses and Penelope."

At p. 139 occurs, "The Innovation of Penelope and Vlysses, A Mock-Poem. By J.[ames] S.[mith]," with a new title, and some complimentary verses by Mas-singer and others. This volume is probably unique as an uncut copy. From the library of Mr. J. D. Lewis.

— Wit and Drollery, Joviall Poems: Corrected and much amended, with Additions. By Sir J.[ohn] M.[ennis], Ja.[mes] S.[mith], Sir W.[illiam] D.[avenant], J. D. [John Donne?] and the most refined Wits of the Age. Ut Nectar Ingenium. London, Printed for Nath. Brook at the Angel in Cornhil, 1661. Sm. 8vo.

A, 4 leaves; B—T in eights; pp. 97-104 are repeated, with additional matter.

This is not a reprint of any single work of earlier date, but appears to be made up from two or three sources. It contains a portion of "Wit Restor'd," 1658.

The present copy, in the original binding, with the Sheldon book-plate and the crest stamped on each side of the cover, has Ritson's autograph, and also that of Mr. E. V. Utterson. It once belonged to Mr. Allen, whose curious library was dispersed in 1799.

— Wit and Drollery. Jovial Poems. Corrected and Amended, with New Additions. Ut Nectar Ingenium. London, Printed for Obadiah Blaggrave, at the Bear in St. Pauls Church-Yard, 1682. 8vo.

Title, preface, &c., 4 leaves; A—Y in eights.

This is altogether a different book from the one printed under the same title in 1661. Though the preface opens with the same words, the contents are not at all the same.

— Wit A-La-Mode: or, Every Man in his Humour. Wherein is contain'd A great Variety of diverting Jestes, Bulls, Bon Mots, To which is added The Agreeable Medley London. 1775. 8vo.

B—I in sixes, and the frontispiece.

WIT. Wits Academy: Or, The Muses Delight. Being the Newest Academy of Complements. Consisting of merry Dialogues Upon various occasions, composed of Mirth, Wit, and Eloquence. As also Divers sorts of Letters upon several Occasions, both Merry and Jocos With a Perfect Collection of all the Newest and Best Songs and Catches, that are and have been in Request at Court, and both the Theatres. The Eighth Edition, with Additions. London: Printed for W. Richardson for Eben. Tracy at the Three Bibles on London-Bridge, 1701. Sm. 8vo.

A—M 10 in twelves, the first leaf of A occupied by a woodcut frontispiece.

This is an entirely distinct work from one published this year under a very similar title. The present volume seems to be hitherto undescribed; the most interesting portion of it is the collection of songs, many of which were written in the preceding century.

— The Wit's Magazine, or Library of Momus. London, 1784-5. 2 vols. 8vo. Plates.

From Mr. G. Daniel's collection.

WIT. Witt's Recreations. Selected from the finest Fancies of Moderne Muses. With A Thousand out Landish Proverbs: London: Printed for Humph: Blunden at the Castle in Corn-hill. 1640. Sm. 8vo.

Engraved and printed titles preceded by a leaf with verses headed "The Frontispiece discovered," 3 leaves; The Stationer to the Reader, in verse, 1 leaf; B—M in eights, m 4 blank; Aa—Cc in eights; "The Proverbs," A—E 4 in eights, E 4 blank.

The Proverbs have a separate title: "Ovtlandish Proverbs selected by Mr. G. H. London, Printed by T. P. for Humphrey Blunden. . . . 1640." — Witts Recreations refined & Augmented, with Ingenious Conceites for the wittie, And Merrie Medicines for the Melancholic. [This engraved title is followed by a printed one, as follows:] Recreation, for Ingenious Head-Pieces: or, a Pleasant Grove for their Wits to walk in.

A—D in eights, including the engraved and printed titles. Narcissus Luttrell's copy, with his autograph on the flyleaf: "Nar. Luttrell His Book 167 $\frac{3}{4}$."

WIT'S THEATRE. Wits Theater of the little World. Breviter ad bonum per exempla, longum per precepta. Printed by I. R. for

N. L. & arc to be sold at the West doore of Paules. 1599. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A, 4 leaves ; B—Mm 4 in eights, Mm 4 having the errata.

Following the title is an epistle or address, "To my most esteemed and approved louing friend, Maister I. B. I wish all happiness," from which it appears that the writer, [Nicholas Ling the Stationer,] was encouraged by John Bodenhams to undertake this volume of extracts and precepts as a sort of sequel to "Wit's Commonwealth." Herbert speaks of the book as having been originally published in 1598 ; but he does not appear to have seen any copy of it himself with that date, and it is not described by any other bibliographer. Neither on the title nor in the introductory matter is there any indication of an earlier issue than this of 1599.

WITCHCRAFT. Notable Relacion del castigo exemplar que se hizo en la ciudad de Valladolid a vna hechizera : La qual auia mas de treynta años que vsaua el dicho officio, y como fue causa de algunas muertes con sus hechizos : y como la justiciaron a doze de Iunio de. 1607. en Valladolid, auiendo fido presa y castigada otras tres vezes. Con vn Romance de las condiciones de algunas mugeres. Con licencia impresa en Salamanca en casa de Antonia Ramirez viuda, Año. 1607. 4to.

Four leaves. Beneath the title is a woodcut of an "Auto de Fe." The piece is in verse.

— Obra nueua que trata de la prision y castigo que se dio en la ciudad de Cordoua, en este presente año de mil y seyscientos y nueue, a cinco hechizeras, attento sus perjudiciales delictos de hechizos, embustes, y embelecocos : por lo qual declara la historia los nombres de todas ellas, y los males que vsaron, y el castigo que se les dio en la dicha ciudad en este presente año. Impressa con licencia en Cordoua en casa de Francisco de Cea. [1609.] Lleua vna letrilla de Merlin al cabo, y vn juguete de vna dama melindrosa. 4to.

Four leaves. In metre.

WITCHES. The Lawes against Witches and Coniuration. And Some brief Notes and Observations for the Discovery of Witches. Being very usefull for these Times, wherein the Devil reignes and preuailes over the soules of poor Creatures, in drawing them to that crying Sin of Witch-Craft. Also, the Confession of Mother Lakeland, who was arraigned and condemned for a Witch, at Ipswich in Suffolke. Published by Authority. London, Printed for R. W. 1645. 4to.

Four leaves.

— A Tryal of Witches at the Assizes held at Bury St. Edmunds for the County of Suffolk ; on the Tenth day of March, 1664. Before Sir Matthew Hale K^t then Lord Chief Baron of His Majesties Court of Exchequer. Taken by a Person then attending the Court. London, Printed for William Shrewsbury at the Bible in Duck-Lane. 1682. 8vo.

A, 2 leaves ; B—E 6 in eights.

WITCHES. A True and Impartial Relation of the Informations against Three Witches, viz. Temperance Lloyd, Mary Trembles, and Susanna Edwards. Who were Indicted, Arraigned, and Convicted at the Assizes holden for the County of Devon at the Castle of Exon, Aug. 14, 1682. With their several Confessions, taken before Thomas Gift Mayor and John Davie Alderman of Biddiford in the said County, where they were Inhabitants. As also their Speeches, Confessions, and Behaviour at the time and place of Execution on the Twenty fifth of the said Month. London: Printed by Freeman Collins, and are to be sold by T. Benskin in St. Brides Church-yard, and C. Yeo Bookseller in Exon. 1682. 4to.

A, 2 leaves ; B—F in fours.

The Preface to the Reader is very curious. It speaks of the account as written by "a faithful and able Hand," but the name of the author is not given. It seems to have been considered that the narrative would prove of additional interest from the fact that "we have had no Conviction or Execution of any Witches for many years past." Those who do not believe in witches are invited to consult King Alfred, Holy Writ, King James's "Demonology," and "Sadducismus Triumphatus."

— The Tryal, Condemnation, and Execution of Three Witches, viz. Temperance Floyd, Mary Floyd, and Svsanna Edwards. Who were Arraigned at Exeter on the 18th of August, 1682. And being prov'd Guilty of Witch-Craft, were Condem'd to be Hang'd Also, how they squeezed one Hannah Thomas to death in their Arms; How they also caused several ships to be cast away . . . With many Wonderful Things, worth your Reading. Printed for J. Deacon, at the sign of the Rainbow, a little beyond St. Andrews Church, in Holborn. 1681. 4to.

Four leaves. An undescribed chapbook version.

WITHALS, JOHN. A shorte Dictionarie for yonge begynners. Gathered of good authours, specially of Columel, Grapald, and Plini. Anno M.D.LIII. [Colophon.] Thus endeth this Dictionarie, verie necessarie for children: Compiled by J. Whithals. Imprinted at London in Fletestrete in the Hoese of Thomas Berthelet. Cum priuilegio ad imprimendum solum. 4to. Black letter. R.

A—Z in fours ; the last leaf blank.

The only copy known. See the privately printed "Book of Prefaces," 1874, p. 13, where the Prologue is given entire. It is addressed to Sir Thomas Chaloner, and it is quite clear from the terms of it, that the book was then printed for the first time, and that the editions spoken of by Ames and Herbert as printed by Caxton and Wynkyn de Worde, never existed. Till this copy was discovered in 1870, the edition was altogether uncertain, though it is doubtfully mentioned by Herbert at p. 460; and at p. 465 he speaks of it as printed by Berthelet in 1559, and says that a copy was in Dr. Lort's library.

WITHER, GEORGE. Abuses Stript, and Whipt. Or Satirical Essayes. By George Wither. Diuided into two Bookes

Despise not this what ere I seeme in showe,
A foole to purpose speaks sometime you know.

At London, Printed by G. Eld, for Francis Burton, and are to be solde at his shop in Pauls Church-yard, at the signe of the Green-Dragon. 1613. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A, 8 leaves, the first blank; a, 4 leaves; B—V in eights, the last two leaves blank.

From the collection of Mr. J. D. Lewis. The copy was bound from the original sheep cover, and has many uncut leaves.

It is said that as many as seven editions of this work, for which the author was committed to the Marshalsea prison, were issued in 1613.

It has been thought that there may have been an edition of these Essays and Satires prior to 1613, and one of 1611 has been hypothetically cited. The book was not, however, registered at Stationers' Hall till 16th January, 1613-14.

— Abuses Stript, and Whipt: or Satyrical Essayes. By George Wither. Divided into two Bookes London, Printed by Humfrey Lownes, for Francis Burton, . . . 1615. Sm. 8vo.

Title, dedication, &c., 6 leaves; A, 4 leaves; B—V in eights, the last leaf blank. A portrait of the author, by W. Holle, is inserted.

— A Satyre: Dedicated to His Most Excellent Maiestie. By George Wither, Gentleman. Rebus in aduersis Crescit. London: Printed for George Norton, and are to be solde at the Signe of the red-Bull, neere Temple-barre. 1614. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

A—F in eights, the first and second leaves marked only A and A 2, the last leaf blank. Printed with a type border at the top and bottom of each page.

First edition.

— A Satyre: London: Printed by Thomas Snodham for George Norton, and are to be sold at the signe of the red-Bull, neere Temple-barre. 1615. Sm. 8vo.

A paginary reprint of the first edition, with the same borders.

— The Shepheards Hunting: Being Certaine Eglogues written during the time of the Authors Imprisonment in the Marshalsey. By George Wyther, Gentleman. London, Printed by W. White for George Norton, . . . 1615. Sm. 8vo.

A—H in eights, first and last leaves blank.

The last six printed leaves are occupied by "A Postscript to the Reader," from which we learn that the title of the volume was conferred on it by the publisher, that it would have come out sooner had not Wither's reluctance to go to press retarded it; and further, that the poet had dispersed among his friends certain other lighter productions, of which he did not desire to witness the appearance in print.

This volume is bound up with "Abuses Stript and Whipt," 1615, and "A Satyre," 1615. In the old vellum cover.

WITHER, GEORGE. A Preparation to the Psalter: by Geo: Wyther. Anno 1619. [Colophon.] London Imprinted by Nicholas Okes. 1619. Folio. R. M.

In verse and prose.

A—M in sixes; N, 8 leaves, not including an engraved title by Delaram.

Dedicated to Prince Charles in an Epistle, where the writer describes this as a "Frontispice to a greater building"—his version of the Psalms, not printed till 1632. In the Preface, which follows, he announces the work which he printed in 1620, and which is described below.

At the end occur—1. "A Soliloquy: or the Authors Preparation of himselfe vnto the Studie and Vse of the Psalter;" 2. "A Hymne of Thankesgiving after Sicknesse"

It has been said that a portrait of Wither by Delaram should accompany this volume, but it is doubtful whether that print really belongs to it.

— The Workes of Master George Wither, of Lincolns-Inne, Gentleman. Containing Satyrs. Epigrams. Eclogues. Sonnets. and Poems. Whereunto is annexed a Paraphrase on the Creed and the Lords Prayer. London, Printed by Iohn Beale for Thomas Walkley, and are to be sold at his shop at the Eagle and Child in Brittaines Burse. 1620. Sm. 8vo.

A—M 4 in eights, title on A 2, and a leaf in L blank; N—Z 4 in eights, T 4 blank.

— Exercises vpon the First Psalme. Both in Prose and Verse. By Geo: Wither, Of the Societie of Lincolnes Inne. But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, &c. Psal. 1, vers. 2. London, Printed by Edw. Griffyn, for Iohn Harrison, and are to be sold at his shop, in Pater Noster Row, at the signe of the Golden Vnicorne. 1620. Sm. 8vo.

A—M in eights, the first and last leaves blank.

Dedicated "To the Noble Young Gentle-man S^r Iohn Smith, Knight; onely Sonne to the honourable Knight, S^r Thomas Smith, Gouvernour of the East-India Company, &c." Here Wither acknowledges the kindnesses which he had received at the hands of Sir Thomas Smith; and in the Notice to the Reader he observes: "I know, that many of you, e're this time, expected the first Decade of the Psalmes, according to the promise, in my Preparation. And therefore, when you behold here, but a tenth part of it, I shall be thought to come too much short of what I intended . . ." He adds further on: "Discouragements, and hinderances, I have had many, since I began to meddle with the Psalmes."

This work was registered by John Harison, 30 March, 1620, as "The way to Blessednes, Discouered in a sixfold exercise, &c."

WITHER, GEORGE. Wither's Motto. Nec habeo, nec Careo, nec Curo. London printed for John Marriott 1621. Sm. 8vo.

A—F iv. in eights; besides the title-page, engraved by Elstracke, but including "The Explanation of the Embleme" which faces the title.

Wither himself informs us that as many as 30,000 copies of this tract were printed within a few months.

The following is the form of registration at Stationers' Hall (Arber, iv., 56), showing that the poem, as it was originally composed, was considered in some points unsuitable for publication:—

"16^o Junij [1621.]

John Marriott
John Grismond

Entred for their copie vnder the hands of Master Tauernor and Master Lownes, wardens, A booke called,
"Withers his Motto," to be printed as it is corrected by Master Tauernor. . . . vjth."

Taylor's "Motto" is next registered without a word of comment or restriction.

— Faire-Virtve, the Mistresse of Phil'arete. Written by Himselfe. [Quotation from Catullus.] London, Printed for John Grismond. 1622. Sm. 8vo.

A—P in eights, first leaf blank.

The Stationer, in his Notice to the Reader, states that this was "one of the Author's first Poems, and was composed many years agoe, and vnkown gotten out of his custodie by an acquaintance of his." It was annexed to the edition of the "Juvenilia" in 1633, together with the "Miscellany of Epigrams," which occupy the last two sheets.

"Fair Virtue" is mentioned in "Abuses Stript and Whipt," 1613, and was probably Wither's earliest work, though not printed till 1622.

— Iuvenilia. A Collection of those Poemes which were heretofore imprinted, and written by George Wither. London printed for John Budge in Paul's Church yard at y^e signe of the green dragon. 1622. Sm. 8vo.

Engraved title by Elstracke and "To the Reader vpon these Poemes," 2 leaves; A—Qq 6 in eights, A i and A 6 blank.

This first collected edition of Wither's early works includes, "Abuses Stript and Whipt," with the "Scourge and Epigrams," "Prince Henries Obsequies," "Epithalamia," "A Satyre," "The Shepheards Hunting," and "Fidelia." A new title-page, dated 1626, was added to the unsold copies.

— Iuvenilia. A Collection of those Poemes which were heretofore imprinted and written by George Wither. London printed for Robert Allott, at the beare in Paules Churchyard. 1633. Sm. 8vo.

Engraved and printed titles, 2 leaves; A—Z 5 in twelves; [a new title] Withers Motto. . . . London printed for John Grismond 1633; A (not including engraved title)—M 6 in twelves; M 6 blank.

Third edition of the "Juvenilia," with the "Motto" and "Philarete" annexed, which were not in the issues of 1622 and 1626. The present copy, which has a good deal of bibliographical matter in MS. at the beginning, relative to Wither and his writings, is bound in two volumes, and has a printed title, besides the ordinary engraved one. The former, which is of the rarest occurrence, reads as follows : "The Poems of Geo: Wither: Heretofore Imprinted, and now comprised in two Volumes, are these: In the first volume, Abuses Stript and Whipt, The Scourge. Prince Henries Obsequies. A Satyre to King James. An Epithalamia. The Shepherds Hunting. Fidelia. Withers Motto. The Mistresse of Philarete, with other Fragments." But no second volume of a collection of the poet's miscellaneous works is known; the title given above was probably cancelled.

WITHER, GEORGE. The Hymnes and Songs of the Chvrch. Diuided into two parts. The first Part comprehends the canonically Hymnes, and such parcels of Holy Scripture, as may properly be sung, with some other ancient Songs and Creeds. The Second Part consists of Spirituall Songs, appropriated to the seuerall Times and Occasions obserueable in the Church of England. Translated and composed, by G. W. London, Printed by the Assignes of George Wither. 1623. Cum Priuilegio Regis Regali. 4to. Black letter. BL. M.

A—I 2 in fours. Dedicated to James I.

Wither procured a patent for the sole publication of this work, and copies were printed in a variety of sizes, folio, quarto, octavo, duodecimo. The hymns and songs are accompanied by the music.

— The Hymnes and Songs of the Chvrch. Diuided into two Parts. . . . London, Printed by the Assignes of George Wither. 1623. Cum Priuilegio Regis Regali. 8vo.

A—O in eights. With the music.

From the collections of Mr. George Chalmers and Mr. Corser.

— Britain's Remembrancer Containing A Narration of the Plagve lately past; A Declaration of the Mischiefs present; And a Prediction of Iudgments to come; (If Repentance prevent not.) It is Dedicated (for the glory of God) to Posteritie; and, to These Times (if they please) by Geo: Wither. . . . Reade all, or censure not. . . . Imprinted for Great Britaine, and are to be sold by Iohn Grismond in Iwie-Lane. c16 Ixxxviii. Sm. 8vo.

Engraved frontispiece and explanation, 2 leaves; A—Z in twelves; &, 12 leaves; *, 2 leaves. In verse.

— The Psalmes of David Translated Into Lyrick-Verse, according to the scope, of the Original. And Illustrated, with a Short Argument, and a breife Prayer, or Meditation; before & after, every Psalm. By George Wither. Imprinted In the Neatherlands By Cornelis Gerrits van Breughel. M.DC.XXXII. Sm. sqr. 8vo. BL. M.

A—V 6 in eights.

Dedicated to Elizabeth, Queen of Bohemia. This translation was completed about 1625, but had been commenced some time before, and continued at the request of James I.

This is considered one of the rarest of Wither's productions. Before his death, the poet prepared a revised copy, which still exists in MS.

WITHER, GEORGE. A Collection of Emblemes, Ancient and Moderne: Quickened With Metricall Illvstrations, both Morall and Divine: And disposed into Lotteries, That Instruction, and Good Counsell, may bee furthered by an Honest and Pleasant Recreation. By George Wither. The First Booke. London, Printed by A. M. for Richard Royston, and are to be sold at his Shop in Iwie-Lane. MDCXXXV. Folio. Plates. R. M.

Frontispiece by W. Marshall, and metrical "Preposition" to the same, 2 leaves; printed title, 1 leaf; "A Writ of Prevention," 1 leaf; Dedication to Charles I., 2 leaves; A—S in fours, except K, which has only two leaves; (), 2 leaves; no sig. T; V—Dd in fours; (), 2 leaves; Ee—Oo in fours, the last leaf occupied by a woodcut of a dial.

The second, third, and fourth Books of the Emblems have each a separate title, but the signatures are continuous. This fine and large copy ($11\frac{1}{2} \times 7\frac{1}{2}$) was obtained in Holland many years ago, and was then in the old vellum cover. It wants, as usual, the pointers to the dial.

The plates were originally engraved for the Emblems of Rollenhagenius printed at Cologne and Arnheim in 1613-16, which is described in the catalogue. The plates having been purchased by a London publisher, Wither was employed to write illustrative verses to them.

— Halelviah or, Britans Second Remembrancer, bringing to Remembrance (in praisefull and Pœnitentiall Hymns, Spirituall Songs, and Morall-Odes) Meditations, advancing the glory of God, in the practise of Pietie and Vertue; and applied to easie Tunes, to be Sung in Families, &c. Composed in a three-fold Volume, by George Wither. The first, contains Hymns Occasionall. The Second, Hymns-Temporary. The third, Hymns Personall. That all Persons, according to their Degrees, and Qualities, may at all Times, and upon all eminent Occasions, be remembred to praise God; and to be mindfull of their Duties.

*One woe is past, the second, passing on;
Beware the third, if this, in vain be gone.*

London, Printed by I. L. for Andrew Hebb, at the Bell in Pauls Church-yard. 1641. Sm. 8vo.

A—Y in twelves, the last two leaves blank.

Dedicated to the Parliament. This is one of the rarest of Wither's publications. Not more than three perfect copies are known. The present, which is probably by far the finest, was formerly in the Bridgwater collection, and has the arms of that family on the sides. At page 408 the four concluding lines of Hymn XXVII. have been struck through with a pen by the first Earl of Bridgwater, who, in allusion to the death of his wife, has substituted the following in his own handwriting:—

"And let not me ere wed againe,
But in a single state remaine;
Lord, to thine honour let it be,
And satisfaction unto me."

On the title-page and at the end occurs the autograph of T. Park, and on the flyleaf is this note in his hand: "This singular copy of a Book most singularly rare, must have been huddled into some large lot at the Duke of Bridgewater's sale in Aug. 1800. I purchased it about three months afterward at a book-shop near Holborn. The only second copy I have traced was obtained from Herbert by Mr. A. Dalrymple, who says that 'many fine things are interspersed in it, perhaps nowhere to be surpassed.' See his 'Extracts,' 1785, p. 15." It is added in pencil: "Mr. Heber since bot. a copy at Brand's sale."

The copy mentioned as belonging to Heber, and which is now in the collection of T. Gaisford, Esq., has an old MS. note on the flyleaf which states it to have been a presentation copy from the author. Dalrymple's copy is now in the British Museum. The volume here described was sold as a Bridgewater duplicate, but there is no copy now in that collection.

WITHER, GEORGE. Campo-Musæ Or The Field-Musings of Captain George Wither, touching his Military Engagement for the King and Parliament, the Justnesse of the same, and the present distractions of these Islands. London, Printed by R. Austin, and A. Coc. 1643. 8vo.

— Letters of Advice: Touching The Choice of Knights and Burgesses. [Colophon.] Printed by R.[obert] A.[ustin]. 1644. 4to. The edges uncut.

A—B in fours.

Printed without a title-page. There are a few verses at the end.

— The Two Incomparable Generalissimos of the World, with their Armies briefly described and embattailed, visibly and invisibly opposing each other. London Printed for James Butler. 1644. A Broadside.

In verse, printed in two colours, and subscribed G. W.

— Vox Pacifica: A voice tending to The Pacification of God's wrath; and offering those Propositions, or Conditions, by the acceptance, and performance whereof, in some good measure, a firme and continuing Peace may be obtained. It is directed to the King, Parliaments, and People of these Islands: By Geo. Wither Esquire, (a Commander in this War) heretofore their unheeded Remembrancer of Plagues and Deliverances past; and their timely Forewarner of the Judgments now come. He hath disposed it into six Books, or Canto's, whereof foure onely are contained in this Volume; and the other deferred to be hereafter published, as there shall be Cause. London, Printed by Robert Austin, in the Old-Baily. cD. Ic xlv. 8vo.

A, 6 leaves; B—O 4 in eights. In verse. Dedicated "To the King, Parliaments, and People, of These British Isles." On the back of the printed title occurs "The meaning of the Frontispice," in verse, which is followed by a woodcut map of Great Britain and Ireland.

WITHER, GEORGE. Mr. Wither His Prophesie of our present Calamity, and (except we repent) future misery. Written by him in the Yeare 1628. [No title-page, place, printer's name, or date.] [About 1645.] 4to.

A—B in fours.

This is a reprint from "Britain's Remembrancer," 1628.

— The Doubtfull Almanack. Or, A very suspitious presage of great Calamities yet to ensue. By G. Wither. [1646.] 4to.

Four leaves.

Printed without any title, printer's name, place, and date. It was a spurious piece, disowned by Wither in the tract called his "Disclaimer," 4to., 1646.

— What Peace to the wicked? Or, An Expostulatorie Answer to A Derisorie Question, Lately made concerning Peace. By a Freeman, though a Prisoner.

The Author spares his Name; not, that he dares not To let you know it; but, because he cares not.

Printed in the Yeer 1646. 4to.

Four leaves. In verse.

This is one of the pieces which, according to Wither, became so scarce that he was led to give extracts from it in his "Echoes from the Sixth Trumpet." From Mr. Bright's collection.

— To the most honourable the Lords and Commons in Parliament assembled: The humble Declaration and Petition of Major Geo. Wither. [1647.] A Broadside.

Without printer's name, date, or place.

— Major Wither's Disclaimer: Being A Disavowment of a late Paper, entituled The Doubtfull Almanack. Lately Published In the name of the said Major Wither. [Colophon.] Printed by R. Austin 1647. 4to.

Four leaves, with a page of verse at the end. Without any regular title.

— Amygdala Britannica, Almonds for Parrets. A Dish of Stone-Fruit, partly shel'd, and partly unshel'd; which (If crack'd, pick'd, and well digested) May be wholesome against those Epidemick Distempers of the Brain, now predominant; and prevent some Malignant Diseases, likely to ensue. Composed, heretofore, by a well-knowne Moderne Author; and, now published according, to a Copie, found written with his own Hand. Qui bene latuit, bene vivit. [Quotation from St. Matthew, xiii., &c.] Anno dō Ioc xlvii. 4to. R. M.

In verse.

— The British Appeals, with God's Mercifull Replies, on the behalf of the Commonwealth of England. Contained in a brief Commemorative Poem, Composed for a Memoriall of those many signall Mercies, lately vouchsafed to this Republike; especially, for those deliverances upon the Appeals of the Parliaments, and Royall Forces at Naseby; of the English and Scottish Armies near Dunbar in Scotland, and for the late Surrender of Edinburgh Castle, &c. Humbly offered the 30. of January, 1650, as his mite of thankfulness, toward the publike Thanksgiving, lately enjoyed by an Act of Parliament to be celebrated that Day. By Geo. Wither, Esquire. Febr. 1, 1650. Let this Poem, entituled the British Appeals, &c. be speedily printed. William Lenthall, Speaker. London: Printed by R.[obert] A.[ustin.] 1651. 8vo.

— Epistolium-Vagum-Prosa-Metricum: or, An Epistle at Rاندome, in Prose and Metre. To be delivered, to all whom it may concern; but, was first intended only, for two or three of the Authors Friends in Authority (if he hath so many left) to mediate in Parliament the Redress of his destructive Grievances; in the expression whereof many Particulars of Publick Concernment are interwoven.

When Justice reigns, the land doth flourish;
When, 'tis unthroned, the People perish.

The Author, is George Wither Esq; Who, in writing this Address, being transported beyond the sense of his Personal Sufferings, discovers by a Poetical Rapture, that whereon the peace of these Nations depends Printed at London, in the Year 1659. 4to. R. M.

WITHER, GEORGE. Salt upon Salt: Made out of certain Ingenious Verses and the Death of His Highness Ensuing. By which Contemplative Object Occasion is taken to offer to Consideration the probable neer approaching of greater Storms, and more sad Consequences. By Geo. Wither, Esquire.

Salt seasons all things, saving onely those Which must feed Fishes, Maggots, Dogs and Crows.
Read it, and heed it, For you need it;
And so God speed it.

London, Printed for L. Chapman, at the Crown in Popes-Head-Alley. 1659. 8vo.

A—I in fours. In verse.

The last three leaves are occupied by "A bitter-sweet Passion of the Soul, expressed in a Hymne to God. By the same Author."

— Fides-Anglicana. Or, A Plea for the Publick-Faith Of these Nations, Lately pawned, forfeited and violated by some of their former Trustees, to the rendring it as infamous, as Fides-Punica was heretofore. . . . London, Printed in the year MDCLX. 8vo. G. M.

— Verses Intended to the King's Majesty, by Major George Wither, Whilst he was Prisoner in Newgate: Which being found Written with his own Hand, among his loose Papers, since his Commitment close Prisoner to the Tower, Are now Published, as pertinent both to his Majesty, and to Him. London, Printed in the year, 1662. Sm. 8vo.

Eight leaves, the first and last blank.

— A Proclamation in the Name of the King of Kings to all the Inhabitants of the Isles of Great Brittain: And especially to those that have Hypocritically pretended to Justice, Mercy, Honesty and Religion; (as also to them that have lived in open Prophaness and Impiety) summoning them to Repentance, by denouncing God's Judgements, and declaring his Mercy, offered in the Everlasting Gospel. Warrantably Proclaimed and Preached by Geo. Wither, though not by any Humane Ordination. Whereto are added some Fragments of the same Authors, omitted in the first Imprinting of the Book, Intituled, Scraps and Crums; and a few which were collected since that Impression, and during his Imprisonment. London Printed in the year, 1662. 8vo. R. M.

A, 3 leaves; B—I in fours.

The "Proclamation" concludes on D verso, and the rest of the volume is occupied by the "Fragments," which are entirely in verse.

— The Prisoners Plea: Humbly Offered in a Remonstrance;

With a Petition Annexed, To the Commons of England in Parliament Assembled; By George Wither: Falsely charged to have composed a Lybel against the said Commons, and therefore now Prisoner in Newgate. It containeth also, many Interjections not to be despised; as also a Colateral Corolary, of publick Concernment; and in particular touching the Blood-Shed, whereinto God is now making Inquisition. [Quotation from 2 Cor. xii, 9. 10.] London, Printed in the Year, 1662, 8vo.

A, 3 leaves; B—H 3 in fours. At the end are eight lines of verse by way of epilogue.

— Three Private Meditations, Which being, for the most Part, of Publick Concernment, are therefore Published by their Author, Geo. Wither. The First, is, a Private Thanksgiving, consisting of three Hymns, whereby God is magnified for his Mercy vouchsafed in the late Ingagement between the English and the Dutch, in June 1665, Composed after celebrating the Publick Thanksgiving commanded by the King. The Second, is a Sacrifice of Praise and Prayer, by him offered to Almighty God, for His providential respect, to Him, his Wife and Children, during his Imprisonment in the disgraceful Goal of Newgate, when left destitute of all ordinary means of subsistance, by being deprived both of his Estate and Liberty. The Third, Intituled Nil Ultra, is a Soliloquium, wherein this Author expresses the improbability of an effectual proceeding further, to prevent the Sins and Plagues increasing, by ought which he can offer to consideration. *Reprinted in the Year, 1666. 8vo. — Fragmenta Prophetica. Or, the Remains of George Wither, Esq; being A Collection of the several Predietions, dispers'd throughout his Works. Some verified in the Author's life-time; many yet unfulfill'd, the Accomplishment whereof seem very probable. The last Work of the Author, and collected by his own hand a little before his death. London, Printed, and are to be sold at Temple-Barr, and in Bishops-gate-street, 1669. Sm. 8vo. O. M.

A—Ee in fours. With a portrait of Wither, "Ætat. suæ 79."

This is a selection from some of Wither's previous publications. At p. 47 he mentions his "Motto" as printed in 1618, but no such edition is now known. He speaks of some of his works as even then difficult to procure, particularly his first "Remembrancer," 1628, which is now a common book.

— Majesty in Misery, Or an Imploration to the King of Kings; Written by His late Majesty King Charles the First, in his durance at Carisbrook Castle, 1648. [Colophon.] London, Printed Anno Domini 1681. Folio.

A single leaf. In verse.

This small piece of poetry, although it purports, as we see, to have proceeded from the king's pen, is usually ascribed to Wither. It is inserted in the later editions of the "Eikon Basilike," and in the edition of Wither's Emblems, 8vo., 1732.

WITHER, GEORGE. *Divine Poems (by way of Paraphrase) on the Ten Commandments. It appears from the dedication of Wither's daughter and only surviving child, "To all such as have formerly been Friends to the Author," that the original plates mentioned in the author's Preface were lost, and that others were made for it after his death. A MS. note in the copy here described says that the plates which appear in the volume are similar to those which occur in a 4to. tract by Jenner, called "Punishments inflicted on the breakers of the Ten Commandments," 1650. The lady, who describes herself as Wither's only living representative, signs herself "E. B." and dates "From my lodgings at Mr. Snowdens a Printers," in Great Carter Lane. The copies of the present work dated 1697 and 1728 are merely new title-pages printed for the unsold copies of the edition of 1688.

This beautiful and rare volume contains 118 wood engravings by Lucas Cranach of the relics, reliquaries, and treasures of the Church of All Saints at Wittenberg. On the title is a copperplate engraving with Cranach's monogram dated 1510. It contains two portraits, which, according to Bartsch, vol. vii., p. 276, represent Albert the Bold and his son Henry the Pious, Dukes of Saxony, but according to Passavant, vol. iv., p. 6, Frederick III. and his brother John I. are the persons represented. Neither Bartsch nor Passavant appears to have been aware that this engraving belonged to the title-page of a book. Graesse informs us that three copies of this choice volume are known upon vellum, one at Berlin, a second at Munich, and a third in private hands in Silesia.

WOLCOTT, ROGER. Poetical Meditations, being the Improvement of some Vacant Hours. By Roger Wolcott, Esq.; with a Preface by the Reverend Mr. Bulkley of Colchester. New-London : Printed and Sold by T. Green, 1725. Sm. 8vo. R. M.

a—d 6 in eights, including a half-title ; B—E in eights ; F—G 2 in half-sheets.

A little volume of extreme rarity. The Preface by Bulkley consists of an elaborate essay on Government, dated from Colchester [N.E.] December 24, 1724. The work itself opens with a metrical dedication by the author to Mr. Timothy Edwards, dated from Windsor [N.E.] January 4, 1722-3. Pp. 1-18 are occupied by religious poems, but on p. 19 occurs, in verse : "A Brief Account of the Agency of the Honourable John Winthrop, Esq. ; in the Court of King Charles the Second, Anno. Dom. 1662. When he obtained for the Colony of Connecticut His Majesty's Gracious Charter." This occupies the remainder of the volume.

Sixteen leaves.

This very curious almanac and diary was quite unknown till the discovery of this copy by Mr. C. J. Stewart in the covers of another book.

In Jocher's Gelehrte Lexicon it is stated that the author was a native of Zurich and, in 1566, succeeded Conrad Gesner as Professor of Medicine in the University of that town. He was also the editor of several learned works.

WOLFGANG, S. Incipit Vita diui Vuolfgangi praesulis eximii. . . . [Colophon.] *Finit legenda Sancti Vuolfgangi Episcopi ex variis collectis. Una cum historia sua necnō Officio suo. A—I in eights, the last leaf blank.

This volume contains fifty-four woodcuts, each of which occupies a page, and opposite to each is a descriptive account of it, exactly in the manner of the Block-books. It appears very probable that there was a Block-book edition which is now lost. An earlier edition is recorded by Panzer, "Legenda S. Wolfgangi Episcopi Ratisponensis cum officio vesperarum matutinarum et misse de eodem. Impressum in opido Burgdorf. 1475. Folio." 20 leaves. But it is not mentioned whether it has any woodcuts, and very little appears to be known about it, even the identity of the place of printing being disputed.

A—R 4 in eights.

The portraits do not occur in the first edition, printed in 1657. They are mostly from the same plates as those in the series which is described in this catalogue under "Effigies," but some of them have been coarsely re-engraved, as for example that of Henry IV. The impressions are necessarily very inferior to those in the "Effigies."

WOOD, WILLIAM. The Bow-man's Glory; or, Archery Revived. Giving An Account of the many signal Favours vouchsafed to Archers and Archery by those Renowned Monarchs King Henry VIII. WORTLEY, SIR FRANCIS. Characters and Elegies. By Francis Wortley, Knight and Baronet. Printed in the Yeere, CIO. IOC XLVI. 4to.

A—K 2 in fours, and a leaf of errata which is misplaced between pp. 32-3.

This copy, in the original gilt vellum binding with strings, and with the author's autograph corrections and additions, was apparently that presented to Lady Abigail Sherard, and came from the library of Lord Harborough. On the flyleaf at the beginning is a letter in the handwriting of Sir F. Wortley to her ladyship, and at the end are copied, in a different hand, two short pieces, entitled "Britannicus his blessing, and Britannicus his wellcome," printed together, at Cambridge, 4to., 1646. The letter has been printed in "Notes and Queries." Among the persons upon whom elegies are here found is Francis Quarles the poet. The author appears to have been much vexed at the numerous errors of the press. At the end of the last page he has written "never worse printer", and at the head of the errata he says, "I shall desire the reader of these Phansies to pardon the errors of the Presse: I used the help of a meane Scholar in the copy, and being (as I am a prisoner) could not see the errors but in the book."

WORTLEY, SIR FRANCIS. The Dvctie of Sir Francis Wortley; Deliniated, in his piovs pittty and Christian Commiseration of the Sorrowes and Sufferings of the most vertuous, yet unfortunate Lady Elisabeth Queene of Bohemia. This defence of Elizabeth of Bohemia was answered in a tract printed the following year at York.

— A Declaration from York, By Sir Francis Wortley, Knight and Baronet. In vindication of himself from divers aspersiones and rumours concerning the drawing of his sword, and other actions, wherein he desires to give the World satisfaction. London, Printed by A. N. for Thomas Warren, 1642. 4to.

Four leaves.

This pamphlet relates to the desire of the Parliamentary party to remove the large magazine of arms and ammunition stationed at Hull, in consequence of an apprehension that the local gentry were too strongly royalist in their opinions, and to the personal resistance said to have been offered by Wortley to the Sheriff and Committee authorized by the Parliament to act in the business.

Title and Preface, 2 leaves; A—G in twelves, last leaf blank. First edition.

In an address from the Printer to the Reader, we are informed that these letters were published from the original in Wotton's autograph. They range in date between 1611 and 1638, and abound in historical and personal interest. At p. 30 is an account of the Destruction of the Globe Theatre by fire in 1613; we have at p. 140: "A Hymne made by H. W. in the nights of a great sickness abroad;" and at p. 155 occurs a curious account of the attempted performance of Robert Tailour's play, "The Hog hath lost his Pearl," by sixteen London apprentices.

Two hundred and fifty leaves, without catchwords, pagination, or signatures. The number of lines in the page varies from twenty-seven to thirty.

This work has no regular title, and the contents are set out at too great length to give them in full. It consists of eighteen different pieces, amongst which occur the history of Guiscard and Sigismunda, the banishment of Cosmo de Medicis from Florence; of St. Bernard and his brother; the history of the burning of Jerome of Prague and John Huss; Apuleius's story of the Golden Ass, &c. The first six leaves are occupied with the table of contents and the dedicatory epistle to Ulrich, Duke of Wurtemberg, the latter being dated from Stuttgart April 18, 1478. It has woodcut initials at the beginning of the chapters and paragraphs. It is attributed by Hain to the press of Conrad Fyner of Esslingen.

Iackson, for Gabriell Carwood. 1592. 4to. Cuts of arms. G. M.*

A—V in fours, besides the title.

S. Erdeswick, a native of Staffordshire, wrote the earlier portion of the volume, which is a prose treatise on "The true vse of Armes." Wyrley's part commences on D 3, and consists of two histories in verse in the style of the "Mirror for Magistrates." The first is "The Glorious Life and Honorable Death of Sir Iohn Chandos, Lord of Saint Saluour", and the other "The Honorable Life and Langvishing Death of Sir Iohn de Galley Capitall de Bvz," both in the 7-line stanza.

On the title of the present copy occur the initials "G. B.," believed to be in the handwriting of Sir George Buc, Master of the Revels in the time of James I.

WYTFLIET, CORNELIUS. Descriptionis Ptolemaicæ avgmentum, siue Occidentis Notitia Breui commentario illustrata. Studio et opera Cornely Wytfliet Louaniensis. Lovanii, Typis Johannis Bogardi Anno Domini M.D.XCVII. Folio.

B. for George Badger, and are to be sold at his shop in St. Dunstons Church-yard Fleetstreet.* 1647. Sm. 8vo. BL. M.

A—F in eights, title on A 2.

"To the Right Honourable and Truly Vertuous Lady, the Lady Katherine D'Arci, These following Poems are by the Author, Humbly Dedicated and Presented." The poems end on C 6 ; C 7 is blank, and on the next leaf is a separate title, introducing the second portion of the volume. The general title is engraved by W. Marshall. Inserted in this copy is a printed title-page to the first portion of the work, varying very little from the engraved one, but curious as being otherwise unknown.

From Mr. Jolley's collection.

a—e vi in eights, the last leaf blank.

The only copy known of this edition. It is described from this copy by HARRISSE, B. A. V., pt. 2. The title is within a woodcut border, and beneath the words, "Conquista del Peru" is a rude woodcut of a town with vessels before it. According to Mr. HARRISSE it is the second edition, having been printed, in his opinion, by Juan de Junta at Seville, a little earlier than the folio of 1547. The first edition was printed at Seville in 1534.

XEREZ, FRANCISCO DE. Libro primo de la conquista del Perv & prouincia del Cuzco de le Indie occidentali. Con gratia & priuilegio per anni X. [Colophon.] Stampato in Vinegia per Maestro Stephano da Sabio del MDXXXV. Nel mese di Marzo. 4to.

Title and preliminaries, 4 leaves ; a—f in eights ; g, 10 leaves.

On the second leaf of the volume is a fuller title or description of the book, which begins, "La admirabile ampla et vera narratione della conquista del Perv & prouintia del Cuzco chiamata la noua Castiglia, conquistata per il molto magnifico & valeroso caualliero Francesco Picciaro caualliero della citta de Trugillo de Spagna come capitano general della Cesarea & catholica maiesta del Imperador Carolo qnto Re di Spagna &c. mandata a sua Maiesta per Francesco de Xerez secretario del supradetto signor capitano generale." &c.

The original Spanish version of this book was printed at Seville, in folio, in 1534, under the title of "Verdadera relacion de la conquista del Peru," &c. It consists of nineteen leaves, including the title. Another piece, with a very similar title, "La conquista del Peru llamada la nueva Castilla," but consisting of only eight leaves, was printed at Seville in the same year. Under "Xerez," Brunet refers to "Conquista," but under that head he gives the title of this anonymous work, and then describes this Italian version of Xerez as though it were a translation of it, while he does not describe the original of Xerez' work at all.

HARRISSE (No. 200) describes this book as being in the Grenville Catalogue, p. 536, but it is the Spanish edition of the anonymous "Conquista del Peru, Sevilla. 1534," that is described at that page. This book is described at p. 818.

Folios i.-cxvii., including the title.

The title forms part of a large woodcut which occupies the whole of the first leaf.

This edition appears to be altogether unknown to bibliographers. An earlier one, printed at Salamanca in 1495, is recorded by Panzer and Antonio, the latter of whom has the following notice of it :

“Lucero de la vida Christiana. Ad Elizabetham Reginam, Salmanticæ anno MCDXCV. in folio. Prohibitam tamen Expurgatorio nostro ultimo libro quanam ratione fuerit, nobis non adhuc notum.”—Bibliotheca Hispana Vetus, v. 2, p. 339.

a—y and A—F in eights.

The edition is described by Graesse, but he erroneously assigns 266 leaves to it, the present copy being unquestionably perfect and complete, with 224 leaves (28 sheets of 8 leaves each). The body of the work ends with the colophon as given above on the recto of D 2. On the verso of the same leaf we read "Hie nach volgend Sant Brigitten gebettlyn" over a woodcut. These prayers end on the verso of E v. On E vi. begins "Andechtig lob der glyder marie" over a woodcut of the Virgin and Child, and this ends the volume on the recto of F viii. This last part consists of prayers addressed to the different parts of the body of the Virgin. "Zu den Armen Marie," "Zu den brüsten marie," "Zu der nasen marie," &c.

a—z in eights. This is preceded by 12 leaves with the title "Andechtig vnd fruchtbar lob der glyder Marie," and is followed by a piece of 12 leaves with the title "Sant Brigitten gebetty."

This edition appears to be undescribed by bibliographers. It is very prettily printed, with a woodcut border round each page.

A., T. The Massacre of Money. Teruntio seu vitiosa muce non emitur. London Printed by Thomas Creede for Thomas Bushell. 1602. 4to. R. M.

A—F 3 in fours.

A poem in 6-line stanzas. The dedication is addressed: "To the Worshipfull, vertuous, and most worthy gentlemen, M. William and M. Thomas Bedles health and their hearts content," and is signed with the initials T. A.

The name of the author has never been ascertained, though the book has usually been ascribed to Thomas Achelly. Mr. Collier, who gives a very full account of the book in his "Bibliographical Catalogue," remarks that it is ascribed to him on no very sufficient grounds.

ADAMSON, JOHN. The Commonplace book of John Adamson, 1665-6, and of members of his family, being a miscellany of prose and verse, written between 1665 and 1690. Sm. 8vo.

Manuscript on paper.

ADAMUS CARTHUSIENSIS. Sermones Ade Cartusiensis et aliorum. Vita S. Hugonis Episcopi Lincolniensis. Vita ejusdem Ade. Etc. Folio. MS. on vellum.

Two hundred and twenty folios, written in the earlier part of the fifteenth century, in double columns, with rubrics and coloured initials.

At the beginning, on the fly-leaf, facing folio 1, is this inscription: "Liber Domus Salutationis matris dei Ordinis Cartusiensis prope london;" and at the end, after the table of contents, is written: "Liber Domus Ordinis Cartusiensis prope London."

1. "Incipit secunda pars sermonum quos Magister dompnus adam ordinis cartusiensis monachus composuit: quos et nunc propter fastidium lectoris amouendum constat esse abbreviatos." After twenty-three sermons is this colophon: "Expliciuunt sermones secunde partis magistri ade cartusiensis." Ff. 1-99b.

2. "Sermo beati fulgencij episcopi: de natiuitate domini." Inc. "Cupientes aliquid." Ff. 99b-101b.

3. "Sermo beati maximi episcopi: de natiuitate domini." Inc. "Justissime fratres." Ff. 101b-103.

4. "Sermo beati augustini episcopi: de sancto stephano." Inc. "Quum in deo." Ff. 103-106.

5. "Sermo venerabilis bede presbyteri: de sancto Johanne euangelista." Inc. "Gaudeamus fratres." Ff. 106-111.

6. "De festo sancte Agnetis secundo." Inc. "Igitur dum parentes." F. 111ab.

7. "De Vita Sancti Hugonis." After this title (which is written by a hand somewhat later than that of the first scribe) follows: "Prologus abbreviacionis uite beati Hugonis," commencing, "Inspecta serie descripcionis uite beati hugonis quam composuit frater A. de quo in salutatione ante prologum mencio fit expressa." This last-mentioned prologue or dedication commences on the following page: "Dominis et amicis in Christo carissimis, R. Priori et qui cum eo sunt sanctis Withamensibus monachis seruorum suorum minimus frater A. uite que nunc est et future gaudia." The Life is comprised in five books, each of which is divided into chapters. The first chapter of book i. begins thus: "Hugo genetricis solacio . . . orbatus est." Chapter xxviii. of the last book terminates: "ad gloriam dei qui viuit et gloriatur super omnia deus benedictus in secula AMEN. Explicit liber abbreviacionis uite beati Hugonis." Ff. 112-213b.

After one blank column and one blank page are the following articles, written in long lines, not much later than the foregoing pieces:—

8. "De vita et conuersacione Magistri Ade cartusiensis secundum quod habetur in cronica domus de Witham." Inc. "Fuit itaque vir iste Magister Adam in confinio anglie et scocie oriundus." The Life is followed by a list of so many of his works as the writer could remember, commencing with his Sermons, in two volumes. Ff. 214b-218b.

9. "De priore de Witham alberto nomine." Inc. "Eodem tempore Dominus Hugo lincolniensis episcopus." F. 219.

10. "Sermo in die sancto Pasche," on the text "Alleluia." Inc. "Patres reuerendi et confratres in domino carissimi." Written by another and somewhat later hand, in long lines, and in smaller writing. Ff. 219-220.

11. "Sermo deuoti ac religiosi patris domini thome kempis ordinis diui augustini de cruce dominica in sacra religione portanda." Inc. "Michi Autem absit gloriari." This is written in long lines, by a scribe of the fifteenth century, on three leaves, inserted after the twentieth sermon of Adam the Carthusian. Ff. 80*-82*.

On the last page (f. 220b): "Contenta in hoc volumine," &c. All the above-mentioned articles are referred to except those numbered 6 and 11. At the foot is written: "Liber Domus Ordinis Cartusiensis prope London."

Adam the Carthusian is mentioned in the "Bibliotheca Carthusiana" of T. Petreius, Colonia, 1609, 8vo., as well as by Pits, Vossius, and others, who generally state that he flourished A.D. 1340, or thereabouts. From the account of him contained in the present MS., it appears that he lived at a considerably earlier period, and that he was first a monk and then Abbot of the Præmonstratensian monastery of Dryburgh in Scotland, but that he subsequently joined the Carthusian order, and became a monk of Witham, county of Somerset—their first house in England, which was at that time under the special care of St. Hugh, who had been prior there. This prelate deceased A.D. 1200.

The Sermons are not mentioned by Petreius, nor, so far as appears, by any other writer. The twenty-first of these is entitled "Sermo in die sancti hugonis episcopi lincolniensis;" and it is observable that the saint is spoken of historically, and that a "Life" of him is cited, as well as the "Speculum" of Beauvais, who flourished A.D. 1250.

These facts, though consistent with the date assigned to Adam the Carthusian by Petreius and others, viz. 1340, do not agree with his biography as recorded in this MS. (artt. 8, 9). Unless there were two Carthusian writers of the name of Adam, the date 1340 must be an erroneous one. The sermon on St. Hugh would appear to have been interpolated into the series.

Petreius refers to the "Life of St. Hugh," in five books, and cites words of the author's which are found in the present copy: "—que de uiro beatissimo lincolniensi presule uidi audiui," &c., f. 111b, col. 2. He imagines that the book was written, not by Adam the Carthusian, but by an archdeacon of Lincoln who was familiarly acquainted with St. Hugh—an opinion which is plainly contrary to the evidence furnished by this MS.

This volume is in the original monastic binding, consisting of massive boards of oak, covered with white leather, and with the ancient chased clasps attached to leathern thongs. It is a valuable and interesting relic of the library of the ancient Carthusian monastery of London, on the site of which Thomas Sutton founded the Charterhouse School and Almshouses.

ÆSOP. La Vita de Esopo Hystoriata. Fabule de Esopo hystoriate [senz' alcuna nota]. Sm. 8vo. Woodcuts.

"La Vita", A—K iv. in eights, the last leaf blank. "Fabule", A—K in eights.

The title to the "Vita de Esopo" is over a woodcut, on which are the initials . I . C. These initials are engraved by Nagler, "Monogrammisten Lexikon," vol. iii., No. 2061. He is unable to give the name of the artist or wood-engraver to whom they belong, but he remarks that they occur in the "Triumpho di Fortuna" of Sigismondo Fanti, printed at Venice, 1526, and it may be inferred that this edition of Æsop was from a Venetian press, about the same date. It does not appear to be described by bibliographers. Some of the engravings in the work of Fanti bear the initials I. M. on a tablet. See Nagler, vol. iii., No. 2809.

ALAEJOS, ESTEVAN DE. *Obra muy vtil y prouechosa para los deuotos de nuestra Señora, y Cofrades de la Cofradia del Rosario. MS. of the fifteenth century, on twenty-nine pages of vellum.

John Alcock, the author of the first-named tract, and probably of the others, held successively the sees of Rochester, Worcester, and Ely from 1472 to 1500. "The Abbey of the Holy Ghost" was printed by Wynken de Worde without date.

a—n in eights, followed by four leaves of the Hebrew alphabet.

First edition. From the choice collection of M. Renouard, who has added a proof impression of the portrait of Aldus engraved for his “Annales des Alde.”

M. Renouard remarks:—“Cette première édition est extrêmement rare; et manque dans la plupart des collections Aldines. M. le comte Méjan la croit plus rare, même que les Virgiles de 1501 et 1505. Je serois assez de son avis, laissant néanmoins aux deux Virgiles toute leur importance comme monuments typographiques du plus haut intérêt.”

ALKEN, HENRY. The National Sports of Great Britain, with descriptions in English and French. London, 1821. Royal folio.

With fifty coloured plates of hawking, racing, hunting, shooting, pugilism, cock-fighting, bearbaiting, &c., drawn by Alken, and engraved by J. Clark.

Nine printed leaves, preceded by a leaf occupied by a woodcut. The printer's small device, white on a black ground, is beneath the title given above. From the collection of Mr. Kenelm Henry Digby, author of the “Broadstone of Honour.” No other copy is known; but a different almanac, from the same press, was bequeathed by Dr. Bliss to the Bodleian library. On the flyleaf is an inscription commemorating the donation of the volume to Mr. Digby by the Reverend Father Scott, of the Society of Jesus, on the day of his first communion in the Jesuits' Chapel, Norton Street, London. At the end is a leaf, printed in a larger type than the Almanac itself, giving an account of the graces to be granted “to all y^e bredren and systers of Jesus fraternyte in y^e crowdes vnder Poules.”

AMARYLLIS: Consisting of such Songs as are most esteemed for Composition and Delicacy, and Sung, at the Publick Theatres or Gardens; All chosen from the Works of the Best Masters, And rightly Adapted for the Voice, Violin, Hauboy, Flute and German Flute. Vol. i., title, preface, and contents, 2 leaves; pp. 1—80. Vol. ii., pp. 1—80 including title-page.

The whole of this rare book is engraved, and each page of text and music is surmounted by a vignette.

The second piece in the first volume may help to fix the date of publication. It is "A Song in Honour of His Royal Highness y^e Duke [of Cumberland] on his great defeat of the Rebels in Scotland."

[AMES, RICHARD.] Fatal Friendship; Or the Drunkards Misery: being a Satyr against Hard Drinking. By the Author of the Search after Claret. . . . London, Printed for, and Sold by, Randal Taylor, near Stationers-Hall, 1693. 4to.

Six leaves, including the title.

— A Position maintained by I. B. before the late Earle of Huntingdon: viz. Priests are executed not for Religion, but for treason. Newly imprinted. 1600. Sm. 8vo.

Eight leaves, the first blank.

These tracts are bound together in one volume. They are in the original limp vellum binding, and on the fly-leaf is inscribed: "Samuel Bamfordes booke of his fathers gifte."

The third piece in the volume is addressed by James Bamford "To his welbelov'd in Christ, the Parisbioners of Saint Olaves in Southwarke," and the initials in the title of the seventh tract appear to indicate the same author. It therefore seems extremely probable that Bamford was the author of the whole of the pieces, and presented the volume to his son as a collection of his works. That he did not put his name to them is not to be wondered at, as they are written on the Puritan side. The tract in defence of Darell is especially curious. Being in opposition to the works published on the same subject by Archbishop Harsnet and Bishop Barlow, the author evidently thought it safer to put neither his own name nor even that of a publisher to it. The amount of credulity it displays in regard to witches and witchcraft is surprising, even for those days. With the exception of the "Short Dialogue concerning the plagues infection," all these tracts appear to be undescribed by bibliographers.

From Mr. George Daniel's collection. The book is dedicated to James Howell, the author of the "Epistolæ Ho-elianæ." In the "Bibliotheca Anglo-Poetica" a letter is quoted at full, in which Howell thanks his nephew for the dedication.

The last piece in the book contains some curious plagiarisms from Milton's "L'Allegro":—

"let no cock
His matins ring, till pomp, and revellry
Have tane their fills, with masque, and pagentry," &c.

In London the 12th day of Septembre A^o. 1572.

Sixty pages of manuscript on vellum, in the original vellum binding, with the arms of Queen Elizabeth, and her cipher on the sides. The date has been altered, probably by the author, from 1572 to 1582.

A secret information to the Queen, which the author begs her to communicate to no one else, lest his life should fall in danger. It is probably the only extant copy of a document important for the history of English finance and polity in Elizabeth's time; and moreover interesting as a memorial of that Queen's library.

A final memorandum, added at the end to excuse the staleness of the date, gives the author's address as "St. Mary Hill Lane by Billingsgate."

This volume has been fully described by Mr. Corser in his "Collectanea," and the whole of the preliminary matter is reprinted in the privately printed volume of "Prefaces, &c." It is extremely curious on account of the attack it contains on Willobie's "Avisa."

On D 3 is an illustration of the expression in Hamlet's soliloquy of "this too too solid flesh." Colse writes:—

"The virgins state, I must confess,
Is too too tedious for to beare."

From Mr. Corser's collection, and doubtless the same copy which appears in the Heber Catalogue, part iv., as that is described as in red morocco and with the title mounted. It is believed that no other is known.

aa—hh in eights, the last leaf blank. This piece is bound with another by Jo. de Garlandia, which begins on A 1, without any regular title, with the headline "Incipiūt verba deponē." A little lower on the page we read: "Ut aiunt nōnulli ihes de garlādia videns errorē q̄ plurimorum nō habentiū differentiā inter verba deponētalīa ⁊ passiua. hunc bellū de verbis deponētalibus metricē collegit." A—C in sixes. It is in the same type as the tract it is bound with, but, unlike that, has no folios.

Two other editions of this work are described by Hain, but he does not notice this one either as attached to the "Composita verborum," or as a separate publication.

Whiche book is late translated out of Frenshe into englyssh. by the Noble and puissant lord Lord Antoue Erle of Ryuyers. . . . Folio, Black letter. R.*

Without pagination, catchwords, or signatures, 75 leaves.

Folios 7 and 64 are inlaid; and folio 73 is in facsimile; otherwise the present copy is remarkably fine and very tall. This copy when described by Mr. Blades had three leaves in facsimile, 7, 64 (not 49 as he states), and 73. The two former have since been supplied from the copy sold in Mr. Corser's sale, which was in fact the copy described by Mr. Blades as No. 11 in his list.

"This book is remarkable as being the first which bears a plain statement of the place and time of its execution. It is thought by some to be really the first book printed in England. A few of the quarto pieces may perhaps have preceded it, but there is none that can be proved of earlier workmanship, and if, as there seems good reason for supposing, Caxton did not settle at Westminster before 1476, he would not have had time to produce much."—Blades.

[DRAKE, MRS.] An Essay in Defence of the Female Sex. In which are inserted the Characters of a Pedant, A Squire, A Beau, A Vertuoso, A Poetaster, A City-Critick, &c. In a Letter to a Lady. Written by a Lady. The third Edition with additions. . . London, Printed for A. Roper. 1697. 8vo.

Four leaves. Beneath that part of the title which precedes the imprint is a large woodcut of the Virgin holding the infant Christ in her arms. Both she and the child hold out a rosary to a suppliant. The text is in metre.

ESPOLETO, ANDRES DE. A gloria y loor de dios: y para dechado y exēplo de los fieles. Siguese el glorioso martyrio de bienauēturado padre fray Andres de espoleta: frayle de los menores dela orden del serafico padre nuestro sant Francisco. El qual martyrio recibio enla ciudad de Fez porla verdad de nuestra sagrada fe. A nueue días del mes de Enero Año de M.D.XXXII. [S. l. y a.] 4to. Black letter.

Eleven leaves. In this tract are also contained some letters from Mexico respecting the deaths of certain missionaries. In HARRISSE'S Bibliotheca Americana, vol. i., No. 169, a Spanish book is mentioned, "Martyrio, &c., y tres cartas de Mexico," of which HARRISSE remarks, "We find this short notice in Rich's Supplement under the date of 1532, but are unable to add anything to it, &c." In the second volume of the Bibliotheca, No. 97, is described a Latin version of this tract, printed at Toulouse, "Impressum Tholose expensis honesti viri Johannis barril mercatoris Tholose," but this Spanish version appears to have remained unknown to Mr. HARRISSE.

Four leaves. On the title are four small rude woodcut figures, and on the last leaf is a cut of two angels displaying a jewelled Maltese cross.

FISHER, JOHN, BISHOP OF ROCHESTER. De Causa Matrimonii serenissimi Regis Angliæ liber, Ioanne Roffensi Episcopo autore. [Colophon.] Complæti apud Michaelm de Eguia, mense Augusto. Anno. 1530. 4to.

A—F 4 in eights, the last leaf blank.

In the title of this rare volume is a curious misprint of "SERENISSIMAE" which has been corrected at the time by a small slip of paper with I on it being pasted over. On the verso of the title is an address from the printer to the reader, in which he says that the book had been put into his hands to print by Alfonsus Fonseca, Archbishop of Toledo. It is probable that this treatise against the divorce had as much influence on the fate of the author as his denial of the supremacy.

A—H in fours, H 4 blank, besides the printed title and frontispiece.

GERBIER, BALTHASAR. Sommier Verhael, Van sekere Amerikaensche Voyagie, Gedacn Door den Ridder Balthasar Gerbier, Baron Douuily, Door Haer Ho: Mo: d'Heeren Staten Generael van de Vereenighde Nederlanden, en d'Edele Heeren Bewinthebberen van de Geoctroyeerde generale West-Indische Compagnie, Opperhoofd Commandeur van een Guajaensche Colonie gekoofen, geccommitteert ende gestelt. Gedruckt voor den Autheur. Anno 1660. 4to. BL. M.

A, 4 leaves; B, 1 leaf. Opposite the title is a beautifully engraved frontispiece in four compartments, in which are shown the murders committed on the Gerbier family, and the portraits of the ringleaders. After the title is an account of the affair in Dutch, and then follows on the fourth page, "Relation Du Meurtre comis, le 7. Jour de May, 1660, au Logement du Commandeur Jean Claesz. Tangendijck, durant son absence de son fort Nassou en Cajane, contre la Famille du Chevalier Balthazar Gerbier Baron Douuily, chef Commandeur de la Colonie de Guajane." This is in French verse and occupies a little more than two pages. After this is a plate in two compartments. In the upper one is a portrait of Catherine Gerbier, and in the lower one she is shown lying dead on a couch, the natives of the country standing at the foot and scattering flowers upon her. On the concluding leaf opposite are verses in Dutch, headed "De laaste Woorden van Me-Joff^r Katharina Gerbier."

GERSON, JOH. [Opusculum tripartitum de mandatis Dei, confessione et arte moriendi.] [Colophon.] Explicit opusculū triptitum de preceptis decalogi De confessione & de arte moriēdi p̄ eximū sacre theologie p̄fessorē Magistr' iohānem de Jersona alme universitatis pisicns' Cancellariū. [Sinc ullâ notâ.] 4to.

Thirty-six leaves (the first and last blank) with twenty-seven lines on each full page, the text ending with the colophon above cited on the obverse of the thirty-fifth leaf. It has neither pagination, signatures, nor catchwords. Panzer notes only three editions of this piece, and gives no exact particulars by which they may be distinguished. Hain enlarges the list to five different editions. The present volume agrees with his No. 7654 as regards the number of printed leaves (thirty-four without the blanks) and in having twenty-seven lines to the page. The spelling of the colophon also accords exactly, but the division of the lines is different. It is probably this edition, however, that he intended to describe, and the error noted is the more easily understood as it is not one of the books he had through his own hands. He gives the place of printing as "In valle Mariæ Virginis Rhingaviæ;" later bibliographers, however, say nothing of this press.

GODARTIUS, JOHANNES. Johannes Godartius Of Insects. Done into English, and Methodized, with the Addition of Notes. The Figures etched upon Copper, by Mr. F.[rancis] P.[lace.] York. Printed by John White, for M.[artin] L.[ister.] 1682. 4to.

A—T 2 in fours, title on A 2. With fourteen folding plates.

One hundred and fifty copies were privately printed for Dr. Lister, the eminent entomologist. A copious account of the book, the circumstances under which it was produced, and of Francis Place the artist, will be found in "A Memoir of the York Press," by Robert Davies, 1868, pp. 108-113.

This book is substantially the same as the "Historia delle cose occorse nel regno d'Inghilterra," printed at Venice, 1558 ; but in the preface the author complains that the Venice edition was printed without his knowledge or consent. He also tells us that he came to England in the suite of Philip II., and a great part of his relation has therefore a special value as being written from his personal knowledge and observation.

Las Casas is chiefly known for the efforts he made in favour of the aborigines of America, and for their protection against the oppression of his own countrymen. In this long and most interesting letter, he prays—

"That your Lordships will effectually remedy the oppressions which are fallen upon the native Indian flock throughout my bishopric, especially the excessive tribute demanded by, and extortion of, the Spaniards, who treat the people as wild beasts, by night and by day, and keep them, though they are free, in slavery, and harass them in divers ways, contrary to divine law and natural reason; and that you will arrest the diminution and total destruction (acabamiento) of the entire body of inhabitants, who are perishing not only in body but in soul, because, since the Spaniards keep them always in bondage, the Religious cannot see them in order to preach to them the law of God, and instruct them. And to this end it is necessary that your lordships should give them that liberty which his Majesty has conferred upon them by his late ordinances granted to them as to his free subjects."

There is also in the collection a long letter of Las Casas, in Latin, in the handwriting of a secretary, but signed by himself, which likewise relates to the treatment of the Indians by the Spaniards.

Evil affected persons labour a misunderstanding between Prince Rupert and Lord Ormond, &c.

CLIVE, CATHERINE. A. L. s. Addressed to David Garrick. Endorsed by Garrick, "My Pivy, excellent!" Dated Twickenham, Jan. 23, 1776.

"Is it really true, that you have put an end to the glory of Drury Lane Theatre ; if it is so ; let me congratulate dear Mr. and Mrs. Garrick on their approaching happiness. I know what it will be ; you cannot yet have an idea what it will be ; but if you should still be so wicked not to be satisfied with that unbounded, uncommon degree of fame you have received as an actor ; and which no other actor ever did receive—nor no other actor ever can receive ; I say if you should still long to be dipping your fingers in their Theatrical pudding (now without plumbs) you will be no Garrick for the pyvy. In the height of the publick admiration for you, when you were never mentioned with any other appilation, but the Garrick, the charming man, the fine fellow ; the delightful creature ;—both by Men and Ladies. When they were admiring every thing you did, and every thing you scribbled ; at the very time I the pyvy, was a living witness, that they did not know, nor could they know, nor could they be sensible, of half your perfections. I have seen you with your Magical hammer in your hand, endervering to beat your ideas into the heads of creatures who had none of their own ; I have seen you with lamb like patience endevering to make them comprehend you ; and I have seen you when that could not be done, I have seen your lamb turn into a lion, by this your great labour and pains the publick was entertained, they thought they all acted very fine, they did not see you pull the wires." &c. &c.

"What a strange jumble of people they have put in the papers, as the purchasers of the patent ; I thought I should have died with laughing when I saw a Man Mid-wife amongst them ; I suppose they have taken him in to prevent miscarriages ; I have some opinion of Mr. Sheridan as I hear every body say he is very sensible ; then he has a divine wife, and I loved his mother dearly"—'Now let me say one word about my poor unfortunate friend Miss Pope. I know how much she disobligeed you—. But by this time I hope you have forgot your resentment, and will look upon her late behaviour as having been taken with a dreadful fit of vanity, which for that time took her senses from her, and having been tutored by an affected beast who helped to turn her head, but pray recollect her in the other light, a faithful creature to you, on whom you can always depend, certainly a good actress, amiable in her character, both in her being a very modest woman, and very good to her family.' 'Now my dear Mr. Garrick I hope it is not yet too late to reinstate her before you quit your affairs there, I beg it, I intreat it.'" &c.

CLIVE, CATHERINE. A. L. s. Addressed to Alex. Pope.

"My dear Popy. The Jack I must have; and I suppose the cook will be as much delighted with it as a fine lady with a birthday suit; The Jack must carry about six or seven and twenty pounds."

"Old men are not so insensible of beauty as it may be you young Ladies think; for my own part I must needs acknowledge that your fair eyes had made me your slave before I received your fine presents. . . . I pass my time sometimes with Ovid, and sometimes with our Old English Poet Chaucer, translateing such stories as best please my fancy."

DUDLEY, ROBERT, EARL OF LEICESTER. b. 1532, d. 1588. A. L. s. Addressed to John Ottoman in Paris. Dated Hampton Court, 2 Nov., 1584.

EDWARD IV., King of England, and his brother Edmund. L. on paper, signed by them. 1 page 4to. Dated "Londonie, Die x Decembris, 1460." Letter of "créance" for Antony de la Tour, whom they send to the Duke of Milan and the Pope to impart to them their intentions and hopes. They crave the interest of the Holy Father that their projects may succeed (they contemplate nothing less than the dethronement of Henry VI.), and they rely upon the Lord and the goodness of their cause. This valuable letter, beyond its excessive rarity, is of such great historical importance that it is given entire.

"Illustrissime Princeps et Excellentissime Domine, post officiosas salutem. Ex relatione spectabilis et generosi viri Domini Antonii de Turri, Regie Majestatis nostre nuntii et Armigeri intelleximus de honorificentia et gratitudine illi exhibita pro reuerentia Sacre Regie Majestatis et etiam respectu nostro : ac etiam de fauore sibi prestito in Romana curia apud Pontificem maximum pro nostris uotis et honestis desideriis impetrandis, Et de singulari caritate et benenolentia quam ad nos et Statum nostrum Excellentia Vestra gerit, pro quibus rebus prefate Excellentie Vestre cumulatissime regratiamur. FIELDING, H. b. 1707, d. 1754. A. L. s. To Mr. Nourse, Bookseller. Dated 9 July, 1739.

“Disappointments have hitherto prevented my paying your bill.” Desires to have a house at a rent not exceeding £40 a year.

— Autograph receipt for six hundred pounds paid to him by Andrew Millar for the copyright of “Tom Jones.” Dated June 11, 1748. This is accompanied by the original agreement for writing the same book, signed and sealed by Fielding. Dated March 5, 1749.

FLAXMAN, JOHN. b. 1754, d. 1826. A. L. s. To Mr. Huttner. Dated 29 Oct., 1804.

A long and interesting letter about his designs for Homer's Iliad.

FOOTE, SAMUEL. b. 1721, d. 1777. A. L. s. Addressed to Garrick. Dated Dublin, Dec. 31st.

Had it not been for Jewel he would last night have been reduced to ashes by reading in bed. “The bed was burnt, and poor Jewel's hands most miserably scorched; so you see, my dear Sir, no man can foresee the great ends for which he was born; Macklin, though a blockhead in his manhood and youth, turns out a wit and an orator on the brink of the grave, and Foote, never very remarkable for his personal graces, in the decline of his life was very near becoming a Toast.” Giving news of several people in Dublin, &c.

FRANCIS I., King of France. b. 1494, d. 1547. L. s. With superscription to the Duchess Dowager of Savoy, in favour of his uncle, the bastard of Savoy. Amboise, January 10, 1517, counter-signed Dencufville.

FRANCIS II., King of France. b. 1544, d. 1560. A. L. s. Superscription to “Mon Oncle le Roy de Navarre,” with seal.

He has seen by the letters of his uncle how the latter was displeased with the calumnies coming from England. He is determined to send to Scotland sufficient forces to crush the rebellion.

FRANKLIN, BENJAMIN. b. 1706, d. 1790. A. L. s. Addressed to Dr. Morgan. Dated Portsmouth, 16 Aug., 1762.

“I am just departing for America, waiting here only for a wind,” &c.

FREDERIC THE GREAT, King of Prussia. b. 1712, d. 1786. Verses in French, entitled "La Jouissance de Königsberg à Monsieur Algoth." Signed "Frederic, ce 20 Juillet, 1740."

GALILEO DE' GALILEI. b. 1564, d. 1642. A. L. s. Dated from Arcetri, Feb. 21, 1653.

An extremely interesting letter addressed to one of his protectors, in which he relates the persecutions he is subjected to by his enemies, who, under the mask of religion, make war against him, besiege him, destroy his books, and forbid him to reprint them.

GARRICK, DAVID. b. 1717, d. 1779. A. L. s. To Mrs. Abington, dated Saturday, 9 o'clock.

"I hope, when all the rest have agreed to do their parts, that you will not be wanting this evening. I beg you, for your own sake, my sake and the credit of the house; nay, I'll go farther, I will do every thing I can for you in my power; do be in a good humour and meet me at the house this morning."

GENLIS, MADAME DE. b. 1746, d. 1830. A tale, entitled "Les Souvenirs de Félicie L . . .", occupying thirteen pages.

— A. L. Addressed, "A Monsieur de S^t. Lambert." Without signature.

GIBBON, EDWARD. b. 1737, d. 1794. A. L. s. Dated June 24, 1793.

Expresses his inability to serve the person to whom the letter is addressed [Gillies] in his legitimate claim to the title or office of historiographer of his native country, and strongly declares his contempt for the then wild and mischievous system of democracy.

GOETHE, J. W. VON. b. 1749, d. 1832. A. L. s. To Professor Oeser, dated "Frankfurt, 14 Feb., 1769."

A letter written after he had been obliged, through serious illness, to leave the University of Leipsic, and had gone home to await his recovery. Discusses in a playful manner the chances of his returning to Leipsic, &c.

Letters written by Goethe in his youth are excessively scarce. This one has never been printed.

GOLDONI, CARLO. b. 1707, d. 1793. A. L. s. Dated 10 October, 1761.

GOLDSMITH, O. b. 1728, d. 1774. A. L. s. To Sir J. Reynolds. Dated Paris, 29 July.

A long and curious letter, giving a doleful account of his travels on the conti-ment ; he is anxious to return, and begs for news from home ; wishes to hear from Sir Joshua himself, Johnson, Burke, Dyer, Chamier, and every one of the Club ; also about Miss Reynolds, Bickerstaff, &c.

GRAY, THOMAS. b. 1716, d. 1771. A. L. s. To Mr. Brown, President of Pembroke Hall, Cambridge. Oct. 25, 1760.

“The King is dead ; he rose this morning about six (his usual early hour), in perfect health, and had his chocolate. Between seven and eight, an unaccountable noise was heard in his chamber, they ran in, and found him lying on the floor. He was directly blooded, and a few drops came from him, but he instantly expired. This event happens at an unlucky time, but, I should think, will make little alteration in publick matters.”

With Gray's usual signature, “Yours, T. G.”

GUIDO RENI. b. 1575, d. 1642. A. L. s. Bologna, Aug. 23, 1625.

HUME, DAVID. b. 1711, d. 1776. A. L. s. London, 25 May, 1767.

A long and interesting letter to a friend in Paris.

"Mr. Turgot expresses his surprise that I should have consented to enter into public affairs, while he wishes to retire from them. It will never be in my purpose, and, I believe, still less in my power, to enter into the prejudices entertained by the vulgar part of my countrymen, and to feel an antipathy against the French nation. I know them too well to be capable of such a sentiment. Happily both nations are at present seriously disposed to cultivate peace with each other," &c. &c.

IRETON, HENRY. Parliamentary Commander and Son-in-law of Oliver Cromwell. b. about 1610, d. 1651. Autograph signature to a document for the payment of the forces in Ireland. Dated Apl. 1651.

TRANSLATION.

“ Most high and most powerful Lord: it is but a little time since I wrote to your Majesty stating my opinion upon the articles which the ambassador of the king, my Lord and husband, presented to Your Majesty; after which the ambassador,¹ who resides here, showed to me other articles, which His Holiness sent, by his nuncio, to Your Highness upon the same affair, to which I replied as well as appeared to me would suit the good of this [my] cause, avoiding the delay which the said articles necessarily bring with them, as I believe the said ambassador will [by this time] have notified to Your Majesty. And, of a truth, considering what has, and is taking place respecting the said delay, and perceiving that neither the daily offences made to God here—which go on the increase—nor my own continual complaints, nor the power of Your Highness, are sufficient to induce His Holiness to do [me] justice—for I ask nothing else of him—I was almost determined not to trouble Your Majesty any more with my letters, but entrust the declaration of the truth of my Justice to God, and accept this [state of things] as a remedy for my troubles and a consolation for my life. Yet it seemed to me as if in so doing I should be tempting God, especially when I see that the sin, wherein the king, my Lord, lives, brings about other sins every hour, as it would appear from the attempt they have lately made, without fear of God, and to the great scandal of all Christendom, against the authority of the Holy See, as Your Majesty must have heard at length from other persons. I think therefore that I ought to return to my own importunities, for I do not occupy myself in any other thing except in saving my soul in this business, and certifying Your Highness that I would not, for any thing in this world, have failed to acquaint His Holiness, and your Majesty, and all persons, capable of applying a remedy to the evils, which I am witnessing, and which, though ignorant in these matters, I have always had before my eyes. Having, however, done what I could, my conscience remains with some consolation in spite of all the bad example [they give], and all the rest that they do and signify that they will do. Your Majesty must know that the remedy lies with His Holiness in putting a termination and end to this affair, and not yielding in the prosecution of it, in accordance with the requirements of Justice, telling those who converse with him upon the matter that this is his voluntary determination. Such being the only remedy, for the love of the Passion of God I entreat Your Majesty to be pleased to take action in it, for all Christendom awaits it, and you are obliged as a Christian prince and protector of our faith, to take the matter in hand without any other consideration but that of God's service and the tranquillity of all Christendom. All other considerations, even that of my own person and my daughter's, ought to be put aside, unless it were for the sake of your accomplishing such an act of mercy, as to deliver us from the prison in which we are, like the the most miserable creatures in the world. Indeed, there is no need for my relating to Your Highness the sufferings that I and my daughter undergo, as well in the treatment of our lives, as in the surprises and affronts which every day the King's Council puts upon us, for our troubles are matters of universal notoriety; and, indeed, if we did not fortify ourselves with God's help, and by looking upon our sufferings as undergone for His sake; if the all Merciful did not help us throughout, the burden would be insupportable. However, as I consider that my purgatory and my daughter's is in this world, we are both doing what we can in defence of our rights. As to me, Your Highness may be sure that I shall not fail [in this task] till death, as otherwise I should imperil my soul, and I hope to God the Princess will do the same, as a good daughter should do. Further matters Your Majesty shall know from your ambassador, and yet I think he will be unable to acquaint you with the whole of the mischief that is taking place [here]. Above all I beseech of Your Highness brevity and despatch in the affair, for to lose a day at this juncture is worse than to have lost hitherto a year, as I have [already] signified to Your Majesty in my last letter, to which I refer myself. Just as I was writing this Your Majesty's ambassador [Chapuys] sent to tell me that in his opinion it is not advisable to send any one to this parliament; and also how he has sent a special messenger to His Holiness to beg with all urgency and brevity for a definitive sentence. Of the first measure [proposed by the ambassador] I fully approve, for unless the messenger could return with the determination and end of the affair, it would be of very little use, considering the present state of things here. With regard to the man whom Your Majesty has sent I kiss the hands of Your Majesty, for of a truth, besides the good which his coming is likely to do, it is high time for Your Highness to show yourself in other bearing than you have hitherto shown yourself, if it were only to stand on good terms with the inhabitants of this kingdom, who think that the affair has come to this pass through your Majesty not having shown yourself as you should have done. For my own part I entertain some scruples that Your Highness might have done better, especially since there has been a good opportunity towards persuading His Holiness to do [me] Justice, wherewith the whole might have been brought to an end. However, with regard to this point each one's conscience shall be his Judge, and God, who knows the truth, is enough for me who have, as I declare, fully disburdened mine. I humbly beseech your Majesty, if the charity hitherto shown to me and to my daughter has been somewhat cold that it may be the warmer in future, for even were we not both united in blood and relationship to each other, it would be Your Majesty's duty to help persons so much oppressed and in such necessity [as we are]. Your Majesty indeed is bound to help us to bear the cross which we have upon our shoulders for the sake of truth, otherwise there is no hope in this world, for the perpetration of such grave and multifarious sins is sure to bring a very severe punishment, from which I trust God will protect Your Majesty, and give you such a life and increase of estate as I desire you should have, beseeching your Majesty to forgive my scribbling, for as my heart is troubled so is my hand stiff, and I have not written [this] my letter as I ought to have done. At Buxton (?) the viij of February.

— A. L. s. Addressed "To my very worthy frind Sir Walter Cope Knight. Oct. 5" [no year]. A long and most remarkable letter, of touching and painful interest.

"My desire is, that you will be pleased to moue my Lord Treasurer in my behalf, that by his grace my wife might agayne be made a prisoner with me, as she hath bine for six yeeres last past. Shee being now deuided from me, and therby to my great impoverishing I am driven to keip to houses. A miserable sute it is, and yet great to me, who, in this wretched estate can hope for no other thing, than peacible sorrow." The letter closes thus: "S^r, the matter is of no great importance (though a cruell destinie hath made it so to me) to desire that my wife may live with mee, in this unsauery place, If by your mediation I may obtayne it I will acknowledg in the highest degree of thankfulness, and rest reddey in trew fayth to be commanded by you—W. RALEGH."

REYNOLDS, SIR JOSHUA. b. 1723, d. 1792. A. L. s. Addressed to the Rev. Dr. Percy. Dated Leicesterfields, March 3.

RICHARDSON, SAMUEL. b. 1689, d. 1761. A. L. s. A highly interesting letter, addressed to some particular friend. Dated 12 January, 1745.

"As to Mr. Garrick, give me leave to say what I know; which is, that he was actually long ago engaged in Irene. The Author [Dr. Johnson] was his tutor, and it was expected to come on last season. Garrick had also engaged to Mr. Lyttleton that no new play should be acted during the run of Coriolanus. There was ill-will between Mr. Thomson and Mr. Garrick on the score of Mr. Quin and of that play, and Mr. Garrick was glad of an opportunity to regain Mr. Lyttleton's opinion by such a promise. Mr. Millar got me one evening last week to look upon some scenes of Merope at his house, I took no notice of having seen it; but read some parts of it, as new to me, and that before his wife and her sister, two intelligent women," &c. He also alludes to various other matters of literary and theatrical interest.

RICHELIEU, L. F. ARMAND DUPLESSIS DE. Marshal of France. b. 1696, d. 1788. A. L. s. Dated "A Paris ce 10 Aoust 1779."

ROUSSEAU, J. J. b. 1712, d. 1778. A. L. s. Addressed "Monsieur Guy à Paris." Dated "Strasbourg, 9 Oct. 1765."

A letter of the highest interest. Is anxious to get to Paris to correct the Dictionary, does not know how to get there, and fears he will be turned out if his presence there becomes known.

RUBENS, P. P. b. 1577, d. 1640. A. L. s. "A Monsieur de Puy à Paris." Dated Antwerp, 17 Sept. 1626.

An interesting letter in Italian.

— A. L. s. In Italian. Dated Madrid, April 22, 1629.

He does not know if "l'iniquita della staggion corrente" will allow him to see his correspondent and serve him in Provence, but it is possible that he may first go to Paris. He thanks him for having sent a fine Heroic Inscription which he has shown to the Count of Olivares. The rest of this extremely interesting letter is filled with important political news. In a postscript he wishes to be remembered to the Abbate di St. Ambrosio and M. de la Motte.

RUSKIN, JOHN. A. L. s.

SCHILLER, F. VON. b. 1759, d. 1805. A. L. s. To Goethe. Dated Jena, 31 Aug. 1794.

"Our tardy acquaintance, which has raised so many hopes within me is another proof how much better it is to allow hazard to reign, instead of interfering by premature activity. Do not expect to find in me great wealth of ideas; this is what I shall find in you," &c., &c.

SCOTT, SIR WALTER. b. 1771, d. 1832. A. L. s. Addressed to William Millar, Esq. Edinburgh, 5 March, 1807.

"I have finished by taking advantage of a few days of inspiration—which the Camenæ have lately been very backward in conceding—the little poem, I began sending to the press in London. . . . Nightmare Abbey finished. Well what is in it? What is it? You are as secret as if the priest of Ceres had dictated its sacred pages."

SHELLEY, P. B. A. L. s. Addressed to Joseph Severn, Esq. Dated "Pisa, 29 Nov. 1821."

"I send you the Elegy on poor Keats, and wish it was better worth your acceptance. In spite of his transcendent genius Keats never was nor ever will be a popular poet, and the total neglect and obscurity in which the astonishing remnants of his mind still lie, was hardly to be dissipated by a writer, who, however he may differ from Keats in many important qualities, at least resembles him in that accidental one, a want of popularity."

SHENSTONE, WILLIAM. b. 1714, d. 1763. A. L. s. Dated "The Lessowes," Nov. 20, 1762.

Complains that dizziness of head and depression of spirits are at best no trivial maladies, and great discouragement to writing. Had not yet written to Mr. Graves, and, in reference to Percy's Ballads, hopes they still have merit to engage the public, but would have rejected all such ballads as had no plea but their antiquity. A long and interesting letter referring to the Lessowes and other matters.

SIDNEY, SIR PHILIP. b. 1554, d. 1586. A. L. s. To Lord Burghley, Lord High Treasurer. Dated Leystor House, Feb. 8, 1576.

ENGRAVINGS ON WOOD AND METAL.

SÆC. XV.—XVIII.

ENGRAVINGS.

DOTTED PLATES OR "SCHROTLÄTTER."

THE MASS OF ST. GREGORY.

The facsimile which is given opposite obviates the necessity for any description.

THE DEATH OF THE VIRGIN.

This print, like "The Mass of St. Gregory," is so well represented by the facsimile as to render any detailed account of it unnecessary.

These remarkable specimens are both unique. They were found pasted in the covers of a Latin Bible printed by Koberger at Nuremberg in 1478, and are mentioned by Dr. Willshire in his "Introduction to the Study and Collection of Ancient Prints," as the largest examples he had seen of prints of this description.

ST. OSZWALT, ST. NOPURG.

The two figures stand upright, facing one another: St. Nopurg on the right hand, St. Oswald on the left. The latter holds, in his right hand, a bird; in his left a sceptre. St. Nopurg approaches one hand to a serpent which stands upright before her; the other is not seen. At the top of the pillar, on her right, is engraved a shield, with a hunting-horn. On the opposite pillar, behind St. Oswald, is a shield, intersected by wavy lines. Size, $6\frac{7}{8}$ by $4\frac{3}{8}$.

ST. CRISTINA.

A companion print to the preceding. The saint stands upright, holding in front of her a mill-stone, which is hung by a chain round her neck. On each side are pillars twined with oak-leaves and acorns. Beneath, engraved in white with black ground, the legend, "O Sancta Cristina ora pro nobis." Size, $6\frac{1}{4}$ by $4\frac{9}{16}$.

EARLY GERMAN ENGRAVINGS ON WOOD OR METAL.

A XYLOGRAPHIC INDULGENCE. In the centre is a half-length figure of the Virgin, who holds the infant Christ on her left arm. Round this figure is a legend in German, which runs thus: "Das ist die bildnus d' all' saligstē Junkfrowē maie ī dē klaidn vñ det scmik welchē sie getziert wz an dē hochzytlichē veste so si haısucht dē tēpel zu Jerusalē als vō ir schrybt d' wirdig beda ī ain omely also hat sy abgemalt lucas Ewagelist welches gmeld vñ kunt'fey mā noch zu rō hat." Beneath the cut are ten xylographic lines, stating the in dulgence: "Bapst sixtus der vierde hat allen den die disz nachgeschriben gebette andachtiglichen sprechen xi tusent iär wäres ablász geben vnnnd verlihen als oft vnd dicke sie das sprechen Welliches gebetter in ainer kranckhait zu lob vnd ere der Junckfrowen marie gemacht vnd bestattiget hat. Gegrüsset syestu allerhailigste maria ain mut gottes ain kingin der himel ain port des paradys vñ ain besondere fraw der welte. Du bist ain vaine junkfrow du hast empfangē Jhesum öns und du hast geborn den schopffer vñ hailmacher der welt. ende mich mt zwyffel. Erlösz mich vō allen vbel vñ bitt für mein sunde Amen." Size, $10\frac{5}{8}$ by $7\frac{3}{4}$.

It is most probable that this remarkable broadside is unique.

CHRIST'S SUMMONS TO MAN. An early German Wood Engraving of very remarkable character. On the right side is a full-length figure of Christ, naked except a cloth round the waist, and bound by a rope to a pillar, and a large cross. In the left hand he holds a scourge of twigs, and in the right a rope which encircles the waist of a man with shaven crown, and also naked but for a cloth round the loins, who holds a heart in his two hands. Above the Christ is a scroll with xylographic inscription, "Sun gib mir din hertz den ich lieb hab. Dem lass ich sträff nit ab." In front of the other figure is a scroll with legend, "O herr das will ich das beger ich darumbe so soltu zichē mich." On the left is a tree, on which is hung a shield, the lower half white, the upper half black; this is probably the artist's mark. The piece is of great merit as a work of art, the figures being drawn with much feeling, and admirably engraved.

This very valuable example of early German art has been printed with a rubber, not at a printing press, as the back of it plainly shows. It measures $5\frac{1}{10}$ by $7\frac{3}{8}$.

ST. VERONICA HOLDING THE SUDARIUM, with a large head of the Saviour upon it. Size, $7\frac{1}{4}$ by 5. A very beautiful specimen of early German art of the best school, finely and delicately executed. St. Veronica stands erect, with outstretched arms, holding the Sudarium in front of her. She wears a turban, and the nimbus above her head touches the black line which surrounds the cut. A glory radiates from the head of Christ thus—eleven rays on the right side, thirteen on the left, and seven from the top. It is printed in a pale blackish ink. There is an inscription in MS. at the foot, with the date of 1473; but the engraving is probably earlier.

A SAINT, kneeling, with a crown on his head, and holding between his hands a double cross. He is clad in a goatskin, and has a girdle of vine-leaves round his waist. An angel appears in the clouds, holding a consecrated wafer with outstretched hand. Printed in a pale ink. It measures, exclusive of the border, $5\frac{3}{8}$ by $4\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. CATHERINE. A full-length figure, turned nearly full face to the right, with a crown on her head; an open book in the right hand, and a sword in the left. Beneath her feet is a prostrate figure of a king; behind her, the wheel; with a town in the background, and a castle on a hill. Size, $6\frac{1}{8}$ by $4\frac{1}{2}$.

THE MARTYRDOM OF ST. URSULA and her Companions. St. Ursula, crowned, sits about the middle of the ship, but rather towards the left. At one end is a bishop who receives a thrust in the eye from the lance of a soldier. At the other end of the ship is a seated pope, and in the centre, by the side of St. Ursula, a cardinal. A female, the back of whose head is pierced by an arrow, hangs over the side, with her hair in the water, in which two women and one man are struggling separately. At the top of the picture on the right, Cologne Cathedral is introduced, with the crane on the top. The composition is enclosed by two black lines. Measuring from the inner one, the size is $9\frac{7}{8}$ by 7.

ST. JEROME AND THE LION. Size, $7\frac{1}{4}$ by $5\frac{1}{8}$. St. Jerome is seated, and wears the cardinal's hat, the brim of which intersects two of the three pillars of the cloister behind him. His left hand rests on the lion's paw, and with the right he places his stile between the animal's claws. On the right side of the cut is a desk, with an open book on it.

THE MARTYRDOM OF ST. SEBASTIAN. Size, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by 5. The saint is tied to a tree, while two men and two boys on each side of him shoot at him with cross-bows. In the foreground a third boy ties his feet with a cord. Beneath the cut are fifteen lines of text, containing an invocation to the saint against the plague, entirely engraved on wood.

THE HOLY ROOD. Christ extended on the Cross while angels hold chalices for the blood from his wounds. The emblem of the Evangelists within circles, one at each extremity of the Cross. On either side are St. John and the Blessed Virgin. Above the Cross the sun and the moon. Beneath, a xylographic inscription of the beginning of St. John's Gospel—"In dē āfāg w̄z d̄z vōdt," &c.—eleven lines. On the left is the name of the engraver, "Caspar." This is evidently printed from metal. Size, $12\frac{1}{8}$ by $7\frac{3}{8}$, exclusive of a portion of an ornamental border which remains on the left side, and which no doubt originally surrounded the plate.

THE DEATH OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN. Size, $12\frac{1}{4}$ by 8. A very fine and remarkable early woodcut, containing fifteen figures.

The Virgin is extended on a bed. St. Peter holds a candle and book, and another saint has in his hand a chalice. A third holds the released spirit of the Virgin in his arms. On the front side of the bed are two reclining figures of saints; one appears to sleep, the other reads. In the centre are two angels holding flambeaux.

A CRUCIFIXION. Of very early and remarkable design. Size, $10\frac{1}{4}$ by $7\frac{1}{4}$. On the right hand stands St. John, on the left the Blessed Virgin.

THE BLESSED VIRGIN showing the Infant Christ to St. Bridget. The saint kneels on the right: the Virgin a little higher on the left, with the infant Christ before her. In front, a shield with a lion rampant. Beneath is engraved the legend, "Da zeigt maia S. birgita wie sie Jhs geboren hat." Size, 4 by $2\frac{1}{2}$.

CHRIST BEING STRIPPED FOR SCOURGING. A soldier drags the clothes from our Saviour, while a second, standing behind him, holds them. On the left is Caiaphas, with his staff of office; and behind him a third soldier with a halberd. Beneath are three lines of xylographic inscription, "O her ihu xpe duech die abziehung vnd menig diner wunden hilf vns christen menschen zü allen stunden." Size, $5\frac{1}{2}$ by $4\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. ANDREW HOLDING HIS CROSS. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

THREE NAKED INFANTS, each with a nimbus, gathering roses, which a female saint collects in a basket. Size, $3\frac{1}{4}$ by $2\frac{1}{2}$.

THE DEATH OF THE TEN THOUSAND MARTYRS, symbolized by four saints thrown from a rock. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. JOHN BAPTIST preaching in the Wilderness. The lamb in his arms. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST, with the Chalice. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{8}$.

THE ANGELIC ANNOUNCEMENT of Christ's Birth. An angel appears from the clouds on the left to a shepherd on the right: four sheep are in front of the shepherd and one behind him. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. CATHERINE. On the right stands the executioner, the saint in the centre, the wheel on the left. Over it appears an angel from the clouds. Size, $3\frac{1}{4}$ by $2\frac{1}{2}$.

CHRIST WITH THE INSTRUMENTS OF THE PASSION. The Saviour standing upright in the centre, the tomb behind. Displayed about, the spear, the sponge, the dice, &c. Size, $3\frac{1}{2}$ by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

EARLY GERMAN ENGRAVINGS—continued.

THE SHIP WITH ST. URSULA and five of her Companions : on the shore two soldiers ; one shoots with a cross-bow, the other strikes a woman with his sword. Size, $3\frac{1}{2}$ by $2\frac{1}{2}$.

ST. MEYNRATH. In his right hand he holds a church ; a bird is perched on his shoulder. Size, 3 by 2.

THE HOLY ROOD. Christ on the Cross, with St. John and the Virgin beneath. Size, $3\frac{1}{2}$ by $2\frac{5}{8}$.

THE MAN OF SORROWS. Christ, standing upright, displays his wounds. A rich tapestry background, behind which are two angels. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

THE SHIP OF ST. URSULA. The saint with three companions : her forehead is pierced by an arrow. On the shore a soldier. Size, $3\frac{1}{2}$ by $2\frac{1}{4}$. Very delicately engraved, and printed in a pale ink.

THE OFFERINGS OF THE MAGI. On the right the Blessed Virgin with the infant Christ in her arms, St. Joseph behind her. On the left kneels one of the kings, the two others behind bring gifts. Surrounded by a border of oak leaves. Size, $3\frac{1}{4}$ by $4\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. ERMERAN AND ST. ALBAN. St. Ermeran holds his head in his hand ; St. Alban, to the left, holds a crozier in his right hand and an executioner's sword in the left. Size, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by 5.

ST. LAWRENCE AND ST. STEPHEN. St. Lawrence, on the right, holds in one hand the gridiron, in the other a book. St. Stephen carries in his right hand a stone, in his left a palm-branch. Size, $7\frac{1}{2}$ by 5.

SOULS IN PURGATORY, to whom an Angel from above ministers. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

THE LAST SUPPER. Christ and His disciples round a table. The Saviour in the centre opposite, St. John lying on His breast. Size, 3 by $2\frac{1}{4}$.

ST. CHRISTOPHER crossing the River. A diminutive and curious xylograph. Size, $1\frac{1}{2}$ by $1\frac{1}{8}$.

THE HOLY ROOD. A very early example. Christ hangs on the cross. St. John to the right ; the Blessed Virgin to the left. Size, $3\frac{5}{8}$ by $2\frac{5}{8}$.

CHRIST DISPLAYING HIS WOUNDS. He stands upright in front of the tomb : behind, the instruments of the Passion are suspended on the cross. Size, $5\frac{1}{2}$ by $3\frac{1}{2}$.

THE VINE OF ST. DOMINIC. An extraordinary and very fine xylograph, of most unusual dimensions. Size, $15\frac{1}{4}$ by $10\frac{1}{2}$. With xylographic inscriptions at top and bottom of two lines each. At the foot lies St. Dominic, and from his breast springs forth a vine, among the branches of which are represented twenty-two men and women saints, the great lights of the order, beneath each of whom is a xylographic inscription in Latin on a riband. On the top in the centre is a full-length figure of the Blessed Virgin, who hands her mantle to Pope Innocent. Dated 1473. Collectio Weigeliana, vol. i. p. 278.

ENGRAVINGS ON COPPER.

JOHN OF COLOGNE.

A series of forty-seven engravings on copper, representing the Life and Passion of Christ, unknown to Bartsch, but described by Passavant, vol. ii. pp. 180-184. The complete set consists of fifty-two prints, but only two other series besides the present are known, one of which consists of fifty pieces, and the other of forty-nine. The series of fifty was formerly in the possession of Mr. T. O. Weigel, of Leipzig, and is described in the catalogue of his collection, vol. ii. p. 356. At his sale in 1871 it was purchased for the Dresden Museum for the sum of £200. When bought by Mr. Weigel it was coloured, but under his direction the paint was removed from forty-eight out of the fifty prints. The series of forty-nine is in the British Museum.

The series here described is in fine condition and free from colour. It consists of the following pieces, the numbers being taken from Passavant:—

- | | |
|--|--|
| 24. The Annunciation. | 41. The Last Supper. (This is not in the British Museum series.) |
| 26. The Visitation. | 42. Christ washing the Disciples' Feet. |
| 27. The Nativity. | 43. Christ in the Garden of Olives. |
| 28. The Circumcision. | 44. Christ and the Three Soldiers. |

THE MASTER L. Cz.

THE FLIGHT INTO EGYPT. (Pass. ii. p. 289.)

The only other impressions known of this print are in the Vienna and Berlin Museums.

ANONYMOUS ENGRAVINGS ON COPPER.

THE PASSION OF CHRIST. Five engravings of the series described by Passavant, vol. ii. p. 41-2, and Bartsch, vol. vi. p. 12.

The numbers in Passavant are :—

- | | |
|---|--|
| 18. The Flagellation of Christ.
 22^b. Christ stripped of His Garments.
 23. The Crucifixion.
 26^b. Christ appearing to Mary Magdalen.
 These were unknown to Bartsch.
 The Resurrection of Christ. Bartsch, vi. n. 26. By Bartsch these engravings | are ascribed to the Master of the Gothic letters, "E. S.," 1466; but Passavant thinks they are not by him. No complete series of them is known, and it is uncertain of how many it should consist. Of the prints described above, not more than two or three examples exist in any collections. |
|---|--|

JOB AND HIS FRIENDS. An undescribed piece by the Master of the monogram "S." See Passavant, vol. iii. p. 47. Job is seated on the left, looking towards the right. He is naked, except for a cloth thrown across his lap. Behind stands his wife, and a little to the right stands the Devil, who prepares to hit him with a large club. Two of his friends stand before him at the right of the picture, and two faces are seen behind them. In the background a town is represented in flames.

SAINT PAUL. An undescribed print with monogram "IGI". The saint stands in the centre, turned towards the left, leaning on a large sword; over his head is an ornamental design on which are seated two little angels. The finials of the ornament are cherub heads. Size 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ by 1 $\frac{1}{2}$.

ANONYMOUS ENGRAVINGS ON COPPER—continued.

ST. SERVATIUS. By the Master "M." See Nagler, "Monogrammisten Lexicon," vol. iv. No. 1463, and Passavant, vol. iii. p. 89, No. 6.

AN ORNAMENTAL PIECE OF FOLIAGE WITH SIX BIRDS. Engraved by a Master of the latter end of the fifteenth century; of very great power and beauty, and, so far as can be ascertained, quite undescribed. Size $4\frac{7}{8}$ by $2\frac{9}{16}$.

CHRIST CROWNED WITH THORNS. Engraved on copper and believed to belong to an undescribed series of the Passion by a Dutch engraver. Christ is seated in the centre, at the foot of a column; on each side a soldier, who presses on the crown with a stick; the heads of two soldiers are seen behind. The engraving is coloured like a miniature, and is taken from a Dutch MS. book of prayers. Size 3 by 2.

ST. MICHAEL. A very early and undescribed Engraving by a goldsmith-engraver, of very fine design and execution. It represents St. Michael the Archangel, standing upright, enveloped in an ample robe. His flowing hair is surmounted by a chaplet of flowers, and behind this is an aureole of rich design. The one hand holds a small shield, which may be intended for the sun, at the sight of which a host of demons flee all around. The other hand, uplifted, holds a sword. From the fact that the sword appears in the engraving to be in the left hand, it is probable that it was not intended to take impressions from the plate. It is most likely an unique impression, and is of great beauty and value. Executed about 1450-60.

THE PASSION OF CHRIST. A series of twenty-six Copper-plate Engravings of the Flemish School, representing the passion and death of Christ. The series begins with "The Entry into Jerusalem," and ends with "The Last Judgment." It was probably executed from 1470 to 1480, if not earlier, and so far as can be ascertained it is quite undescribed. Each plate is surrounded by a border formed of three or four straight lines. The size, counting from the innermost of these, is $2\frac{1}{3}$ by $1\frac{1}{2}$.

THE PASSION OF CHRIST. A series of forty-five Copper-plate Engravings, representing the birth, passion and sufferings of Christ. Probably designed and engraved by Alart Claaszen, or one of his scholars, at Utrecht, about 1540. Sm. 8vo.

This set of plates appears to be almost unknown to print collectors. It is in a stamped calf binding of the sixteenth century, with a number of blank leaves, which the original possessor has filled with MS. devotions.

ISRAEL VAN MECKENEN.

A MONKEY TIED TO A STAKE : in his hand he holds a plant which he has pulled up by the root. This fragment in all probability is cut from one of the series of plates, of which two are described by Passavant, vol. ii. p. 197, Nos. 253, 254. But the plate from which this is taken is undescribed. At Dresden are a number of similar prints representing animals, said to be intended for playing-cards.

PORTRAIT OF FREDERICK III., Duke of Saxony. B. App. 43. Heller, 2169. Passavant, iii. p. 225, No. 343. Both Heller and Passavant point out that Bartsch is mistaken in calling this portrait "Guillaume, Electeur de Saxe," and remark that he had seen only the impressions printed in purple and reddish-brown chiaro-scuro, and was unacquainted with this impression in black and white, which has a German poem at the side headed "Friderich der drit, Churfurst vnd Hertzog zu Sachssen," &c., but has not the monogram of Dürer or the date 1519, both of which appear on the chiaro-scuro impressions.

Neither of these authorities, however, remark that the chiaro-scuro impressions are, in fact, copies from the print with the poem at the side, instead of being, as they would imply, from the same block.

THE BATTLE OF SAINT ULRICH, in the year 958. Pass. iii. p. 278, No. 109. Bartsch, vii. p. 286, No. 74, attributes this woodcut to Lucas Cranach. At the top is the inscription "S. ULRICHS SCHLACHT, 1520;" beneath is an inscription of seventeen lines, which is not noticed by the above-named authorities, nor is it alluded to in Schuchardt's "Lucas Cranach des Aeltern Leben und Werke." It reads as follows:—

BARTHEL BEHAM.

PORTRAIT of the Emperor Charles V. AET. SVAE. XXXI. Ann. M.D.XXXI. B. viii. 60.

PORTRAIT of the Emperor Ferdinand. AET. SVE. XXIX. Ann. M.D.XXXI. B. viii. 61.

MATTHIAS GERON VON LAUINGEN.

A series of forty-eight most rare and beautiful wood-engravings, by this little-known artist, the greater number of them entirely undescribed.

This remarkable collection is in a folio volume in the original black morocco binding, with the date of 1637 impressed on the side.

Bartsch did not even know the name of the artist, but places him among "les maîtres inconnus," and gives a list of only five pieces from the Apocalypse, saying, "Nous ignorons le nombre véritable de cette suite puisque nous n'en avons vu que ces cinq pièces."

Nagler, in his "Monogrammisten," says that Passavant mentions a series of fifty-four pieces as existing at Wolffenbüttel, but he gives no list of them, and says that he himself knew but seven. It is worthy of remark that one of the prints described below is four years earlier than any date given by Nagler.

1. Christ driving the Buyers and Sellers out of the Temple. No date or monogram.
2. An Allegory. A man bestriding a brook, with flames issuing from his mouth. Monogram in the right bottom corner.
3. A Satire on the Church of Rome. To the right, a nude figure of a winged woman holding forth a crown and jewels. Monogram on the left at the foot.
4. On a raised dais sit four rulers or kings; above them five figures of children. Monogram in right bottom corner, with date 1536. (The earliest mentioned by Nagler is 1540.)
5. An Allegory or Satire. In the foreground, a man on horseback, followed by a noble on a mule. In the background, Christ sending forth His disciples. Monogram at the bottom right corner.
6. The Pope, Bishops, and Emperor, in storm-tossed Ships. Monogram in the right top corner; date 1545, in the left top corner.
7. Bishops, Cardinals, Ladies, Rulers, &c., seated round a Table, playing at Cards and Backgammon. Monogram in the right corner, at the foot; date 1546.
8. The Emperor, on horseback, pierces the prostrate Pope with a spear. Monogram to the left, date 1548.
9. The Sultan and Ecclesiastics prostrated by an Old Man, over whose head two Angels hold a Crown. Monogram in the left corner, at the foot; no date.
10. A Bear wearing a Turban, and a Lion Crowned, attack some Country Folk. No date or monogram.
11. The Pope and Sultan in a Car, which is dragged different ways by a Bear, a Lion, and Griffins. Monogram in the left corner, at the foot.
12. In the foreground, a Turk holds a Woman by the hair as he strikes her with a sword; behind, the Pope and another drive a crowd with spear and sword. No date or monogram.
13. A Church shattered to pieces by a Book of the Gospels, which falls upon it. Monogram on the left at the foot.
14. The Pope and other Ecclesiastics in a Caldron; two monsters and another figure, which has the papal tiara slung over its shoulder, blow and feed the fire. Monogram in the left bottom corner; date 1546.
15. A Ship, in which sits Christ preaching to His Disciples; above, are smaller ships containing the Pope and the Sultan. Monogram above; date 1548.

MATTHIAS GERON VON LAUINGEN—continued.

16. The Descent of the Holy Spirit on the Apostles and the Virgin Mary. Devils drive off the Pope and clergy. Monogram and date, 1546, in the right corner at the foot.
17. At the foot, the Pope, &c., in Hell; over them Moses and other holy men; at the top, the Trinity. No monogram or date.
18. The Pope, the Devil, and Monks selling Indulgences. Monogram at the foot, in the left corner; date 1546, at the top, in the opposite corner.
19. The Pope and Ecclesiastics in Hell; the Devil tearing to bits their Indulgences. Monogram at the top, to the right.
20. The Pope and Sultan advance against one another; above, Christ preaches the Gospel to a crowd of people. No monogram or date.
21. Two Devils on Thrones; two Devils winged hold over their heads the papal tiara and the Sultan's turban. No date or monogram.
22. The Holy Trinity in a circular compartment; above, below, and at the sides, are represented the Apostles and Prophets.
23. St. John's Vision of the Seven Golden Candlesticks. Monogram and date, 1544, in the bottom corner, to the right.
24. St. John sees the Almighty on His Throne, surrounded by seven Angels with trumpets, while the eighth pours forth a vial on the earth. No monogram or date.
25. The Vision of the Sealed Book and the Beast full of Eyes [Rev. iv.]. Monogram in the bottom corner, to the right; date 1546.
26. The Vision of the Four Horsemen. Monogram in the bottom corner, to the right; date '1546', in the opposite corner.
27. The Opening of the Fifth Seal. Monogram at foot, in centre; date 1546.
28. The Wicked calling on the Rocks and Trees to fall upon them. No monogram or date.
29. The Angels holding back the Winds. Monogram in centre; date 1546, in the left bottom corner.
30. The Angel proclaiming Woe upon the Earth. Monogram on the vault, in the left corner; no date.
31. The First Angel blows the Trumpet. No date or monogram.
32. The Third Angel blows the Trumpet. Date 1547, and monogram, at the top, in the left corner.
33. The Fifth Angel blows his Trumpet. Date 1547, and monogram, in the left corner, at the foot.
34. The Loosing of the Four Angels. Date 1553, on a cloud towards the top; monogram near the bottom on the right.
35. St. John eating the Book. Date '1546', towards the foot, on the right; monogram in the left corner, at foot.
36. Murder of the Two Witnesses by the Beast. No date or monogram.
37. The Woman standing on the Moon. Monogram in the left corner, at the foot; date 1547.
38. The Beast with many Heads. Monogram towards the left, at the foot.
39. The Lamb on Mount Zion. No date or monogram.
40. The Angels with the Sickles. No date or monogram.
41. The Opening of the Seven Vials. Date 1547; monogram in the left corner, at the foot.
42. The Great Whore of Babylon. Monogram at the foot.
43. Lamentation of the Merchants at the Destruction of Babylon. Monogram at the top, in the right corner; date 1547, in the opposite corner.
44. Destruction of the Seven-headed Beast. No date or monogram.

MATTHIAS GERON VON LAUINGEN—continued.

45. The Destruction of the Whore of Babylon and the Dragon. No date or monogram.

46. The Devil Chained. Date 1546; and monogram in the bottom left corner.

47. Destruction of the False Prophet. No date or monogram.

48. The New Jerusalem. Date 1546; the figures placed wide apart at the foot; monogram in the left corner at the top.

Both Nagler and Passavant assign to this artist the designs in the sumptuous edition of the Augsburg Missal, printed at the expense of the Cardinal Archbishop by Sebald Mayer, at Dillingen in 1555; and this would seem to explain the extreme rarity of these engravings satirizing the Church of Rome, as the artist, if he had become a convert to the Roman Catholic faith, would, no doubt, have used all means in his power to suppress them. Certain it is, that with the exception of the collection at Wolfenbüttel, there appears to be no other series known so extensive as this. The possessor of the volume, who had it bound in 1637, supposed the designs to be by Mathias Grünewald; but Nagler says that they could not be by him, as he died in 1530.

WILLIAM HOGARTH.

HOGARTH'S WORKS, preceded by a series of engraved portraits of the Artist:—

1. PORTRAIT OF HOGARTH at his easel, painted and engraved by himself. 1764.

2. — With his dog. "Se ipse pinxit & sculpsit." 1749.

WILLIAM HOGARTH—continued.

3. PORTRAIT OF HOGARTH. Engraved by B. Smith. 1794. Etching.
 4. — Engraved by B. Smith. 1794. Finished impression.
 5. — Mezzotint. C. Townley, fecit. 1781.
 6. — By Worlidge, engraved by Priscott.
 7. — Etched by S. Ireland.
 8. — Lithograph after Harding. 1825.
 9. — Bust with dog.
1. MARRIAGE-À-LA-MODE.
 1. First state, before the shadow on the building which is seen through the window.
 2. — Before the alteration of the lock of hair on the lady's forehead.
 3. — Before the bow at the nobleman's neck was enlarged.
 4. — Before the cross-hatching on the bed curtains.
 5. — Before the lines on the counsellor's leg.
 6. — With the shadows in the right-hand corner strongly marked.
2. MARRIAGE-À-LA-MODE. Second state.
3. THE RAKE'S PROGRESS.
 1. First state, before the alteration of the girl's head.
 2. — With the word "Harlot" spelled "Hørlot."
 3. — Before the insertion of Pontac's portrait in the frame at the left corner.
 4. — With shoeblack stealing the rake's cane.
 5. — Before the alteration of the bridegroom's right leg.
 6. — Before the alteration of Lord Cogg's face and the interlining of the gaming-table.
 7. — Without cross-hatching on the wings over the tester, alteration of the drapery near the stool, &c.
 8. — Before the alteration of the head of the woman with the fan, &c.
4. THE RAKE'S PROGRESS. Second state.
5. THE HARLOT'S PROGRESS.
 1. First state, before the word "London" was added to the letter, and the cross placed at the bottom margin.
 2. — Before the cross-hatching on the drapery, &c.
 3. — Before the cross-hatching on the neck.
 4. — With the holes in the roof.

WILLIAM HOGARTH—continued.

5. THE HARLOT'S PROGRESS. Without the name of "Dr. Rock" on the paper.
6. — Before the introduction of shadows and cross-hatching.

6. THE HARLOT'S PROGRESS. Second state. This differs very little, if anything, from the first state, except that it has the cross in the bottom margin, and the impressions are not quite so brilliant. The state described in Nichols's "Hogarth" as the second must in fact be the third.

7. THE FOUR TIMES OF THE DAY.

1. Before the darkening of the carrots.
2. Before the left cuff of the beau was made black.
3. The man's hands printed in blue, and before the bow on the woman's breast was made black.
4. In the ordinary state.

8. INDUSTRY AND IDLENESS.

1. Before the insertion of "Plate i." and shadow at the bottom of the foremost part of the right-hand loom.
2. The cord which suspends the lamp hardly visible.
3. Before the cross-lines over the inscriptions on the tombstones.
4. Before the lines on the master's cuff.
5. Before the faces were darkened.
6. The inscription "West and Goodchild" on the sign.
7. Before the cross-hatching of the coverlid.
8. Before the cross-hatching at the end of the table-cloth.
9. Without any cross-hatching on the woman's apron.
10. Without cross-hatching on the skirt of the Idle Prentice's coat.
11. No cross-hatching on the coffin.
12. Before the coachman's arm was darkened.

Plates 6 and 12 are in the second state.

9. INDUSTRY AND IDLENESS. Second state, except plates 6 and 12, which are in the third state.

10. THE ELECTION.

1. First state, with the seven lemons and four hats, also the second state.
2. Second state. The lion's teeth being removed.
3. Second state. "Milicia Bill" on the voter's coat.
4. Second state, with shadow on the sundial.

WILLIAM HOGARTH—continued.

12. The same. Second state.
13. THE DISTRESSED POET. First state, with Pope thrashing Curll.
14. The same, with map of the mines of Peru inserted, and the lines from the "Dunciad" erased.
15. THE STROLLING ACTRESSES. First state, with "Mr. Bilk. village," on the play-bill.
16. The same. Second state, with only one hole in the roof; the Queen's shoe altered from white to black, &c.
17. THE MARCH TO FINCHILEY. First state. Dated Dec. 30th, and Dedication to the King of Prusia.
18. The same. Second state. Dated Dec. 31, but the spelling of Prusia retained.
19. SOUTHWARK FAIR.
20. THE GATE OF CALAIS.
21. THE COCKPIT.
22. A MIDNIGHT MODERN CONVERSATION. First state.
23. The same. Printed in a red tint.
24. THE FOUR STAGES OF CRUELTY. Plates i.-iv.
25. BEER STREET. First state, with the blacksmith lifting up a Frenchman.
26. The same. Second state.
27. GIN LANE. The artist's original drawing in pencil and red chalk. It is the reverse way of the engraving, and exhibits a great number of curious variations from the engraved plate. The artist's own initials are on the coffin.
28. The same. The engraving.
29. THE BENCH. Second state.
30. THE STAGE COACH. Second state.
31. THE BRUISER. First state. Three of the knots on the club left white, and the "modern Hercules" in the inscription.

WILLIAM HOGARTH—continued.

32. THE BRUISER. Second state. The knots shaded, but without any alteration on the palette. Unknown to Nichols.

33. The same. Third state. The political print on the palette.

34. The same. Fourth state. "N.B." and "Infamous" added on the club.

35. THE FIVE ORDERS OF PERIWIGS. First state, without the insertion of the "e" in "Advertisement."

36. The same. Second state.

37. THE SLEEPING CONGREGATION. First state, before the words "et mon droit."

38. The same. Second state, with the words "et mon droit" added, and the pipe taken out of the angel's mouth.

39. The same. Third state. Retouched and improved, 1762.

40. PAUL BEFORE FELIX. First state. "Designed and scratched in the true Dutch taste."

41. The same. First state, with inscription, "And as he reasoned of righteousness, &c.," also "and published by him Feb^r the 5. 1752."

42. The same. Second state, undescribed by Nichols, with inscription, "and published as the act directs Feb. 5. 1752."

43. The same. Engraved by Luke Sullivan. First state, with inscription, "And as he reasoned &c."

44. MOSES BROUGHT TO PHARAOH'S DAUGHTER. First state. "Publish'd February 5 1752 according to Act of Parliament."

45. The same. Third state. "Published as the act directs."

46. ANALYSIS OF BEAUTY.

1. Second state.

2. First state, before the two figures on the left were altered, and the vacant chair filled.

47. The same. Both plates in the second state.

48. THE TIMES. Second state, with Mr. Pitt on stilts.

49. The same. Plate 2.

50. TIME SMOKING A PICTURE. First state, before the word "Crates" on upper part of the frame.

51. The same. Second state.

52. HUDIBRAS.

1. First state. "Printed, &c. . . . by P. Overton . . . & I. Cooper."
2. — Without "Hogarth inven. et sculp."
3. — With address of Overton and Cooper.
4. — Before the shadows were darkened.
5. — With address of Overton and Cooper.
6. — Before "Wm. Hogarth, Inven. et Sculp."
