Enjoy the scenery and harvest when your plants are ready to eat!

not too much - moist
but not really wet

thing that you didn't plant or can't use

Check for pests and remove them by hand
immediately, or call us

Add more compost or mulch if you see any exposed soil.

After harvesting Annuals start the planting process again.
You can keep harvesting Perennials again and again.

Cover soil with about 5 cm of good compost

Mix soil and
compost together
15cm deep

Plant seedlings,
try new ones
this time...

Water your garden thoroughly
after planting

Put compost around
seedlings and mulch
space between them

Other things you can do...

Use walls or trees for growing climbing plants like marquesa or pumpkin!

Some Important Tips...

- Fill empty spaces with new seedlings (more food, less room for weeds).
- If a crop doesn't work - no worries, just try different ones.
- Planting the same thing in the same place too many times causes pests.
- Ants love to eat seeds. If you use seeds, you might lose them. Try planting seeds in pots and then transplanting them when they're ready.
