GOING GREEN

In Denmark many hotels and restaurants go about their business with a high regard for the environment as a matter of course but the following accommodation options, cafés, restaurants and natural highlights have been selected by Lonely Planet authors because they demonstrate an obvious commitment to sustainability. Here we've selected some places for their support of local producers or devotion to the 'slow food' cause – serving seasonal, locally sourced and organic produce. In addition, we've covered independently owned accommodation options that we deem to be environmentally friendly, for example for showing a commitment to recycling or energy conservation. Attractions are listed because they're involved in conservation or environmental education or have been given an ecological award (for example, Blue-flag beaches).

For more tips about travelling sustainably in Denmark, turn to the Getting Started chapter (p21). We want to keep developing our sustainable-travel content. If you think we've omitted someone who should be listed here, or if you disagree with our choices, email us at talk2us@lonelyplanet.com.au and set us straight for next time. For more information about sustainable tourism and Lonely Planet, see www.lonelyplanet.com/responsibletravel.
